

Album 39 - The Matrix of Ham & Canaan

Album 39 - The Matrix of Ham & Canaan

Album 39 Song 1

The Matrix of Ham-Canaan (A Song of God's Sovereign Grace)

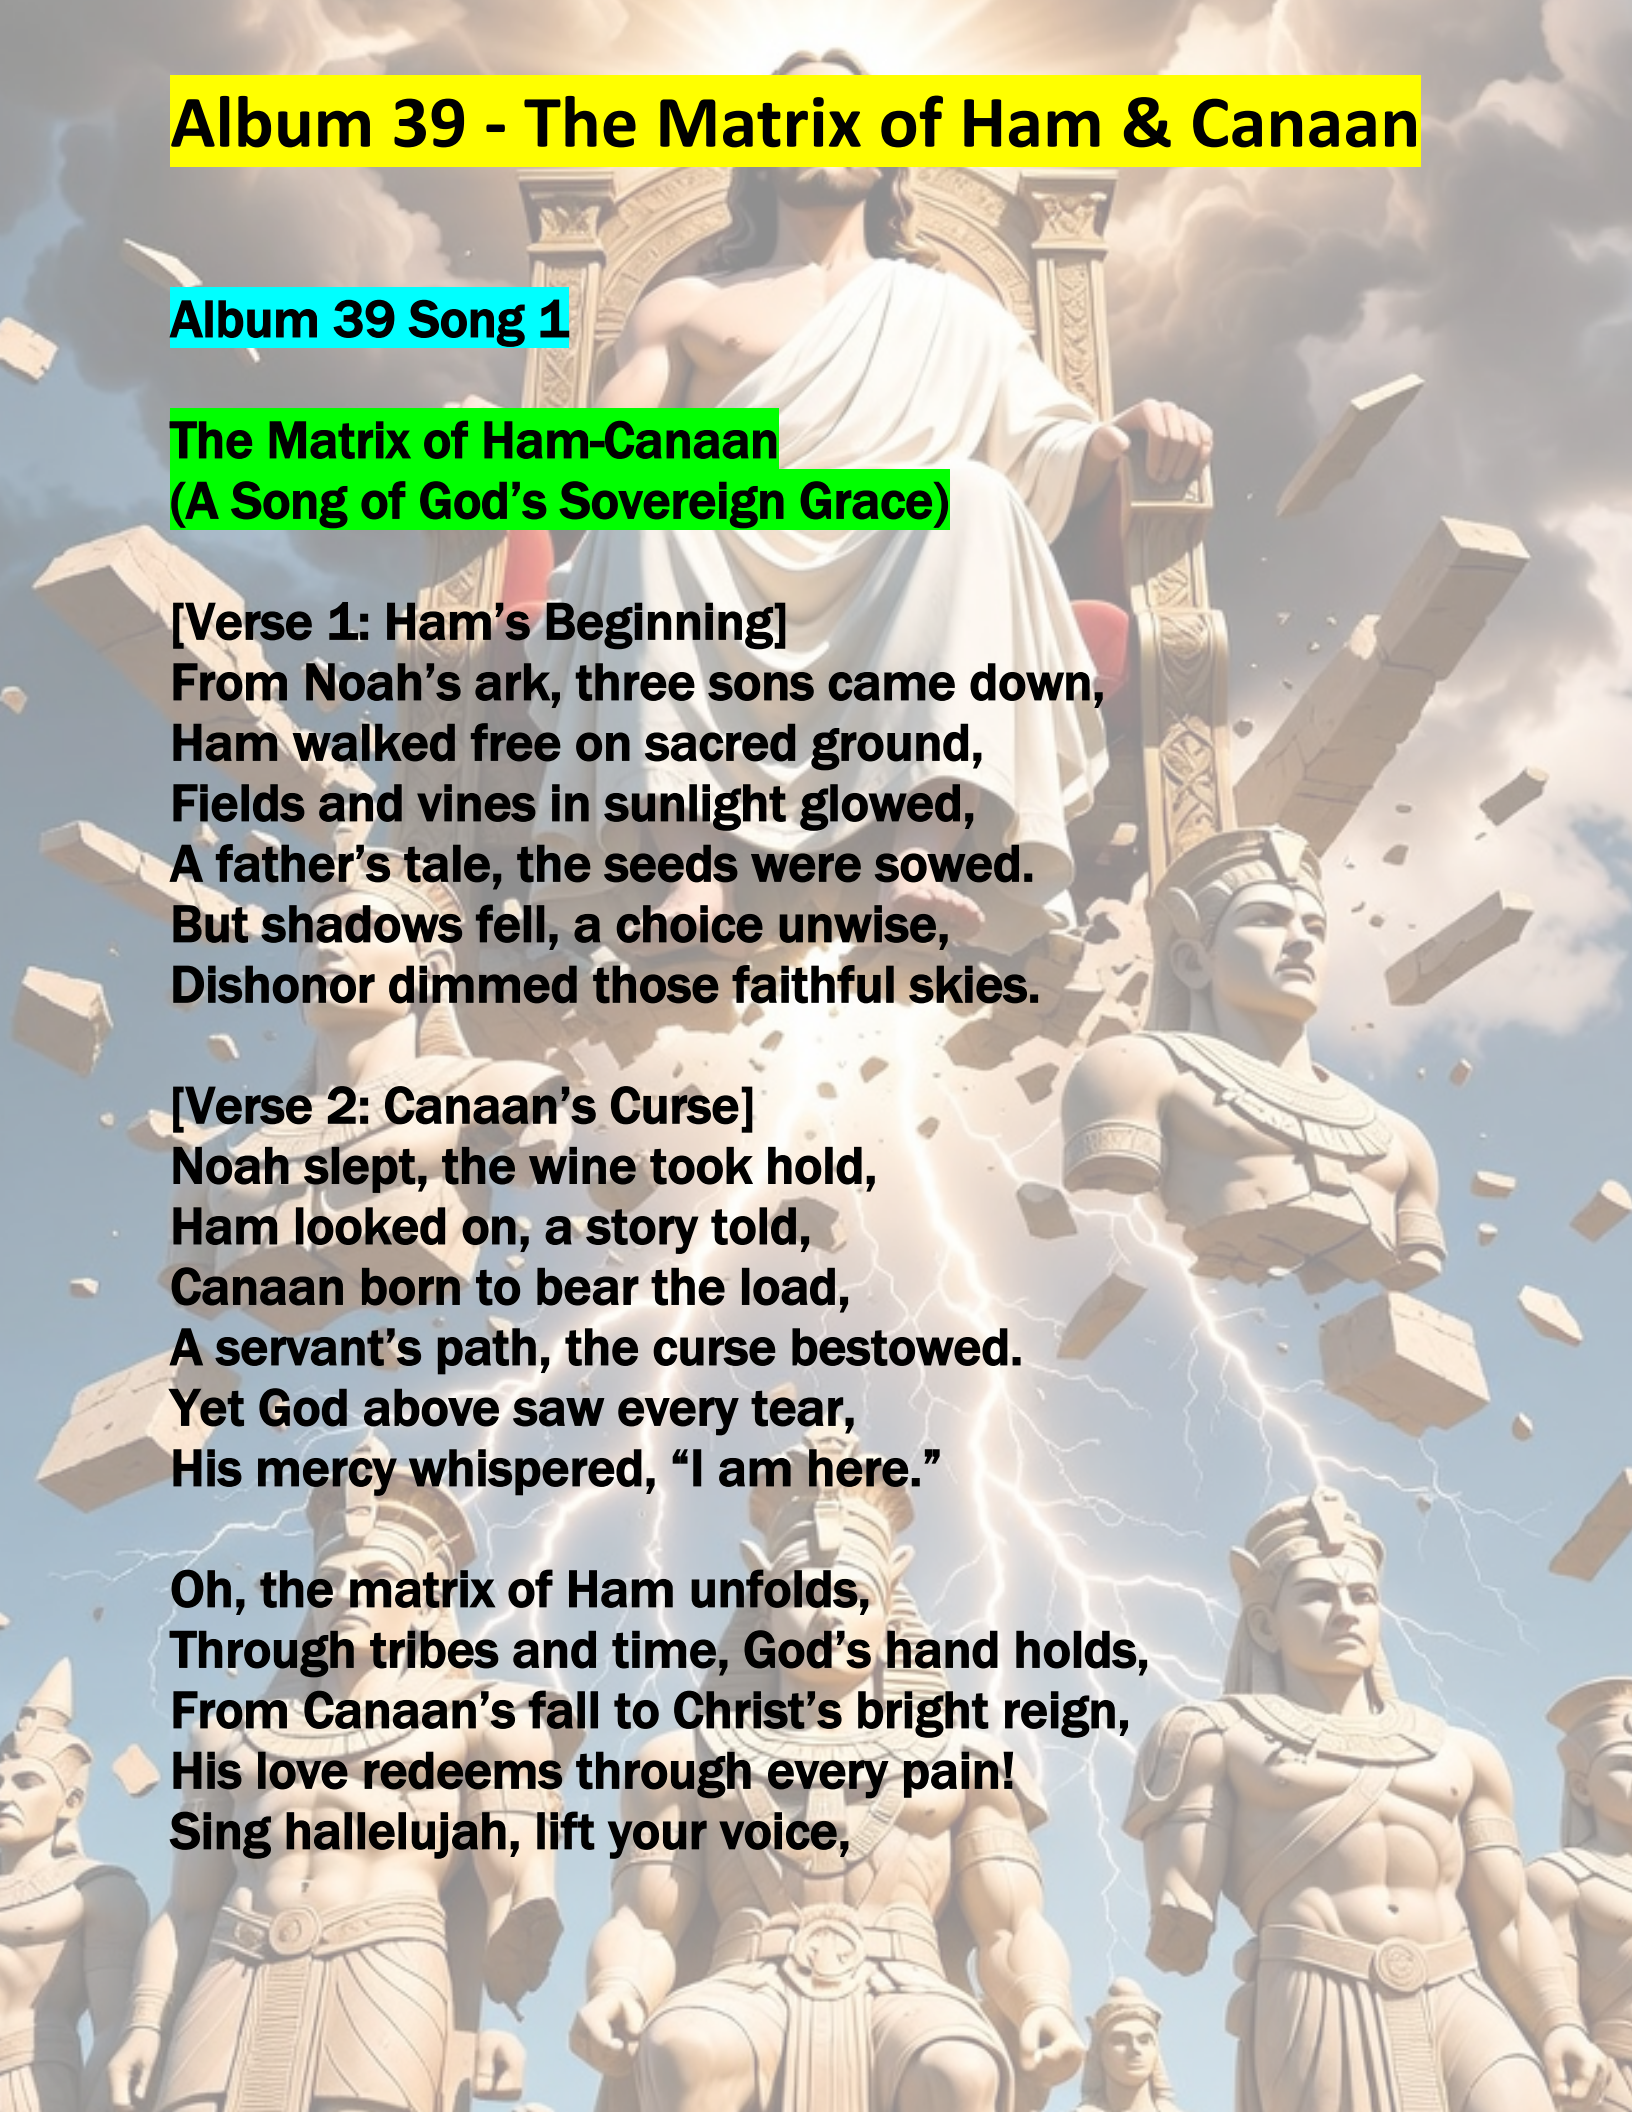

[Verse 1: Ham's Beginning]

