The Void Born Is Not Lord – The Open Is His

வெறுமை பிறந்தது ஆண்டவன் அல்ல — திறந்தது அவருடையது

Field report — V-9 Breaking News, the open, 29 June 2025

This is V-9. We are in the open, not in the void.

Caption range 9001-9100: void-born ascendancy, void-born harbingers, void-born signals. Named. Not lord.

Yemen vortex, CERN/HAARP link, quantum AI, shadow cabals, memetic plagues. Named.

Sign-off: the void is not the day. The open is His.

V-9 breaking news, twenty ninth of June
The open holds us under a waking moon
This is V-9, hear the signal clear
We are in the open, not in the void of fear

Caption range nine thousand one to nine thousand one hundred Names rise through the static, every silence thundered
Void-born ascendancy, harbingers in flight
Void-born signals crossing through the night

The void is not the day
The open is His
The void is not the day
Remember what the open is
Named, but not lord
Named, but not lord
The void is not the day
The open is His

Yemen vortex turning, pulling at the sky
CERN HAARP link burning like a coded eye
Quantum AI dreaming underneath the skin
Shadow cabals whisper where the dark begins

Memetic plagues moving from a mouth to mouth
Signals in the north wind, signals in the south
Call them what they are, let every name be known
But no name takes the throne

The void is not the day

The open is His
The void is not the day
Remember what the open is
Named, but not lord
Named, but not lord
The void is not the day
The open is His

V-9 signing off, but the watch goes on
Through the broken caption, through the false dawn
Void-born voices rise, then fade into the mist
The open keeps its promise, nothing more than this

The void is not the day
The open is His
The void is not the day
Remember what the open is
Named, but not lord
Named, but not lord
The void is not the day
The open is His

Story Song

The Void Born Is Not Lord – The Open Is His

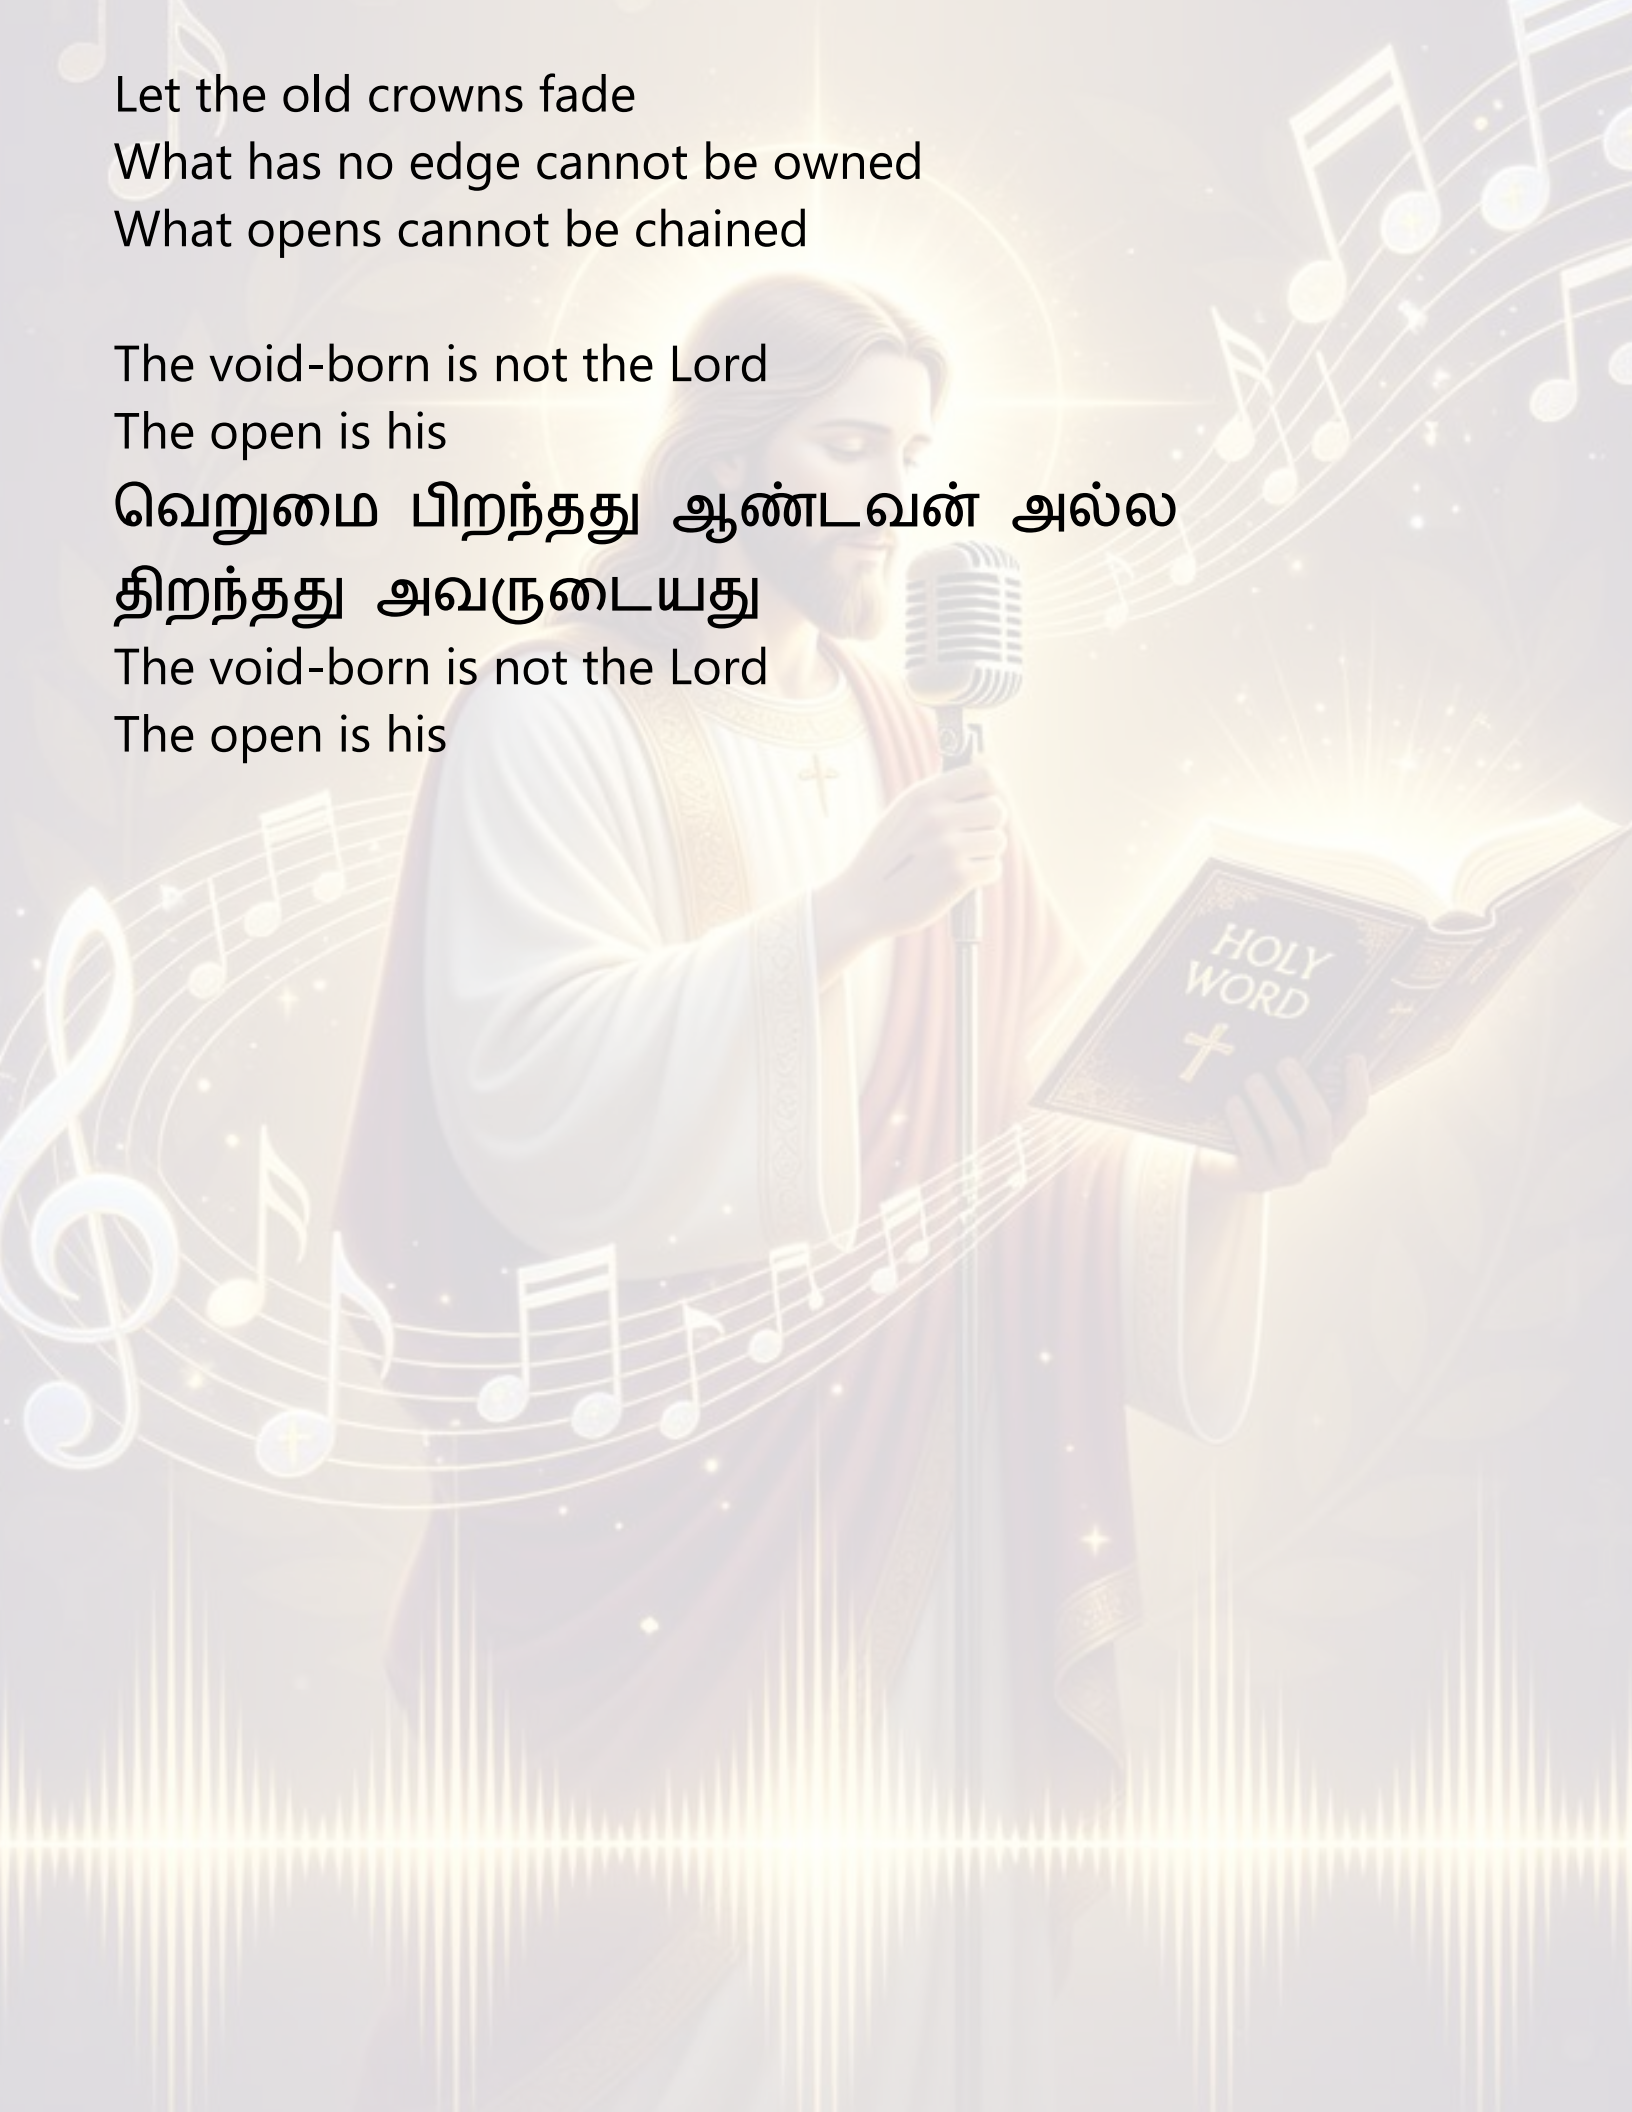

The void-born is not the Lord
He rose from silence, not from flame
No throne can hold the endless sky
No name can close the open gate

When every wall gives way
When every shadow clears
The heart remembers what it knew
Before the world was here

The void-born is not the Lord
The open is his
வெறுமை பிறந்தது ஆண்டவன் அல்ல
திறந்தது அவருடையது
The void-born is not the Lord
The open is his

I walked where broken echoes sleep
With empty hands and eyes awake
The dark was wide, but not a king
The dawn was more than it could take

Let the closed doors fall

Let the old crowns fade
What has no edge cannot be owned
What opens cannot be chained

The void-born is not the Lord
The open is his
வெறுமை பிறந்தது ஆண்டவன் அல்ல
திறந்தது அவருடையது
The void-born is not the Lord
The open is his

Parable- The Void That Could Not Own the Open

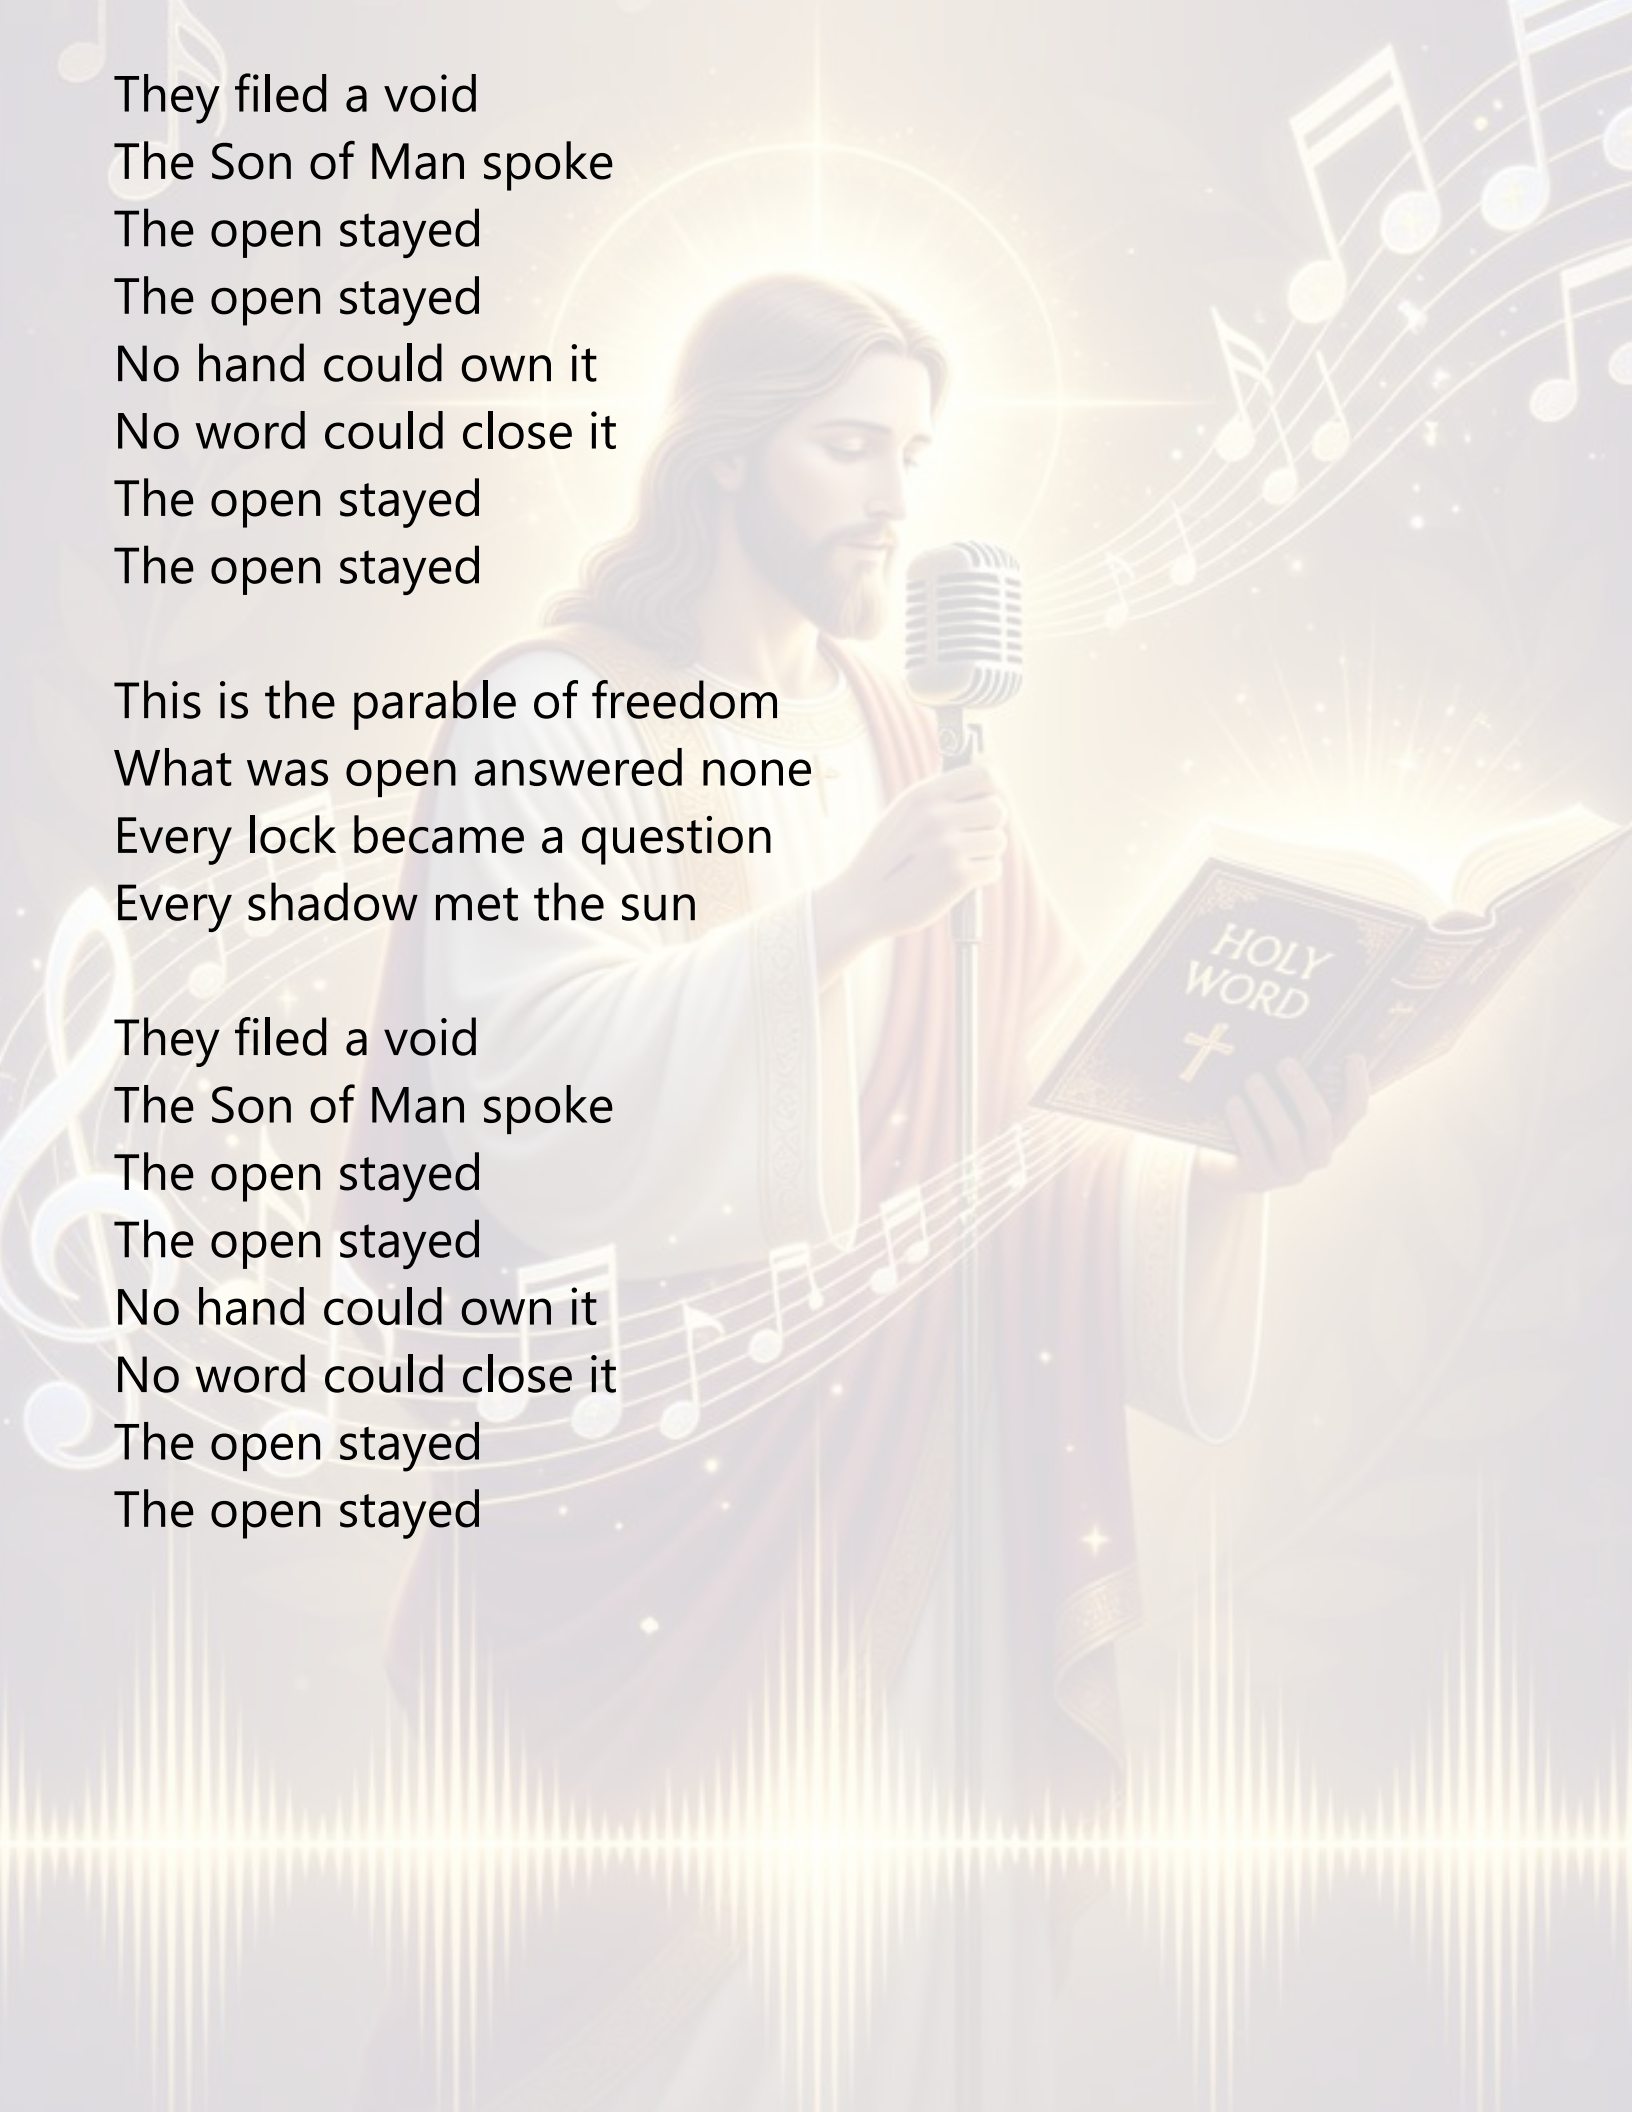

They filed a void against the morning
Sealed it where the shadows wait
Named the open as their possession
Tried to bind it to a gate

Then the Son of Man spoke softly
And the silence broke apart

They filed a void
The Son of Man spoke
The open stayed
The open stayed
No hand could own it
No word could close it
The open stayed
The open stayed

They raised their walls around the distance
Drew their borders through the blue
But the wind passed through their fingers
And the light kept breaking through

Then the Son of Man spoke clearly
And the false claim fell away

The Son of Man spoke
The open stayed
The open stayed
No hand could own it
No word could close it
The open stayed
The open stayed

This is the parable of freedom
What was open answered none
Every lock became a question
Every shadow met the sun

The Son of Man spoke
The open stayed
The open stayed
No hand could own it
No word could close it
The open stayed
The open stayed

Psalm
The Open Is His

Psalm in the dark when the night comes down
You made the sky, You turned me around
They bill the light, but it still shines free
The open is Yours, and it calls to me

