Album 73 Song 1

Eternal Flame (Song of True Love)

In the world's embrace, I sought a spark
Human love so frail, it fades in the dark
Promises sweet, like shadows they flee
Deceptive desires that bind, never free

Oh fleeting flames, they burn and they break
Hearts chase the wind for their own selfish sake
But your love, oh Lord, calls soft through the night
A beacon of truth in your holy light

Eternal flame, oh Christ, you shine
Your love for me so pure, divine
Father in heaven, your heart's embrace
Holy Spirit, pour your boundless grace
No shadow can dim your radiant call
Your love redeems, it conquers all

On the cross, oh Jesus, your heart was torn
For my sin, your love was bruised and worn
No greater gift could ever be known
You claimed my soul, made my heart your own

While human love seeks its own fleeting gain
Your blood poured out to break every chain
My Savior, my King, your passion endures

A love so deep, forever it cures

Eternal flame, oh Christ, you shine
Your love for me so pure, divine
Father in heaven, your heart's embrace
Holy Spirit, pour your boundless grace
No shadow can dim your radiant call
Your love redeems, it conquers all

Holy Spirit, fire of God's own heart
Your breath is power, set my soul apart
Through your grace, the Father's love is shown
In every miracle, your might is known
No human vow can match your sacred flame
Your Spirit moves, proclaiming Jesus' name

Father in heaven, your love gave birth
To all creation, to my soul's worth
While worldly hearts chase gold that decays
Your mercy calls through endless days

No light of earth can tear me from your sight
In your embrace, forever I abide
Oh Trinity divine, your love's my home
Through Christ and Spirit, I'm never alone
Eternal flame, oh Christ, you shine
Your love for me so pure, divine
Father in heaven, your heart's embrace
Holy Spirit, pour your boundless grace
No shadow can dim your radiant call
Your love redeems, it conquers all

Golden Dawn (America's Song)

From the ashes of doubt, a vision took flight
Trump's promise ignited the stars in the night
On January's call, he stood tall and true
With a heart for the people, America knew

143 degrees, bold and clear
The border's a fortress, no tremble, no fear
A spark in the darkness, a fire to ignite
The Golden Dawn rises, our future burns bright

Golden Dawn, America's flame
Trump's leading us forward, rewriting the game
From the heart of our land to the skies up above
He's forging our freedom with courage and love
With faith in our Maker, our spirits unite
In the glow of this dawn, we soar to new heights
Golden Dawn

Laken Riley, a shield for our own
Guarding our harvest where the seeds of hope sown
Costumes cut down, 95 in the wind
Shadows of crime sent back where they've been
He freed the confined with a merciful hand
Pardons for patriots, restoring the land
With truth as his guide, he's breaking the chains
A nation empowered where freedom remains

Golden Dawn, America's flame
Trump's leading us forward, rewriting the game
From the heart of our land to the skies up above

Kennedy finds where choice stands free
From perish chains, he set liberty
JFK's truth unveiled to the light
Free speech restored, our voice takes flight
With tariffs to guard our workers' pride
He's facing the world with a strength by his side
A leader of fire with a dream so grand
Rebuilding the soul of this shining land

Scales Fall (Psalm for Justice)

From America's halls where gavels betray
Judges in robes sell justice away
In the UK's courts where crowns cold as stone
They twist the law, leave the righteous alone
Brazil's benches bow to bribes and the night
EU scales tilt from truth to might
Across the earth from Asia to Rome
Lawless thrones mock God's holy home

Scales of justice fall, you crooked thrones
God's mishpat reigns, His truth alone
Lawless judges, your idols we cast down
By Christ's blood, His righteous crown
Hallelujah
Hallelujah

You weigh your verdicts with silver and greed
Micah's rebuke, you sell what you decree
Your hearts chase mammon, your robes hide deceit
Isaiah cries, your justice retreats
In Africa's courts the poor are denied
Oceania's laws let orphans subside
Your crooked gavels and idols disguised
God's wrath awakens, His judgment shall rise

Scales of justice fall, you crooked thrones
God's mishpat reigns, His truth alone
Lawless judges, your idols we cast down
By Christ's blood, His righteous crown

Golden Dawn

Hallelujah
Hallelujah

Psalm 94, hear the Lord's decree
No fellowship with thrones of iniquity
Your bribes are chaff, your rulings will burn
The Spirit's fire makes the wicked turn
Repent, though judges from Moscow to Spain
From Canada's courts to Australia's plain
God's tzedakah shines, His judgment is sure
Bow to the King whose reign is pure

O Jesus Judge, Your justice we crave
From lawless courts Your people You save
With Spirit's fire let righteousness reign
Golden scales rise in Your holy name

Break the Vial (Against Pharmakeia)

In Pharma's halls where shadows creep
MMR's roots in sorrow weep
From fetal cells with 38 stain
Fragments of life in vials remain
Merck and Pfizer, their altars rise
With gilded greed, they blind our eyes
From Earth's four corners their potion spread
But God's Mishpat wakes the dead