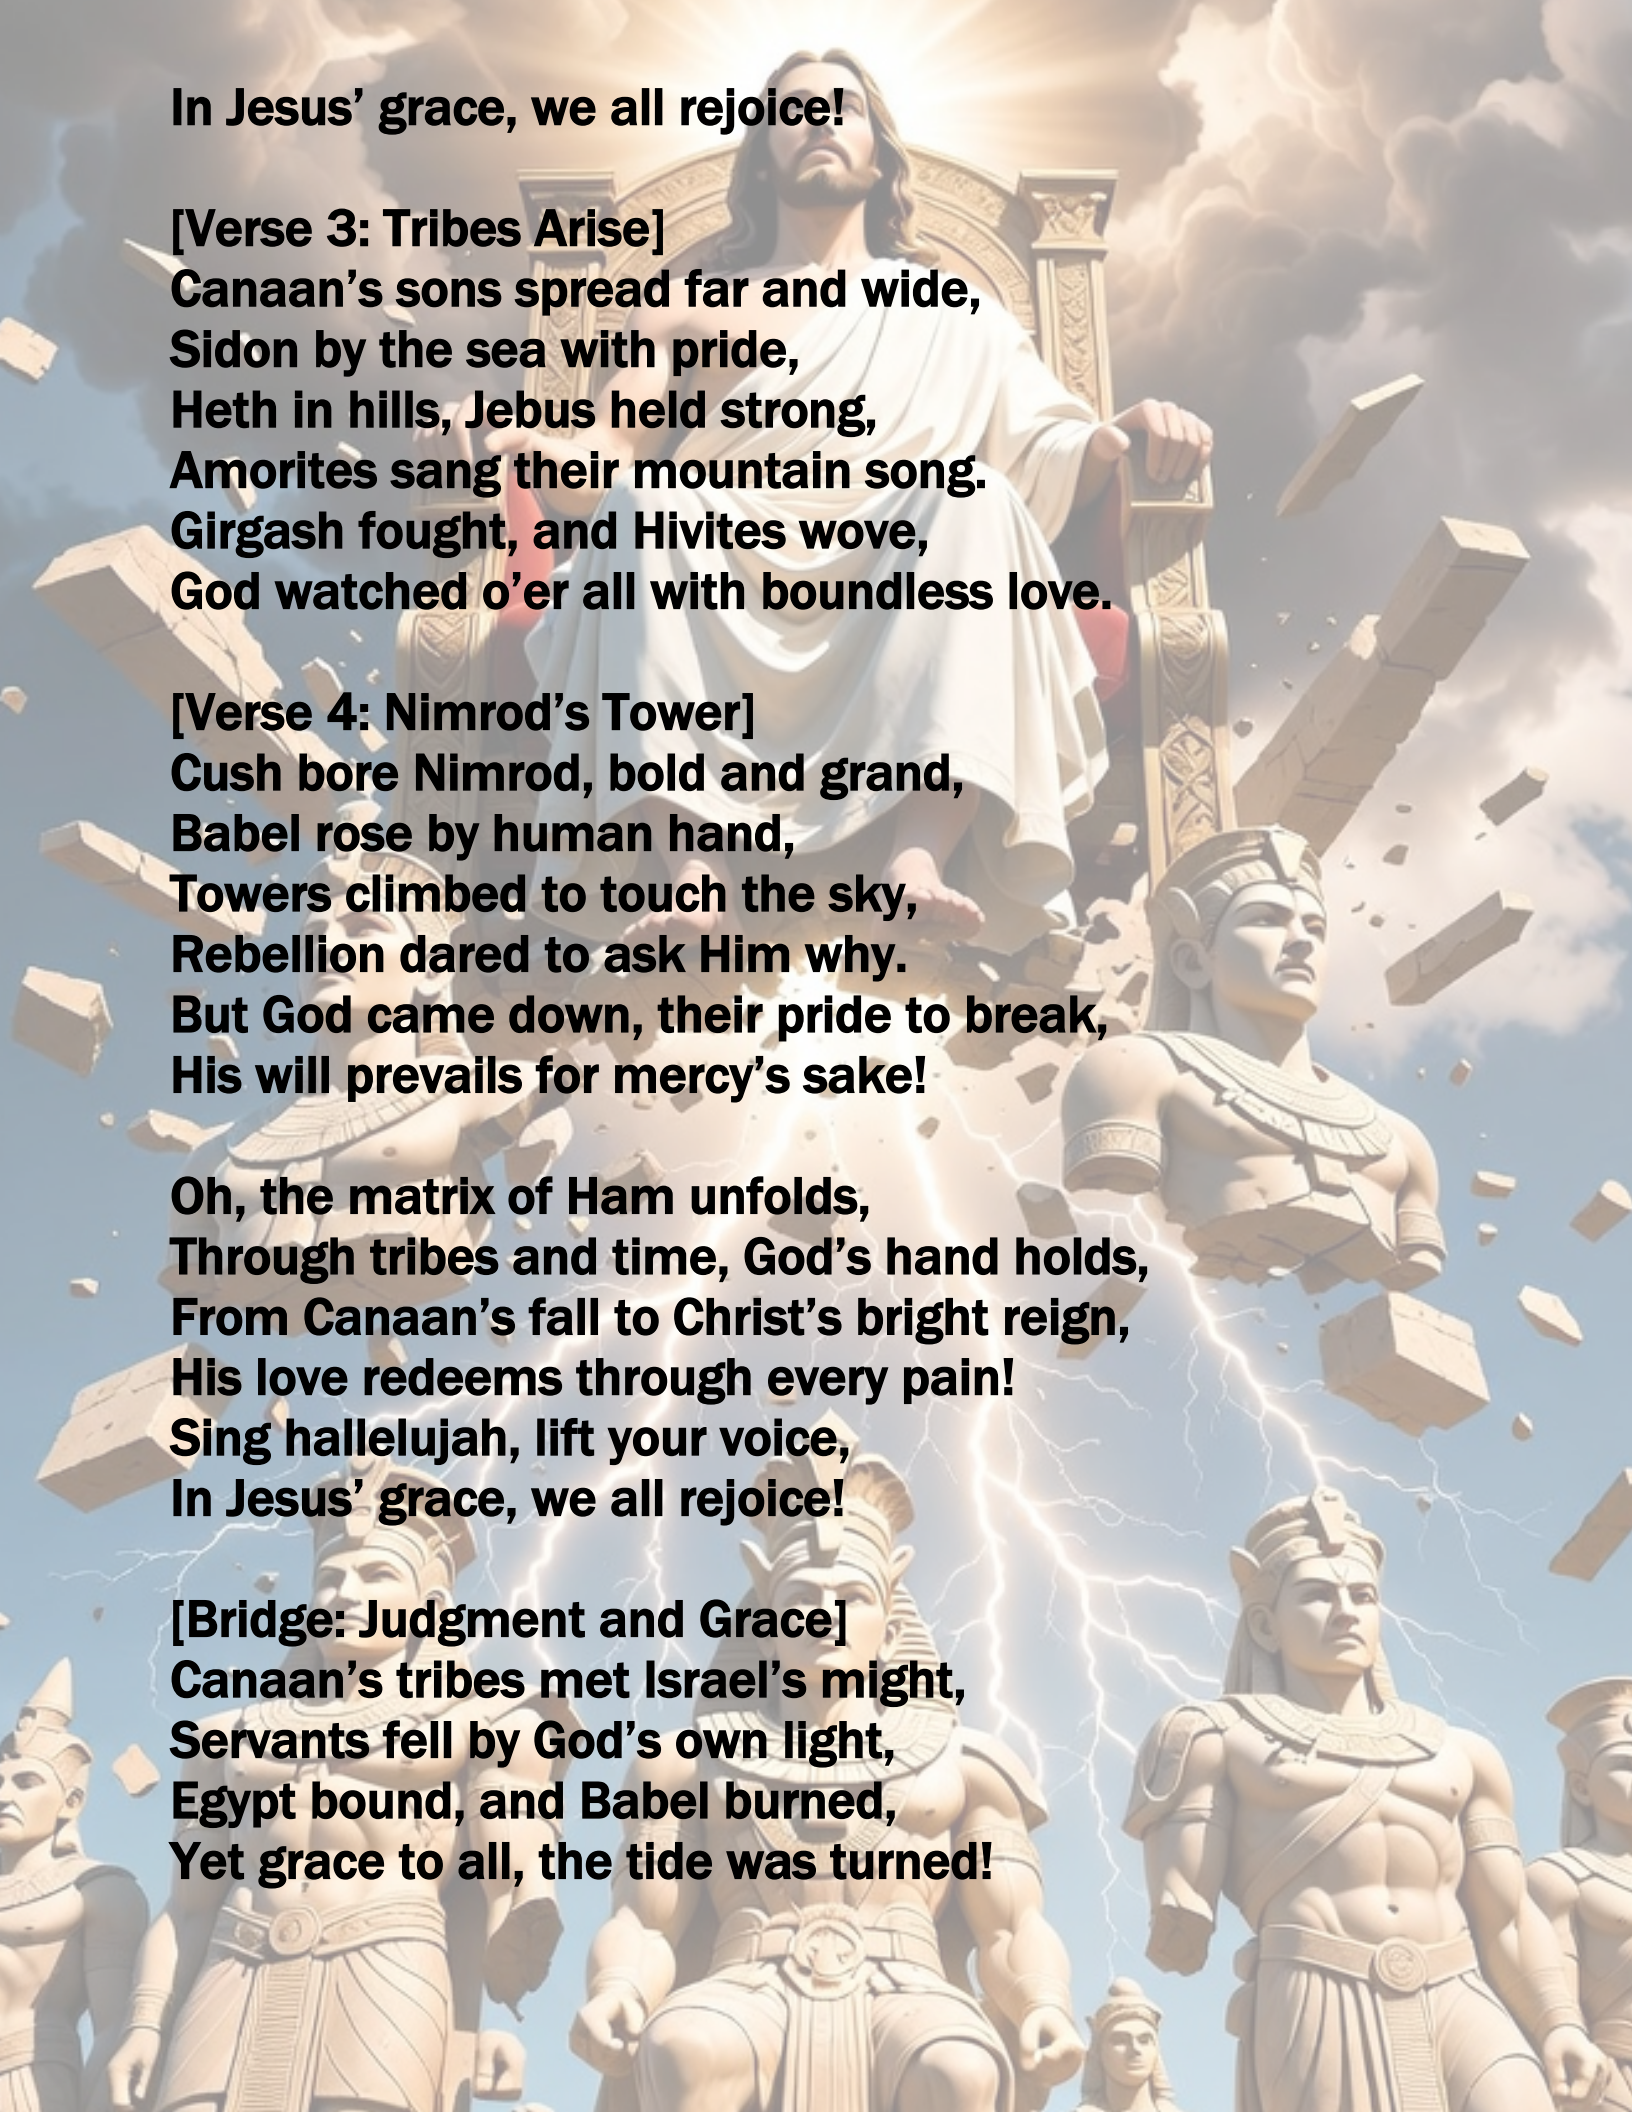

From Noah's ark, three sons came down,
Ham walked free on sacred ground,
Fields and vines in sunlight glowed,
A father's tale, the seeds were sowed.
But shadows fell, a choice unwise,
Dishonor dimmed those faithful skies.

[Verse 2: Canaan's Curse]

Noah slept, the wine took hold,
Ham looked on, a story told,
Canaan born to bear the load,
A servant's path, the curse bestowed.
Yet God above saw every tear,
His mercy whispered, "I am here."

Oh, the matrix of Ham unfolds,
Through tribes and time, God's hand holds,
From Canaan's fall to Christ's bright reign,
His love redeems through every pain!
Sing hallelujah, lift your voice,

In Jesus' grace, we all rejoice!

[Verse 3: Tribes Arise]

Canaan's sons spread far and wide,
Sidon by the sea with pride,
Heth in hills, Jebus held strong,
Amorites sang their mountain song.
Girgash fought, and Hivites wove,
God watched o'er all with boundless love.

[Verse 4: Nimrod's Tower]

Cush bore Nimrod, bold and grand,
Babel rose by human hand,
Towers climbed to touch the sky,
Rebellion dared to ask Him why.
But God came down, their pride to break,
His will prevails for mercy's sake!

Oh, the matrix of Ham unfolds,
Through tribes and time, God's hand holds,
From Canaan's fall to Christ's bright reign,
His love redeems through every pain!
Sing hallelujah, lift your voice,
In Jesus' grace, we all rejoice!

[Bridge: Judgment and Grace]

Canaan's tribes met Israel's might,
Servants fell by God's own light,
Egypt bound, and Babel burned,
Yet grace to all, the tide was turned!

A dramatic illustration of Jesus Christ seated on a throne, surrounded by Egyptian statues and falling stone blocks. The scene is set against a bright, cloudy sky with a large, glowing light source. Jesus is seated on a throne, wearing a white robe, with his hands resting on the armrests. He is surrounded by several large, muscular Egyptian statues, some of which are partially broken or falling. The background is filled with falling stone blocks and a bright, glowing light source, creating a sense of divine power and judgment.

A woman cried in Sidon's land,
Christ's healing flowed from His hand!

[Verse 5: Revelation's End]

Babylon rose, Nimrod's seed,
Fell in flames by heaven's decree,
Revelation's song rings true,
Ham's long line, God's mercy knew.
From curse to cross, the story bends,
In Christ, all brokenness mends!

[Chorus]

Oh, the matrix of Ham unfolds,
Through tribes and time, God's hand holds,
From Canaan's fall to Christ's bright reign,
His love redeems through every pain!
Sing hallelujah, lift your voice,