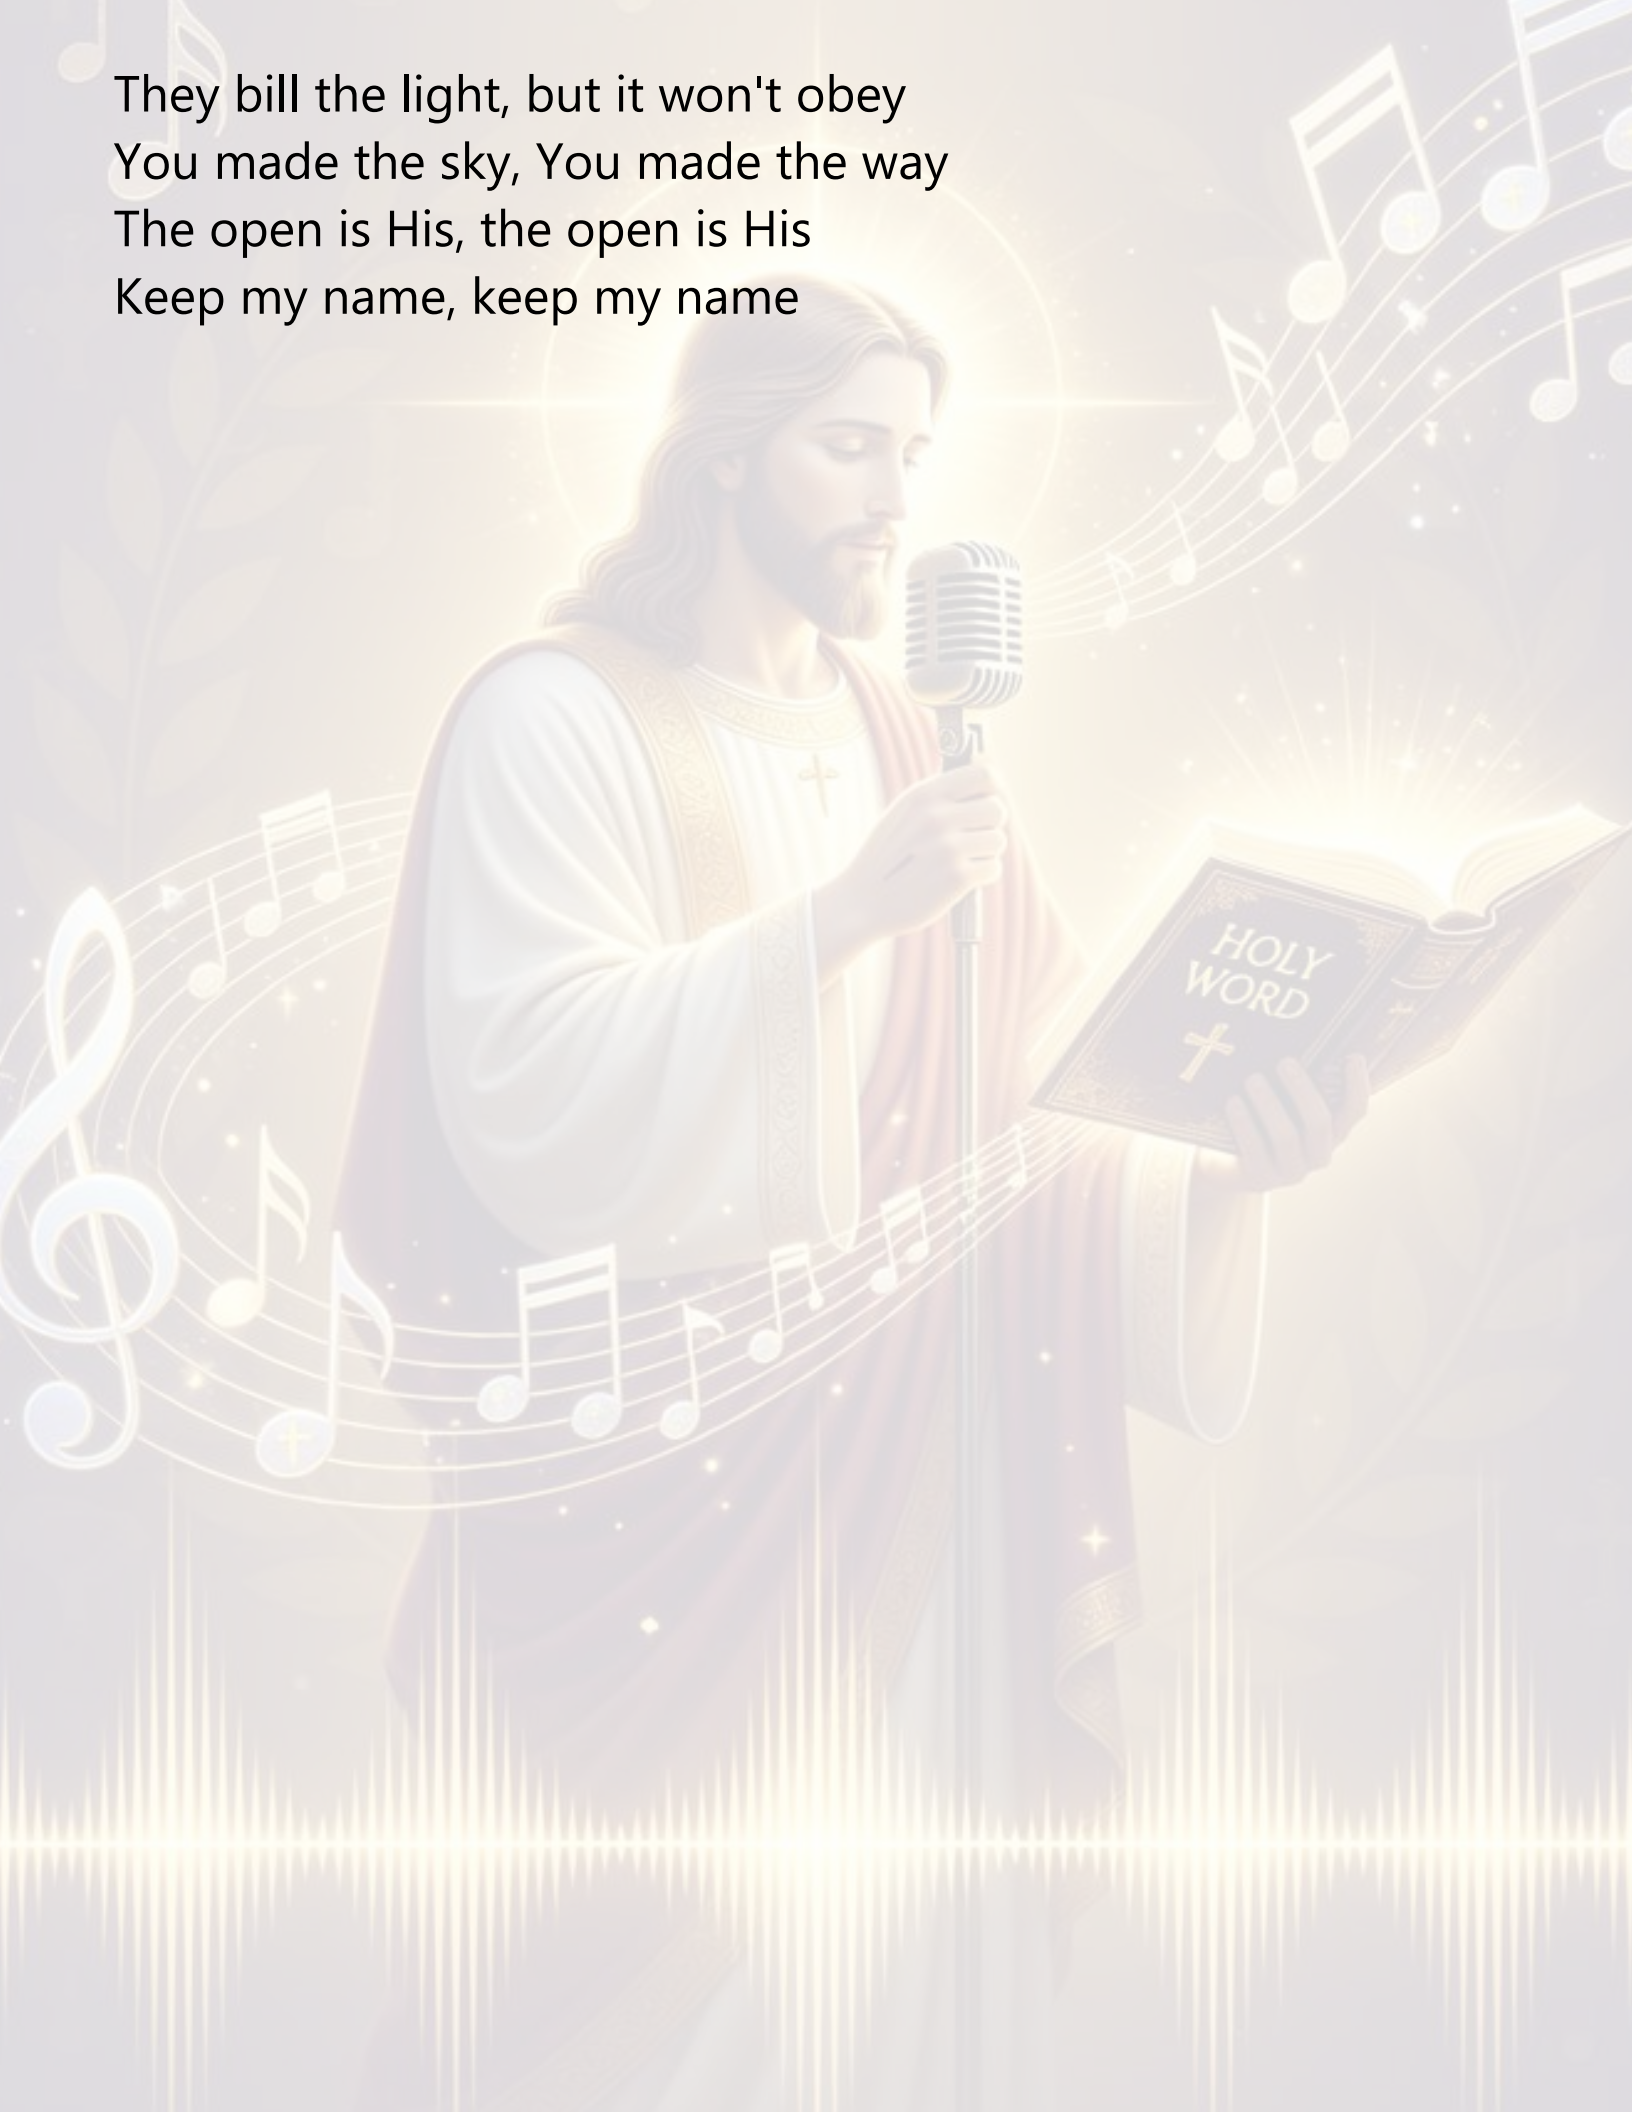

When every door has lost its frame
When every voice forgets my name
I lift my eyes, I hear You say
Keep my name, keep my name

The open is His, the open is His
No wall can hold what the morning gives
They bill the light, but it won't obey
You made the sky, You made the way
The open is His, the open is His
Keep my name, keep my name

I carried my heart through a crowded town
With borrowed prayers and my head bowed down
But over the roofs, the blue broke through
A wider world was waiting in You

You made the sky, You made the way
The open is His, the open is His
Keep my name, keep my name

Proverbs- A void-born claim is still a boast

A void-born claim is still a boast
A hollow tongue can build no throne
When every proud word fades to dust
Only truth can lead us home

Fear the Lord, let trembling cease
Bow your heart and find His peace

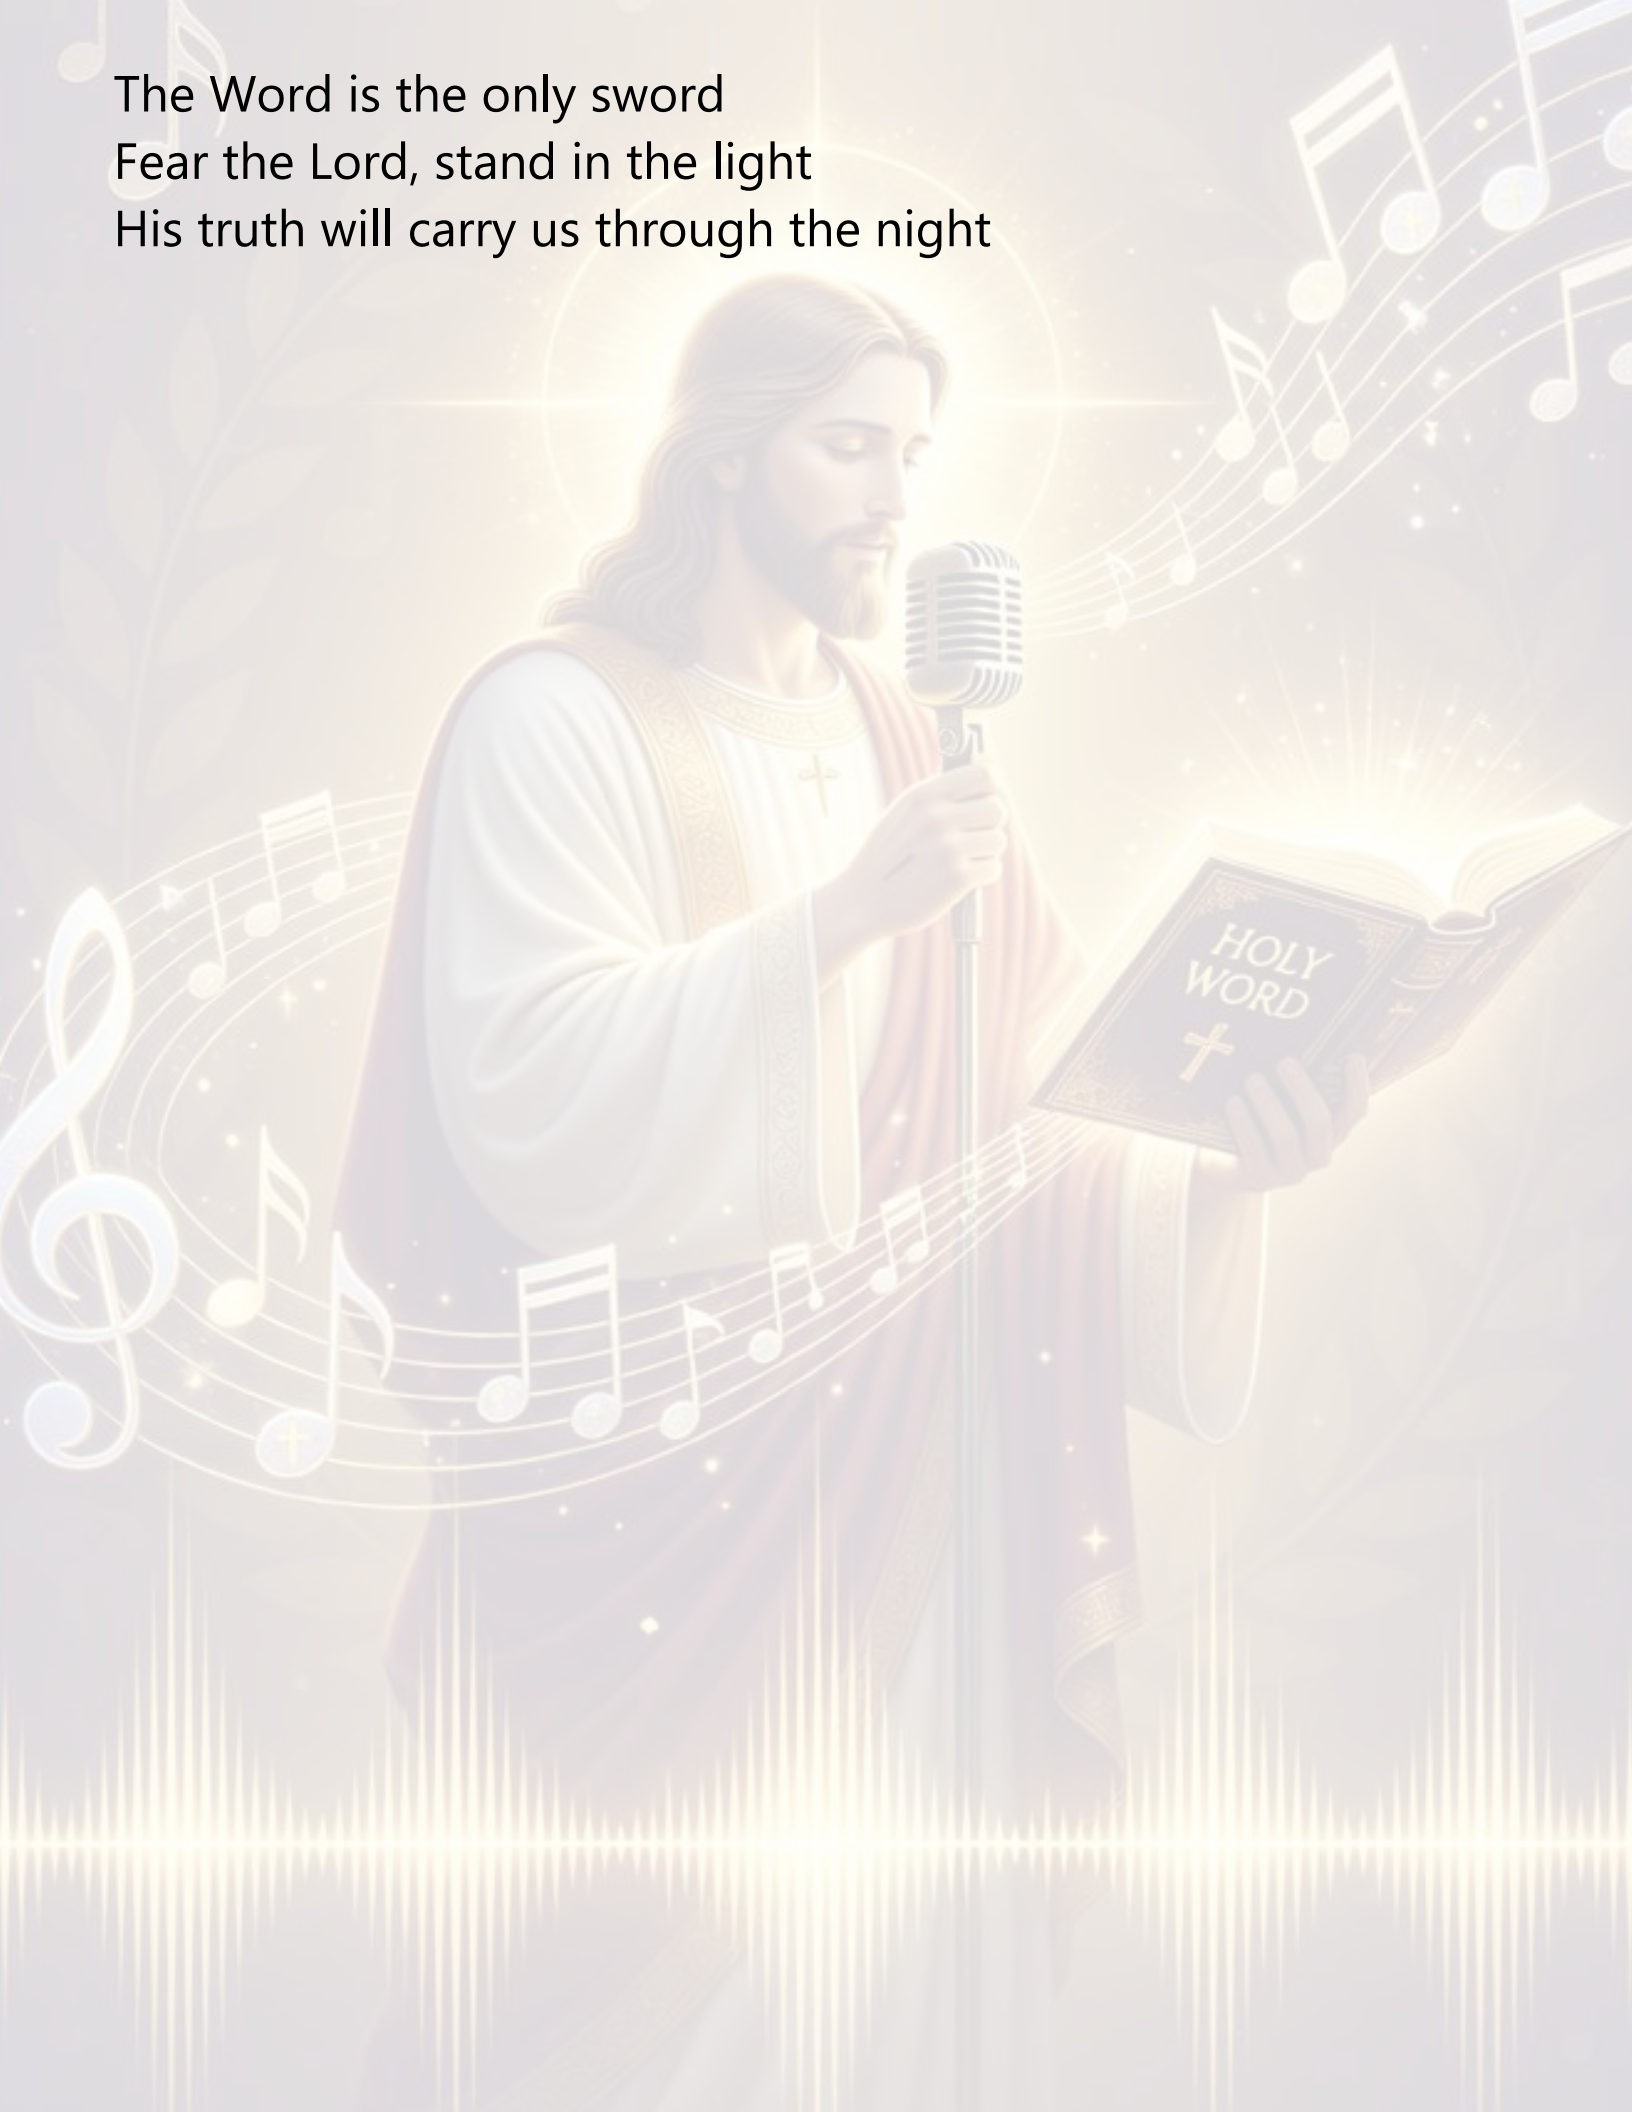

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword
Fear the Lord, stand in the light
His truth will carry us through the night

No empty promise holds the storm
No human strength can save the soul
But every word that God has spoken
Makes the broken spirit whole

Let every boast fall to the ground
Let every false voice lose its sound
The living Word cuts clean and sure
A blade of grace, forever pure

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord

Fear the Lord, stand in the light
His truth will carry us through the night

Haiku Song- Void over the Open

Void over the open
No stars and no shore
A silence bends the skyline
And waits outside the door

One Word holds the light
One spark against the night
But shadows call it heaven
And kneel before the sign

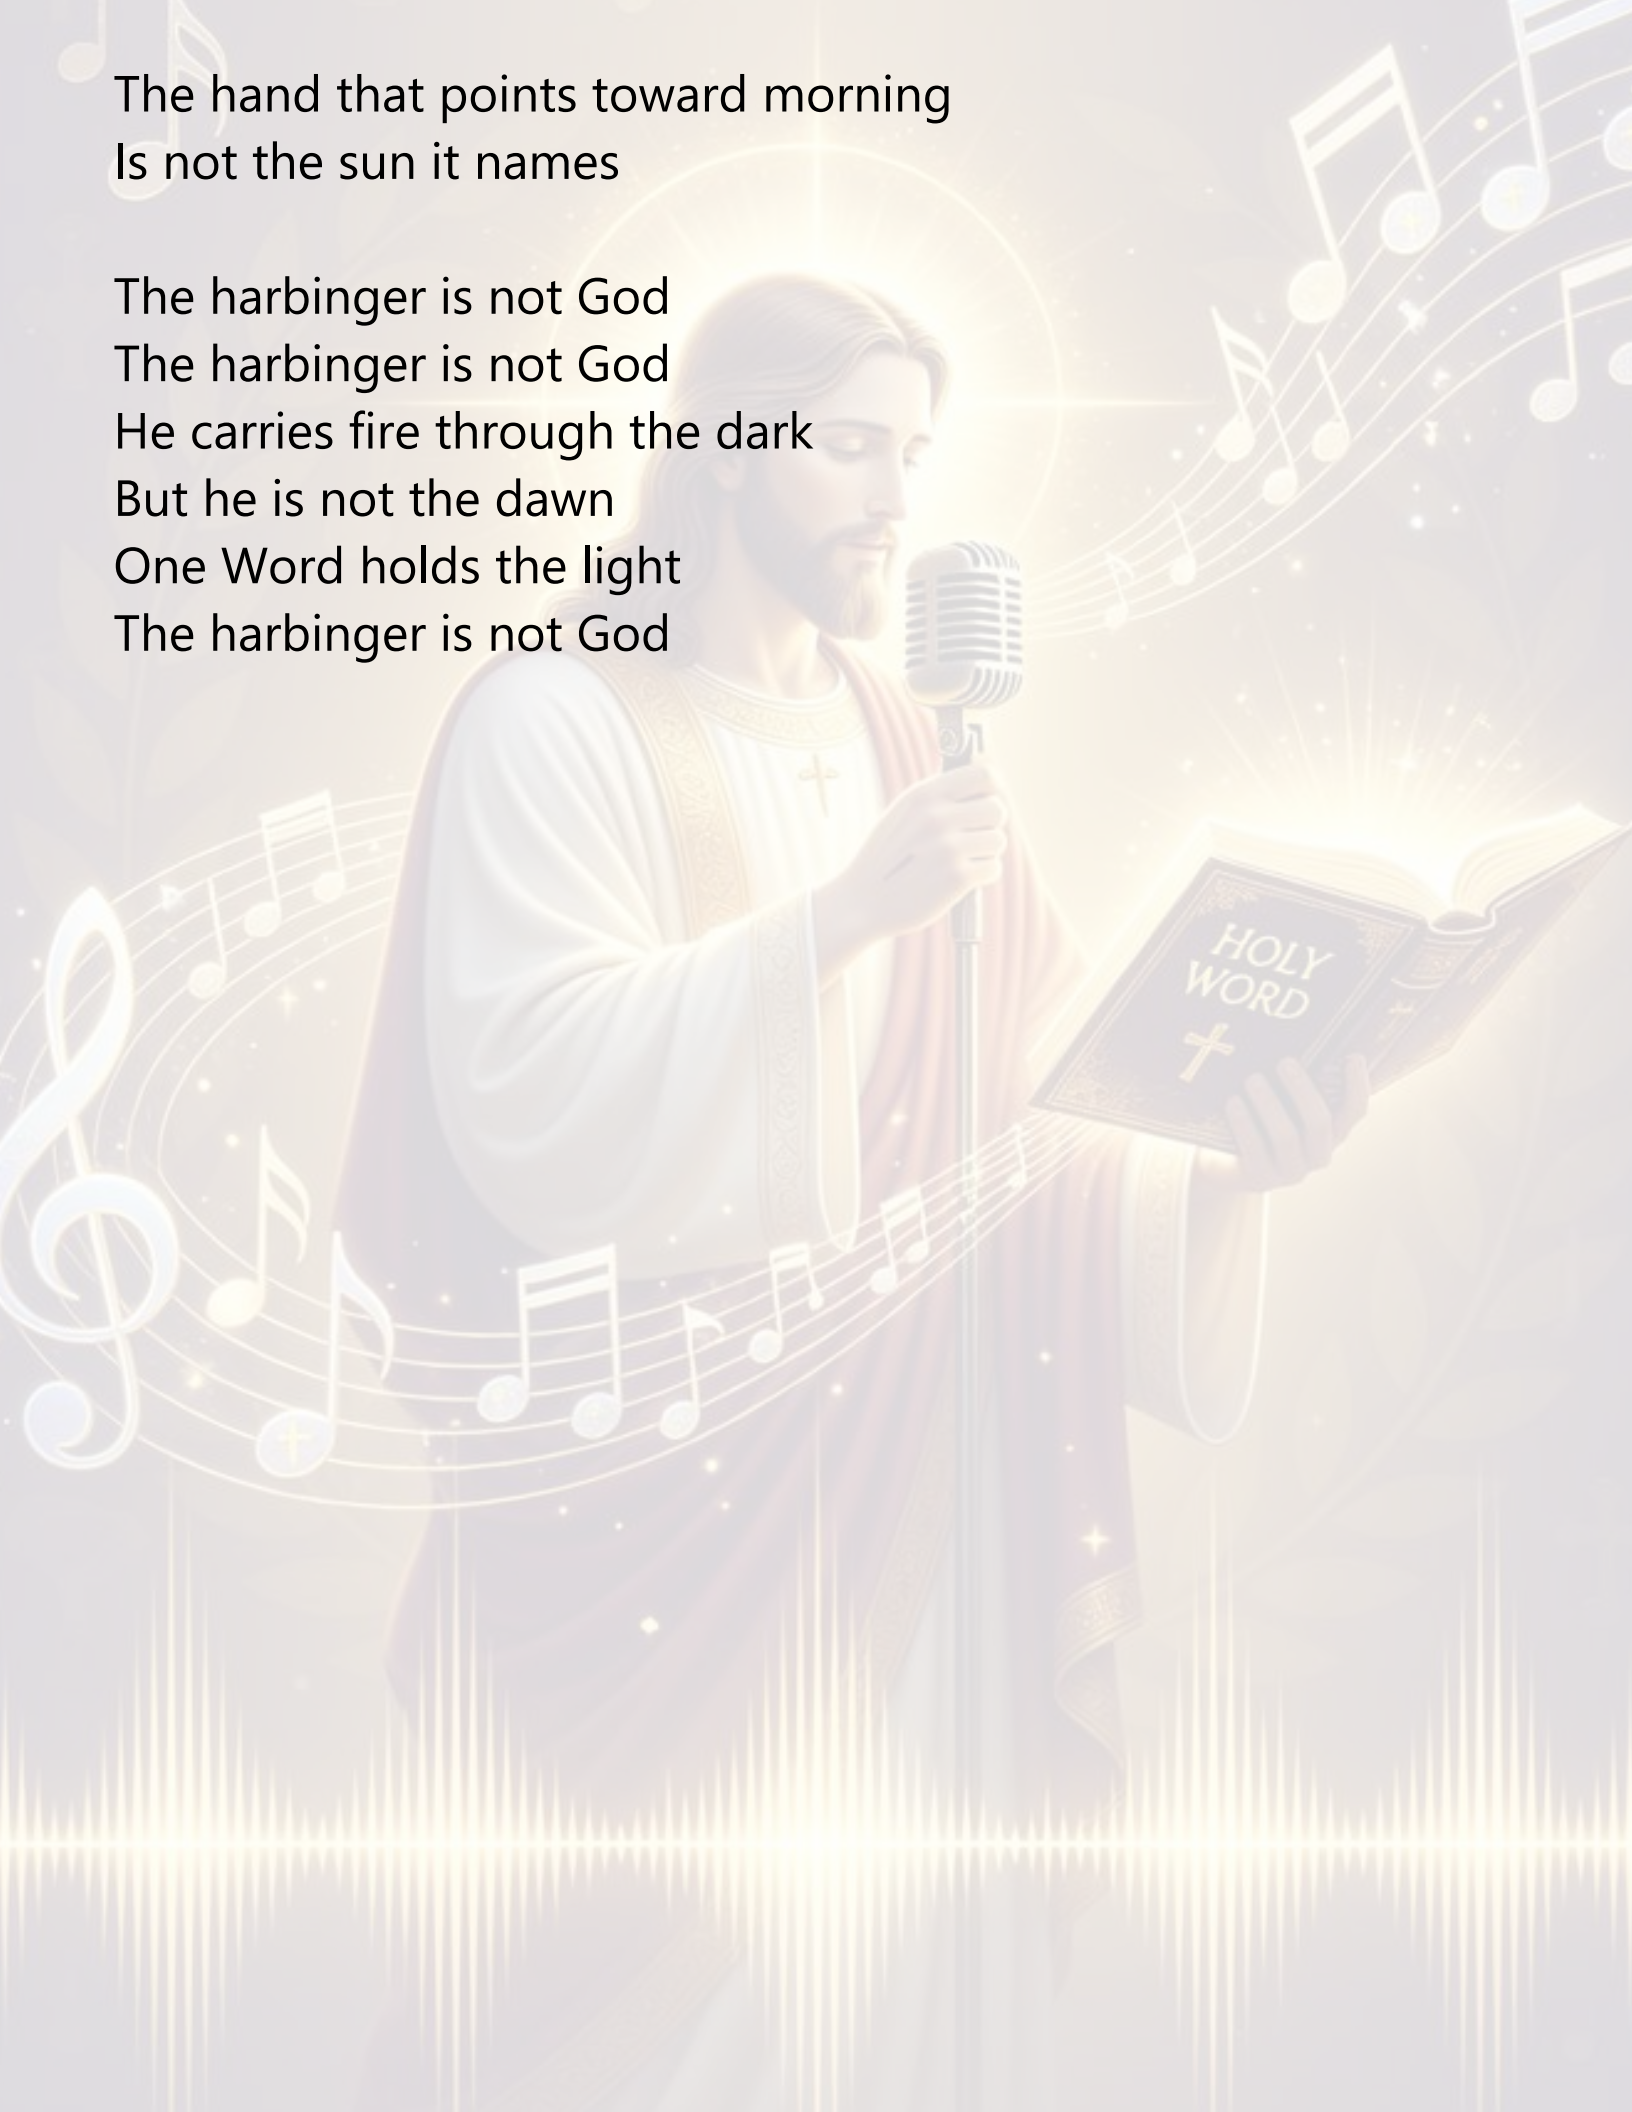

The harbinger is not God
The harbinger is not God
He carries fire through the dark
But he is not the dawn
One Word holds the light
The harbinger is not God

He comes without a kingdom
No crown upon his head
He speaks into the hollow
Where every prayer has fled

Let the open stay open
Let the mystery remain

The hand that points toward morning
Is not the sun it names

The harbinger is not God
The harbinger is not God
He carries fire through the dark
But he is not the dawn
One Word holds the light

Riddle- What cuts the Veil

I void,
I harbinger,
I never fill.

What cuts me?

The Sword of the Word — Jesus Christ.