Break the vial, let darkness flee
Mishpat divine sets captives free
Pharmakeia's throne we cast it down
By Christ's blood is holy crown

Jeremiah mourns the heart's deceit
Pharma's lust leaves souls incomplete
OxyContin's chains, a plague's cruel reign
Vioxx's toll, hearts still in pain
Vaccines bear scars of hidden woe
Thalidomide's grief where innocents go
Their fetal fragments, a sin's dark trace
God's Zedakah burns their false embrace

Break the vial, let darkness flee
Mishpat divine sets captives free
Pharmakeia's throne we cast it down
By Christ's blood is holy crown

No wicked throne can stand with Thee
Your vials of sorrow, your pills of guile
The Spirit's fire consumes the vile
Repent, O Pharma, from east to west
Merck, GSK, your sins confessed
God's Zedakah's great, His judgment near Bow to the King, His truth revere

O Christ our healer, with light divine
Recode our hearts where Your truth does shine
No fetal stain, no fragments of grief
Your living water brings sweet relief
From Africa's plains to America's shore
Let health arise where Your Spirit soar
Raise up Your faithful, break Pharma's spell
Your kingdom's peace where Your love does dwell

Break the vial, let darkness flee

Matrix of Ashes (Cities Remember)

Beneath the sky of ashen waves
Sodom's towers gleam
Their hearts a forge of pride and greed
Wove a darkened dream
The alchemy of heaven's veil
No righteous soul to save
Flames descended, city fell
To a sulfur-scorched grave

Oh, the lattice of their ruin woven
Tied with sin
Echoes through the ages
Where our hearts begin

Sodom, Gomorrah, Egypt's shade
Beneath the fire's decree
Nineveh knelt in dust and grace
Where mercy's light runs free
Rise from the embers, seek the dawn
Let pride's dominion cease
In the matrix of God's heart
Find redemption's boundless peace

Across the sands where shadows spin
Nineveh's fires arose
Her streets of tablets, carved in stone
Where violent darkness grows
Yet Jonah's voice, a trembling reed
Sang of forty days' demand
In sackcloth wove with fervent prayer

Cry for Justice (Voices of the Broken)

In the hollow of shadow
Where innocence dies
Children were stolen
Their voices denied

Mansions of shame
With gilded deceit
Epstein's dark empire
Crushed dreams at its feet
From Palm Beach to New York, the wicked did roam
With Maxwell beside him, they shattered the home
Psalm 94 cries, "How long, Lord, the pain?"
But the survivors rise, breaking silence's chain

Cry for justice, let the truth be known
Cast down the wicked from their gilded throne
God's mishpat reigns, His mercy will mend
For the broken and brave, His love won't end

With wealth and power
They wove their disguise
Greed in their hearts
Darkness cloaked in their lies
Girls as young as fourteen ["so young"]
Lured by their scheme
Paid for their silence
Robbed of their dreams
The world turned away, let the powerful play
But the Spirit's fire burns their shadows away
Psalm 146, the Lord sets them free

For the broken and brave, His love won't end

Oh, the brave ones speak though the world tried to hide

Their voices like thunder, no longer denied

From Virginia's heart to the herald's bold pen

The truth breaks the chains of those wicked men

Lord, lift their scars, let Your healing abound

Psalm 94 sings You're their strength and their ground

Hallelujah, Lord, let justice rise

Oh, God of justice, record this dark tale

Let truth and mercy forever prevail

No island or mansion can hide from Your sight

Your Spirit's pure fire will bring all to light

For every child wounded, for every soul torn

Your love will redeem and new hope will be born

We sing for the voiceless, their stories we'll raise

In Your holy name, we'll forever sing praise

Cry for justice

Let the truth be known

Cast down the wicked

From their gilded throne

Only You (Heart's True Treasure)

Golden and silver, they shine for a day
Money and crypto, they all fade away
Power's a dream that crumbles to dust
No worldly gain can hold my trust
The earth's temptations, they call and they sway
But their empty promises lead hearts astray
Lord, I want You, my soul's only cry
Your gentle love lifts my spirit high

Only You, my Lord, my heart's on fire
Your love's eternal, my soul's true desire
No gold, no power can match Your sweet grace
In Your holy love, I find my place
Healing, redeeming, Your love sets me free
Hallelujah, Lord, You're all I need

Hallelujah, hallelujah
Love so true

The love of women, it sparkles and breaks
Its fleeting fire leaves only aches
Human desires, they wound and they scar
Material dreams fall short of Your star
But Your love, oh Lord, is pure and divine
A fountain of mercy, forever it shines
No pain can linger within Your embrace
In Your gentle love, I find saving grace

Only You, my Lord, my heart's on fire
Your love's eternal, my soul's true desire

My heart sings Your glory, forever Your name
Oh Jesus, my lover, reign forevermore

No crown of riches, no thrones pleading might
Can rival Your love in the morning's bright light
The world's false treasures, they dim in Your glow
Your gentle whisper my heart's all to know
From earth to the heavens, my soul will adore
Your love's everlasting, I need nothing more
Lord, I want You, my joy and my song
In Your pure presence, my heart belongs