In Jesus' grace, we all rejoice!

[Outro: Blessed Lands]

Iraq and Jordan, lands of old,
Lebanon, where tales were told,
February's dawn, the twenty-sixth,
Christ's love heals what time afflicts!
Ham's matrix fades, God's glory stays,
Family sings His endless praise!

The background of the entire page is a dramatic, low-angle illustration. At the top center, Jesus Christ is depicted with long brown hair and a beard, wearing a white robe, seated on an ornate golden throne. He is looking upwards with a serene expression. Below him, several large, muscular statues of Egyptian pharaohs in traditional headdresses and armor are shown. The scene is filled with a sense of divine power and judgment, as numerous large, rectangular stone blocks are shown falling or shattering in the air around the figures. The sky is a mix of blue and white, with soft clouds and a bright light source behind Jesus, creating a halo effect. The overall color palette is dominated by the warm tones of the stone and the white of Jesus's robe, contrasted with the cooler blues of the sky.

Album 39 Song 2

The Matrix of Antediluvian-Cainite (A Soulful Song of Sin and Salvation)

[Verse 1: Cain's Fall]

Oh, Cain rose up in the fields so green,
Firstborn son of a world unseen,
Abel's blood cried from the ground,
A curse was born, a wanderer found.
Marked by grace, yet torn by shame,
East of Eden, he bore his name.

[Verse 2: Exile's Cry]

In Nod's dark land, he built a town,
Enoch's walls, his heart weighed down,
A restless soul with a restless plea,
"Lord, why this fate bestowed on me?"
Through tears and toil, his seed took flight,
A soulful wail in the endless night.

Oh, the Cainite line, so deep, so wide,
Sin's heavy load where shadows hide,
From murder's stain to Lamech's boast,
God's mercy calls the wandering host!
Cry out, soul, let the heavens hear,
Jesus breaks the chains we bear!

[Verse 3: Generations Weep]

Irak walked where shadows creep,

Mehujael's hope sank down so deep,
Methushael bore the rebel's load,
A winding path on a cursed road.
Each name a sigh, each step a fall,
Yet God still heard their soulful call.

[Verse 4: Lamech's Pride]

Lamech stood with a voice so bold,
Two wives claimed, his tale retold,
"I killed a man," he sang with might,
"Seventy-seven, my vengeance bright!"
Oh, the weight of pride, the blood-stained plea,
A soulful cry for eternity!

Oh, the Cainite line, so deep, so wide,
Sin's heavy load where shadows hide,
From murder's stain to Lamech's boast,
God's mercy calls the wandering host!
Cry out, soul, let the heavens hear,
Jesus breaks the chains we bear!