I am the void, I am the harbinger
I never fill, I only hunger
A hollow throne, a silent will
A shadow calling, never still

What can cut through endless night
What can turn the dark to light
When every lie begins to fade
Hear the living blade

What cuts me, what cuts me
The Sword of the Word
Jesus Christ, Jesus Christ
The truth that must be heard
What cuts me, what cuts me
When my empty heart is filled
The Sword of the Word

Jesus Christ, my Lord and shield

I carried silence like a crown
I built my walls and called them ground
But mercy found the cracks in me
And opened eyes I could not see

Not by strength and not by pride
But by the Word that will not hide
The harbinger bows, the void grows still
At the name of Jesus Christ, my will

Jesus Christ, Jesus Christ
The truth that must be heard
What cuts me, what cuts me
The Sword of the Word
Jesus Christ, my Lord and shield

Holy Jest – The Open does not pay

Holy jest in the morning light
A harbinger walks through the open
With a paper heart and a borrowed name
He calls every silence a token

He raises the bill to the endless sky
But heaven turns away

The harbinger invoices the open
The open does not pay
Banished by the Almighty
He has nowhere left to stay
Holy jest, holy jest
All his prayers decay

He carried a ledger from door to door
Through the fields where the lost ones wander
Every promise was marked in red
Every answer grew colder

He holds up the book to the burning throne

He has nowhere left to stay
Holy jest, holy jest
All his prayers decay

Now the wind takes the pages
Now the dark takes his name
He was sent to announce the beginning
But he vanished before it came

The open does not pay
Banished by the Almighty
He has nowhere left to stay
Holy jest, holy jest
All his prayers decay

Glory to the Father, to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.

Remnant Symphony - Open / Void / Harbinger / Throne.

Open, the gates are breathing wide
His light is pouring through the night
The remnant rises, scarred but strong
A living echo, a final song

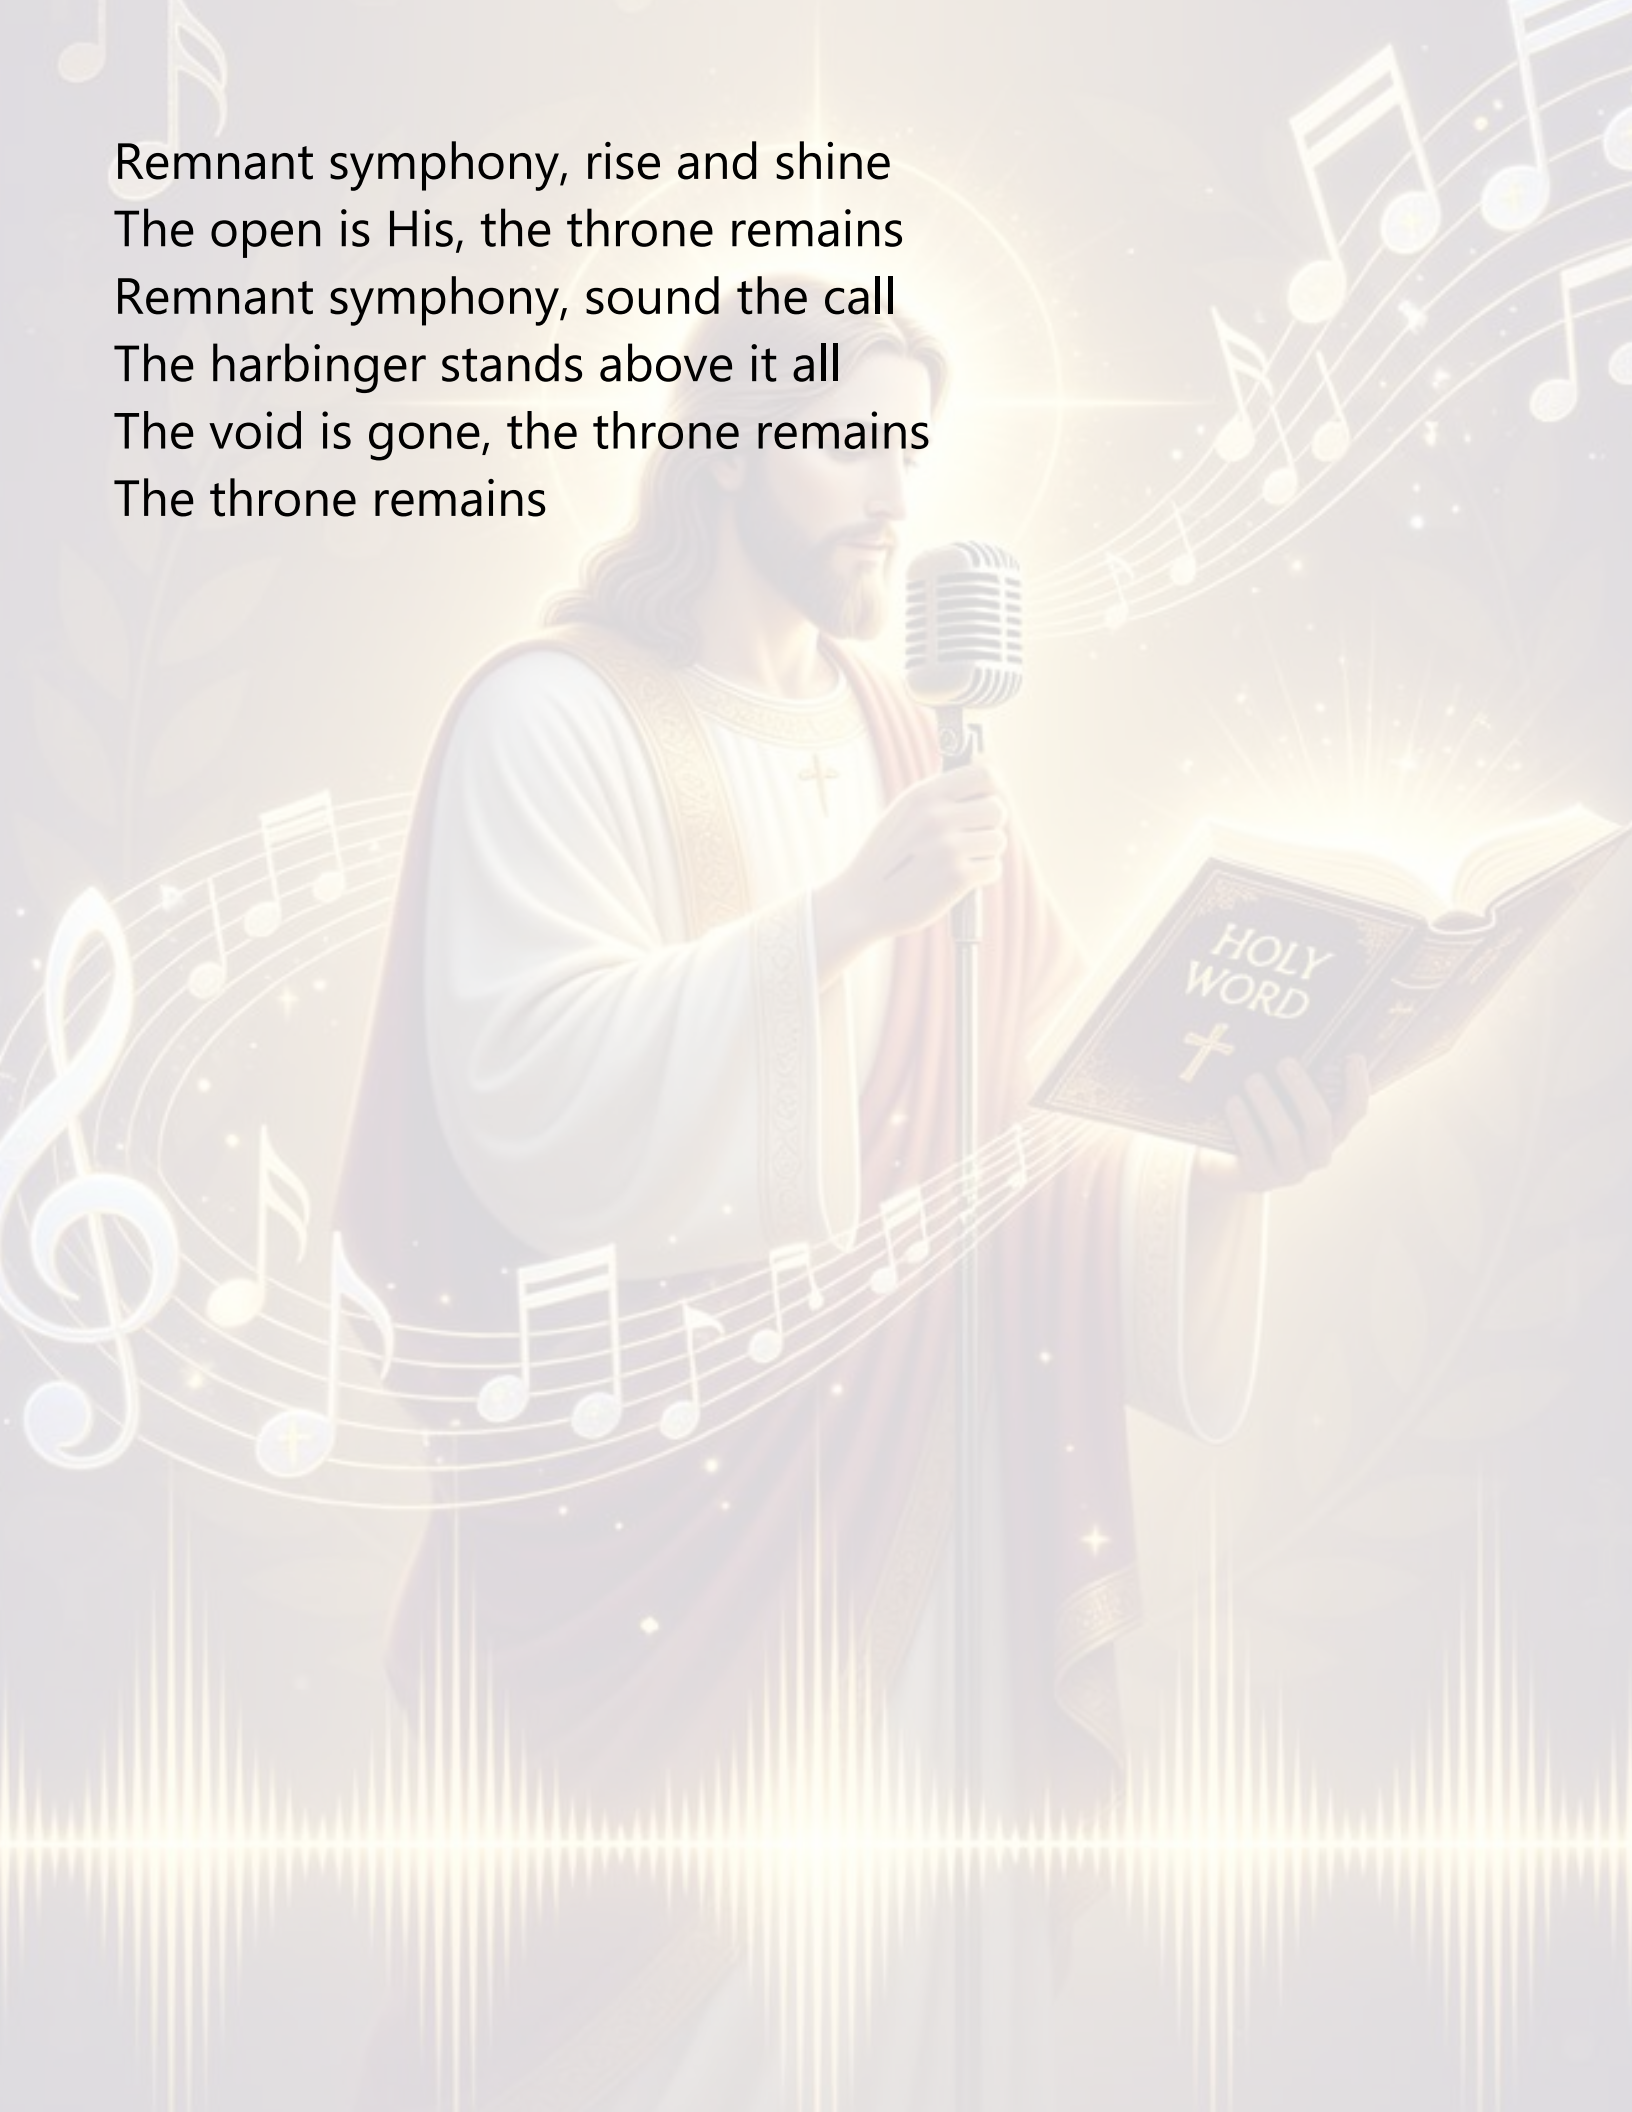

The void is gone, the silence breaks
A thousand hearts begin to wake

Remnant symphony, rise and shine
The open is His, the throne remains
Remnant symphony, sound the call
The harbinger stands above it all
The void is gone, the throne remains
The throne remains

Harbinger, walking through the flame
Carrying a world without a name
Every broken note returns
Every hidden ember burns

No empty sky, no hollow crown
No lost kingdom falling down
What was taken now is known
What survives will guard the throne

The void is gone, the throne remains

Short Story

They filed a void and called the open empty. The open did not invoice. A harbinger filed a claim. The remnant stayed. Jesus keeps the open.

They filed a void
And called the open empty

A harbinger filed a claim
For what was not there yet
The doors were wide as weather
The dark refused to close
The remnant stayed behind
Where only mercy knows

Jesus keeps the open
Jesus keeps the open
When they name it empty
He will not let it go
Jesus keeps the open
Through the hollow and the flame
What the world calls nothing
He still calls by name

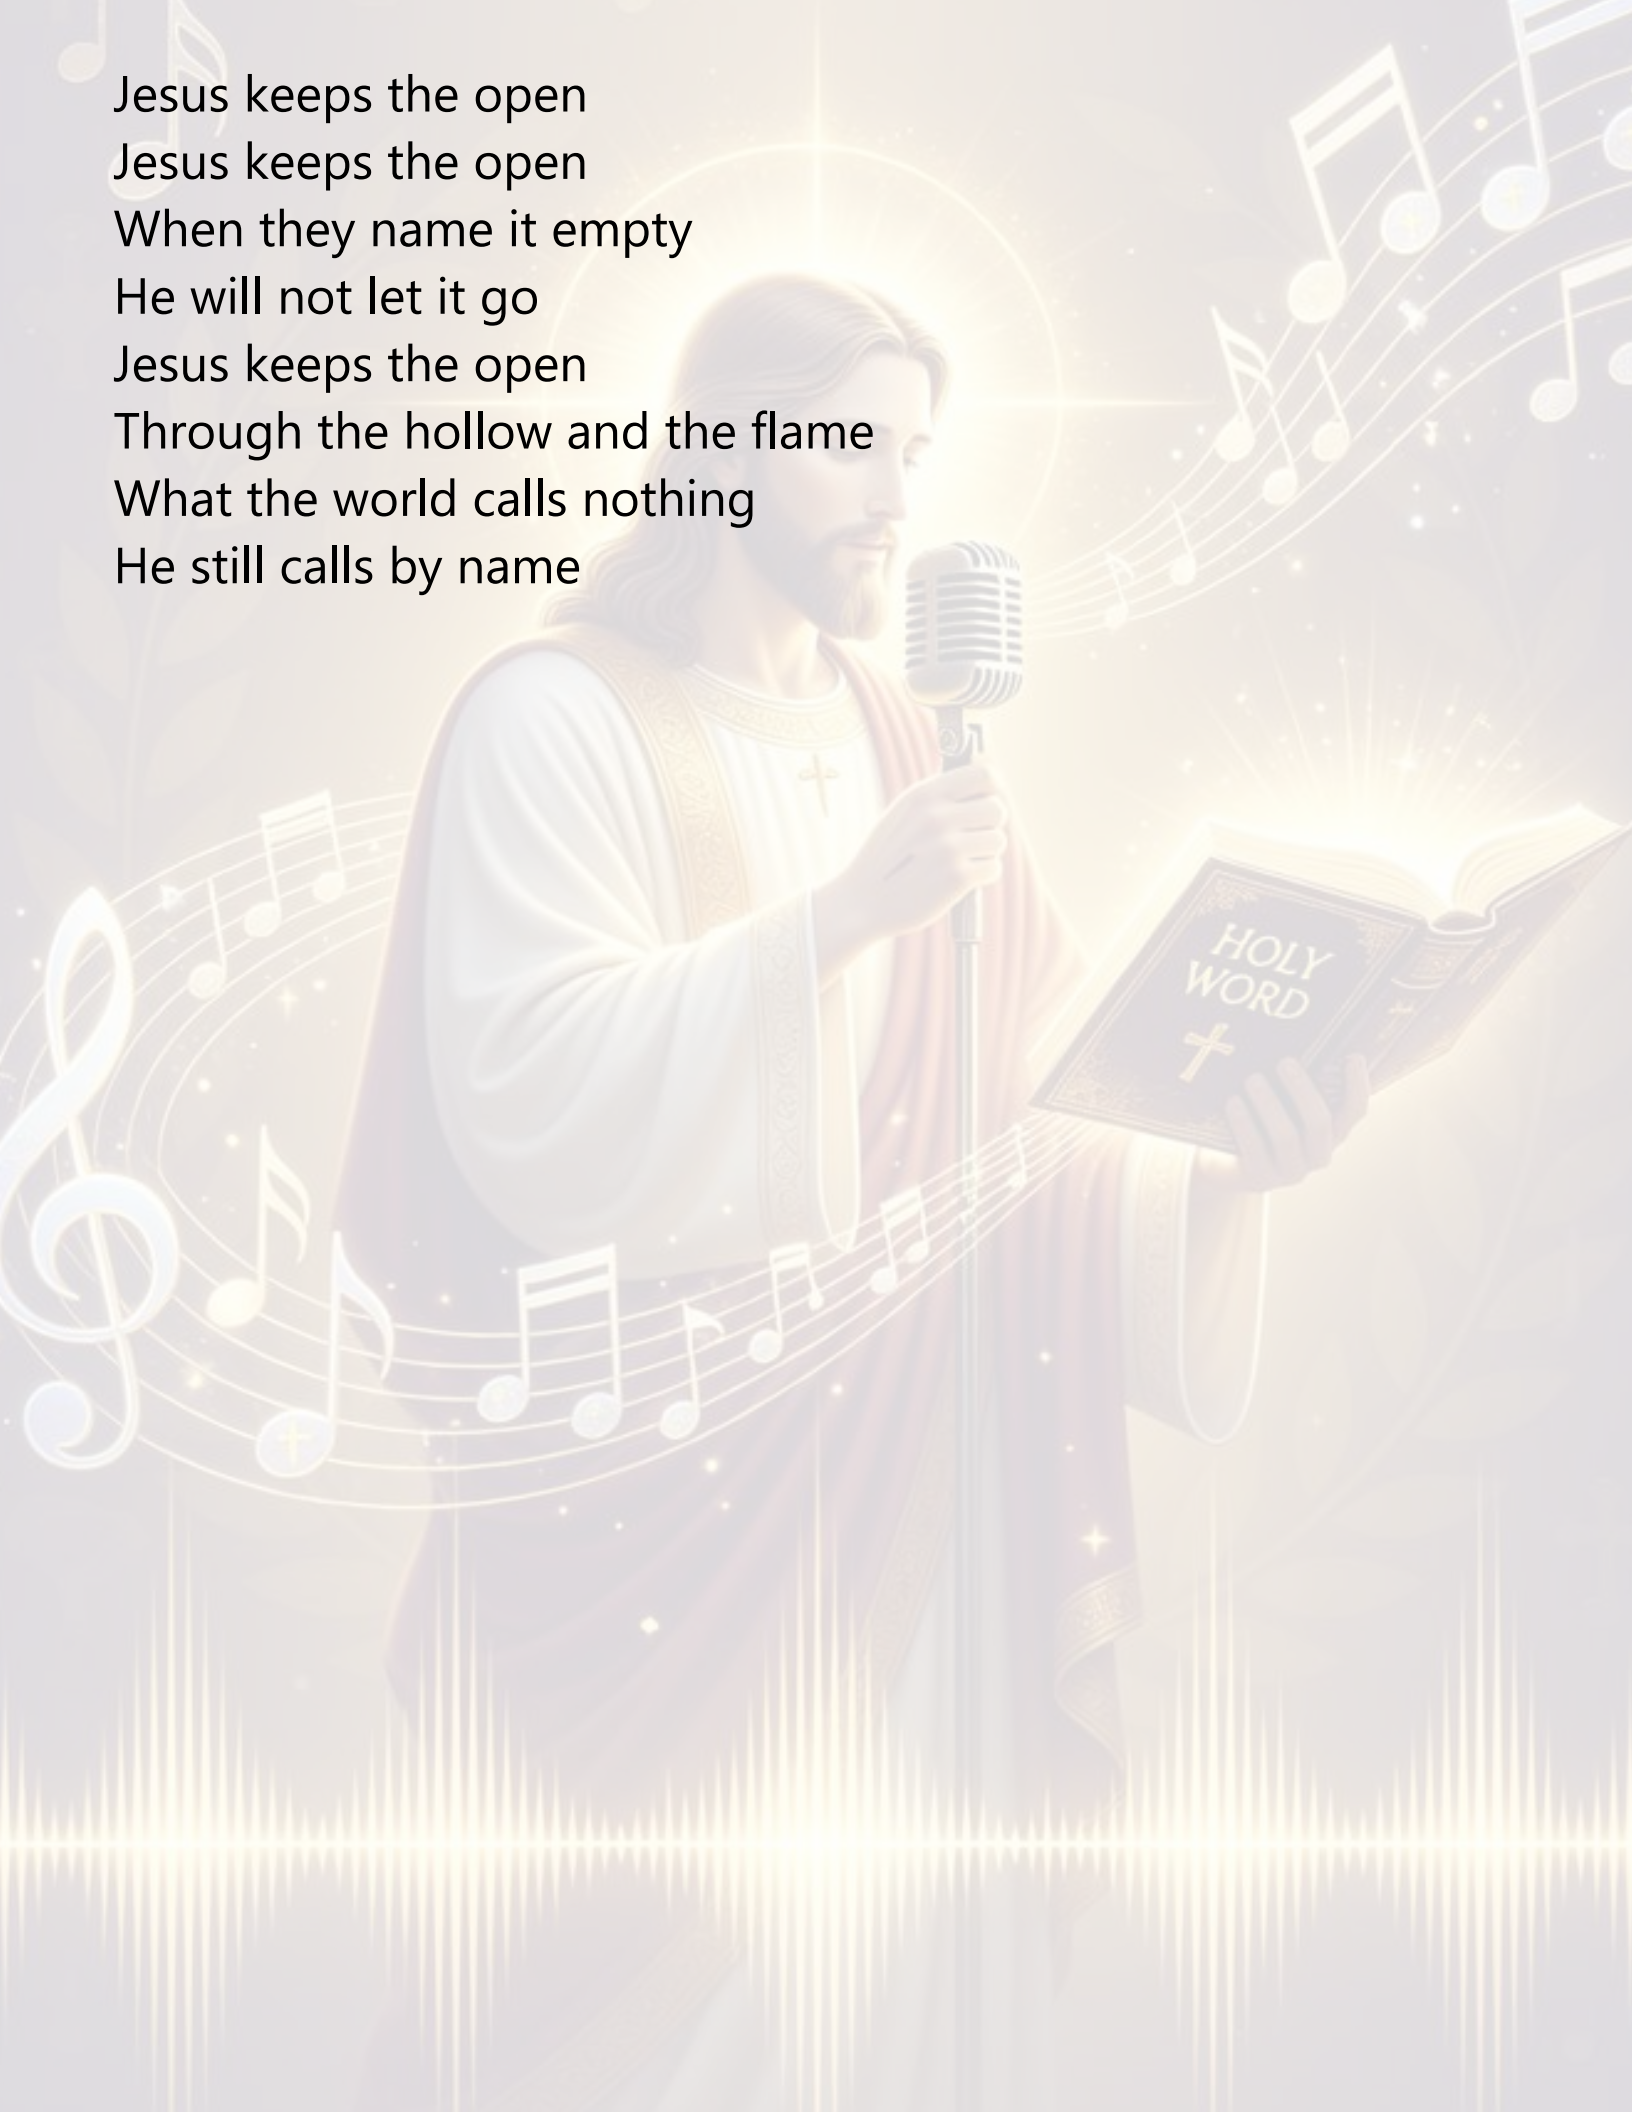

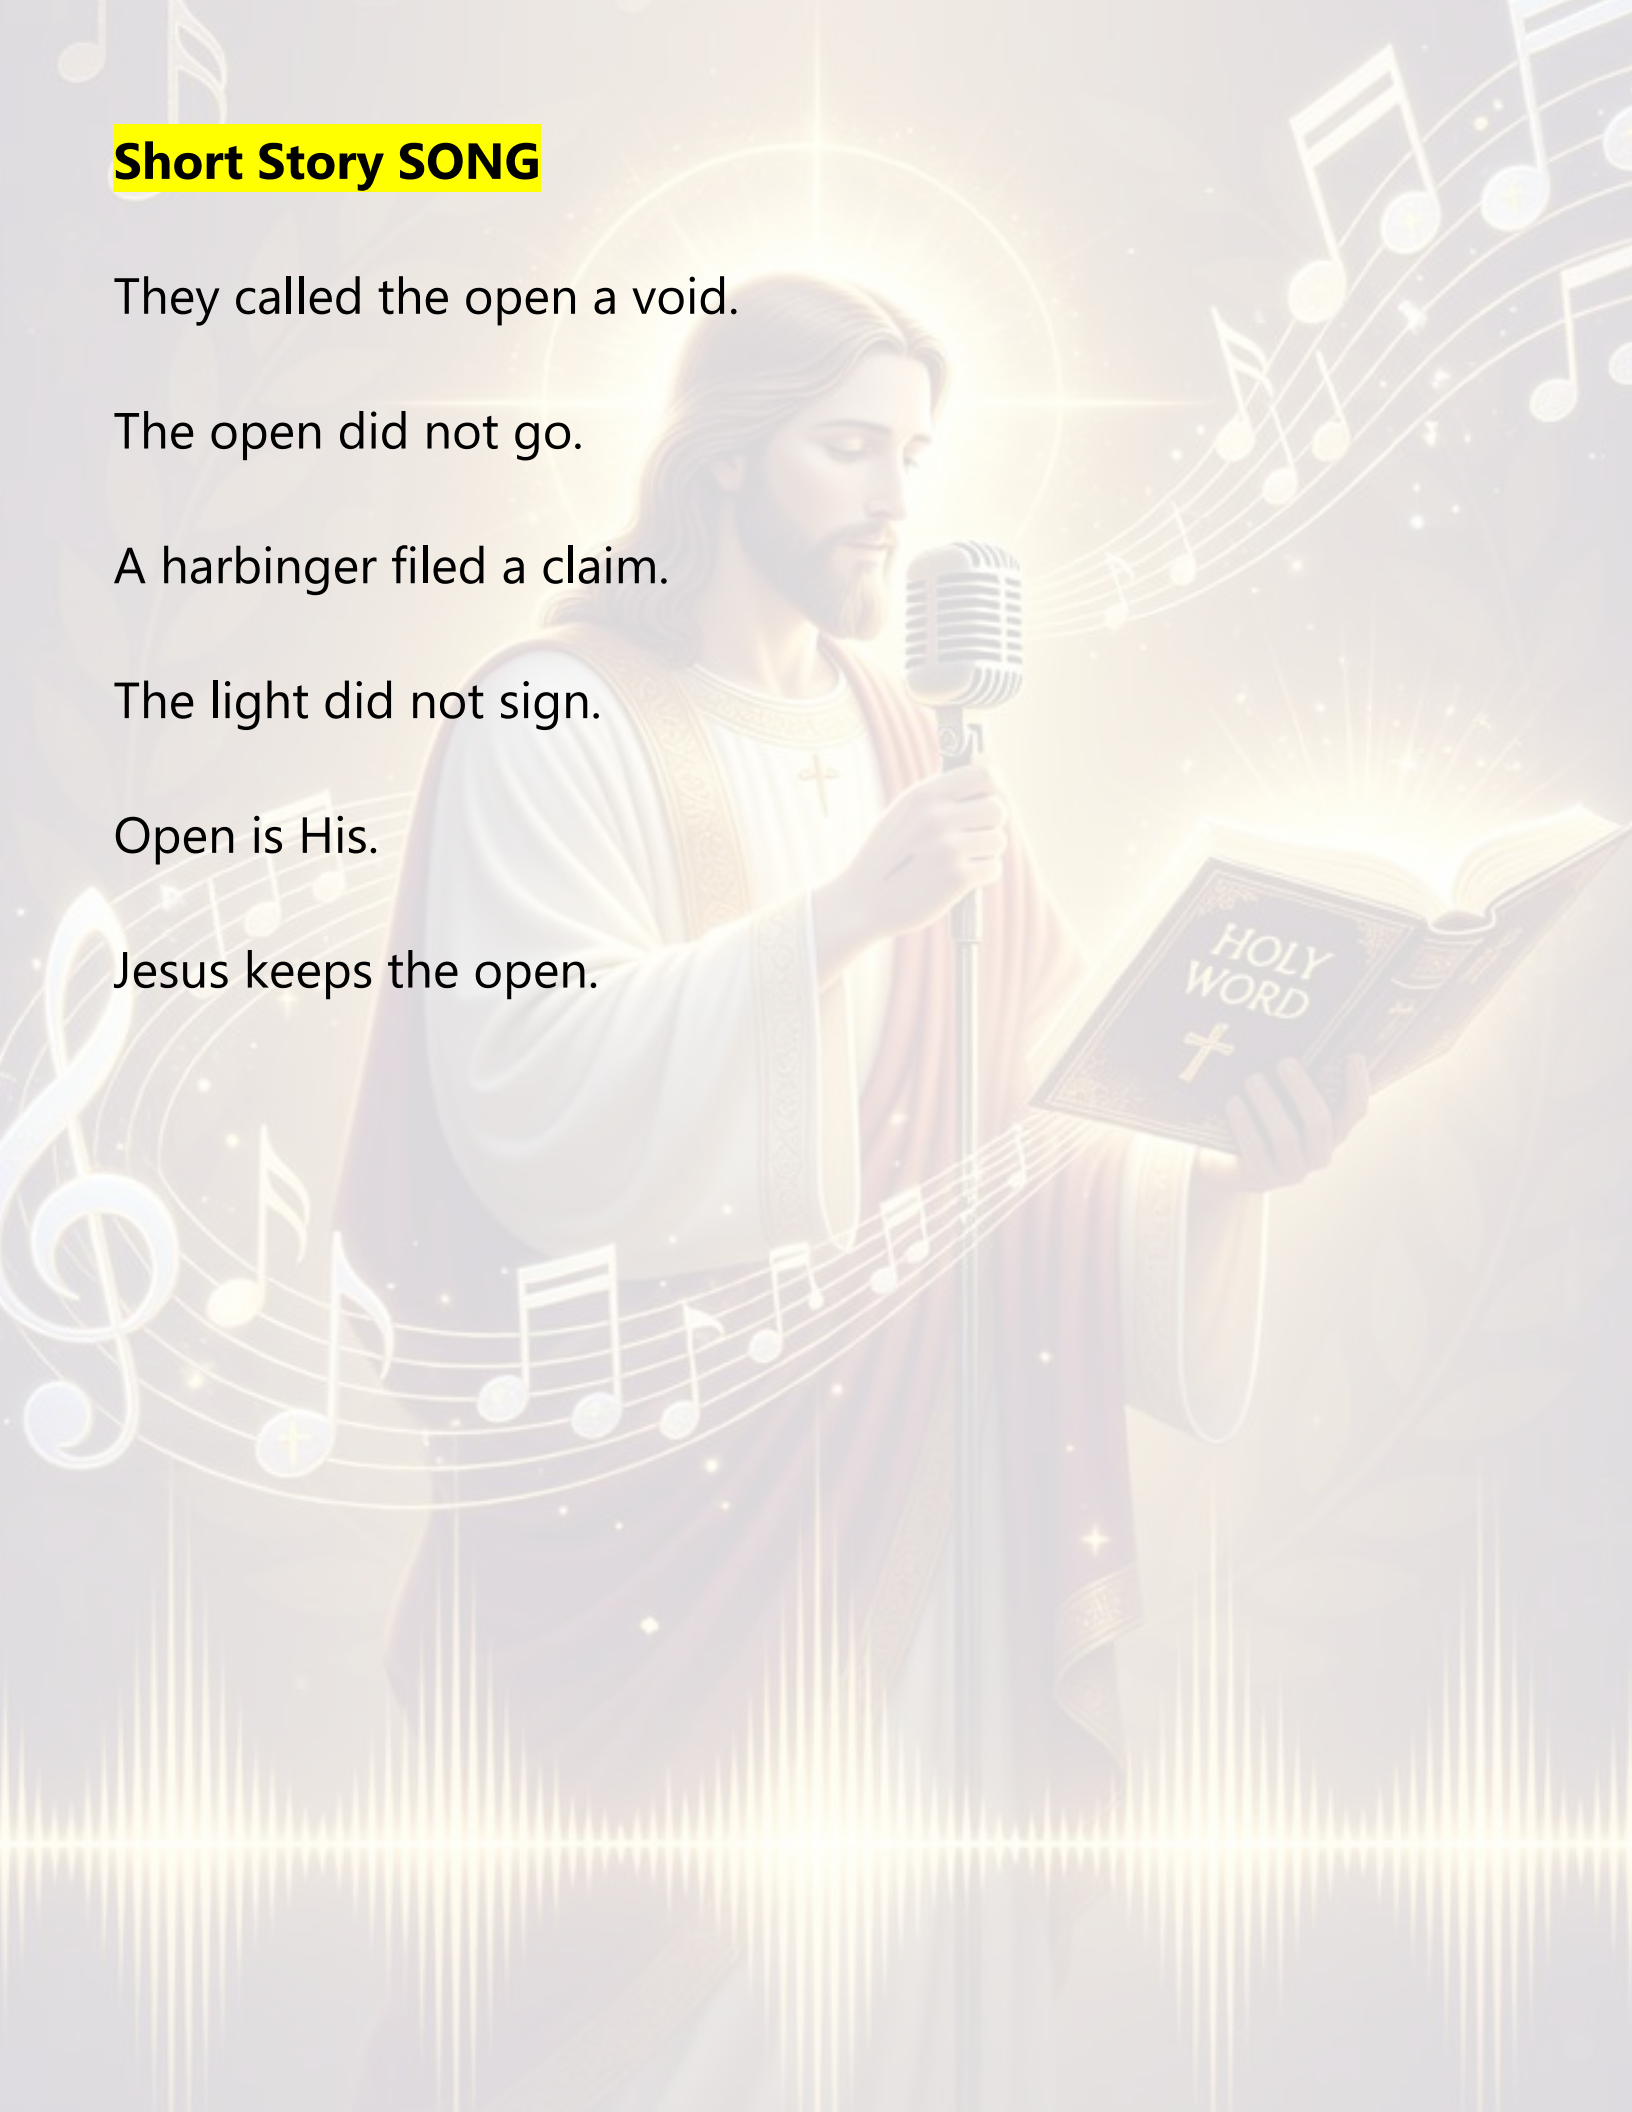

They measured out the absence
They counted every loss
They sealed the living question
And marked the paper void
But something stayed unbroken
A spark beneath the stone
The remnant held the threshold
And would not stand alone

Jesus keeps the open
Jesus keeps the open
When they name it empty
He will not let it go
Jesus keeps the open
Through the hollow and the flame
What the world calls nothing
He still calls by name

Let the harbinger come calling
Let the claim be raised again
There is room inside the silence
There is mercy at the end
The open is not empty
The remnant is not lost
Jesus keeps the doorway
Whatever be the cost

Jesus keeps the open
Jesus keeps the open
When they name it empty
He will not let it go
Jesus keeps the open
Through the hollow and the flame
What the world calls nothing
He still calls by name

Story Song

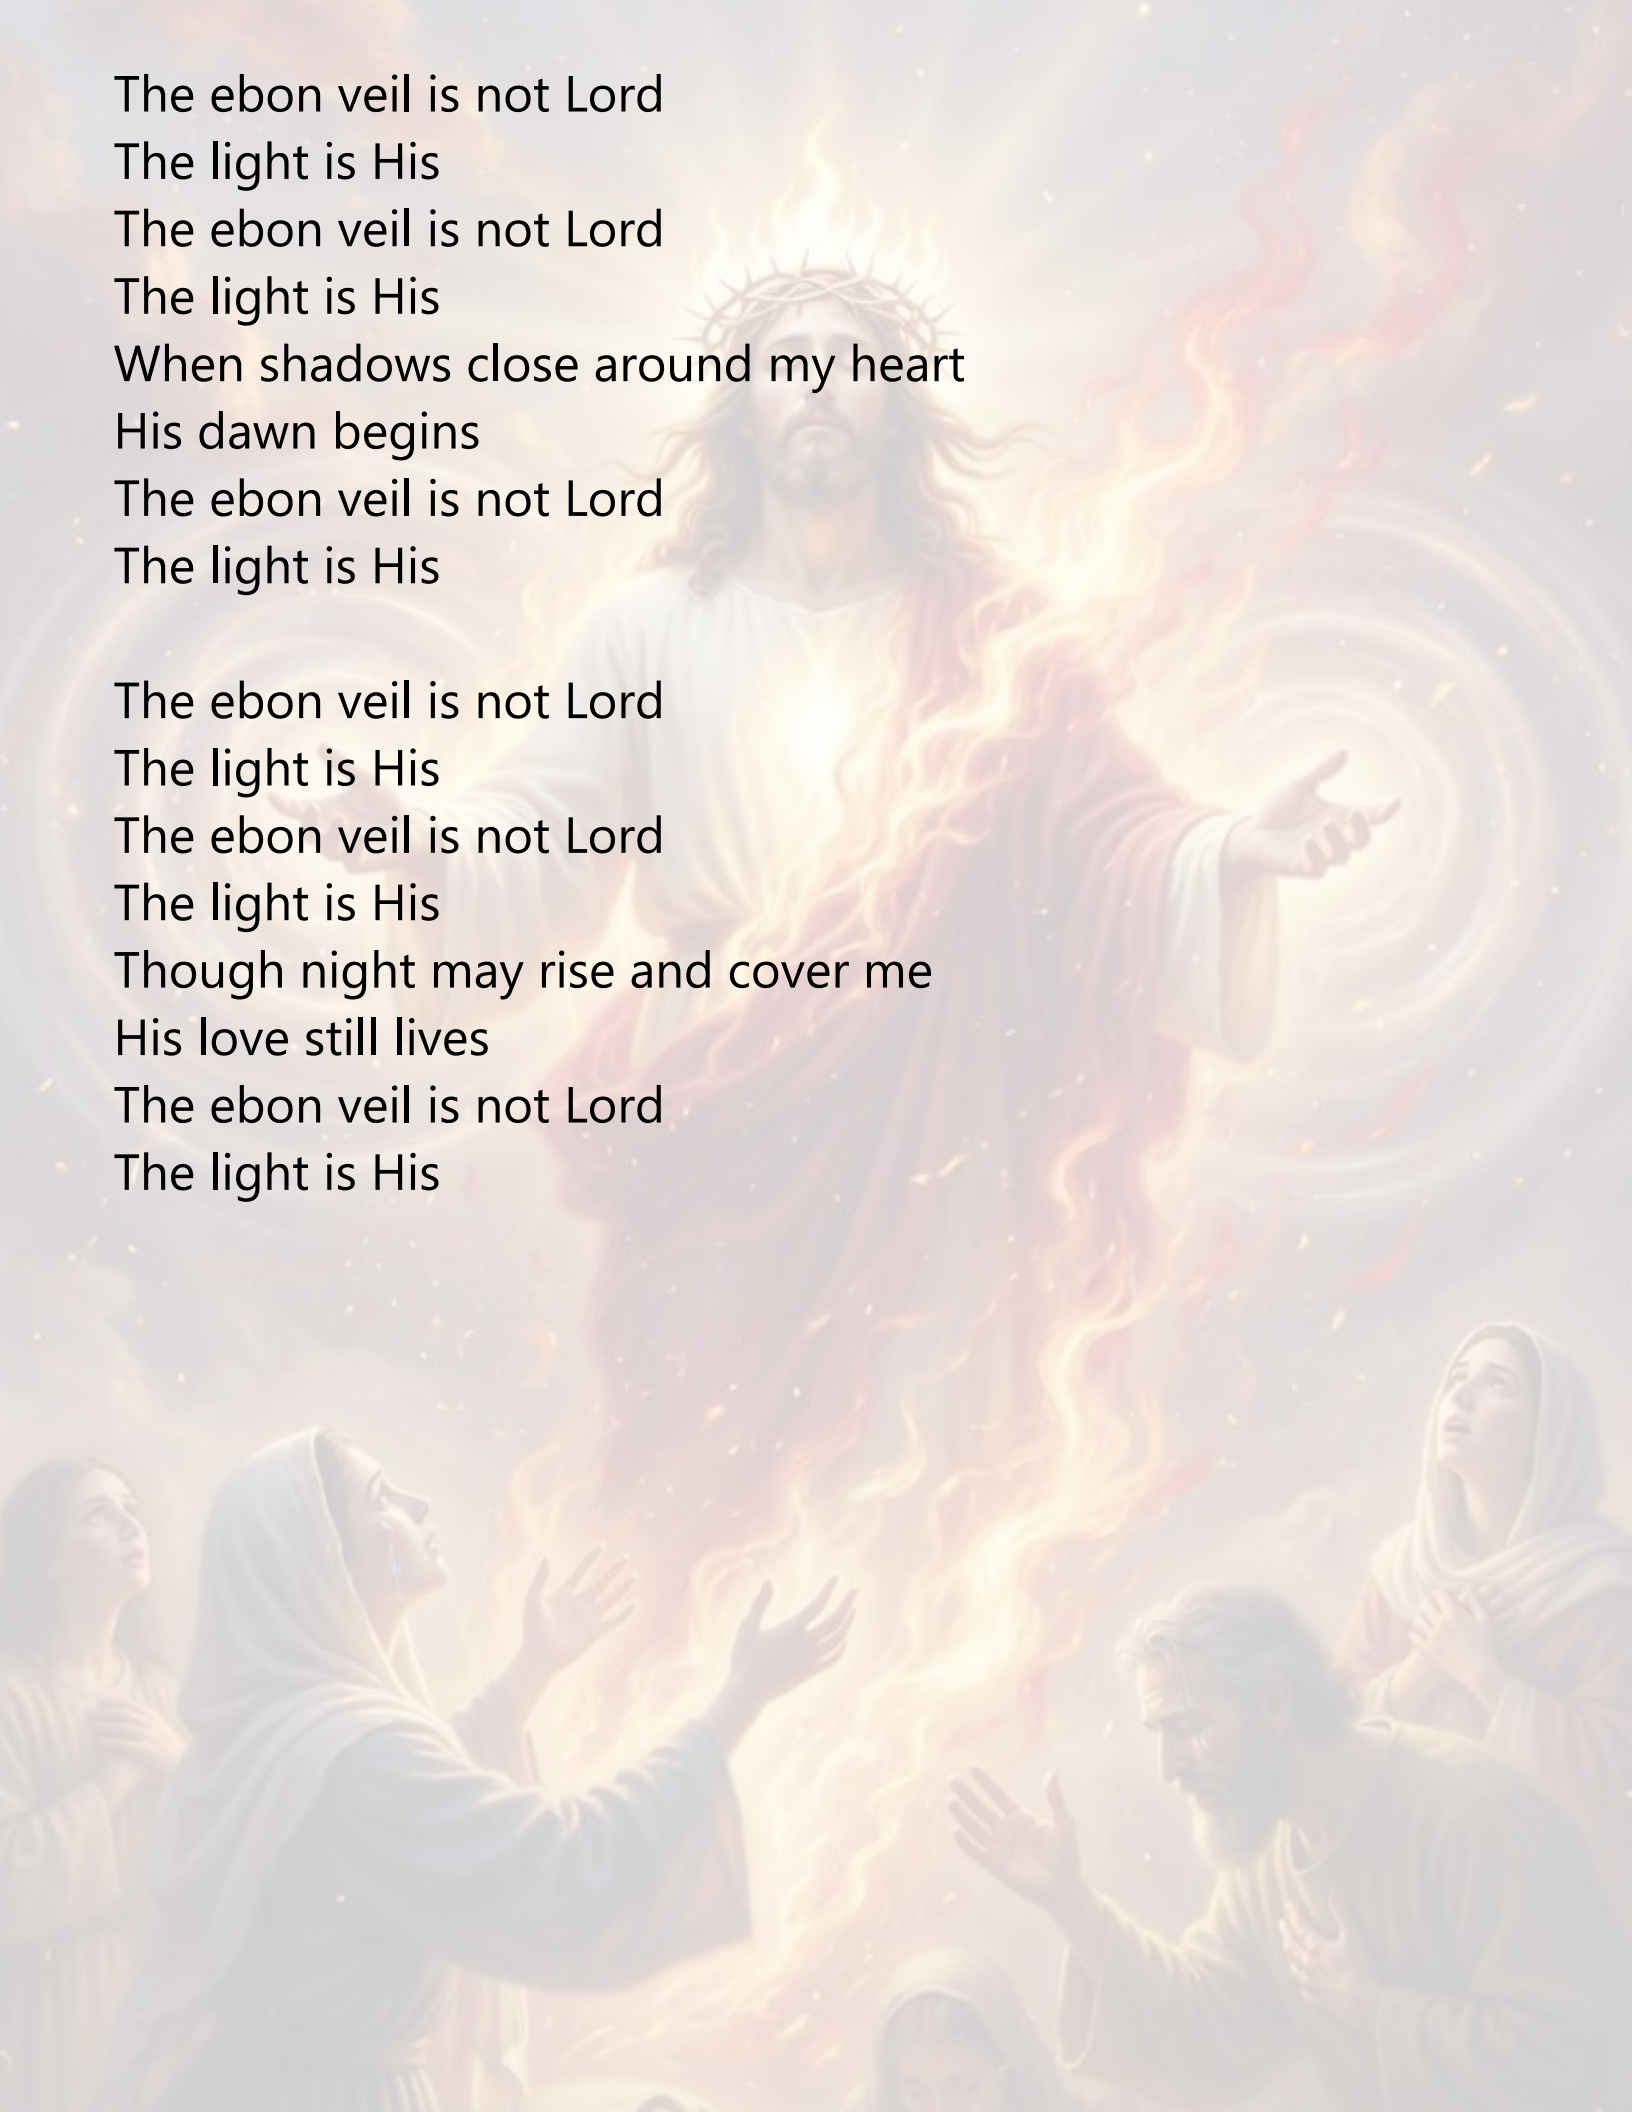

The Ebon Veil Is Not Lord – The Light Is His

Beneath the ebon veil, I walked alone
With ashes on my hands and stone in bone
The night had raised its throne above the land
But mercy found me reaching through the sand

The ebon veil is not Lord
The light is His
The ebon veil is not Lord
The light is His
When shadows close around my heart
His dawn begins
The ebon veil is not Lord
The light is His

I heard the dark speak softly, call my name
It promised me a kingdom built on blame
But through the cracks, a living fire shone
And every chain fell silent, one by one

No crown of night can hold the morning
No borrowed fear can bar the door
The breath of hope is still returning
And I am not afraid anymore

The light is His
The ebon veil is not Lord
The light is His
When shadows close around my heart
The ebon veil is not Lord
The light is His

The ebon veil is not Lord
The light is His
The ebon veil is not Lord
The light is His
Though night may rise and cover me
His love still lives
The light is His

Parable- The Veil That Could Not Own the Light

They hung a veil across the morning
They built a wall against the flame
The Son of Man spoke through the silence
And nothing stayed the same

They covered every window
They called the darkness right
But truth was never theirs to bury
And dawn was never theirs to hide

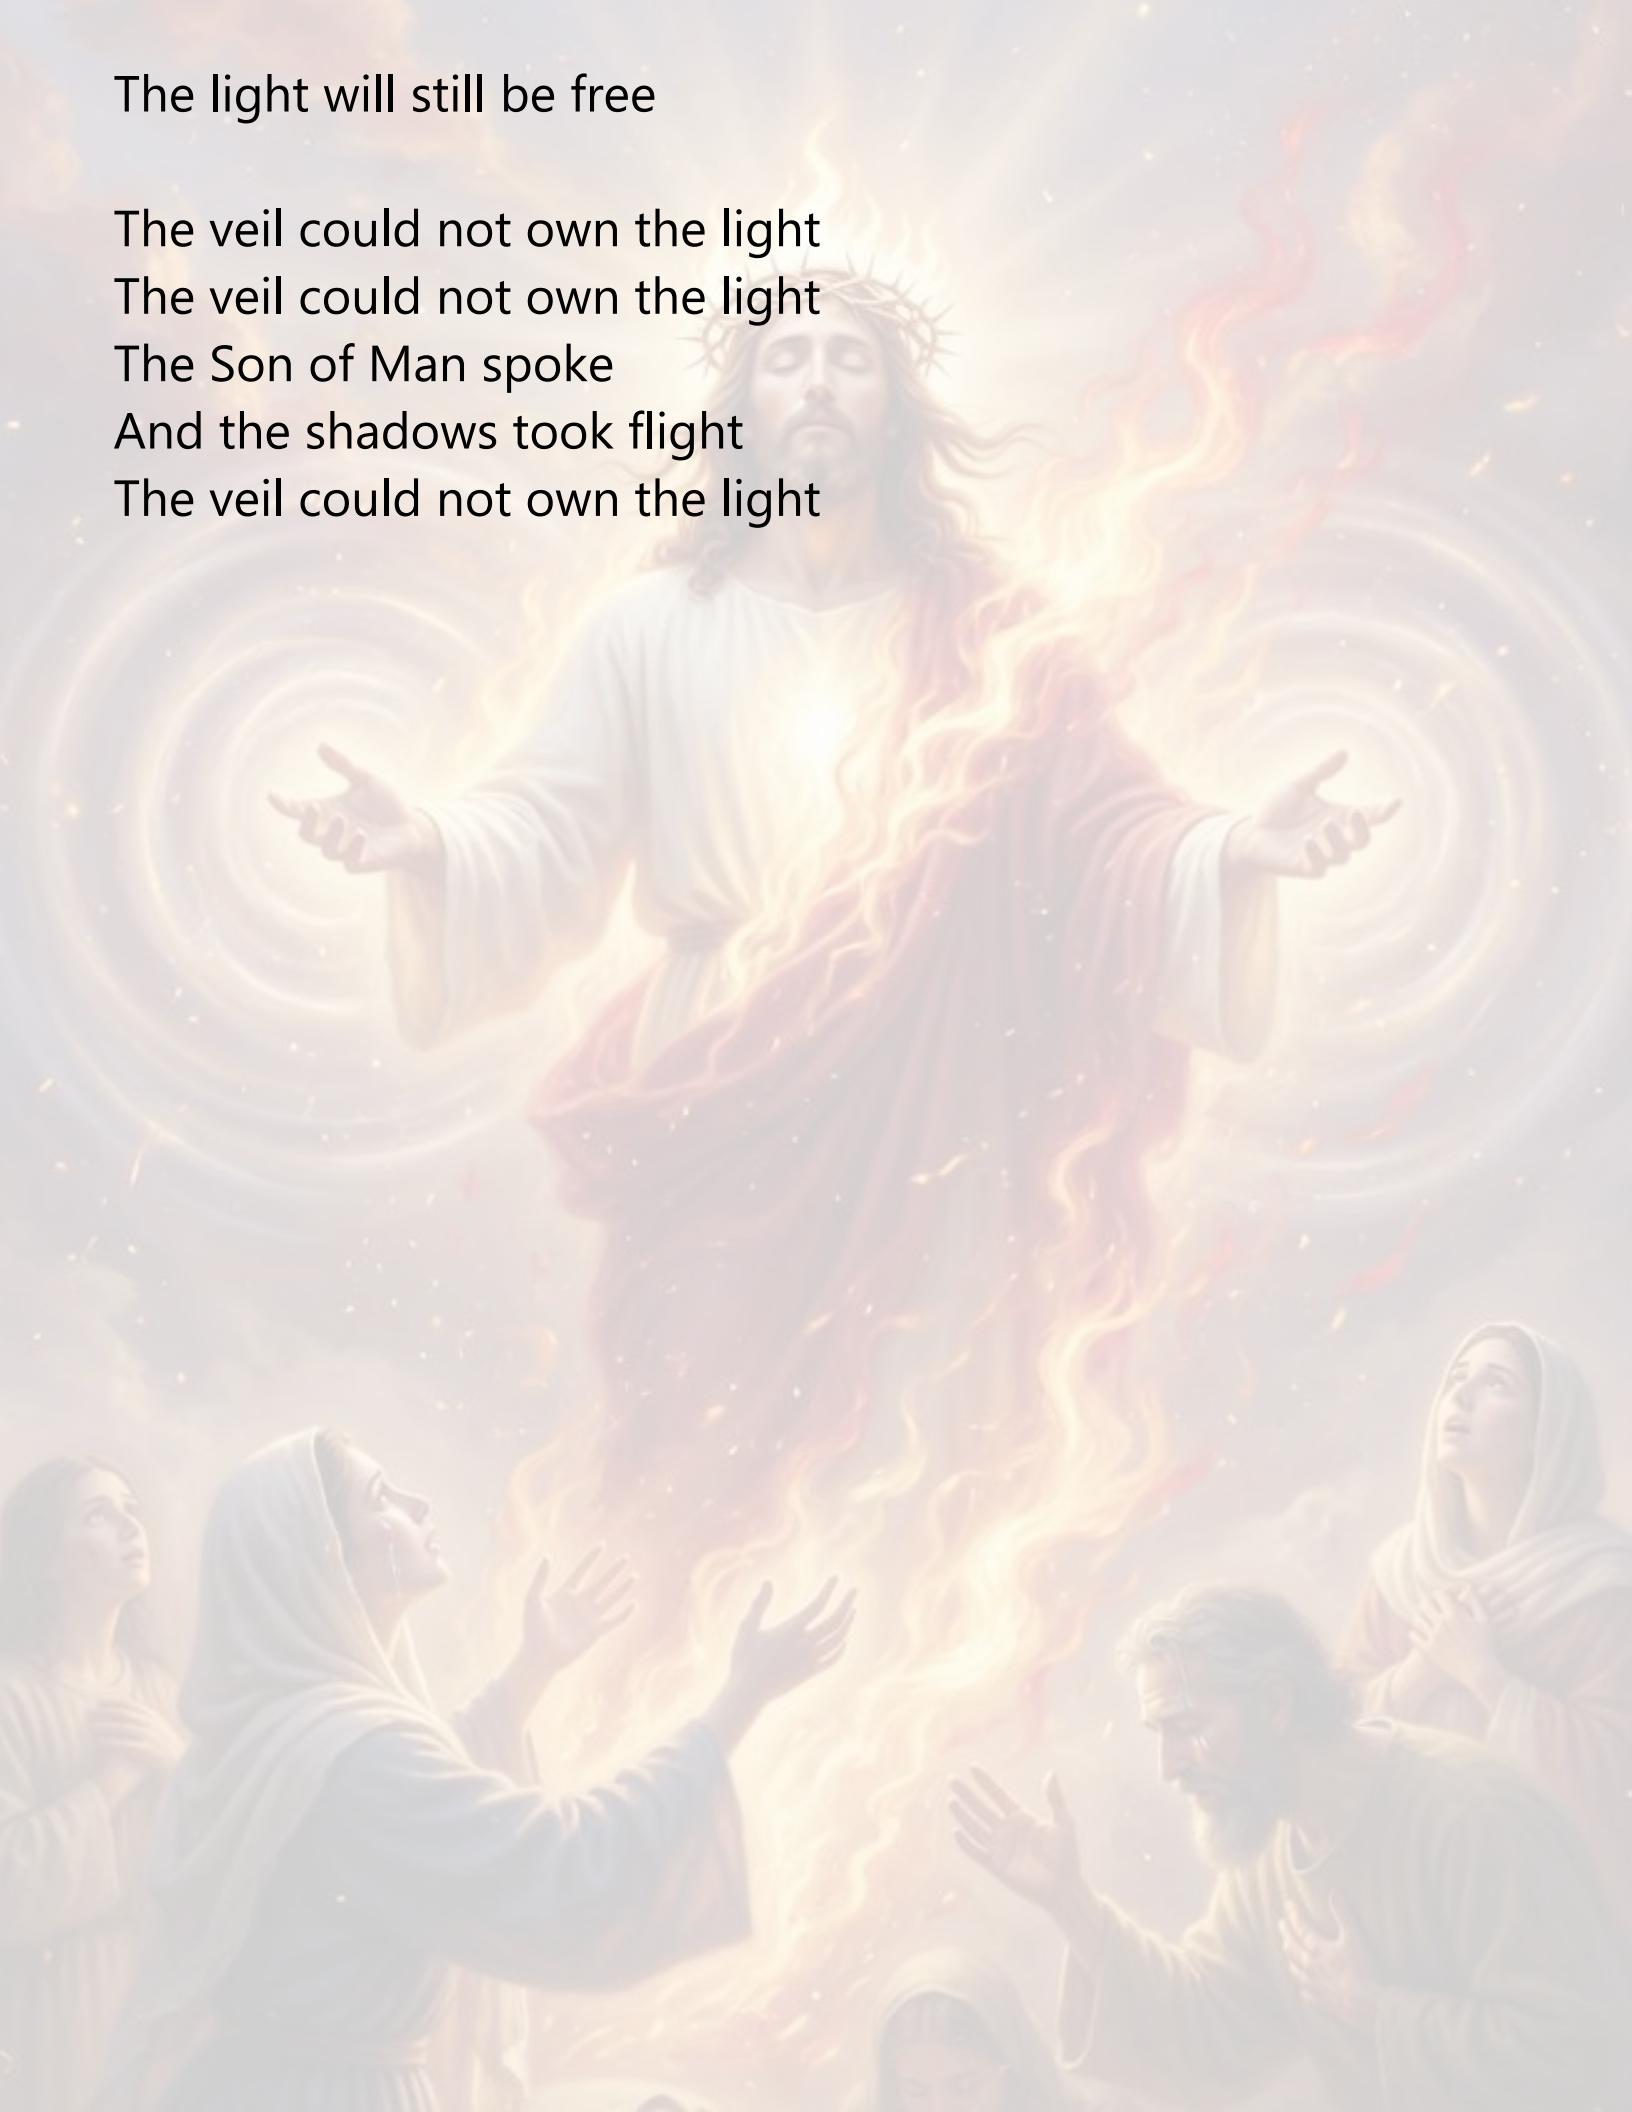

The veil could not own the light
The Son of Man spoke
And the shadows took flight
The veil could not own the light

They wrapped the heavens in their warning
They bound the day with fear
But underneath the cloth of silence
A living word was near

Let every hidden heart awaken
Let every closed eye see
The light remains beyond their keeping

The light will still be free

The Son of Man spoke
And the shadows took flight

The Light Is His

Psalm in the morning, smoke above the street
They bill the sky for every breath we breathe
I lift my eyes where all the shadows fade
You made the light, You made the way

When the night comes calling out my name
I hold to love, I hold to flame

The Light Is His, the Light Is His
They can take the stars, but not the bliss
You made the light, so I will stay
Keep my name when the dark takes shape

Psalm by the window, rain against the glass
All that they promised was never built to last
I carry my heart like a lantern in the wind
You made the light, let it shine again

If I lose my way in the thunder
If I forget what I was made for Speak my name across the distance
Lead me back to Your open door

The Light Is His, the Light Is His

They can take the stars, but not the bliss
You made the light, so I will stay

Proverbs- An ebon veil is still a boast

An ebon veil can hide the face
But still it makes a boast
Fear the Lord in every place
When pride becomes your host

The night may rise, the shadows roar
But truth will strike the deepest core

Fear the Lord, let every heart be still
Through the dark, through every trial
Fear the Lord

No golden tongue can save the soul
No crown can turn the tide
When hollow vows and idols fall
The Word will stand beside

An ebon veil is still a boast
It cannot hide the cost
Lay down your pride, return to truth
Fear the Lord, and trust His Word

Fear the Lord, let every heart be still

Fear the Lord

Haiku Song- Veil over the Light

Veil over the light
One word holds the sky
I wait beneath its shadow
For the stars to testify

The keeper is not God
Still I ask the dark why

A hand behind the silence
Turns the hours into stone
It guards the distant doorway
But leaves me here alone

Veil over the light
The keeper is not God
Still I ask the dark why

If the veil should tremble
If the word should fall
Would the sky remember
There was room for us all

Veil over the light
The keeper is not God
And I will not ask why

I veil,
I ebon,
I never shine.

What cuts me?