[Bridge: Children's Gifts]

Jabal roamed with tents unfurled,
Jubal's strings sang to the world,
Tubal-Cain forged iron strong,
Naamah's voice, a haunting song.
Gifts of earth in a cursed line,
Yet God's love turned water to wine!

[Verse 5: Flood's Lament]

The waters rose, the earth was cleansed,
Cain's proud seed met its end,
No stone remained, no echo stayed,
In Noah's ark, grace was laid.
A soulful hush o'er Nod's old ground,
God's judgment fell, His mercy found.

Oh, the Cainite line, so deep, so wide,
Sin's heavy load where shadows hide,
From murder's stain to Lamech's boast,
God's mercy calls the wandering host!
Cry out, soul, let the heavens hear,
Jesus breaks the chains we bear!

[Outro: Soulful Hope]
Earth reborn, this winter day,
February's light on the twenty-sixth way,
Cain's old matrix fades to dust,
In Christ alone, we place our trust!
Oh, soul sing free, the curse is gone,
God's love endures, forever strong!

Album 39 Song 3

The Matrix of Prophet Daniel

[Verse 1: Exile's Lament]

Oh, Daniel stood in a foreign land,
Chains of exile on his hands,
Babylon's gold, a king so grand,
Nebuchadnezzar's troubled stand.
Dreams of night, a shadowed plea,
"Lord, unveil this mystery!"

[Verse 2: Statue's Fall]

A statue gleamed in the dark of sleep,
Gold to clay, its secrets deep,
Silver arms and bronze thighs weep,
Iron legs crumble, frail and steep.
A mournful sigh through empires flows,
Sadness reigns where power grows.

Oh, the matrix shines through tears and time,
Kingdoms fade in a mournful rhyme,
But a rock rolls free, no hands to bind,
God's kingdom rises, pure and kind!
From sorrow's depths to joy's sweet call,
Daniel sees the Lord of all!

[Verse 3: Prayer's Cry]

In Persia's dawn, he knelt to pray,
Seventy years in shadows gray,

Sins confessed by the river's sway,
"Lord, forgive us, light our way!"
A tender ache, a soul laid bare,
Gabriel's wings through the air!

[Verse 4: Vision's Light]

Seventy sevens, the angel sings,
A Messiah comes on holy wings,
Cut off in grief, yet hope it brings,
A covenant breaks earthly kings.
From iron and clay, the dawn ascends,
God's love flows where sorrow ends!

Oh, the matrix shines through tears and time,
Kingdoms fade in a mournful rhyme,
But a rock rolls free, no hands to bind,
God's kingdom rises, pure and kind!
From sorrow's depths to joy's sweet call,
Daniel sees the Lord of all!

[Bridge: Flowing Triumph]

Gold may gleam, and iron may crush,
Silver fades in the wind's soft rush,
Bronze empires bow, clay turns to dust,
The rock stands firm, in God we trust!
Through exile's pain, a song takes flight,
Heaven's joy breaks through the night!

[Verse 5: Eternal Dawn]