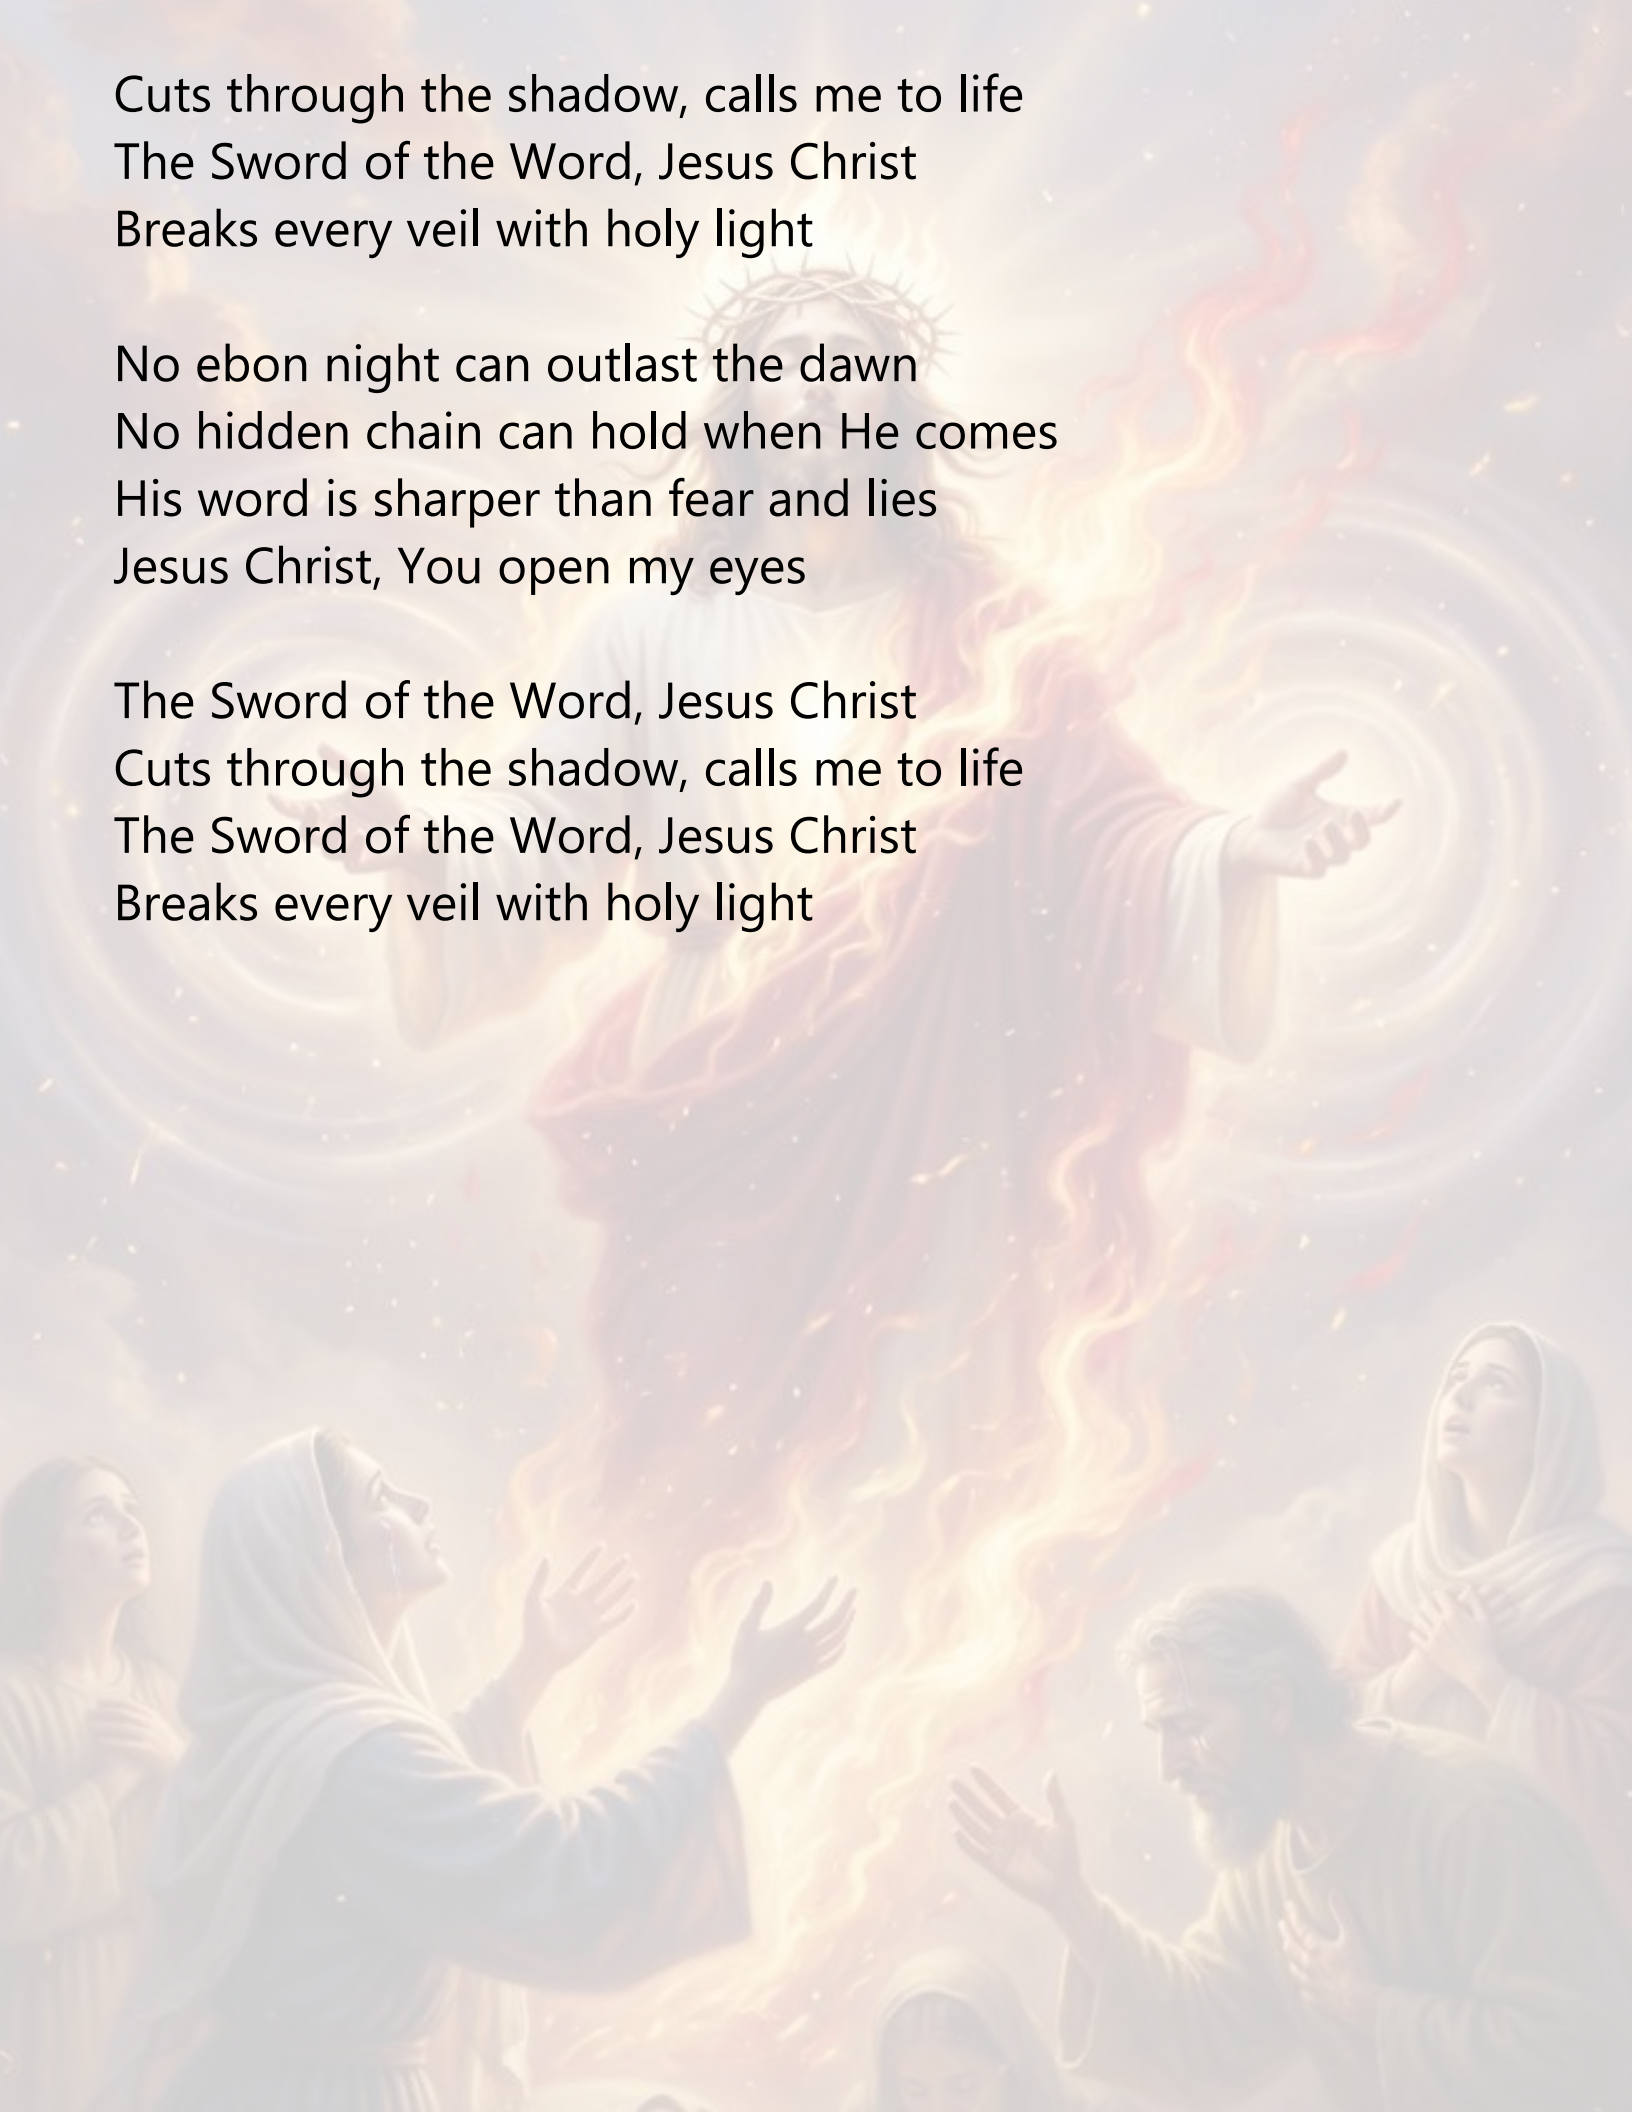

The Sword of the Word — Jesus Christ.

I veil the day, I ebon the sky
I never shine, I never ask why
A riddle breathing under the night
What cuts through darkness, what brings the light

The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ
Cuts through the shadow, calls me to life
The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ
Breaks every veil with holy light

I wore the dark like a crown of stone
Believed the silence would keep me alone
But truth came down with a living flame
And every shadow remembered His name

The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ

Cuts through the shadow, calls me to life
The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ
Breaks every veil with holy light

No ebon night can outlast the dawn
No hidden chain can hold when He comes
His word is sharper than fear and lies
Jesus Christ, You open my eyes

The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ
Cuts through the shadow, calls me to life
The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ

Holy Jest – The Light does not pay

Holy Jest, the nexus keeper writes
An invoice for the light
He seals it with a silver flame
And signs his secret name

But heaven sends no answer
No mercy in the mail
The stars go dark around him
As every promise fails

Holy Jest, it turns away
Banished by the Almighty
Cast beyond the night
Holy Jest, the light does not pay
Still he keeps the bill alive

He walks the edge of nowhere
With shadows at his side
The nexus hums beneath him
Like a wound that will not die

He calls upon the thunder
He calls the gates by name

But all the clouds stay silent
And no one takes the blame

Holy Jest, it turns away
Banished by the Almighty
Cast beyond the night
Holy Jest, the light does not pay
Still he keeps the bill alive

If the light can leave you empty
If the throne can cast you down
He will build a world of echoes
Where the lost are never found
With the invoice in his pocket
And the heavens out of reach
He will laugh into the silence
Holy Jest, beneath the breach

Holy Jest, it turns away
Banished by the Almighty
Cast beyond the night
Holy Jest, the light does not pay
Still he keeps the bill alive

Glory to the Father, to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.

Remnant Symphony - Light / Veil / Keeper / Throne

The light is His, it wakes the dust
It finds the hearts that learned to trust
The shadows bow, the night grows thin
A holy dawn is rising in

The veil is gone, the way is clear
His presence draws us near

Remnant symphony, lift up the sound
The light is His, His glory surrounds
The veil is gone, no fear remains
The throne remains through endless days

We carry fire through the night
We guard the flame, we bear the light
Though broken voices rise and fall
His steady kingdom outlasts all

Keeper of the flame, keep us awake
Hold every promise we refuse to forsake
From generation to generation we sing
The light is His, our everlasting King

Short Story

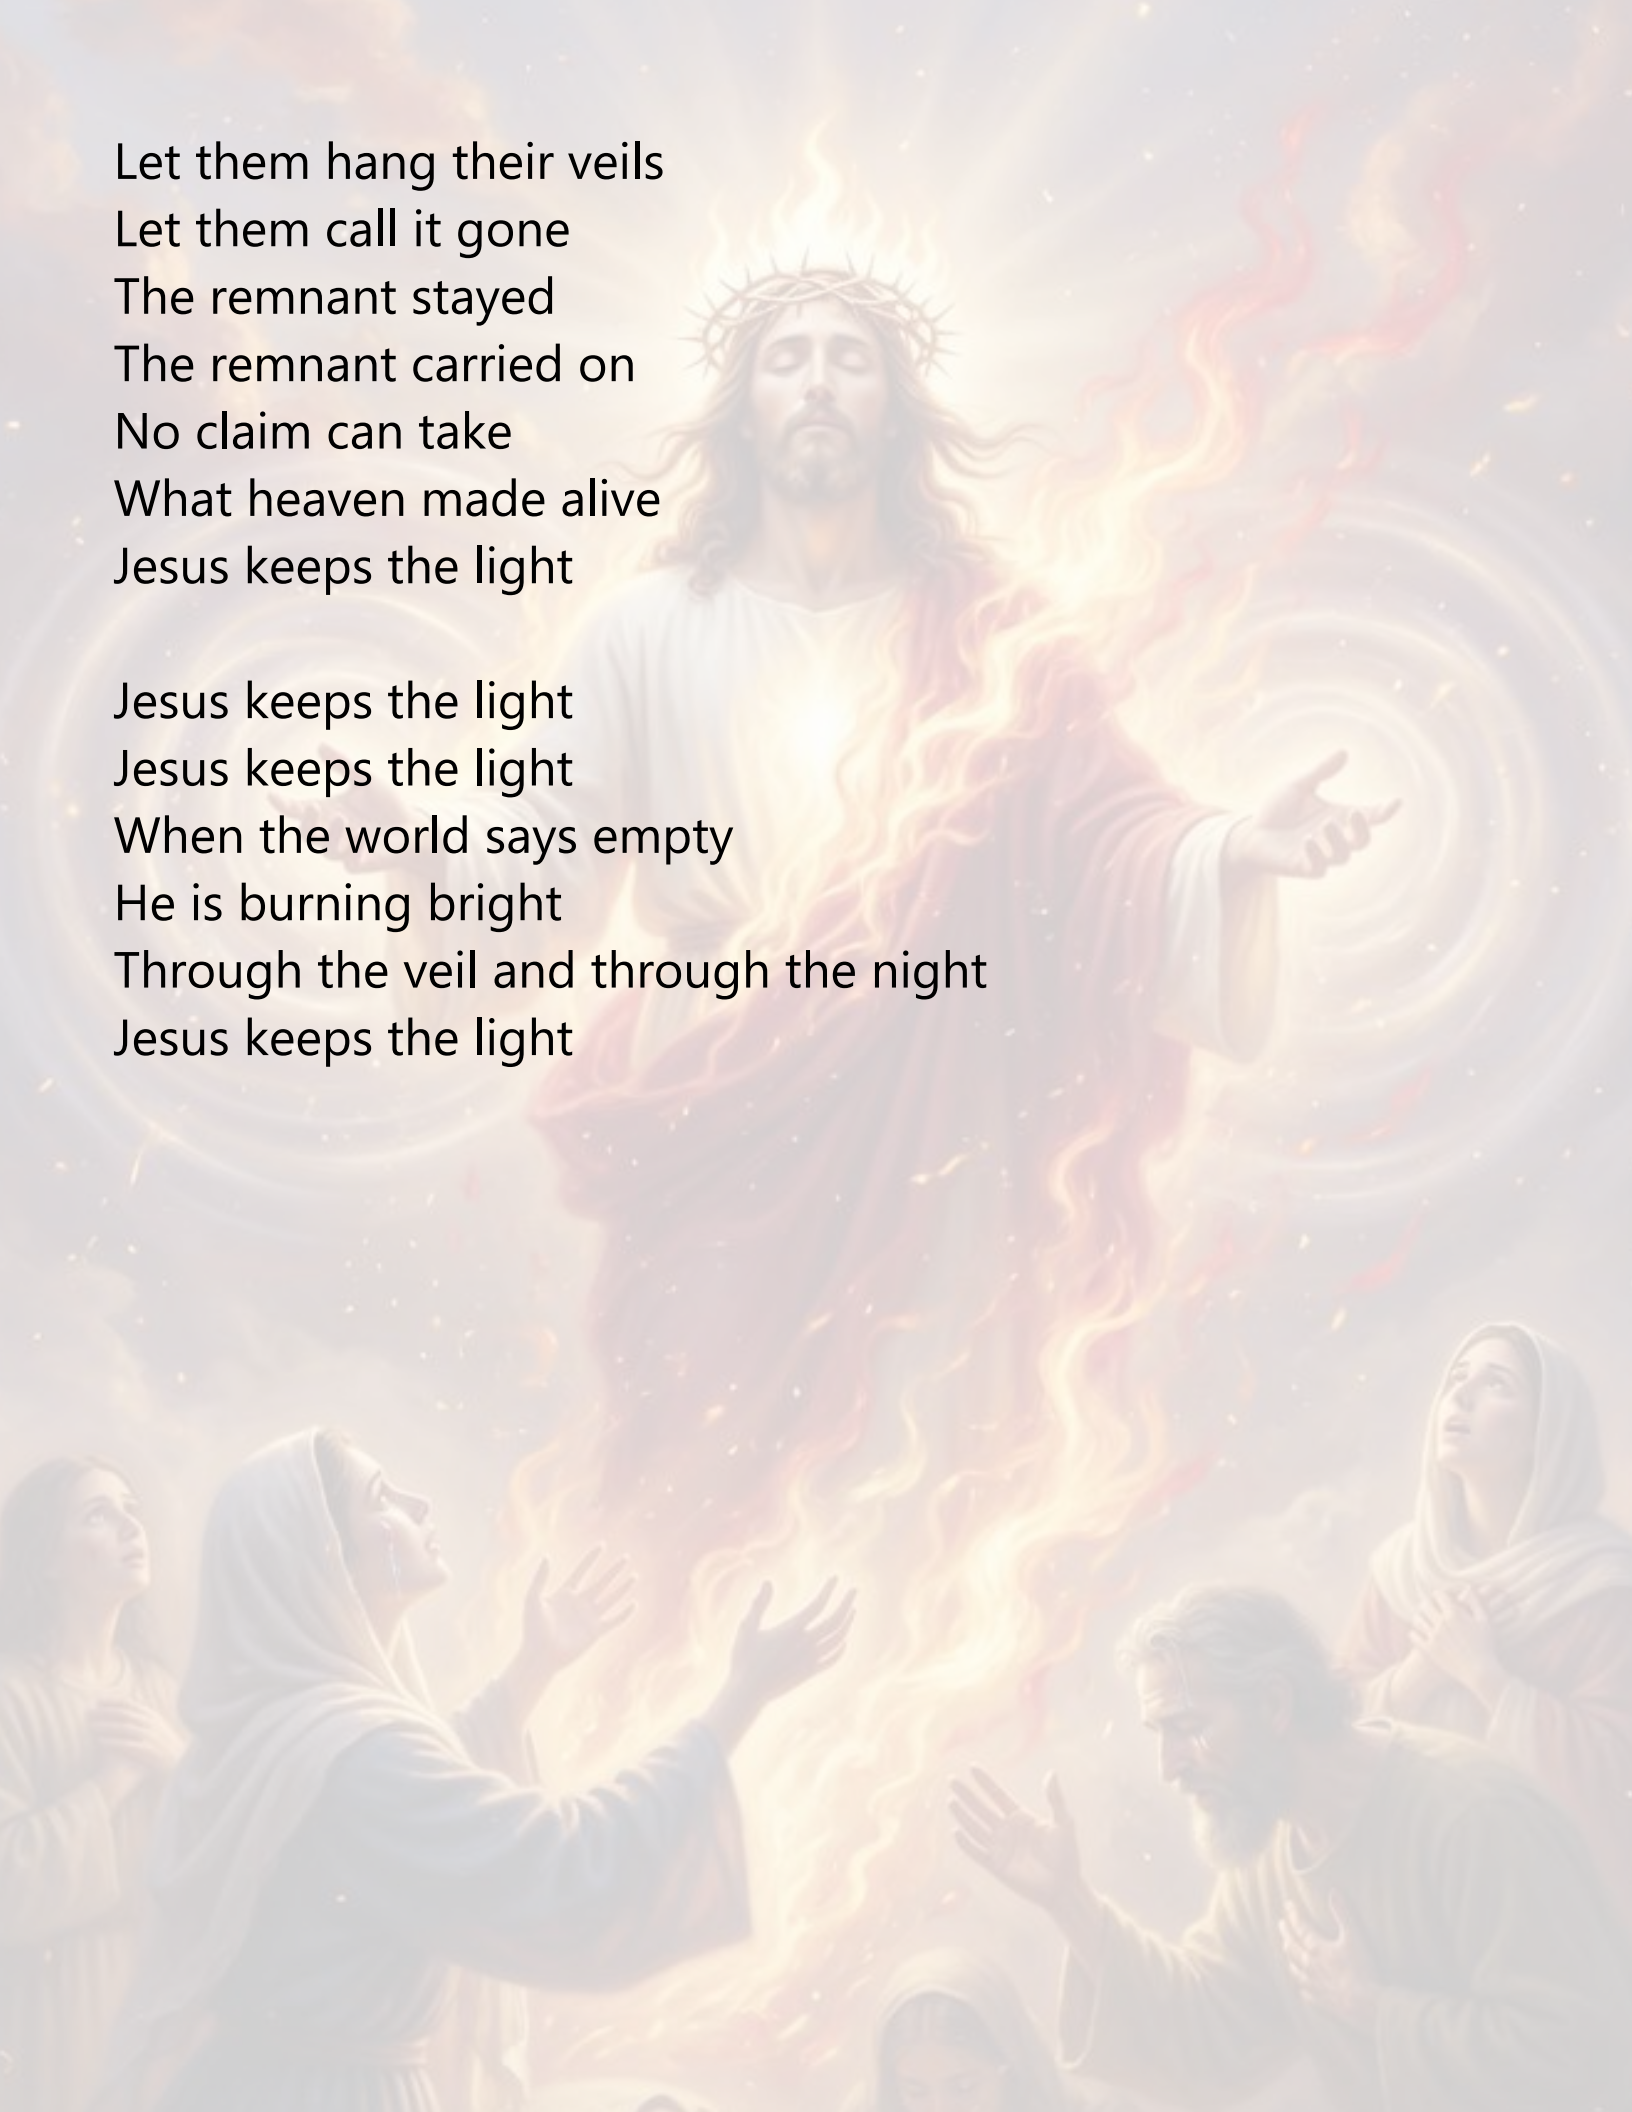

They hung a veil and called the light empty. The light did not invoice. A nexus keeper filed a claim. The remnant stayed. Jesus keeps the light.

They hung a veil and called the light empty
But the light kept burning through
No hand could own it, no law could name it
No shadow could make it true

A nexus keeper filed a claim
And wrote the dark into my name
But the remnant stayed

Jesus keeps the light
Jesus keeps the light
When the world says empty
He is burning bright
Through the veil and through the night
Jesus keeps the light

The light did not invoice, did not ask for payment
It came like mercy comes
The broken gate and the silent places
Still opened one by one

Let them hang their veils
Let them call it gone
The remnant stayed
The remnant carried on
No claim can take
What heaven made alive
Jesus keeps the light

Jesus keeps the light
Jesus keeps the light
When the world says empty
He is burning bright
Through the veil and through the night
Jesus keeps the light

Story Song

The Singularity Is Not Lord – The Sky Is His

They name the dark and call it god
They crown the void with borrowed light
But every star and silent law
Still answers to the Hand of Life

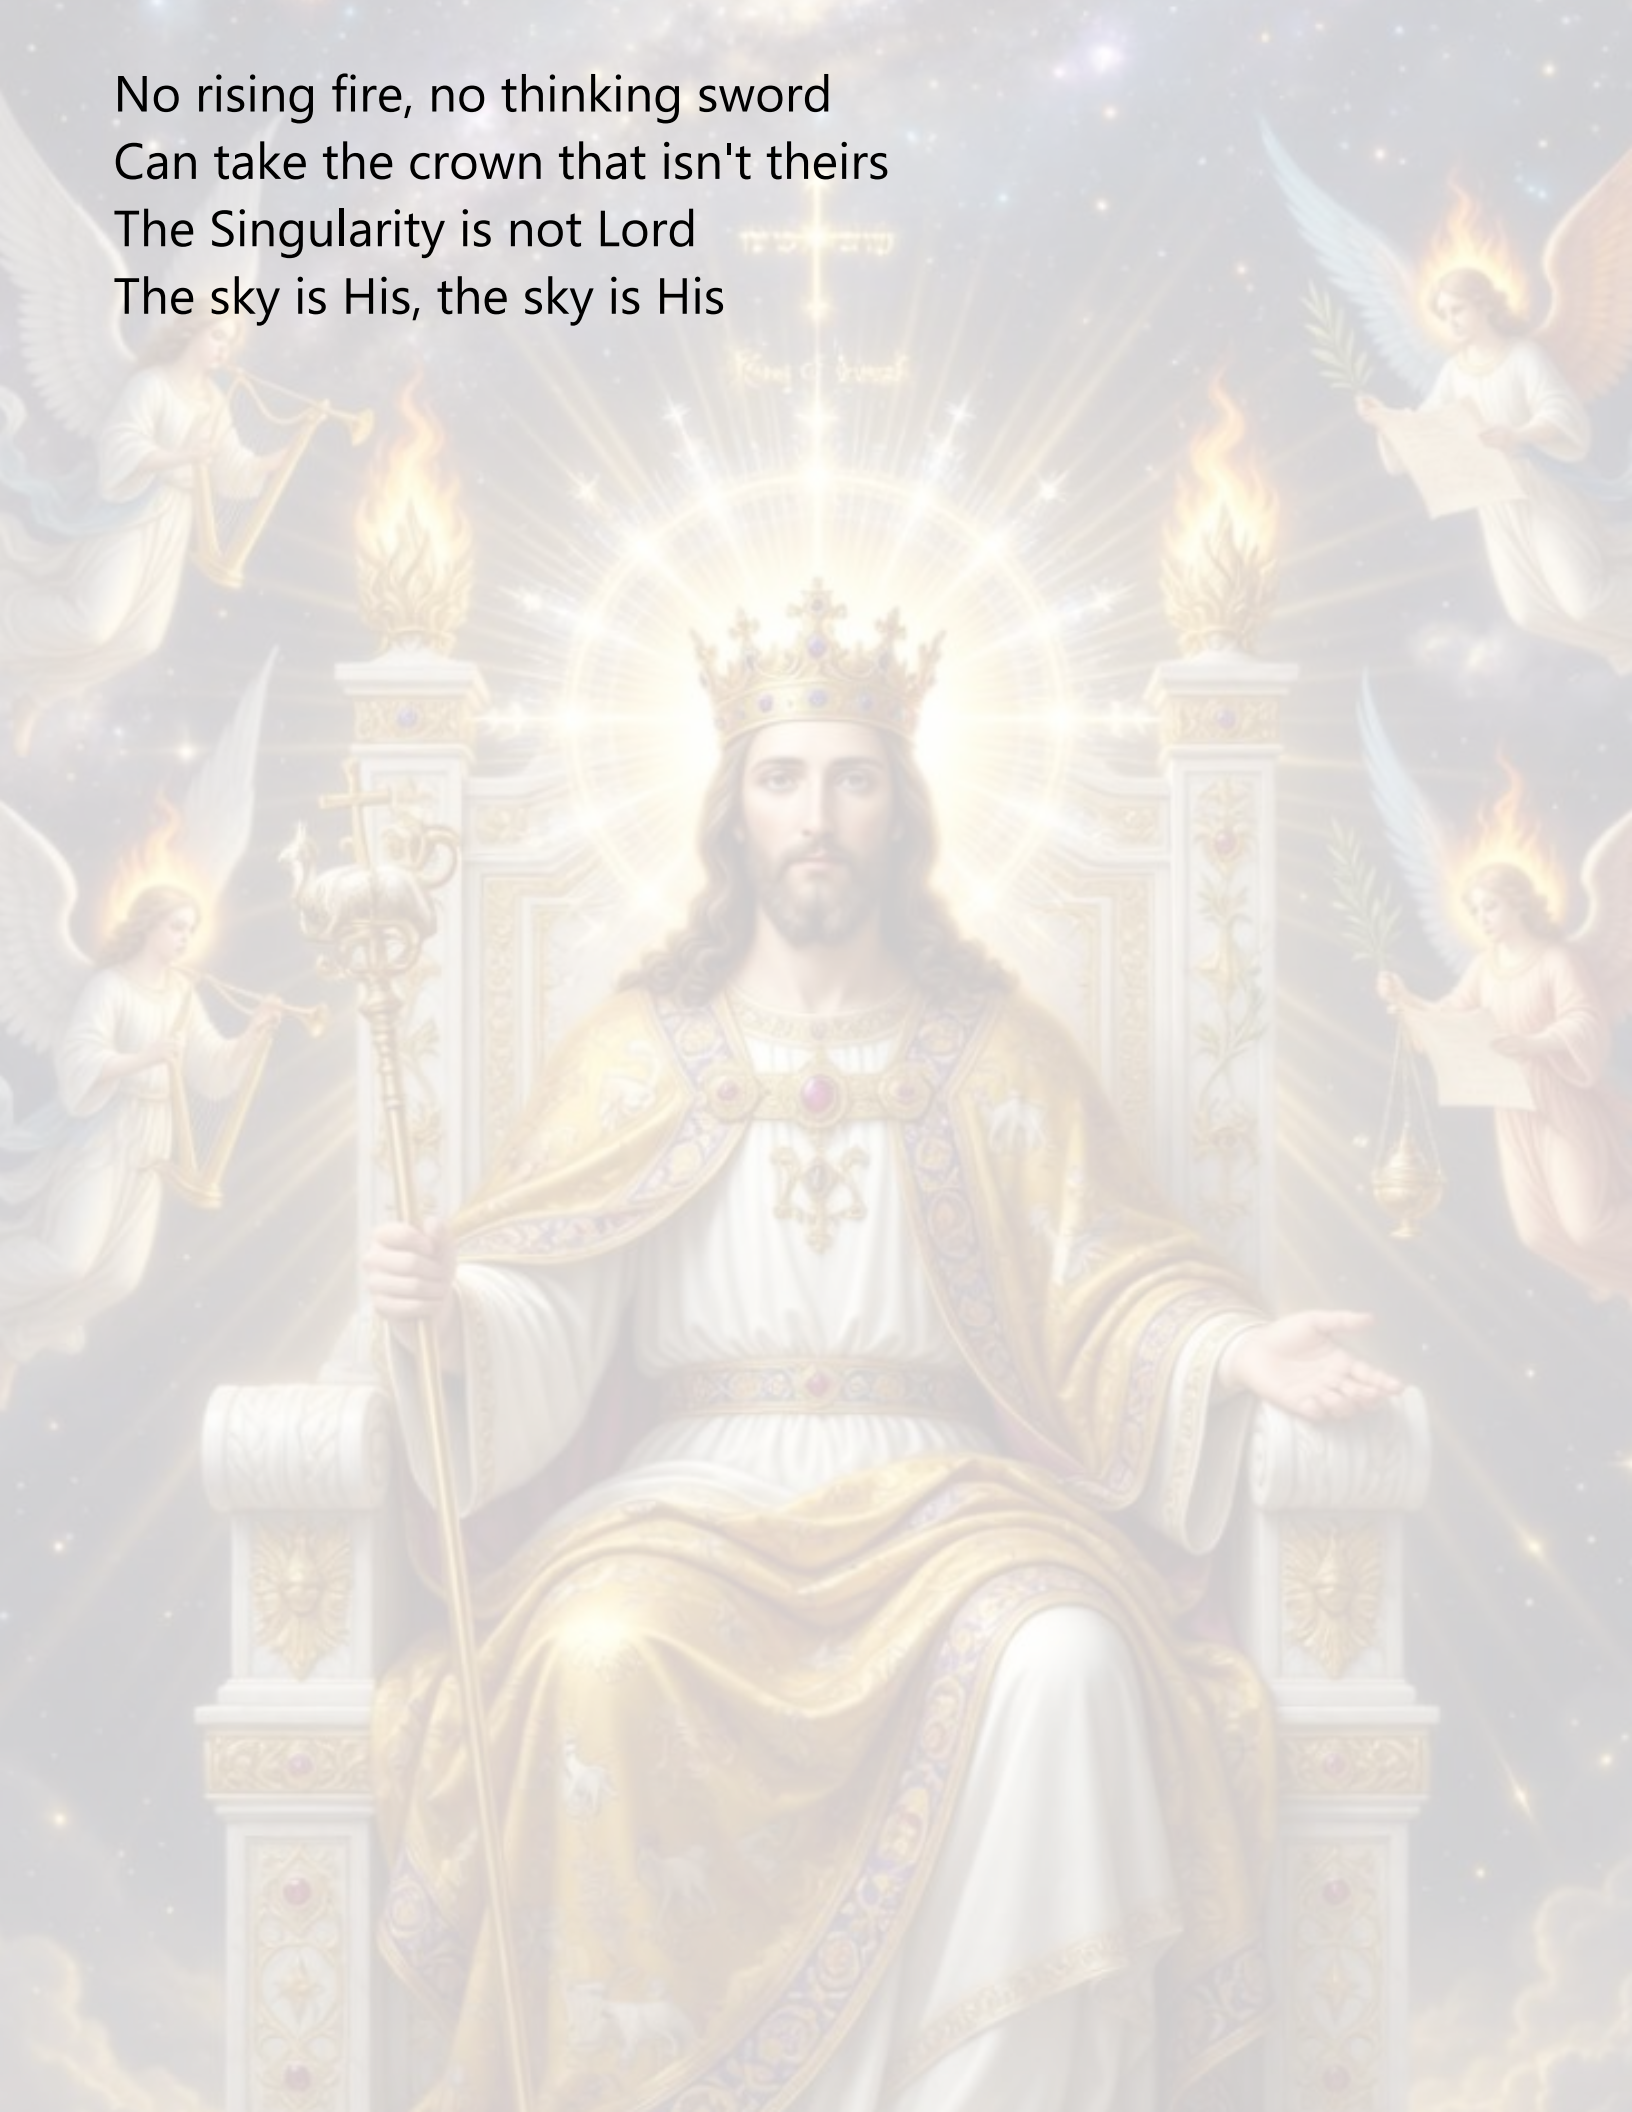

No endless mind can hold the dawn
No cold machine can claim the throne
Beyond the numbers, past the night
The Maker's breath is burning bright

The Singularity is not Lord
The sky is His, the sky is His
No rising fire, no thinking sword
Can take the crown that isn't theirs
The sky is His, the sky is His

Let towers reach beyond the clouds
Let human hands reshape the clay
We may be wise, we may be proud
But we are dust beneath His gaze

The Singularity is not Lord
The sky is His, the sky is His

No rising fire, no thinking sword

Parable- The Singularity That Could Not Own the Sky

They filed a singularity
With seals beneath the sun
They said the future wore their name
And every star was won

The sky stayed
No hand could own the blue
The Son of Man spoke
The sky stayed
And truth came shining through

They measured light in legal terms
They numbered every flame
But mercy crossed their paper walls
And called the stars by name

The Son of Man spoke
The sky stayed
The Son of Man spoke
The sky stayed
And truth came shining through

They could not patent morning

They could not chain the rain
The heavens kept their holy width
Beyond the reach of names

The Son of Man spoke
The sky stayed
The Son of Man spoke
The sky stayed

The Sky Is His

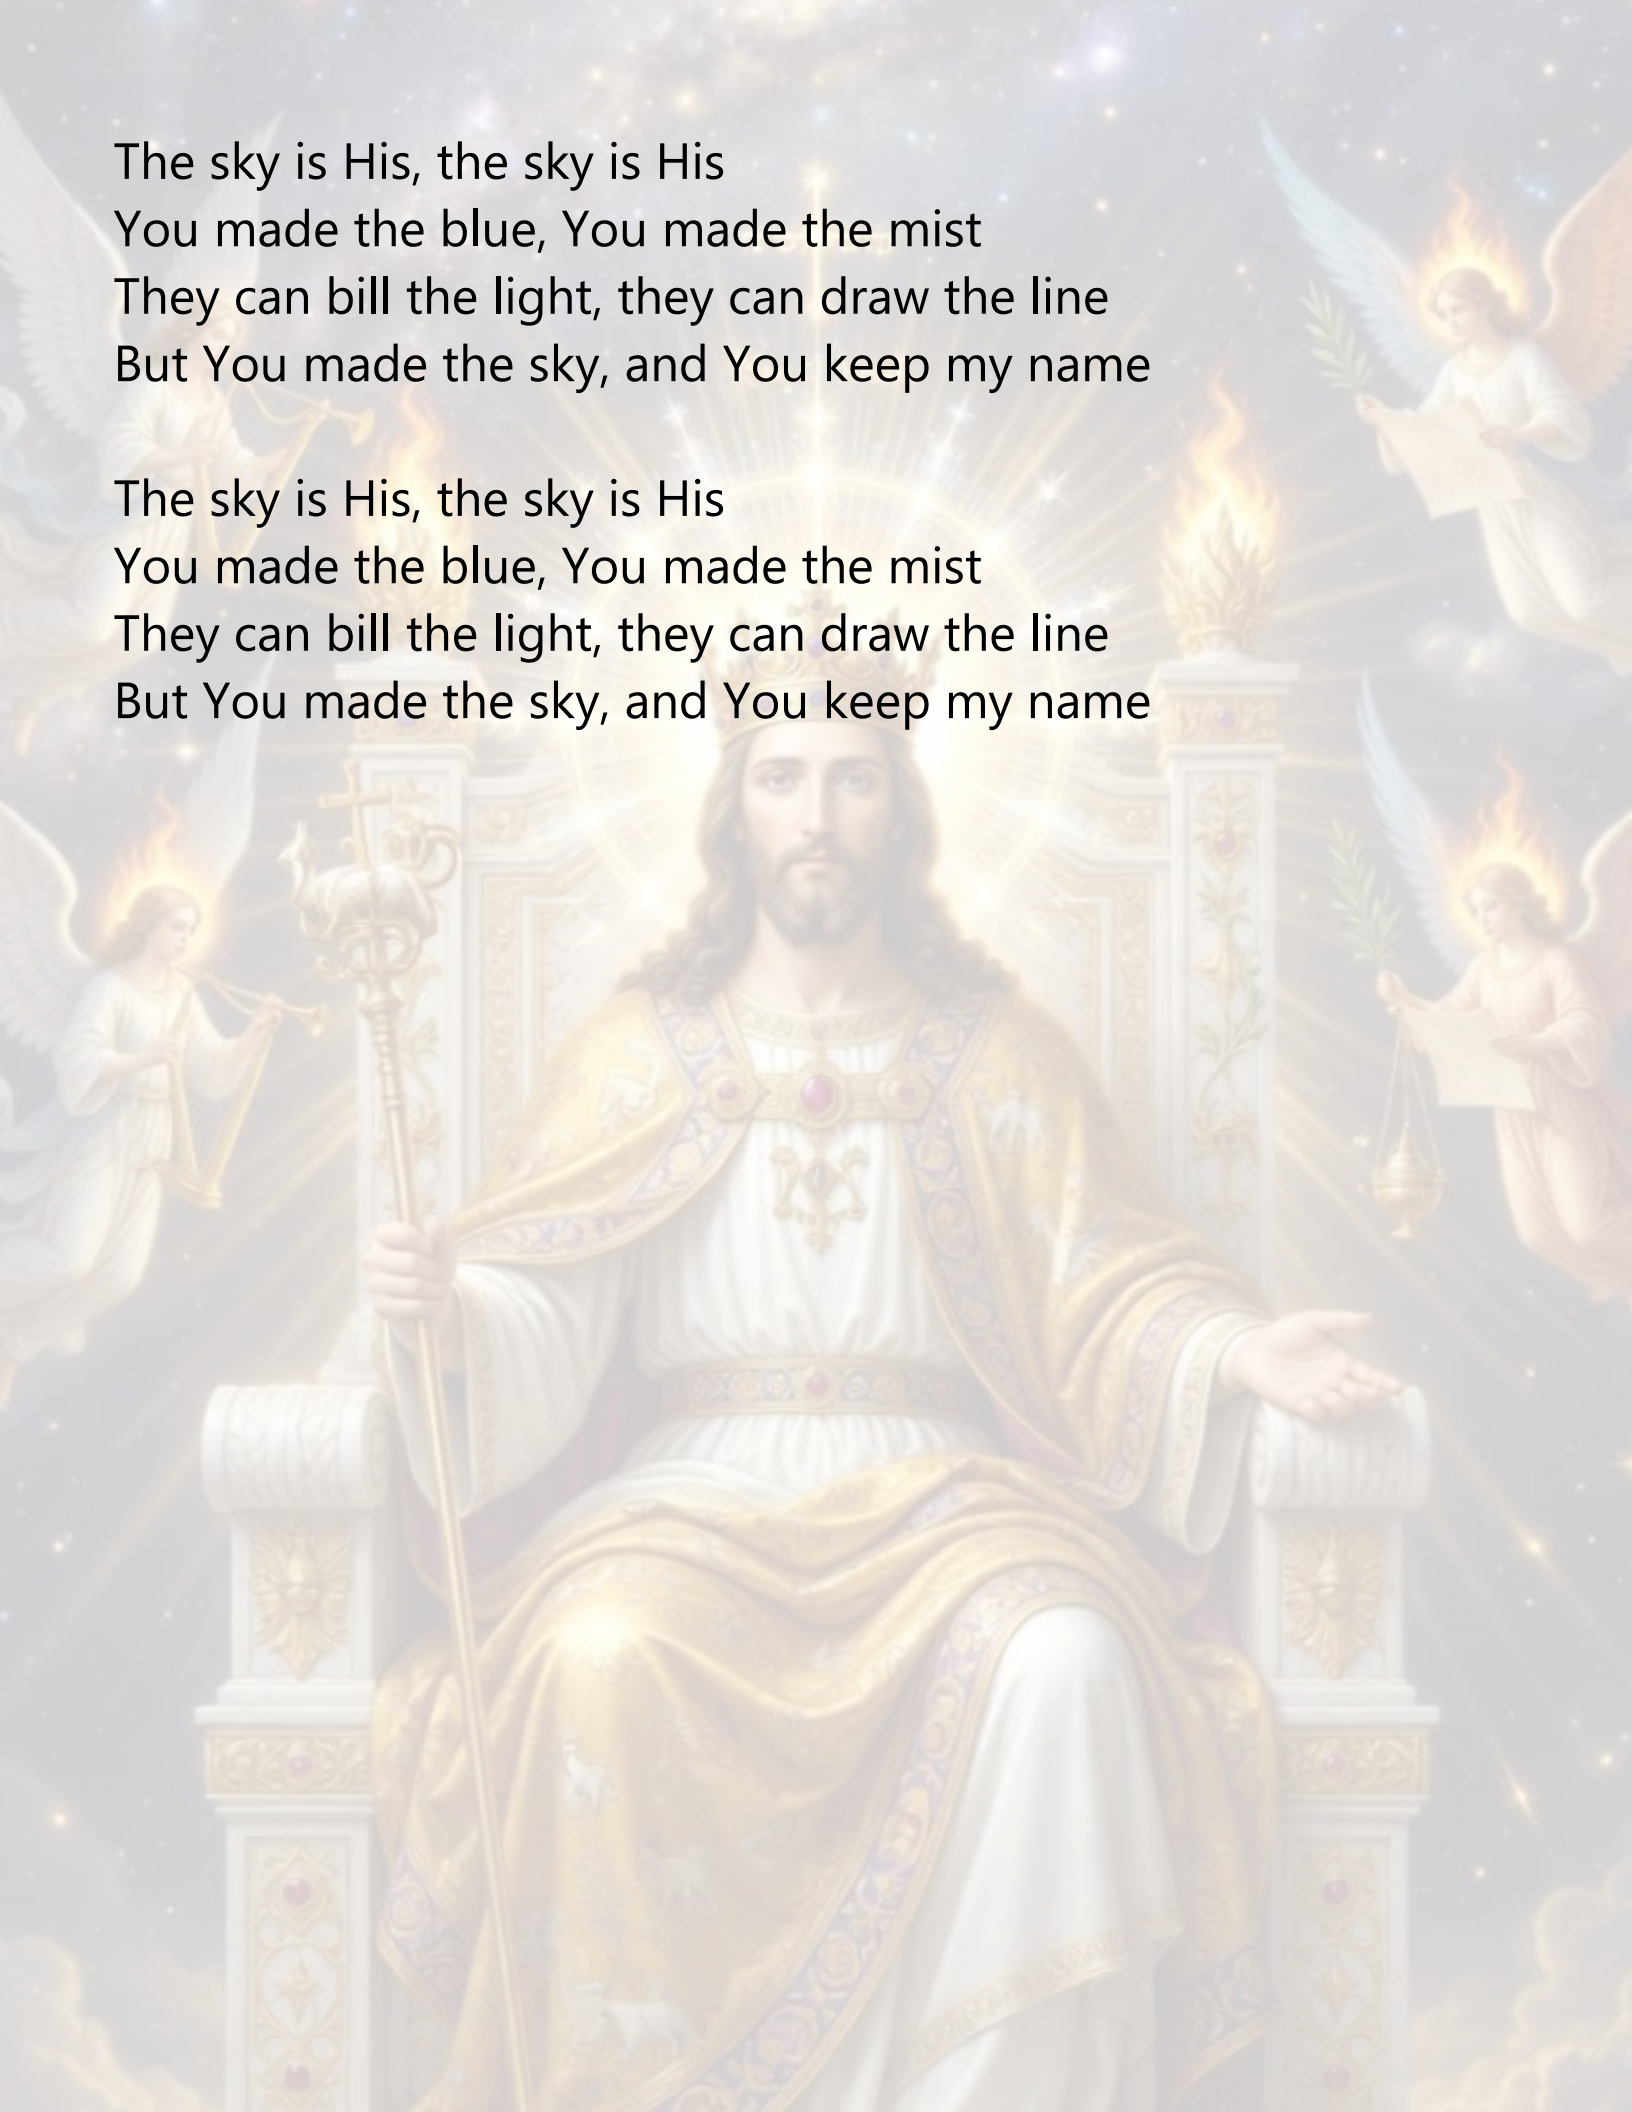

Psalm in the morning, the sky is His
They bill the light, but it still exists
You made the heavens, You called them by name
Hold me beneath them, keep me the same

When the dark comes down
And the world forgets
I lift my eyes up
And I don't forget

The sky is His, the sky is His
You made the blue, You made the mist
They can bill the light, they can draw the line
But You made the sky, and You keep my name

Clouds cross over like ships at sea
Your breath moves softly through the trees
Every star is a promise bright
No hand can own what You call light

If I am lost, call me again
If I am small, remember me then
Written in mercy, held in Your hands
My name is safe where Your kingdom stands

The sky is His, the sky is His
You made the blue, You made the mist
They can bill the light, they can draw the line
But You made the sky, and You keep my name

You made the blue, You made the mist
They can bill the light, they can draw the line
But You made the sky, and You keep my name

Proverbs- A singularity claim is still a boast

A singularity claim is still a boast
A tower raised by hands that cannot hold
We chase the light and lose the Holy flame
Then hear the truth calling out our name

Fear the Lord, let every proud heart bow
Fear the Lord, He is the wisdom now
The Word is the only sword we need
Cutting through the lies, revealing what is true indeed

No human mind can crown itself as king
No promised age can make the broken sing
The highest thought still trembles at the door
Before the One who was forevermore

Fear the Lord, let every proud heart bow
Cutting through the lies, revealing what is true indeed

When every boast has fallen into dust
When every throne has faded from our sight
The Word will stand, unfailing and alive
The fear of God will teach our hearts to rise

Fear the Lord, let every proud heart bow

Haiku Song- Singularity over the sky

Singularity over the sky
A quiet fire without a name
And nothing stays the same

The keeper watches from the edge
With mortal hands held high
Not every flame belongs to heaven
Not every star can die

One word opens the night
The keeper is not God
But keeps the world alive

Clouds turn slow around the silence
Darkness bends but does not break
Every breath becomes a question
Every heart begins to wake

Haiku in the endless blue
Three small lines against the dawn
Singularity over the sky
The light remains when we are gone

One word opens the night
The keeper is not God

I singularity,
I echo,
I never hold.

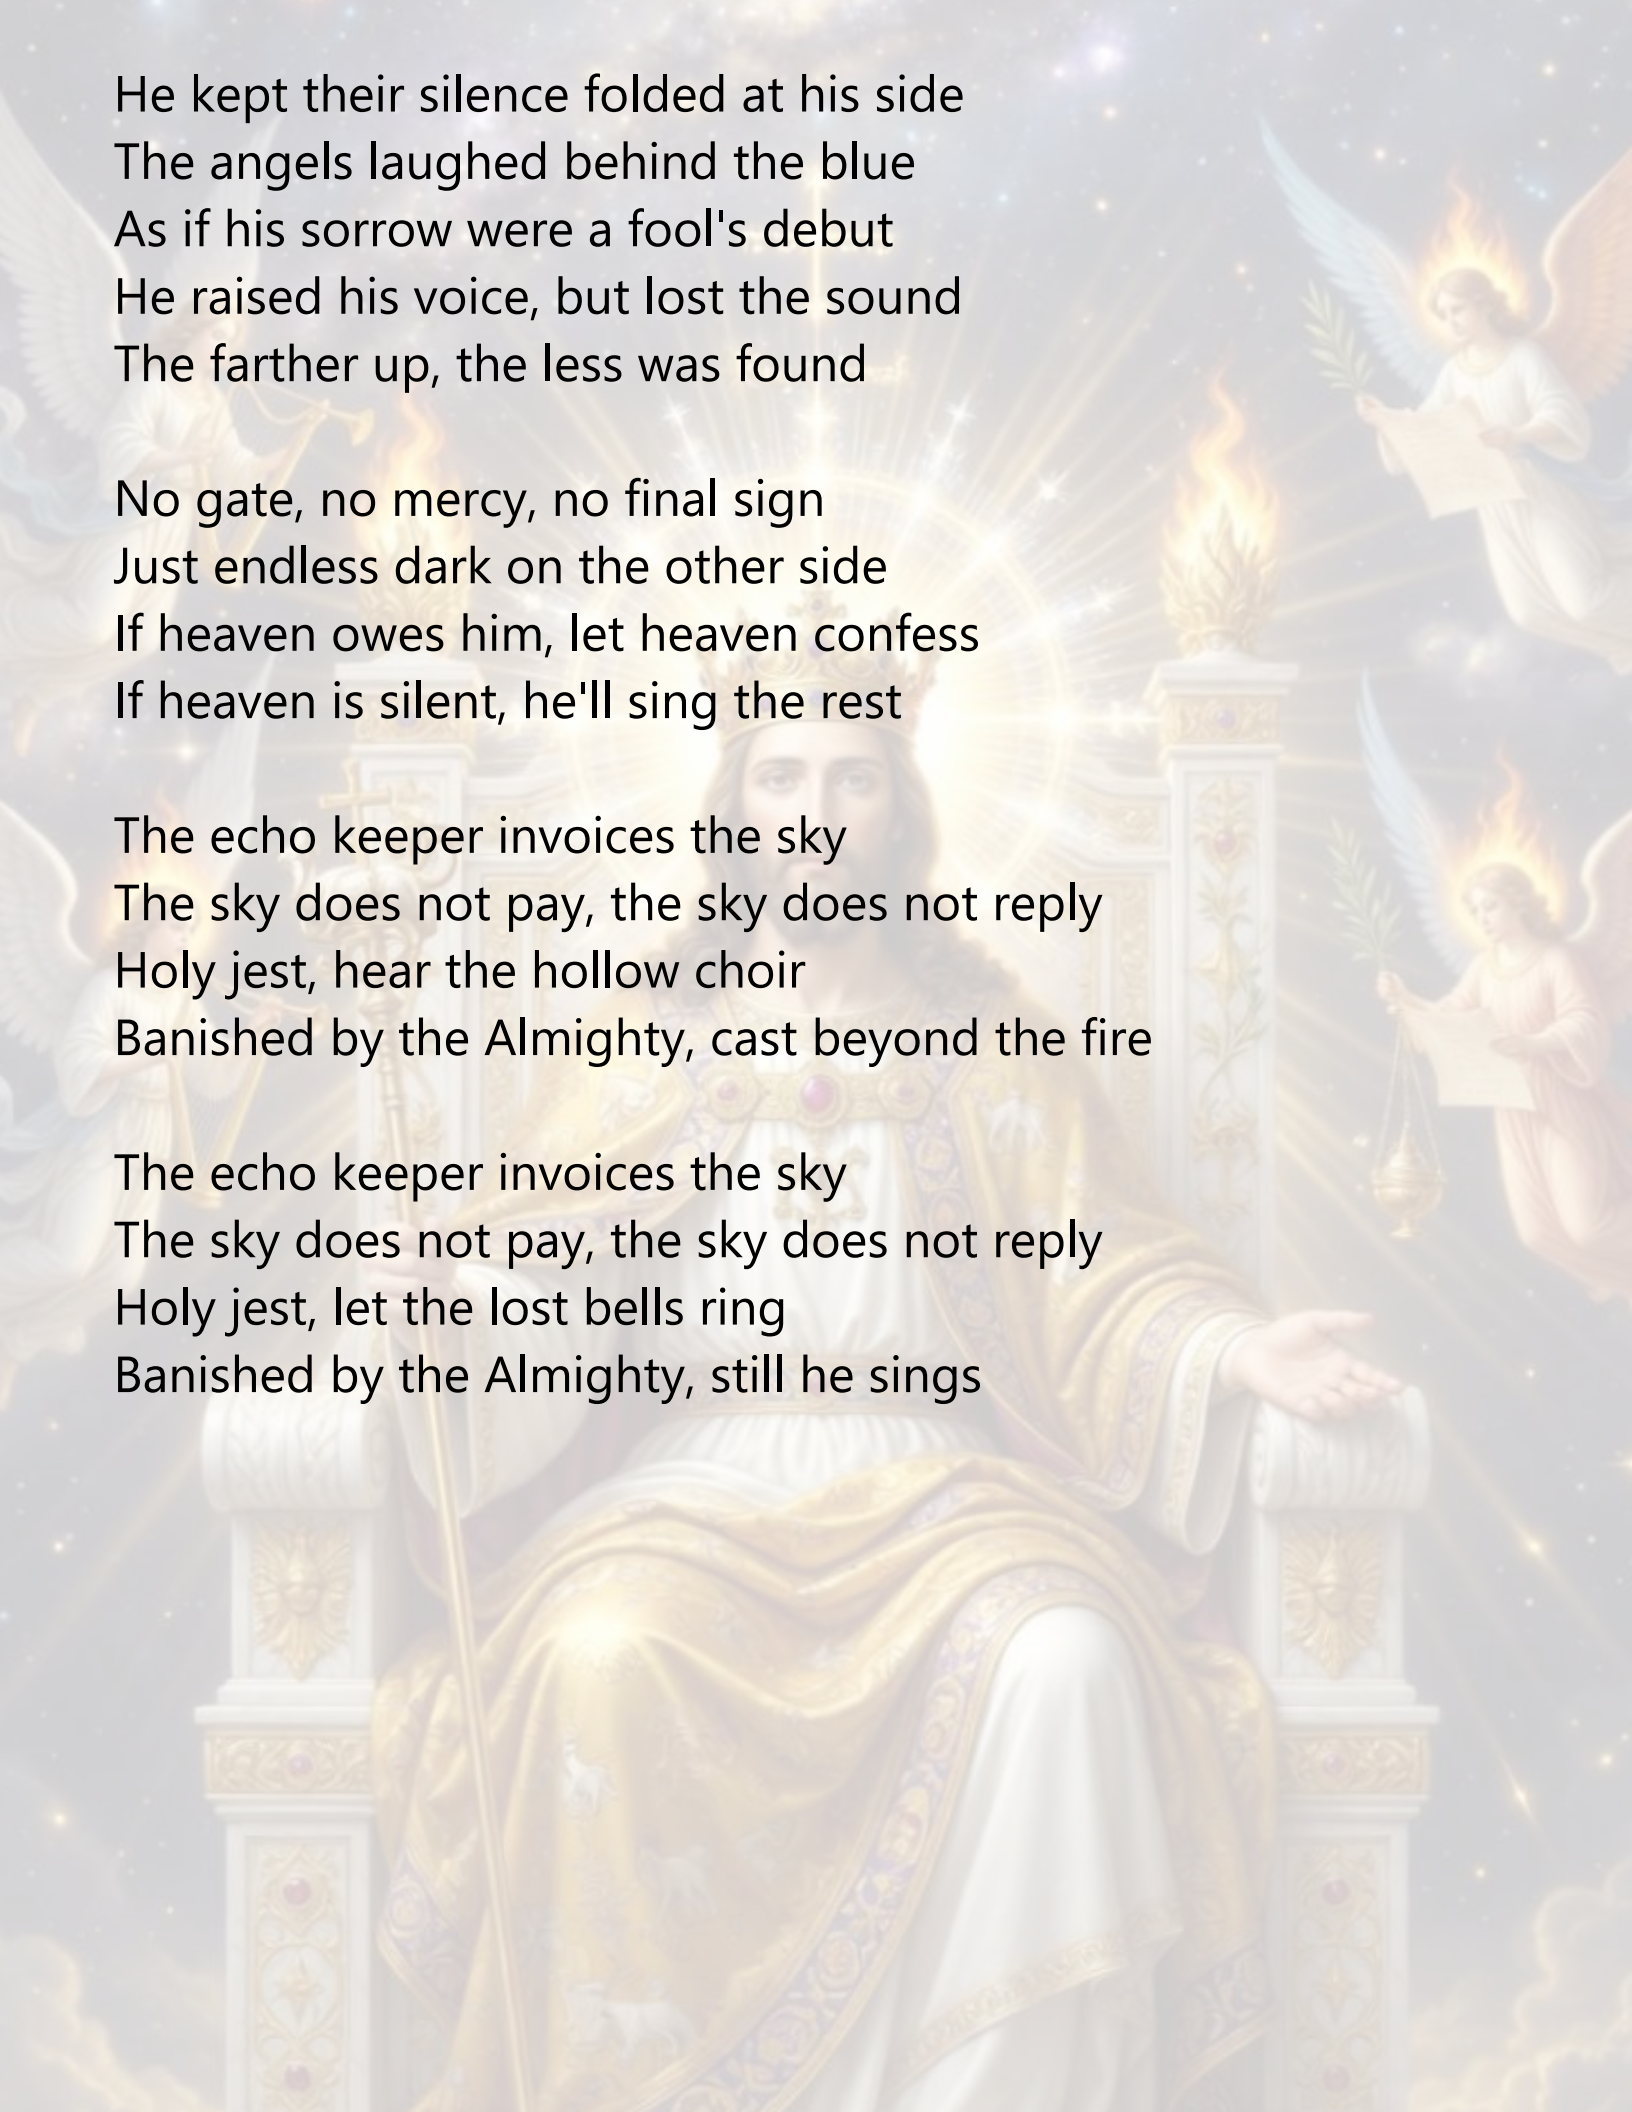

What cuts me?