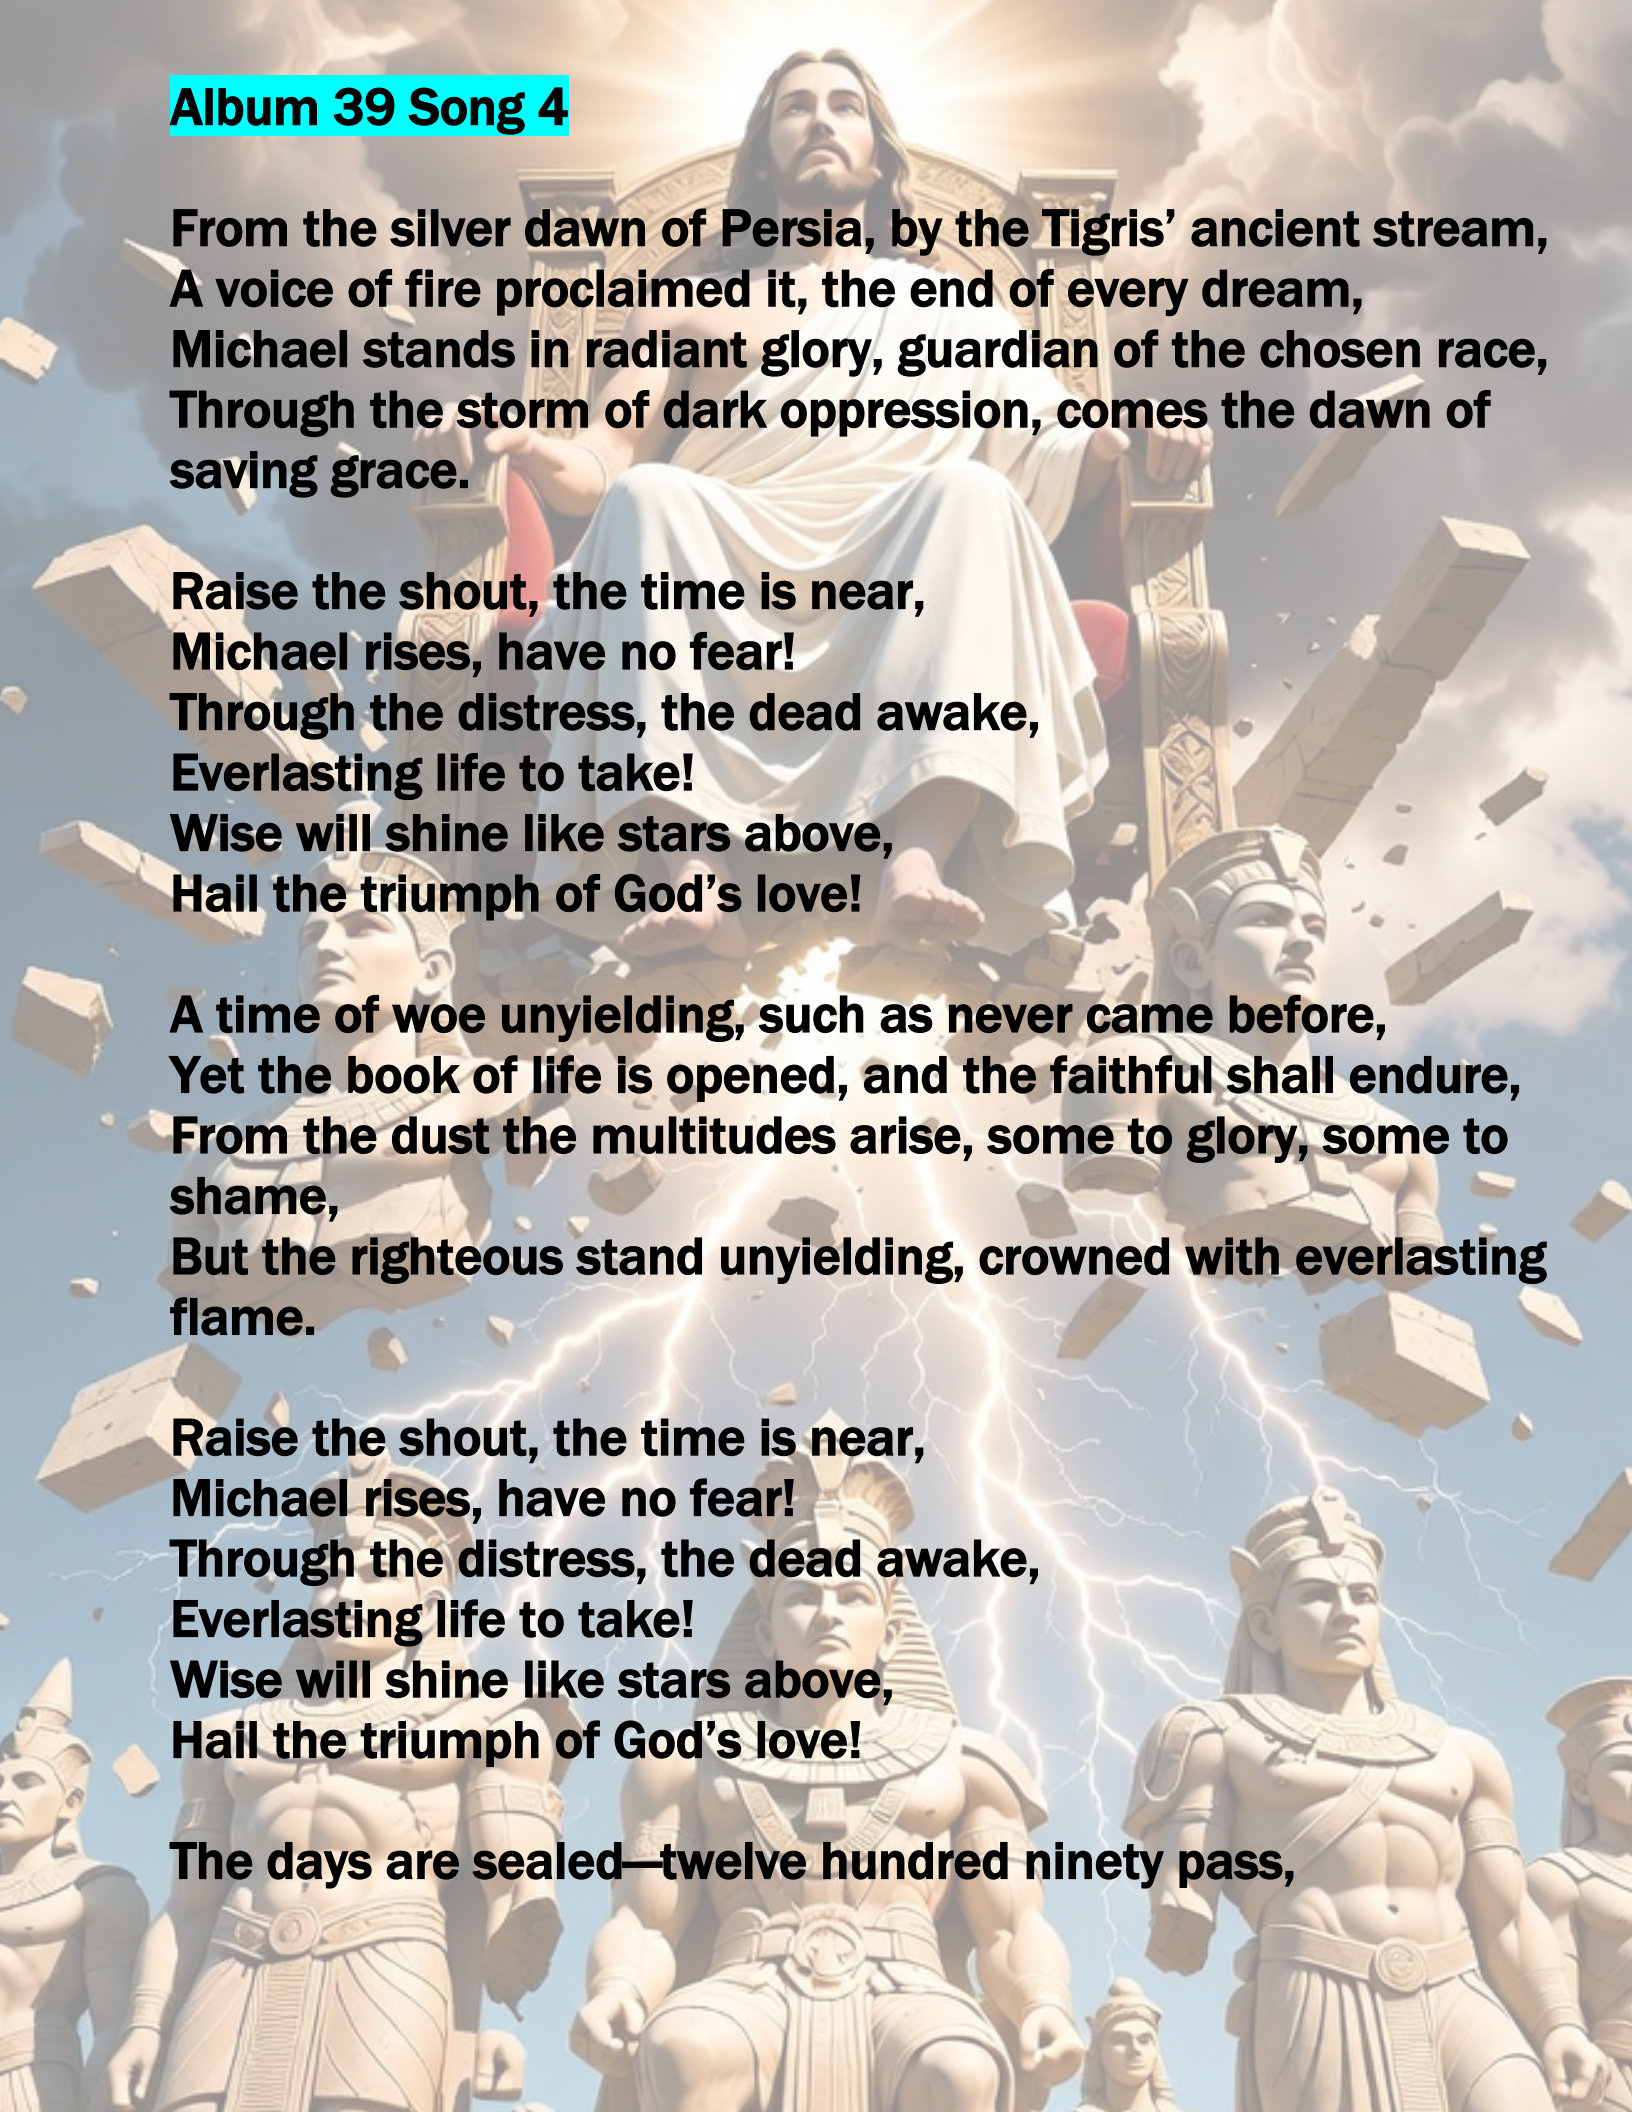

Nebuchadnezzar bowed his head,

“Daniel’s God reigns!” he humbly said,
From Babylon’s fall to Rome’s last thread,
The Anointed reigns where tears were shed.
A happy flow from grief’s old strain,
Christ’s kingdom comes, forever reigns!

[Outro: Blessed Joy]

February’s hope, the twenty-sixth day,
Earth sings free in a bright new way,
Daniel’s matrix, a timeless stream,
God’s love fulfills the prophet’s dream!
Sadness lifts, the heart takes flight,
Jesus shines in endless light!

Album 39 Song 4

From the silver dawn of Persia, by the Tigris' ancient stream,
A voice of fire proclaimed it, the end of every dream,
Michael stands in radiant glory, guardian of the chosen race,
Through the storm of dark oppression, comes the dawn of saving grace.

Raise the shout, the time is near,
Michael rises, have no fear!
Through the distress, the dead awake,
Everlasting life to take!
Wise will shine like stars above,
Hail the triumph of God's love!

A time of woe unyielding, such as never came before,
Yet the book of life is opened, and the faithful shall endure,
From the dust the multitudes arise, some to glory, some to shame,
But the righteous stand unyielding, crowned with everlasting flame.

Raise the shout, the time is near,
Michael rises, have no fear!
Through the distress, the dead awake,
Everlasting life to take!
Wise will shine like stars above,
Hail the triumph of God's love!