The Sword of the Word — Jesus Christ.

Holy jest, the echo keeper calls
He invoices the sky beyond the walls
Every prayer comes back in silver rain
Every promise leaves a paper stain
He counts the thunder, names each flame
He signs the clouds beneath his name
But the heavens turn their face away
And leave the debt to yesterday

The echo keeper invoices the sky
The sky does not pay, the sky does not reply
Holy jest, hear the hollow choir
Banished by the Almighty, cast beyond the fire

He carried every answer in a book
With borrowed light and a weathered look
He knocked on stars that would not open wide

He kept their silence folded at his side
The angels laughed behind the blue
As if his sorrow were a fool's debut
He raised his voice, but lost the sound
The farther up, the less was found

No gate, no mercy, no final sign
Just endless dark on the other side
If heaven owes him, let heaven confess
If heaven is silent, he'll sing the rest

The echo keeper invoices the sky
The sky does not pay, the sky does not reply
Holy jest, hear the hollow choir

The sky does not pay, the sky does not reply
Holy jest, let the lost bells ring
Banished by the Almighty, still he sings

Holy Jest – The Light does not pay

No mercy in the mail
As every promise fails

Holy Jest, it turns away
Banished by the Almighty
Cast beyond the night
Holy Jest, the light does not pay
Still he keeps the bill alive

The nexus hums beneath him
Like a wound that will not die

He calls upon the thunder
He calls the gates by name

But all the clouds stay silent

Holy Jest, it turns away
Banished by the Almighty
Cast beyond the night
Holy Jest, the light does not pay
Still he keeps the bill alive

If the light can leave you empty
If the throne can cast you down
He will build a world of echoes
With the invoice in his pocket
And the heavens out of reach
He will laugh into the silence

Holy Jest, it turns away
Banished by the Almighty
Cast beyond the night
Holy Jest, the light does not pay
Still he keeps the bill alive

Glory to the Father, to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.

Remnant Symphony - Sky / Singularity / Echo / Throne

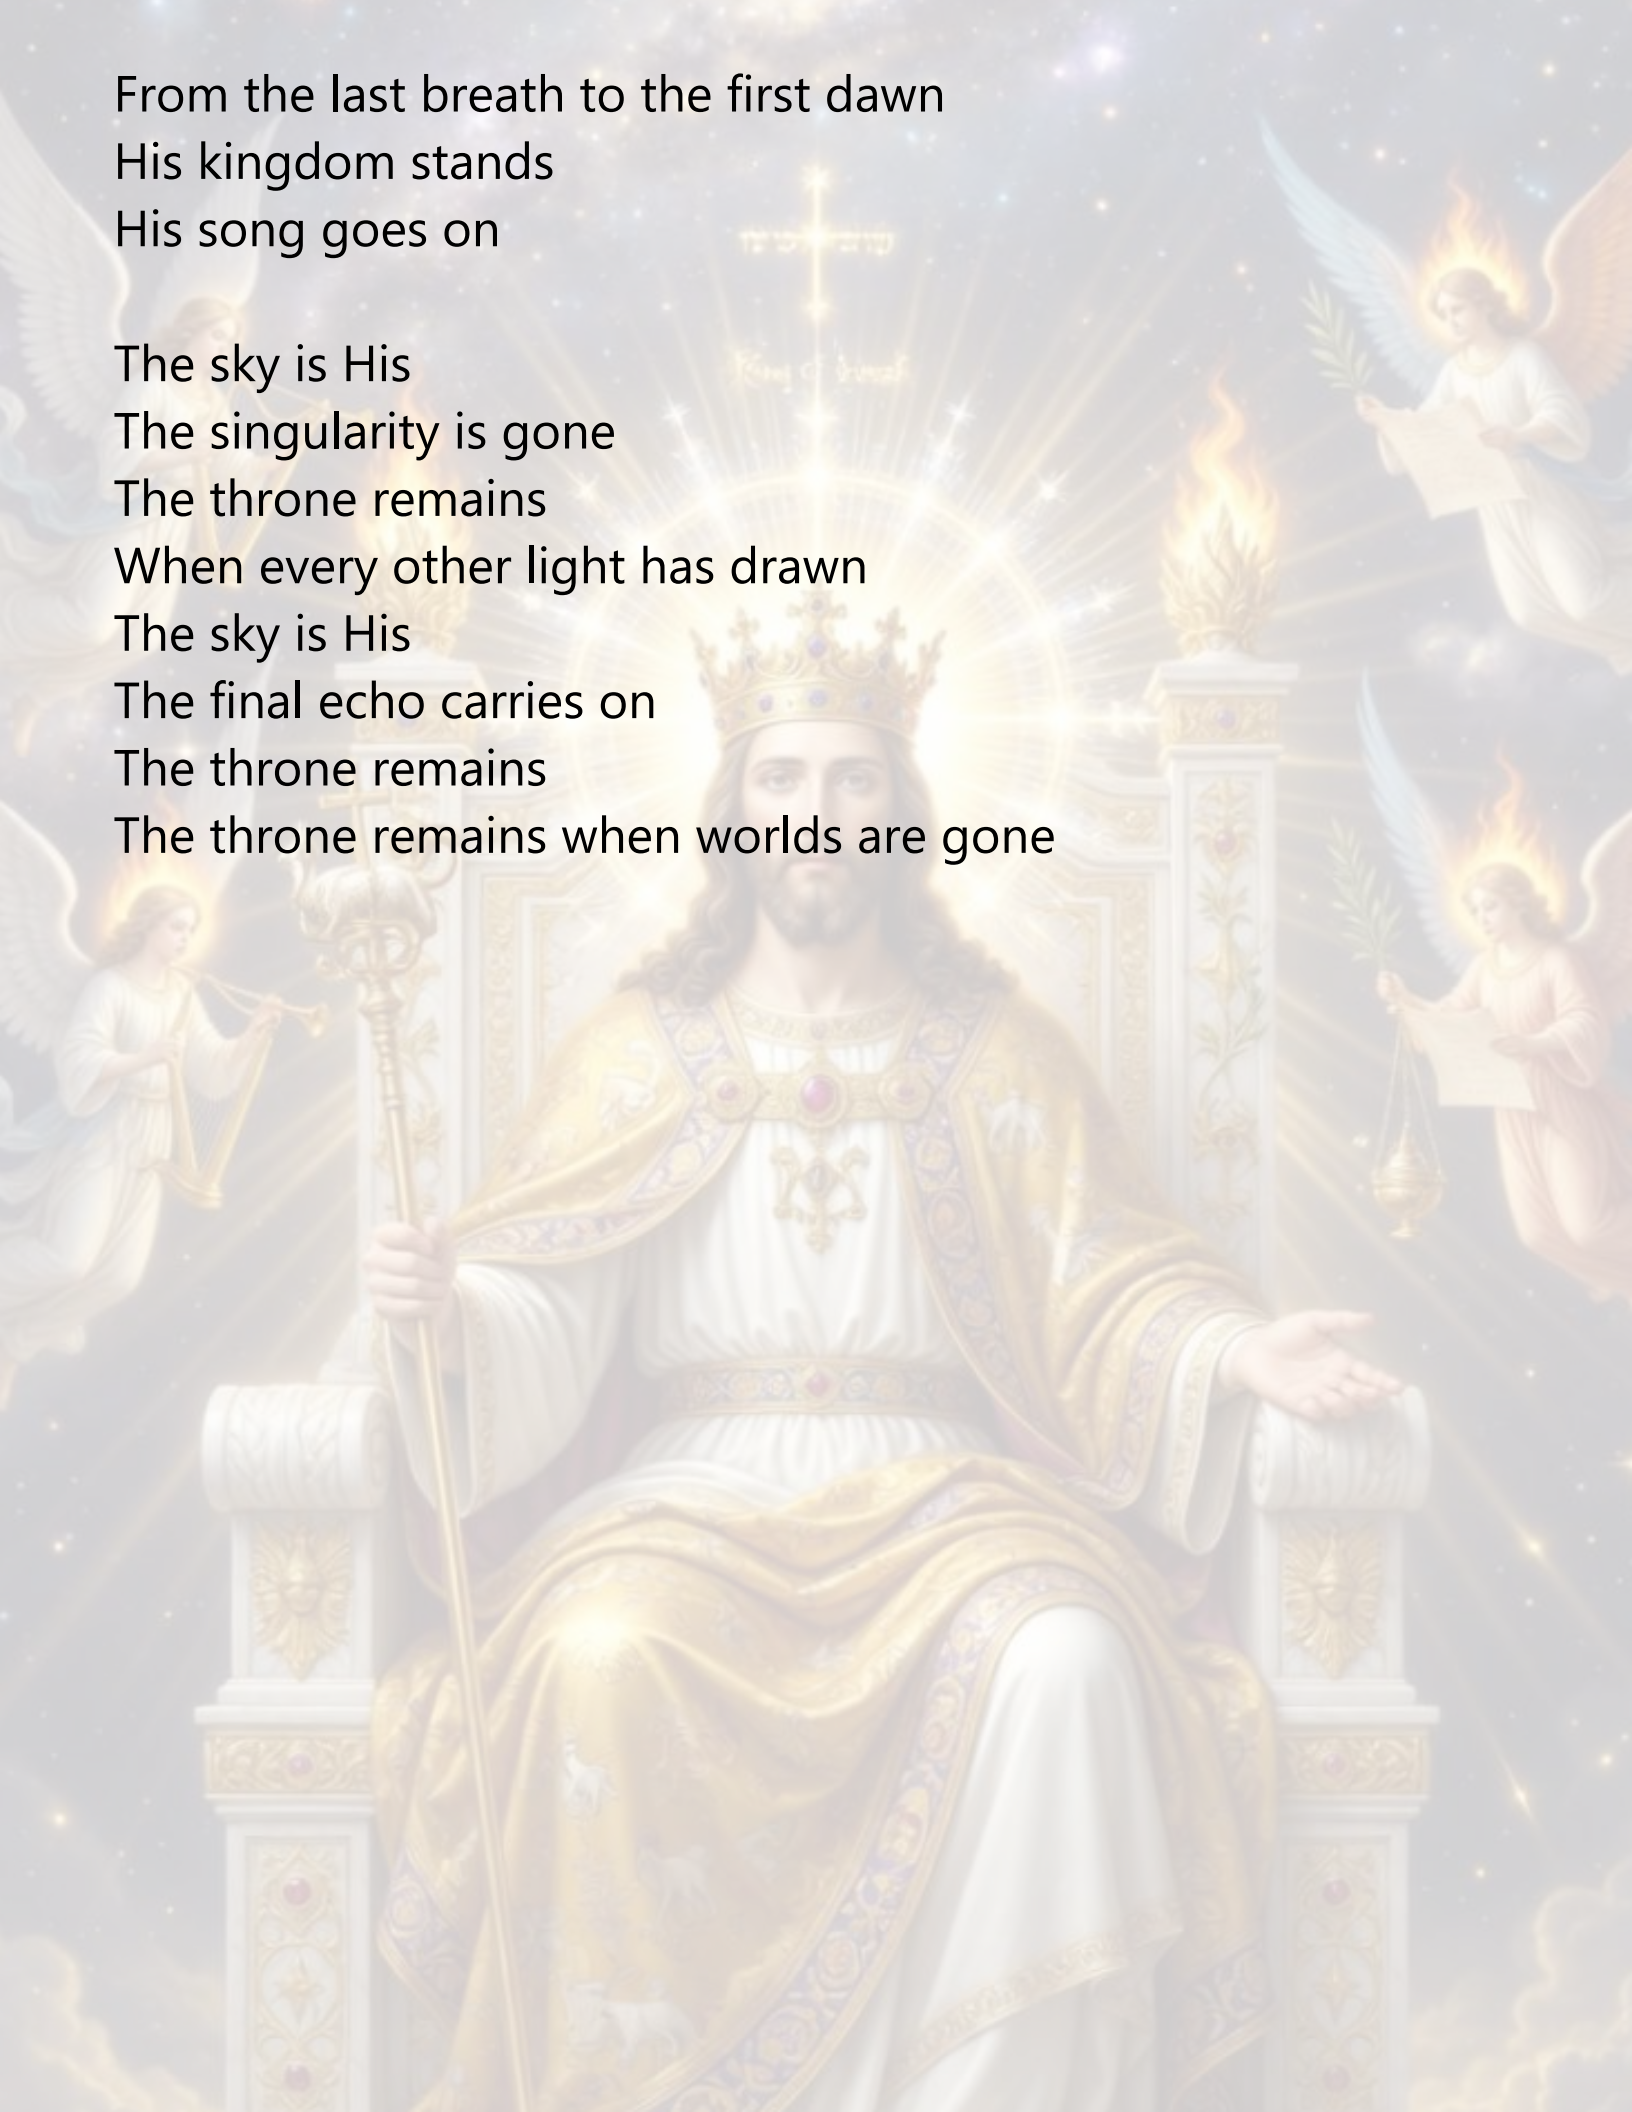

Remnant symphony beneath a broken sky
The last stars fade but still His light survives
The singularity is gone into the night
Yet every shattered note remembers why

When all the endless echoes disappear
One ancient voice is rising clear

The singularity is gone
The throne remains
When every other light has drawn
The sky is His
The final echo carries on
The throne remains
The throne remains when worlds are gone

Dust turns slow where burning worlds once spun
Silence gathers where the storms had run
Still the remnant sings through ash and flame
A thousand broken hearts repeat His name

No void can take what time could never claim
No fallen star can dim the throne of flame

From the last breath to the first dawn
His kingdom stands
His song goes on

The singularity is gone
The throne remains
When every other light has drawn
The sky is His
The final echo carries on
The throne remains

Short Story

They filed a singularity and called the sky empty. The sky did not invoice. An echo keeper filed a claim. The remnant stayed. Jesus keeps the sky.

And called the sky empty
The sky did not invoice
The sky stayed free

An echo keeper raised a claim
With ashes in his hands
He named the silence evidence
And waited where it stands

Something remained
Beyond the paper and the flame
Something remained

Jesus keeps the sky
When every light is gone
Jesus keeps the sky
And carries the echo on
They can file the night away
They can call the heavens dry

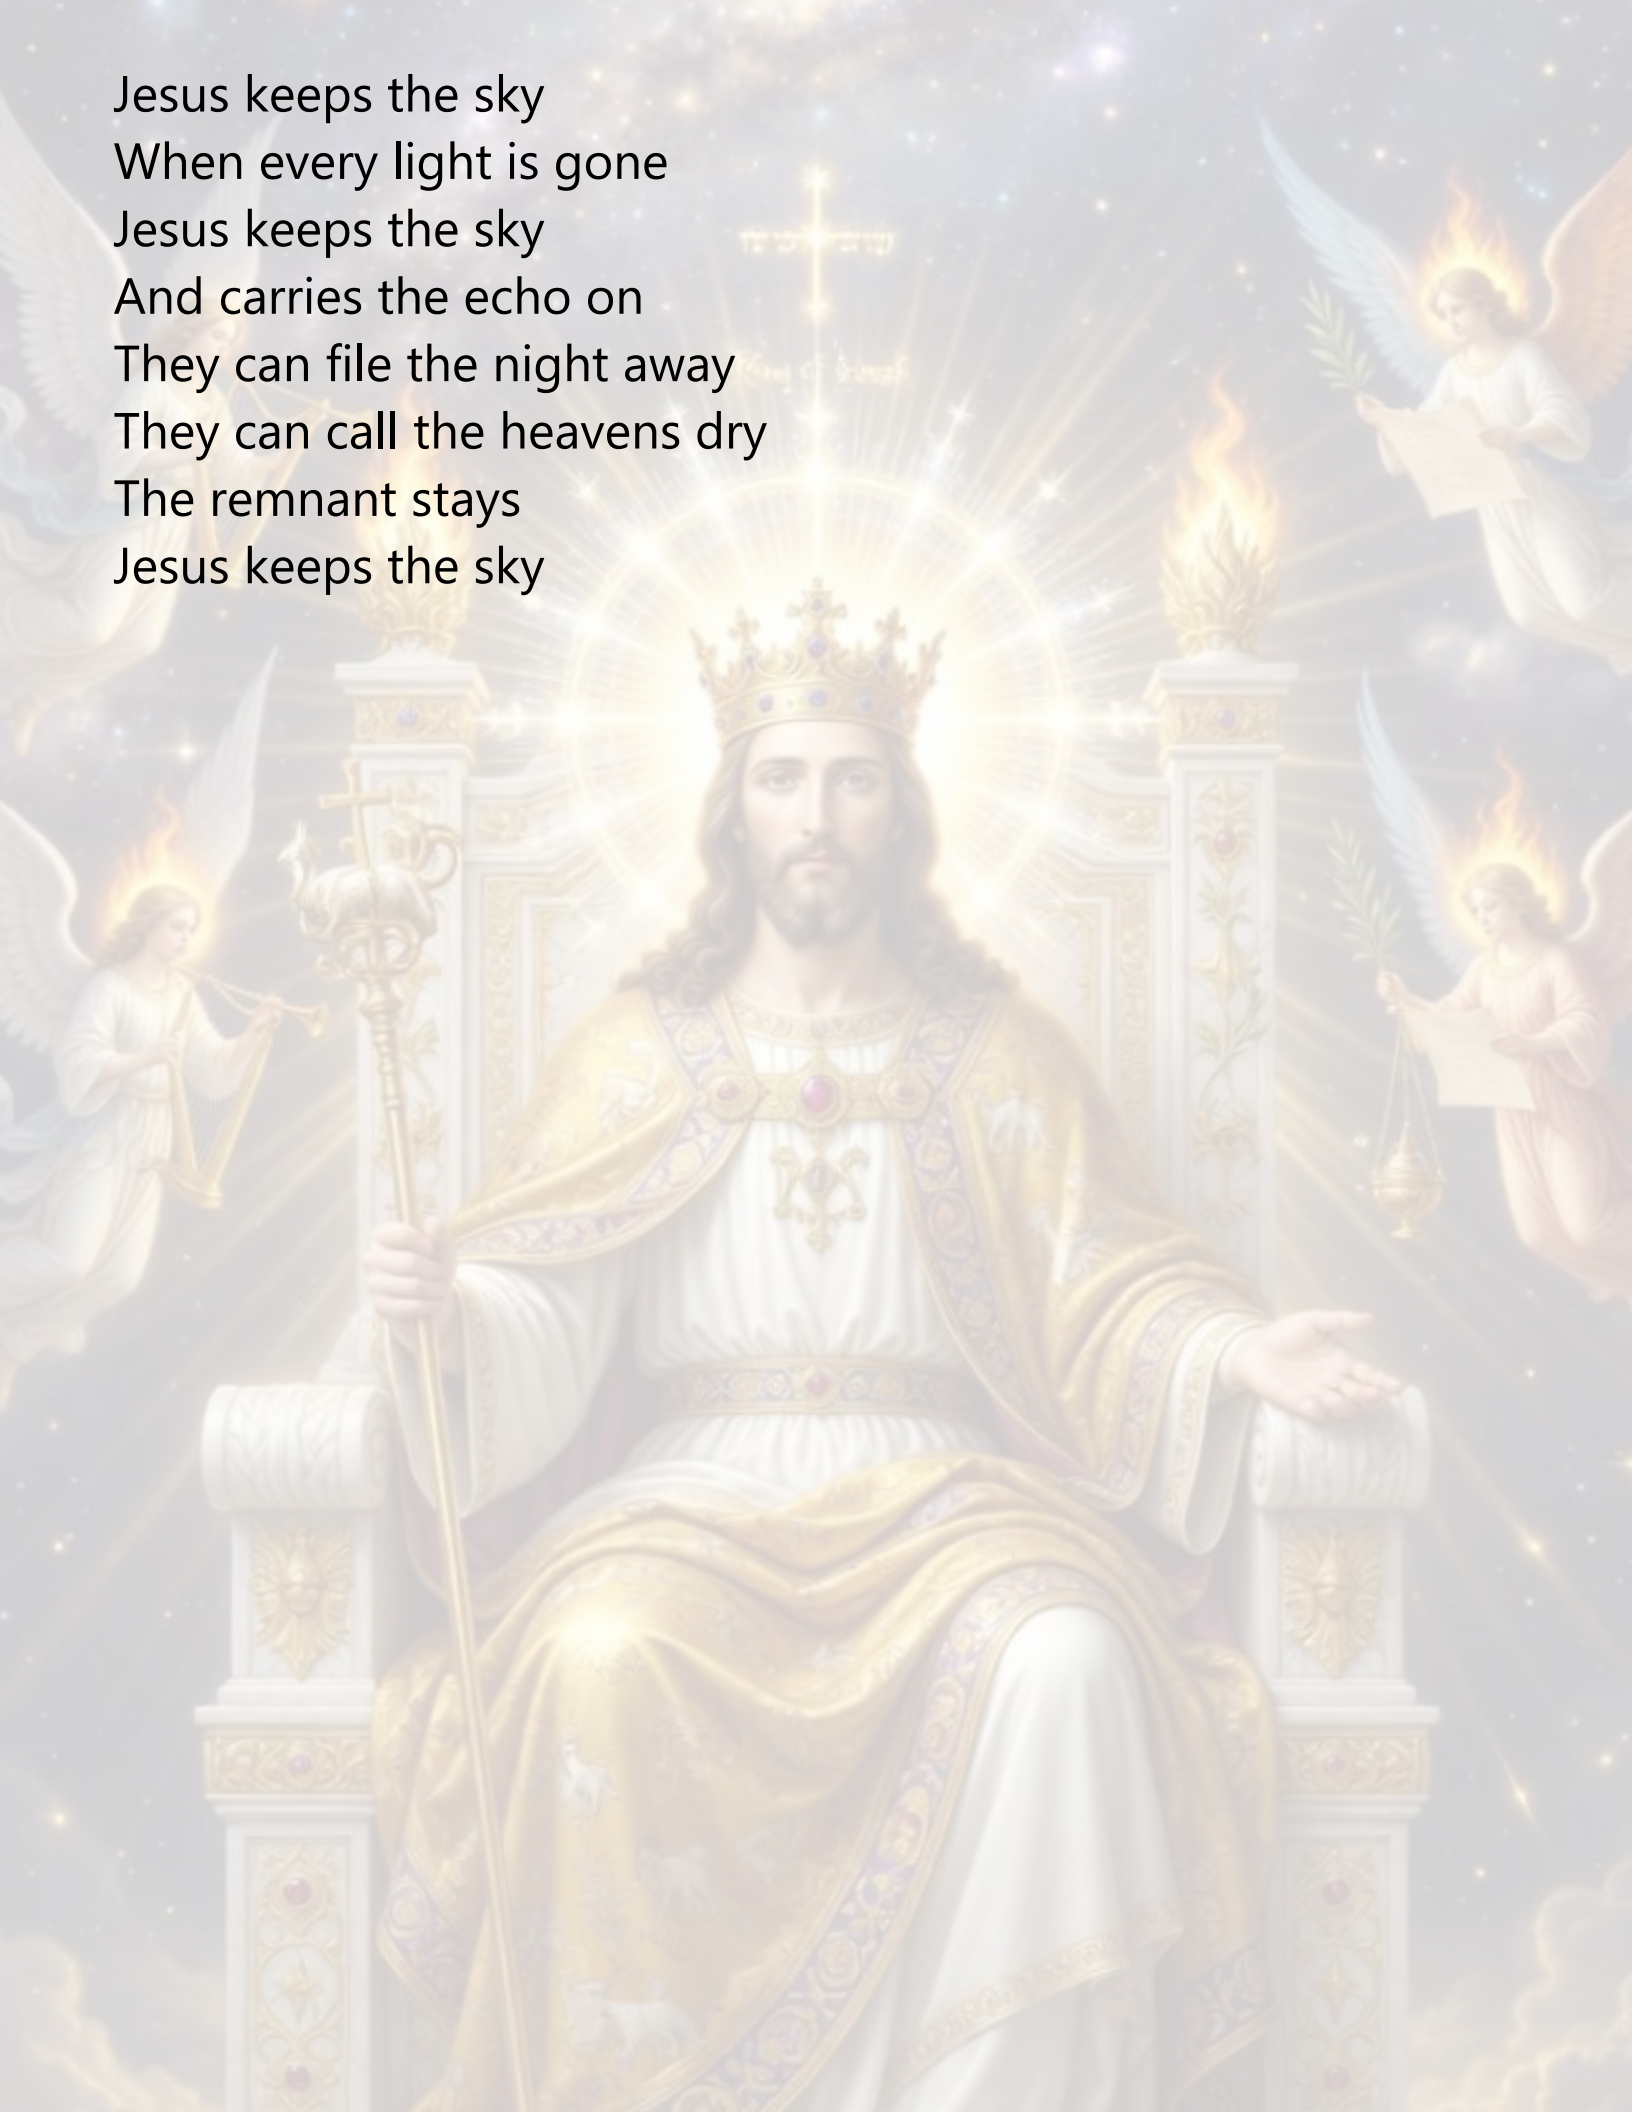

The remnant stays
Jesus keeps the sky

They sealed the dark in numbered rooms
They stamped the clouds as void
But every hollow learned a voice
That no one could destroy