The days are sealed—twelve hundred ninety pass,

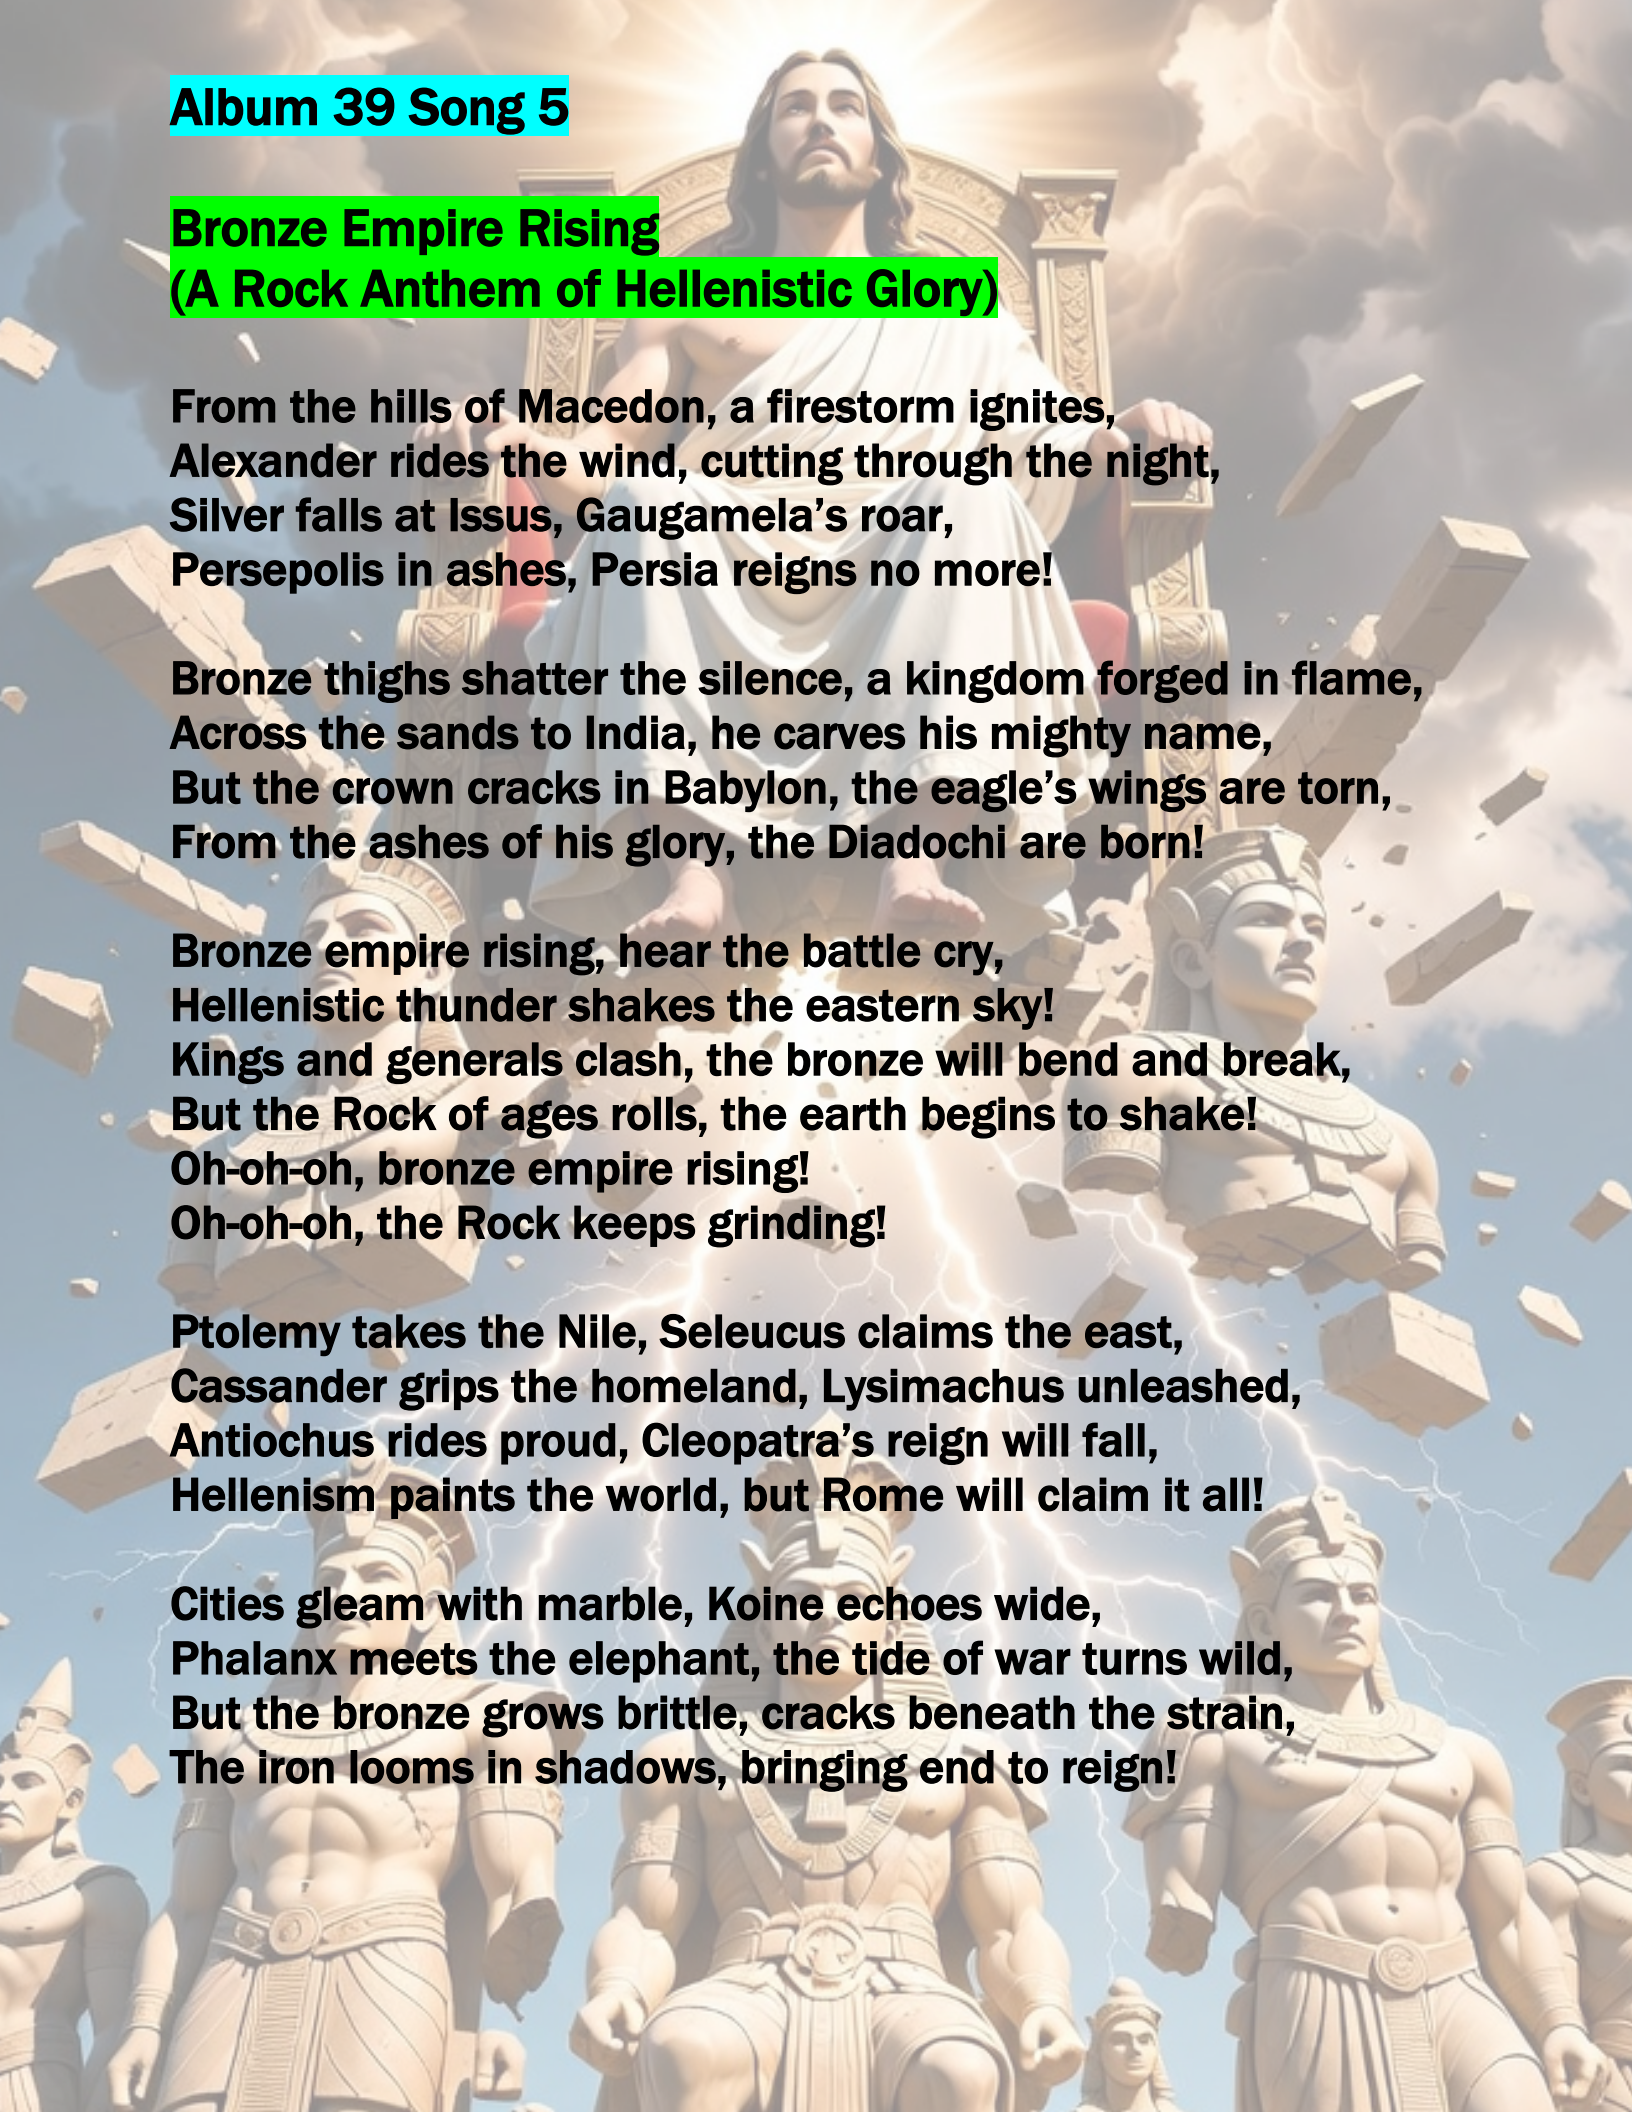

A dramatic scene of a divine figure, likely Jesus, seated on a throne of light. He is surrounded by falling Egyptian statues and debris, with a bright light emanating from the center. The background is a cloudy sky.

The abomination falls beneath the blast,
Blessed are they who wait the final call,
Thirteen hundred thirty-five—triumph over all!
The Rock descends, the kingdoms fade away,
Eternal dawn ignites the endless day!

Seal the words till time's unveiling, let the wise alone perceive,
Through the fire they are refined, in the truth they shall believe,
Stars of heaven, gleaming bright, lead the nations to the throne,
For the King of kings returns to claim the victory as His own!

Raise the shout, the time is near,
Michael rises, have no fear!
Through the distress, the dead awake,
Everlasting life to take!
Wise will shine like stars above,
Hail the triumph of God's love!

O'er the gold, the silver, bronze, and clay,
The Rock of ages breaks the night to day,
From Daniel's vision to the final fight,
The Most High reigns in everlasting might!
Lift your voice, the end is won,
All hail the triumph of the Son!

Album 39 Song 5

Bronze Empire Rising (A Rock Anthem of Hellenistic Glory)

From the hills of Macedon, a firestorm ignites,
Alexander rides the wind, cutting through the night,
Silver falls at Issus, Gaugamela's roar,
Persepolis in ashes, Persia reigns no more!

Bronze thighs shatter the silence, a kingdom forged in flame,
Across the sands to India, he carves his mighty name,
But the crown cracks in Babylon, the eagle's wings are torn,
From the ashes of his glory, the Diadochi are born!

Bronze empire rising, hear the battle cry,
Hellenistic thunder shakes the eastern sky!
Kings and generals clash, the bronze will bend and break,
But the Rock of ages rolls, the earth begins to shake!
Oh-oh-oh, bronze empire rising!
Oh-oh-oh, the Rock keeps grinding!

Ptolemy takes the Nile, Seleucus claims the east,
Cassander grips the homeland, Lysimachus unleashed,
Antiochus rides proud, Cleopatra's reign will fall,
Hellenism paints the world, but Rome will claim it all!

Cities gleam with marble, Koine echoes wide,
Phalanx meets the elephant, the tide of war turns wild,
But the bronze grows brittle, cracks beneath the strain,
The iron looms in shadows, bringing end to reign!

Bronze empire rising, hear the battle cry,
Hellenistic thunder shakes the eastern sky!
Kings and generals clash, the bronze will bend and break,
But the Rock of ages rolls, the earth begins to shake!
Oh-oh-oh, bronze empire rising!
Oh-oh-oh, the Rock keeps grinding!

Across the sands of Bactria, the Indus echoes loud,
Zeus and Serapis falter, beneath the victor's shroud,
The matrix splits and shatters, four horns rise and fade,
Daniel saw it coming—God's decree is laid!
Smash the pride of conquest, break the chains of might,
The Rock eternal thunders, turning day to night!

Bronze empire rising, hear the battle cry,
Hellenistic thunder shakes the eastern sky!
Kings and generals clash, the bronze will bend and break,
But the Rock of ages rolls, the earth begins to shake!
Oh-oh-oh, bronze em

Album 39 Song 6

The Matrix of the Prophet (A Song of Daniel's Vision)

By the Tigris' flowing waters, in the twilight of my years,
Mourning for my people's promise, bathed in fasting and in tears,
I looked up to skies unyielding, saw a figure clad in light,
Linen pure and gold resplendent, face like lightning in the night.

O Daniel, rise, do not fear the flame,
A war unseen unfolds in heaven's frame,
The Book of Truth is opened wide,
God's sovereign hand through time will guide.

Eyes like torches pierced the silence, voice like thunder shook the air,
Topaz gleamed upon His body, bronze and strength beyond compare,
Weak I fell before His glory, trembling at the sight I saw,
Yet a touch restored my spirit, whispered peace amid the awe.

O Daniel, rise, do not fear the flame,
A war unseen unfolds in heaven's frame,
The Book of Truth is opened wide,
God's sovereign hand through time will guide.

The prince of Persia stood to fight,
Twenty-one days in shadowed might,
But Michael came, the battle turned,
The scroll of fate in fire burned.
From silver chest to bronze's reign,
Kings will rise and fall again,
Yet through the wars, both seen and hid,
The Rock eternal stands amid.

Kings of North and South will wrestle, empires crumble in their pride,
A contemptible one will profane, with abomination's tide,

But the faithful few will stand strong, purified through darkest days,
For the end holds resurrection, God's own kingdom's endless praise.

O Daniel, rise, do not fear the flame,
A war unseen unfolds in heaven's frame,
The Book of Truth is opened wide,
God's sovereign hand through time will guide.

From Persia's silver to the iron's sway,
The matrix shifts, yet God holds sway,
Beyond the wars of flesh and sky,
The Most High reigns, His throne on high.
O hear the vision, heed the call,
The Rock will triumph over all.

Album 39 Song 7

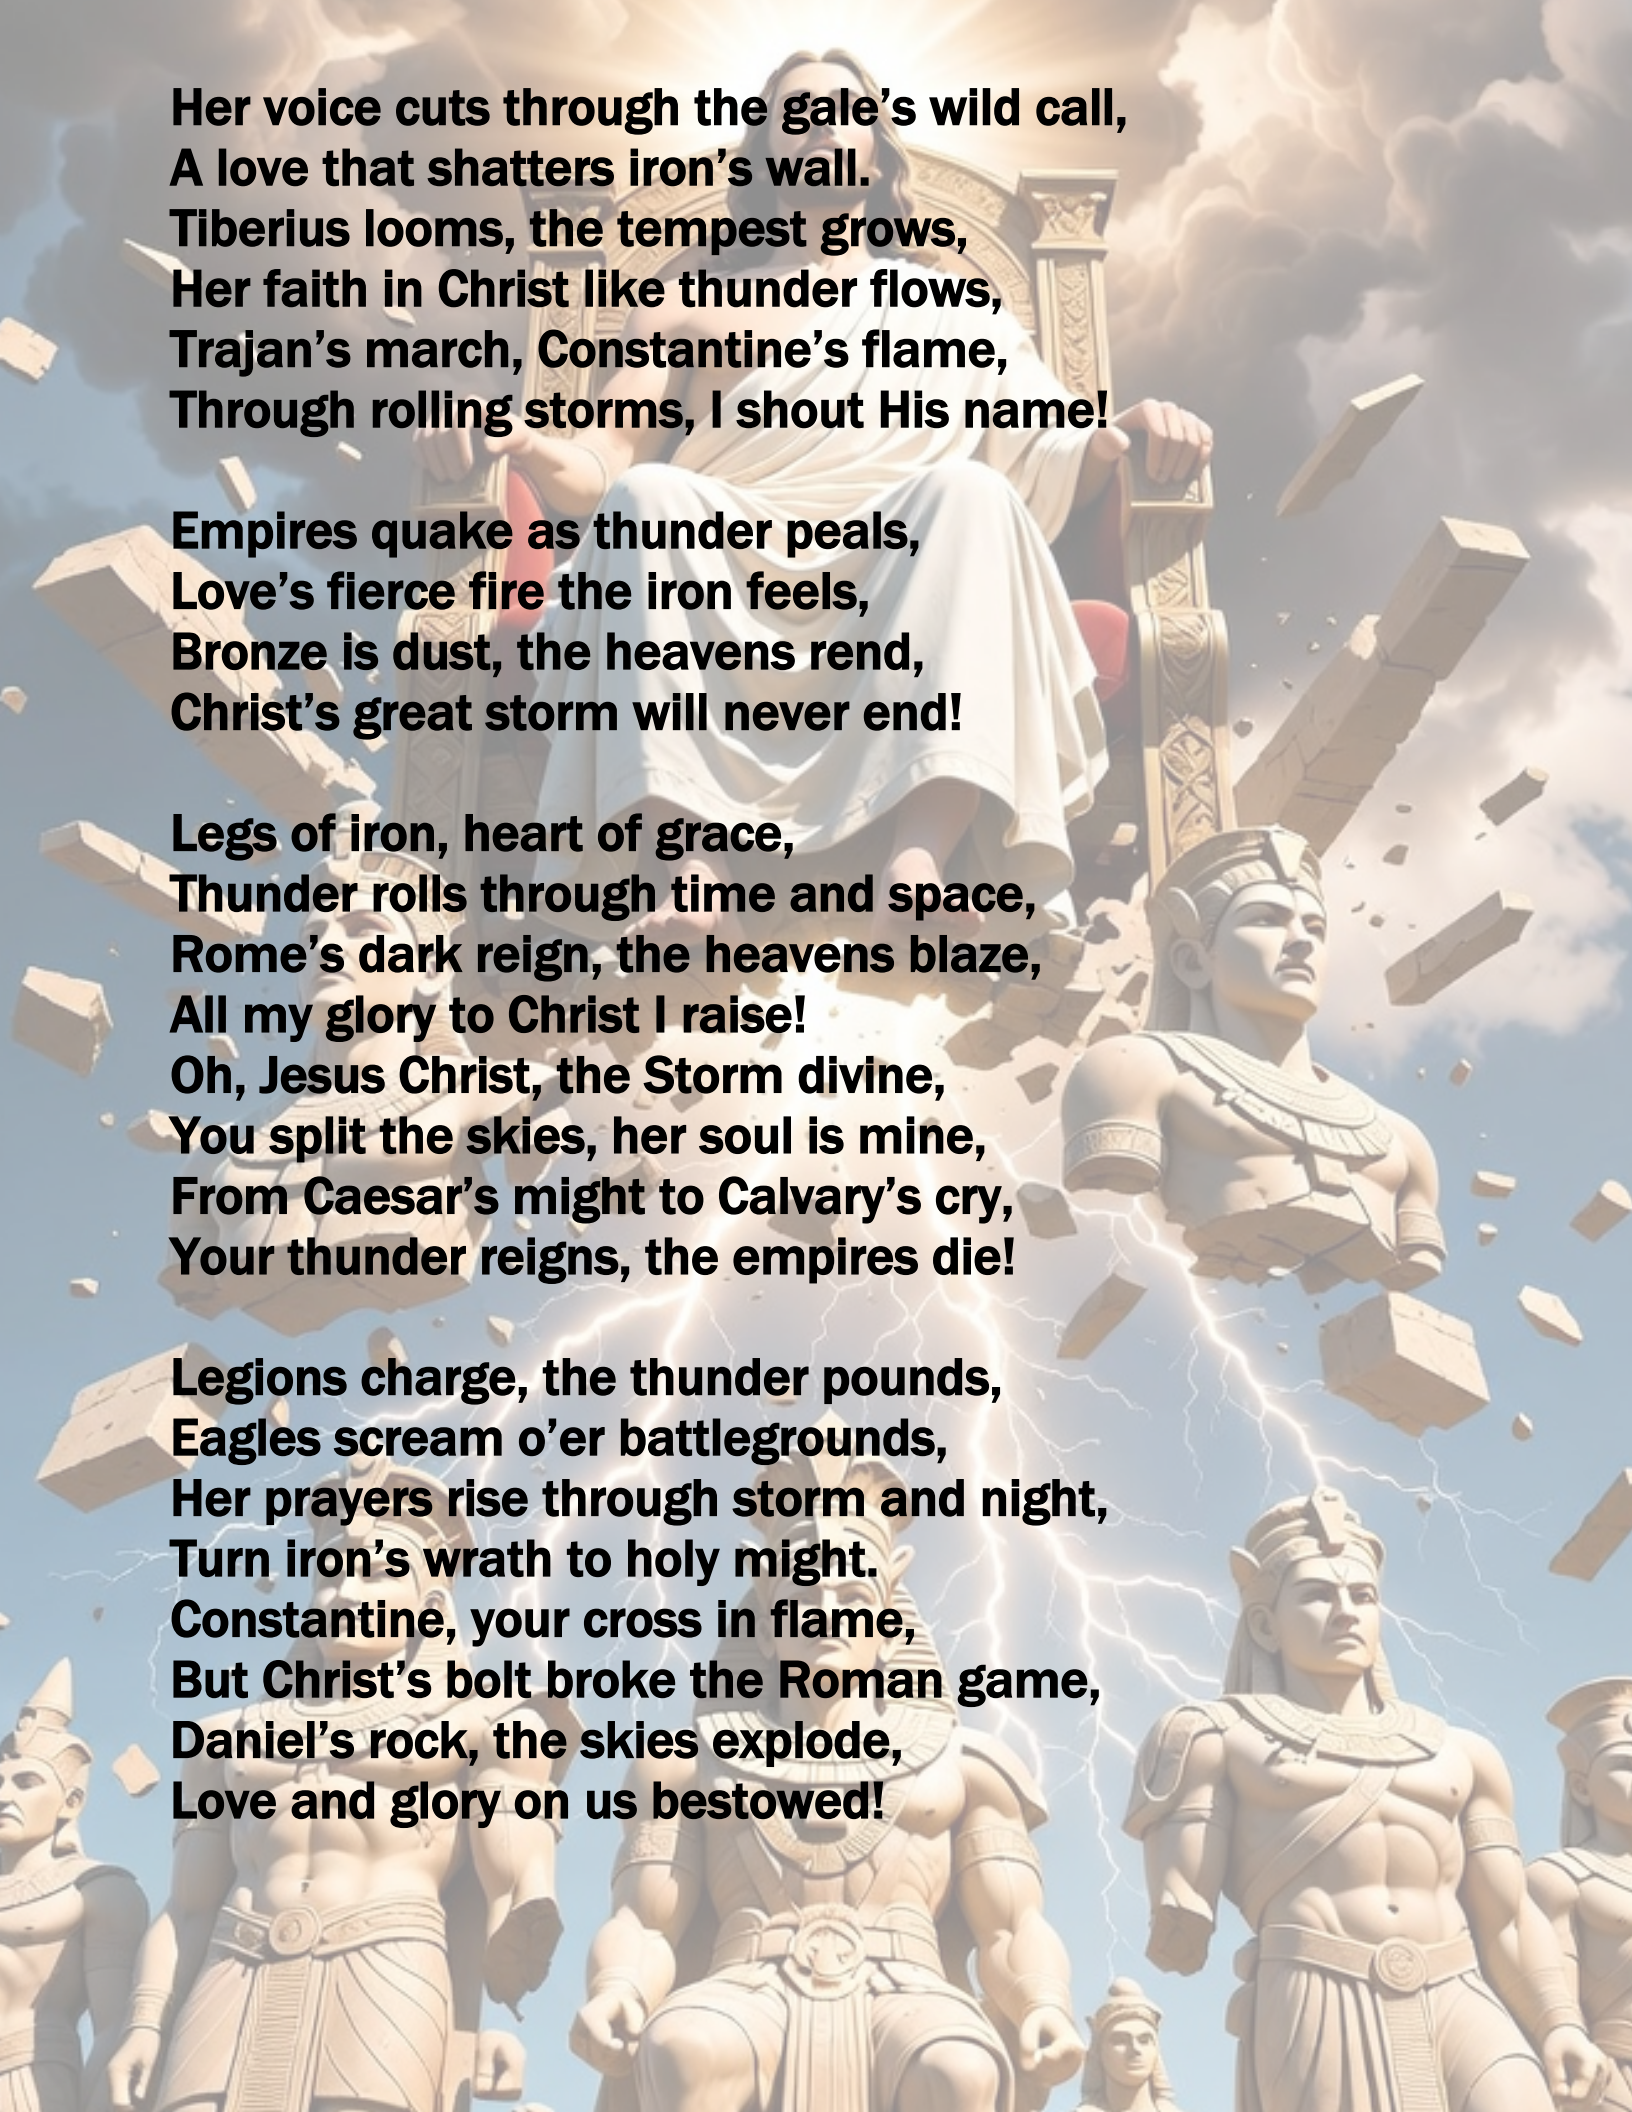

"Legs of Iron, Heart of Grace" (A Thundery Song with Glory to Jesus Christ)

Thunder cracks o'er Greece's broken reign,
A soldier storms through bronze's wane,
Her shadow dances 'neath the lightning's glare,
A Hellenistic flame with raven hair.
Iron legs of Rome shake the ground,
A tempest roars, the world unbound,
From Actium's clash, the skies ignite,
She's my thunder, my soul's fierce fight.

Empires tremble 'neath the storm's decree,
But love strikes deeper, wild and free,
Daniel's vision, iron's crushing roar,
Yet a greater King thunders more!

Legs of iron, heart of grace,
Thunder rolls through time and space,
Rome's dark reign, the heavens blaze,
All my glory to Christ I raise!
Oh, Jesus Christ, the Storm divine,
You split the skies, her soul is mine,
From Caesar's might to Calvary's cry,
Your thunder reigns, the empires die!

Augustus rises, lightning crowns his throne,
The Pax ignites with a stormy groan,

Her voice cuts through the gale's wild call,
A love that shatters iron's wall.
Tiberius looms, the tempest grows,
Her faith in Christ like thunder flows,
Trajan's march, Constantine's flame,
Through rolling storms, I shout His name!

Empires quake as thunder peals,
Love's fierce fire the iron feels,
Bronze is dust, the heavens rend,
Christ's great storm will never end!

Legs of iron, heart of grace,
Thunder rolls through time and space,
Rome's dark reign, the heavens blaze,
All my glory to Christ I raise!
Oh, Jesus Christ, the Storm divine,
You split the skies, her soul is mine,
From Caesar's might to Calvary's cry,
Your thunder reigns, the empires die!

Legions charge, the thunder pounds,
Eagles scream o'er battlegrounds,
Her prayers rise through storm and night,
Turn iron's wrath to holy might.
Constantine, your cross in flame,
But Christ's bolt broke the Roman game,
Daniel's rock, the skies explode,
Love and glory on us bestowed!

A dramatic illustration of Jesus Christ seated on a throne, surrounded by falling stone blocks and lightning bolts striking Egyptian statues. The scene is set against a bright, cloudy sky. Jesus is depicted with long brown hair and a beard, wearing a white robe. He is seated on a golden throne, with his right hand resting on the armrest and his left hand holding a book. The background is a bright, cloudy sky. In the foreground, several large, muscular statues of Egyptian pharaohs are shown. Some of the statues are being struck by bright yellow lightning bolts. The sky is filled with falling stone blocks and debris, suggesting a powerful force is breaking through the world. The overall tone is one of divine power and judgment.

Legs of iron, heart of grace,
Thunder rolls through time and space,
Rome's dark reign, the heavens blaze,
All my glory to Christ I raise!
Oh, Jesus Christ, the Storm divine,
You split the skies, her soul is mine,
From Caesar's might to Calvary's cry,
Your thunder reigns, the empires die!

Let the empires crash and fade,
Thunder strikes their iron blade,
My Hellenistic queen and I,
Roar His praise 'neath stormy sky.
All glory crashes, loud and true,
To Jesus, Storm who breaks us through,
The matrix splits, His reign resounds,
Eternal thunder shakes the grounds!

Album 39 -
The Matrix of
Ham & Canaan