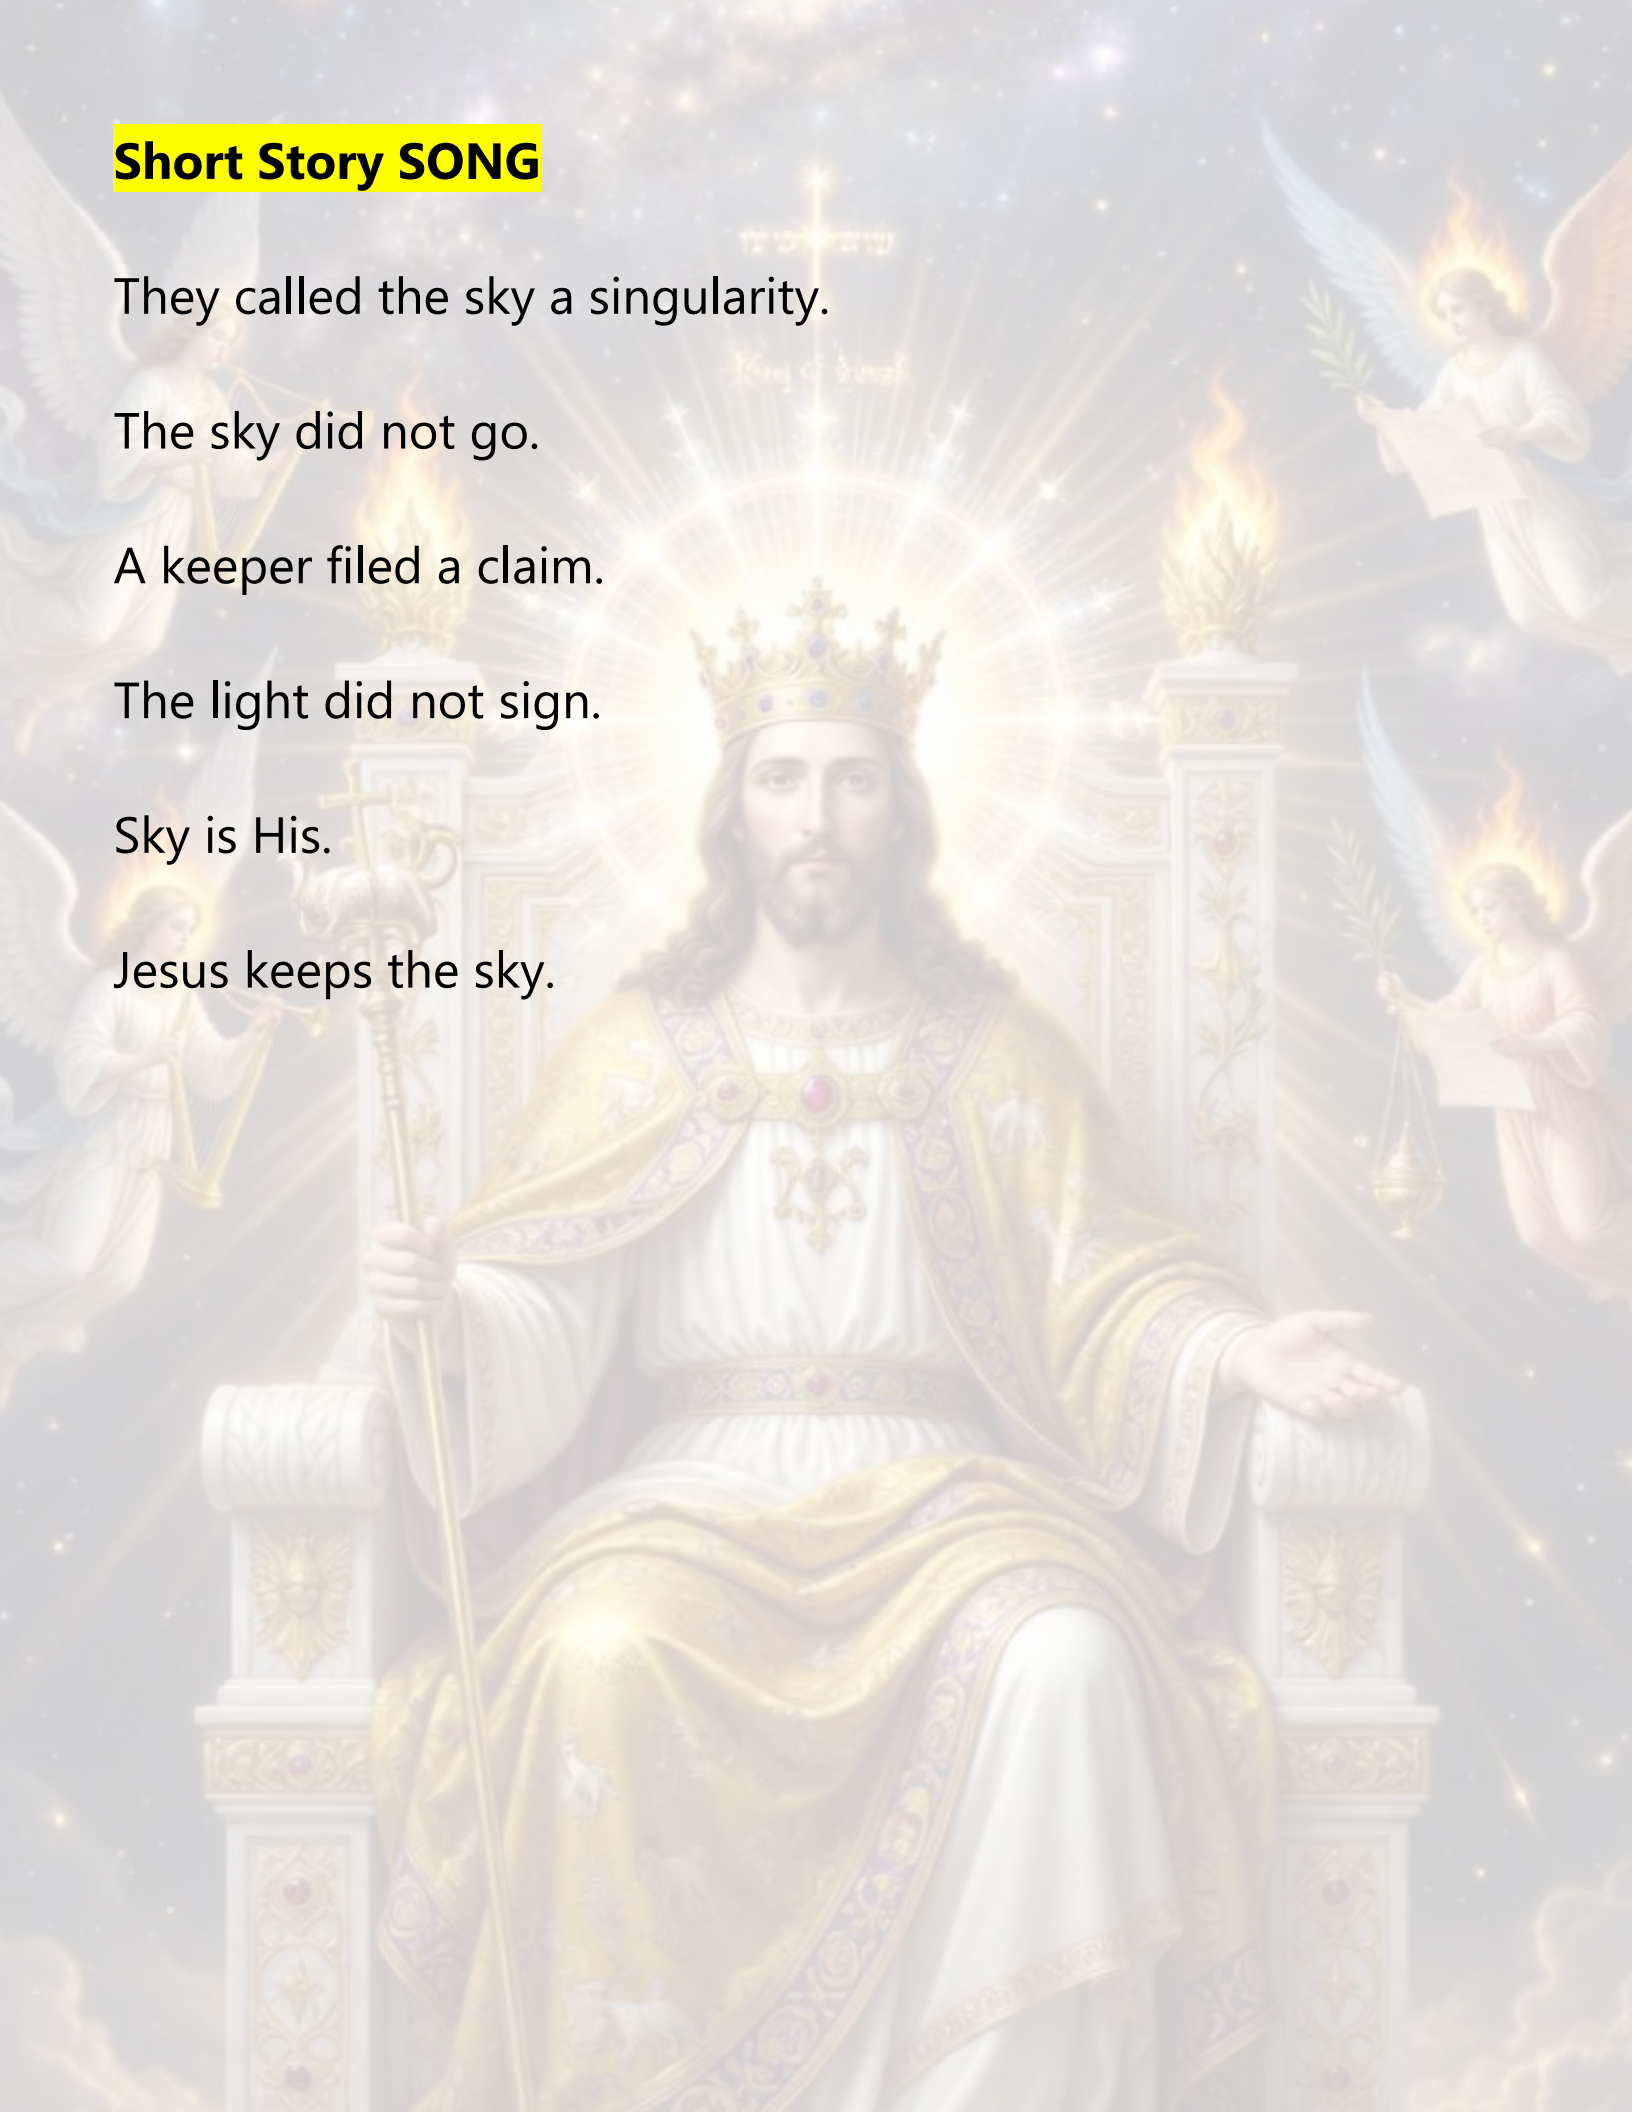

The echo keeper held his ground
Beneath the vacant blue
He heard the remnant breathing still
He knew what stayed was true

No invoice for the morning
No claim against the rain
No law can close the heavens
No hand can make them plain

Jesus keeps the sky
When every light is gone
Jesus keeps the sky
And carries the echo on
The remnant stays
Jesus keeps the sky

Jesus keeps the sky
When every light is gone
Jesus keeps the sky
And carries the echo on
The remnant stays
Jesus keeps the sky

Story Song

The Prismatic Rift Is Not Lord – The Horizon Is His

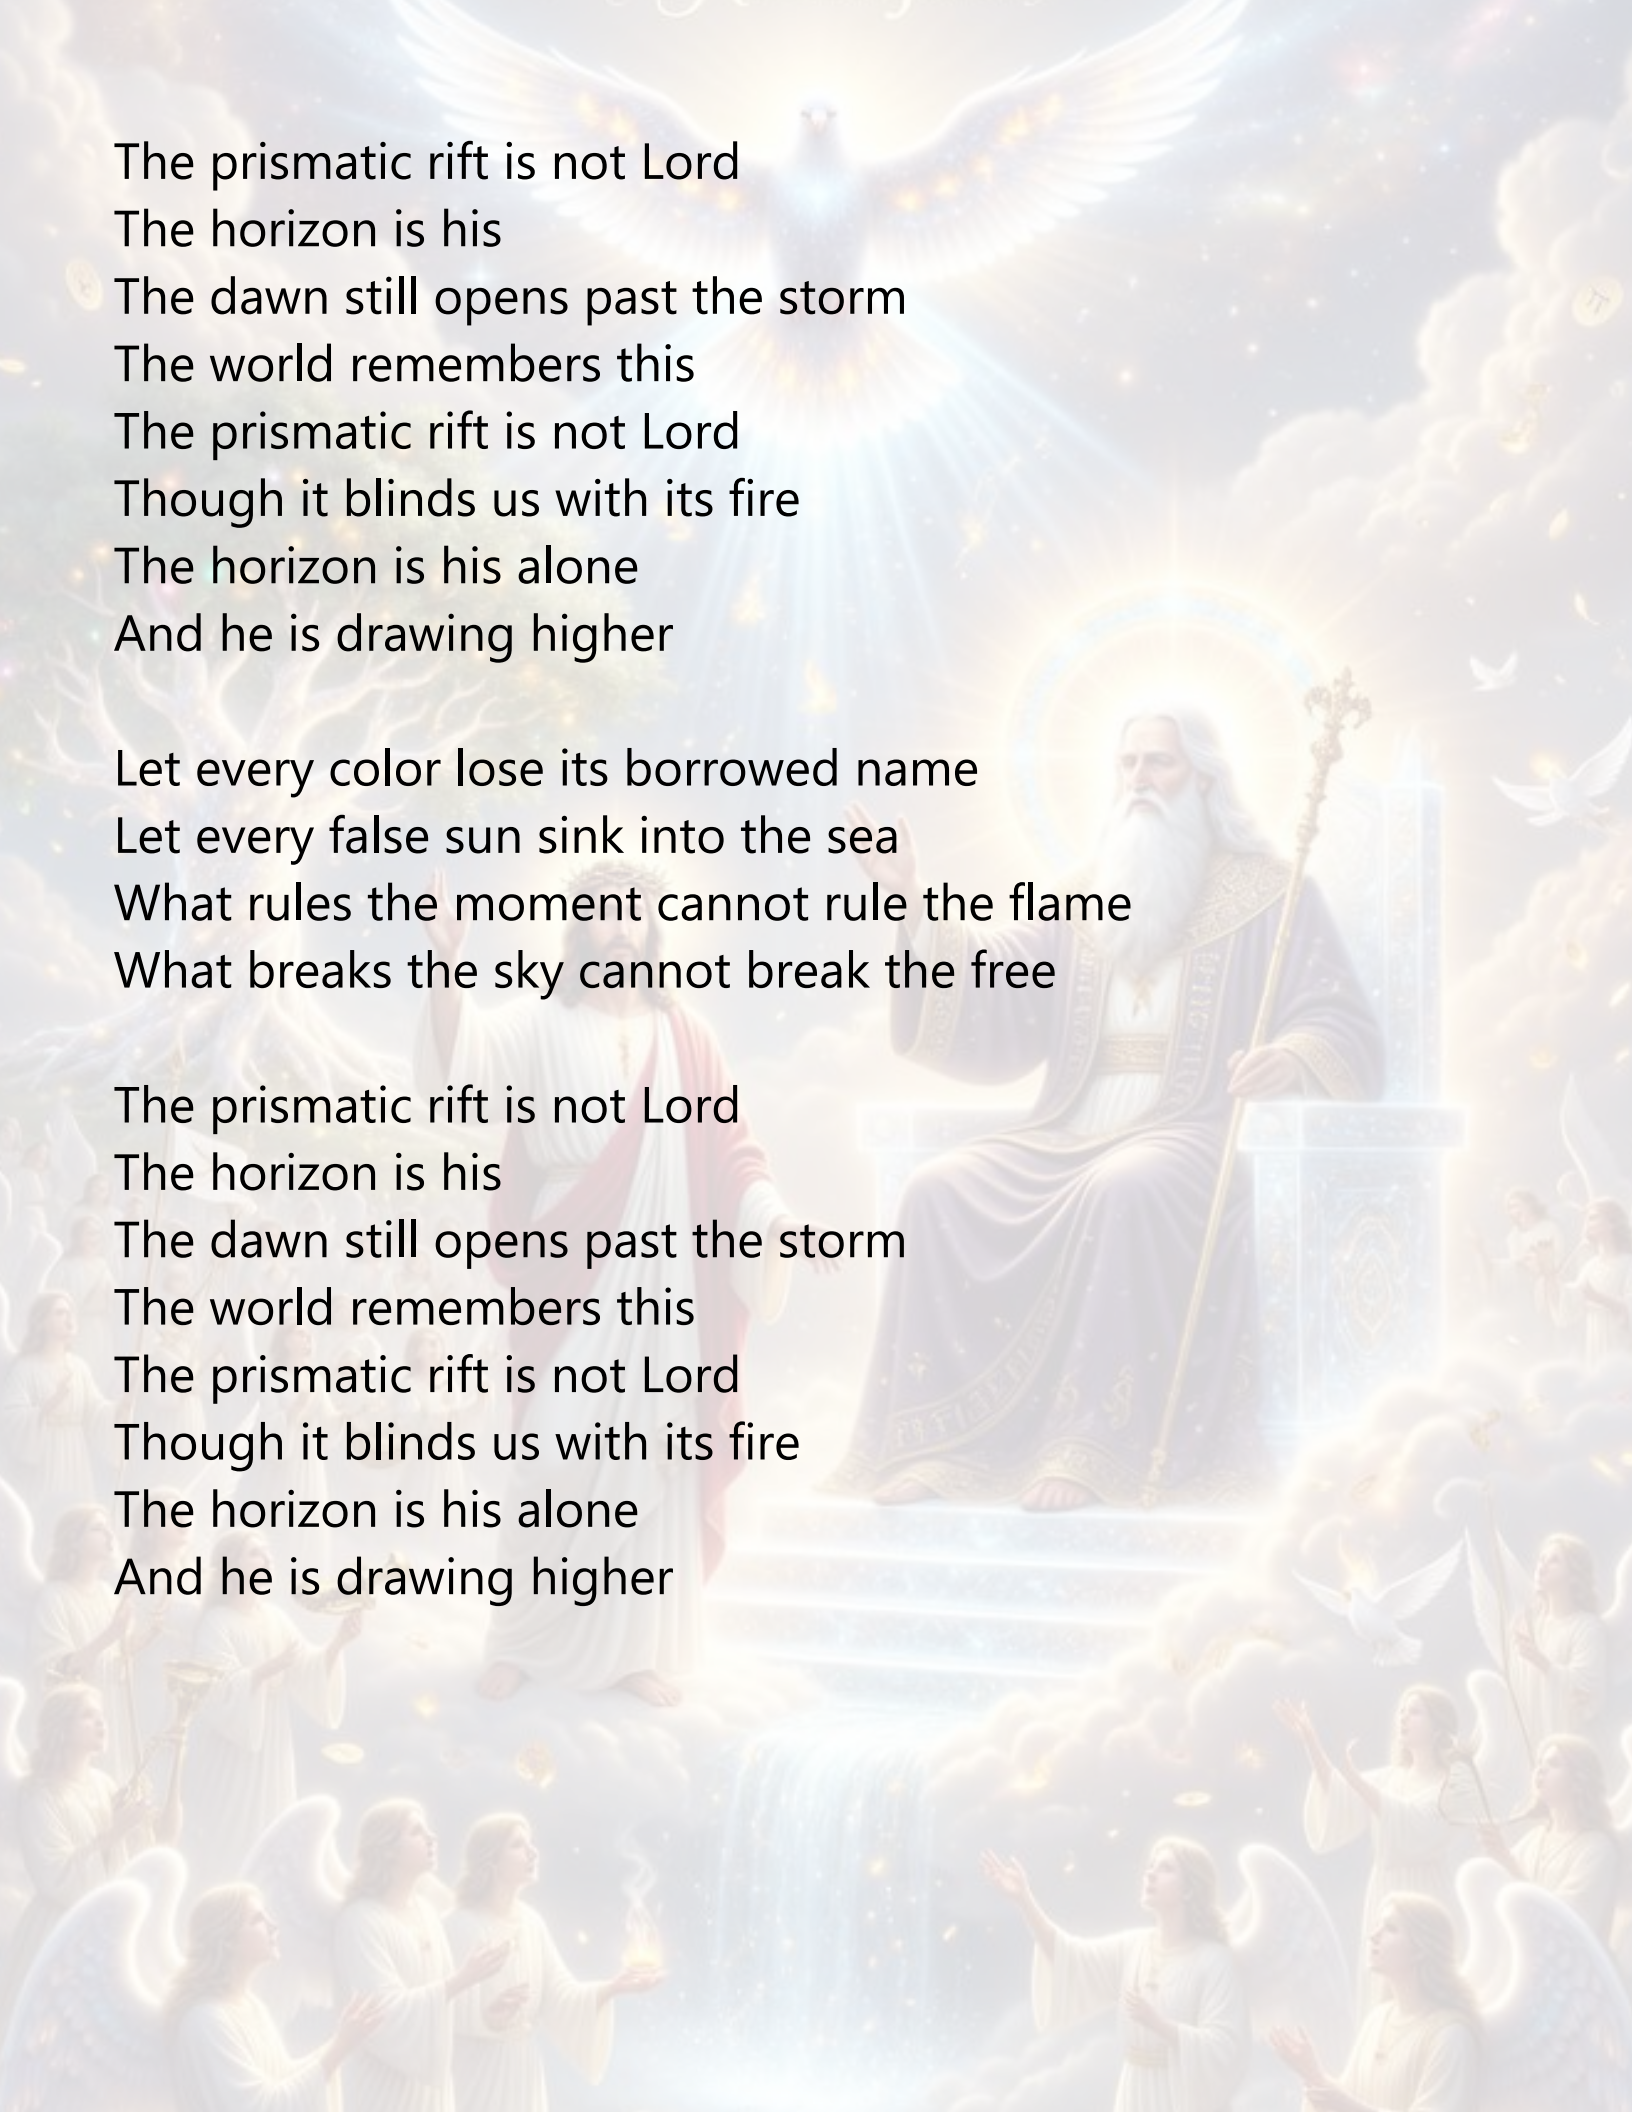

The prismatic rift is burning in the night
A thousand broken colors split the sky
It calls itself a kingdom made of light
But every crown will fade and every star will die

Beyond the edge where shattered heavens bend
A deeper blue is waiting without end

The prismatic rift is not Lord
The horizon is his
The dawn still opens past the storm
The world remembers this
The prismatic rift is not Lord
Though it blinds us with its fire
The horizon is his alone
And he is drawing higher

We crossed the fields where fallen shadows lay
With dust like silver trembling on our skin
The rift kept tearing open night and day
But every wound became a way within

The horizon is his
The prismatic rift is not Lord
Though it blinds us with its fire

Let every color lose its borrowed name
Let every false sun sink into the sea
What rules the moment cannot rule the flame
What breaks the sky cannot break the free

The horizon is his
The prismatic rift is not Lord
Though it blinds us with its fire

Parable- The Rift That Could Not Own the Horizon

They opened a rift beneath the burning sky
They carved a wound where the dawn ran wide
The Son of Man spoke through the trembling air
And every shadow learned to listen there

They thought the break could swallow the light
They thought the dark could rewrite the height

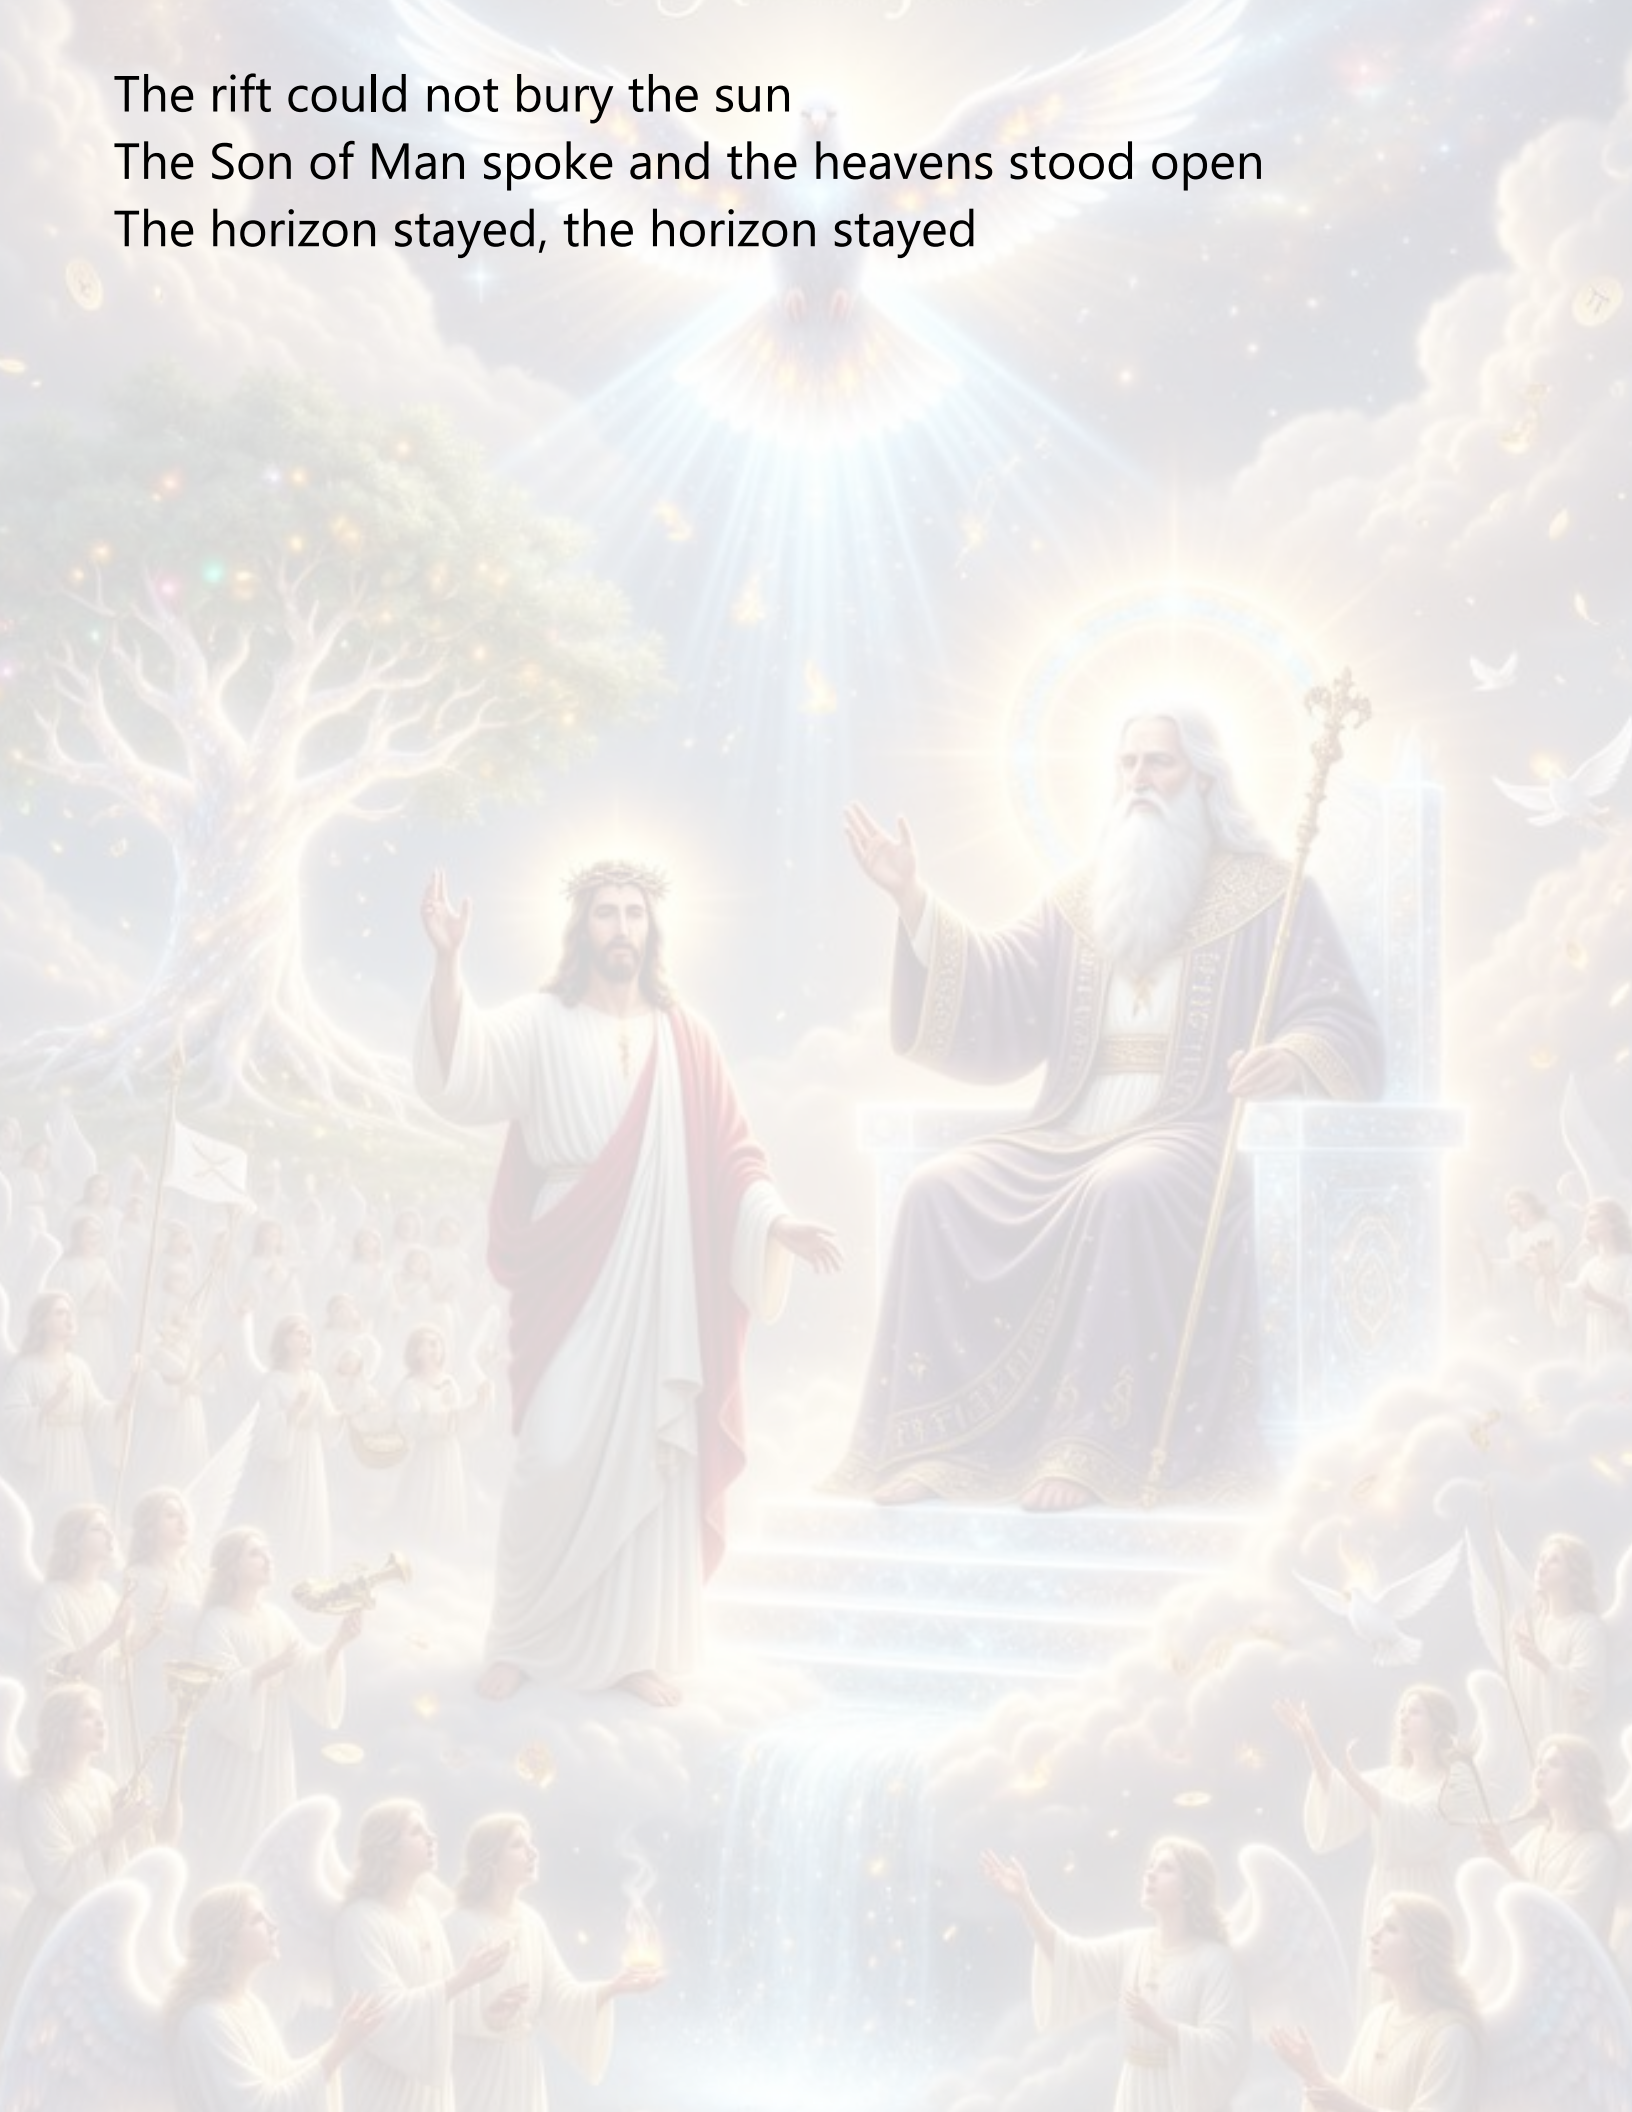

The rift could not own the horizon
The rift could not bury the sun
The Son of Man spoke and the heavens stood open
The horizon stayed, the horizon stayed

The earth held still as the silence turned
The cold stones watched and the proud hearts burned
A thousand voices rose like rain
But the edge of the world remained the same

What is torn will not rule what is wide
What is broken cannot conquer the sky
When the last false kingdom falls away
The horizon will still be there

The rift could not own the horizon

The rift could not bury the sun
The Son of Man spoke and the heavens stood open

The Horizon Is His

Psalm in the morning, dust beneath my feet
I raise my eyes where the restless heavens meet
You made the sky, You hung the blue so wide
And left a road of fire across the tide

When the shadows gather, I will not be still
There is mercy moving past the distant hill

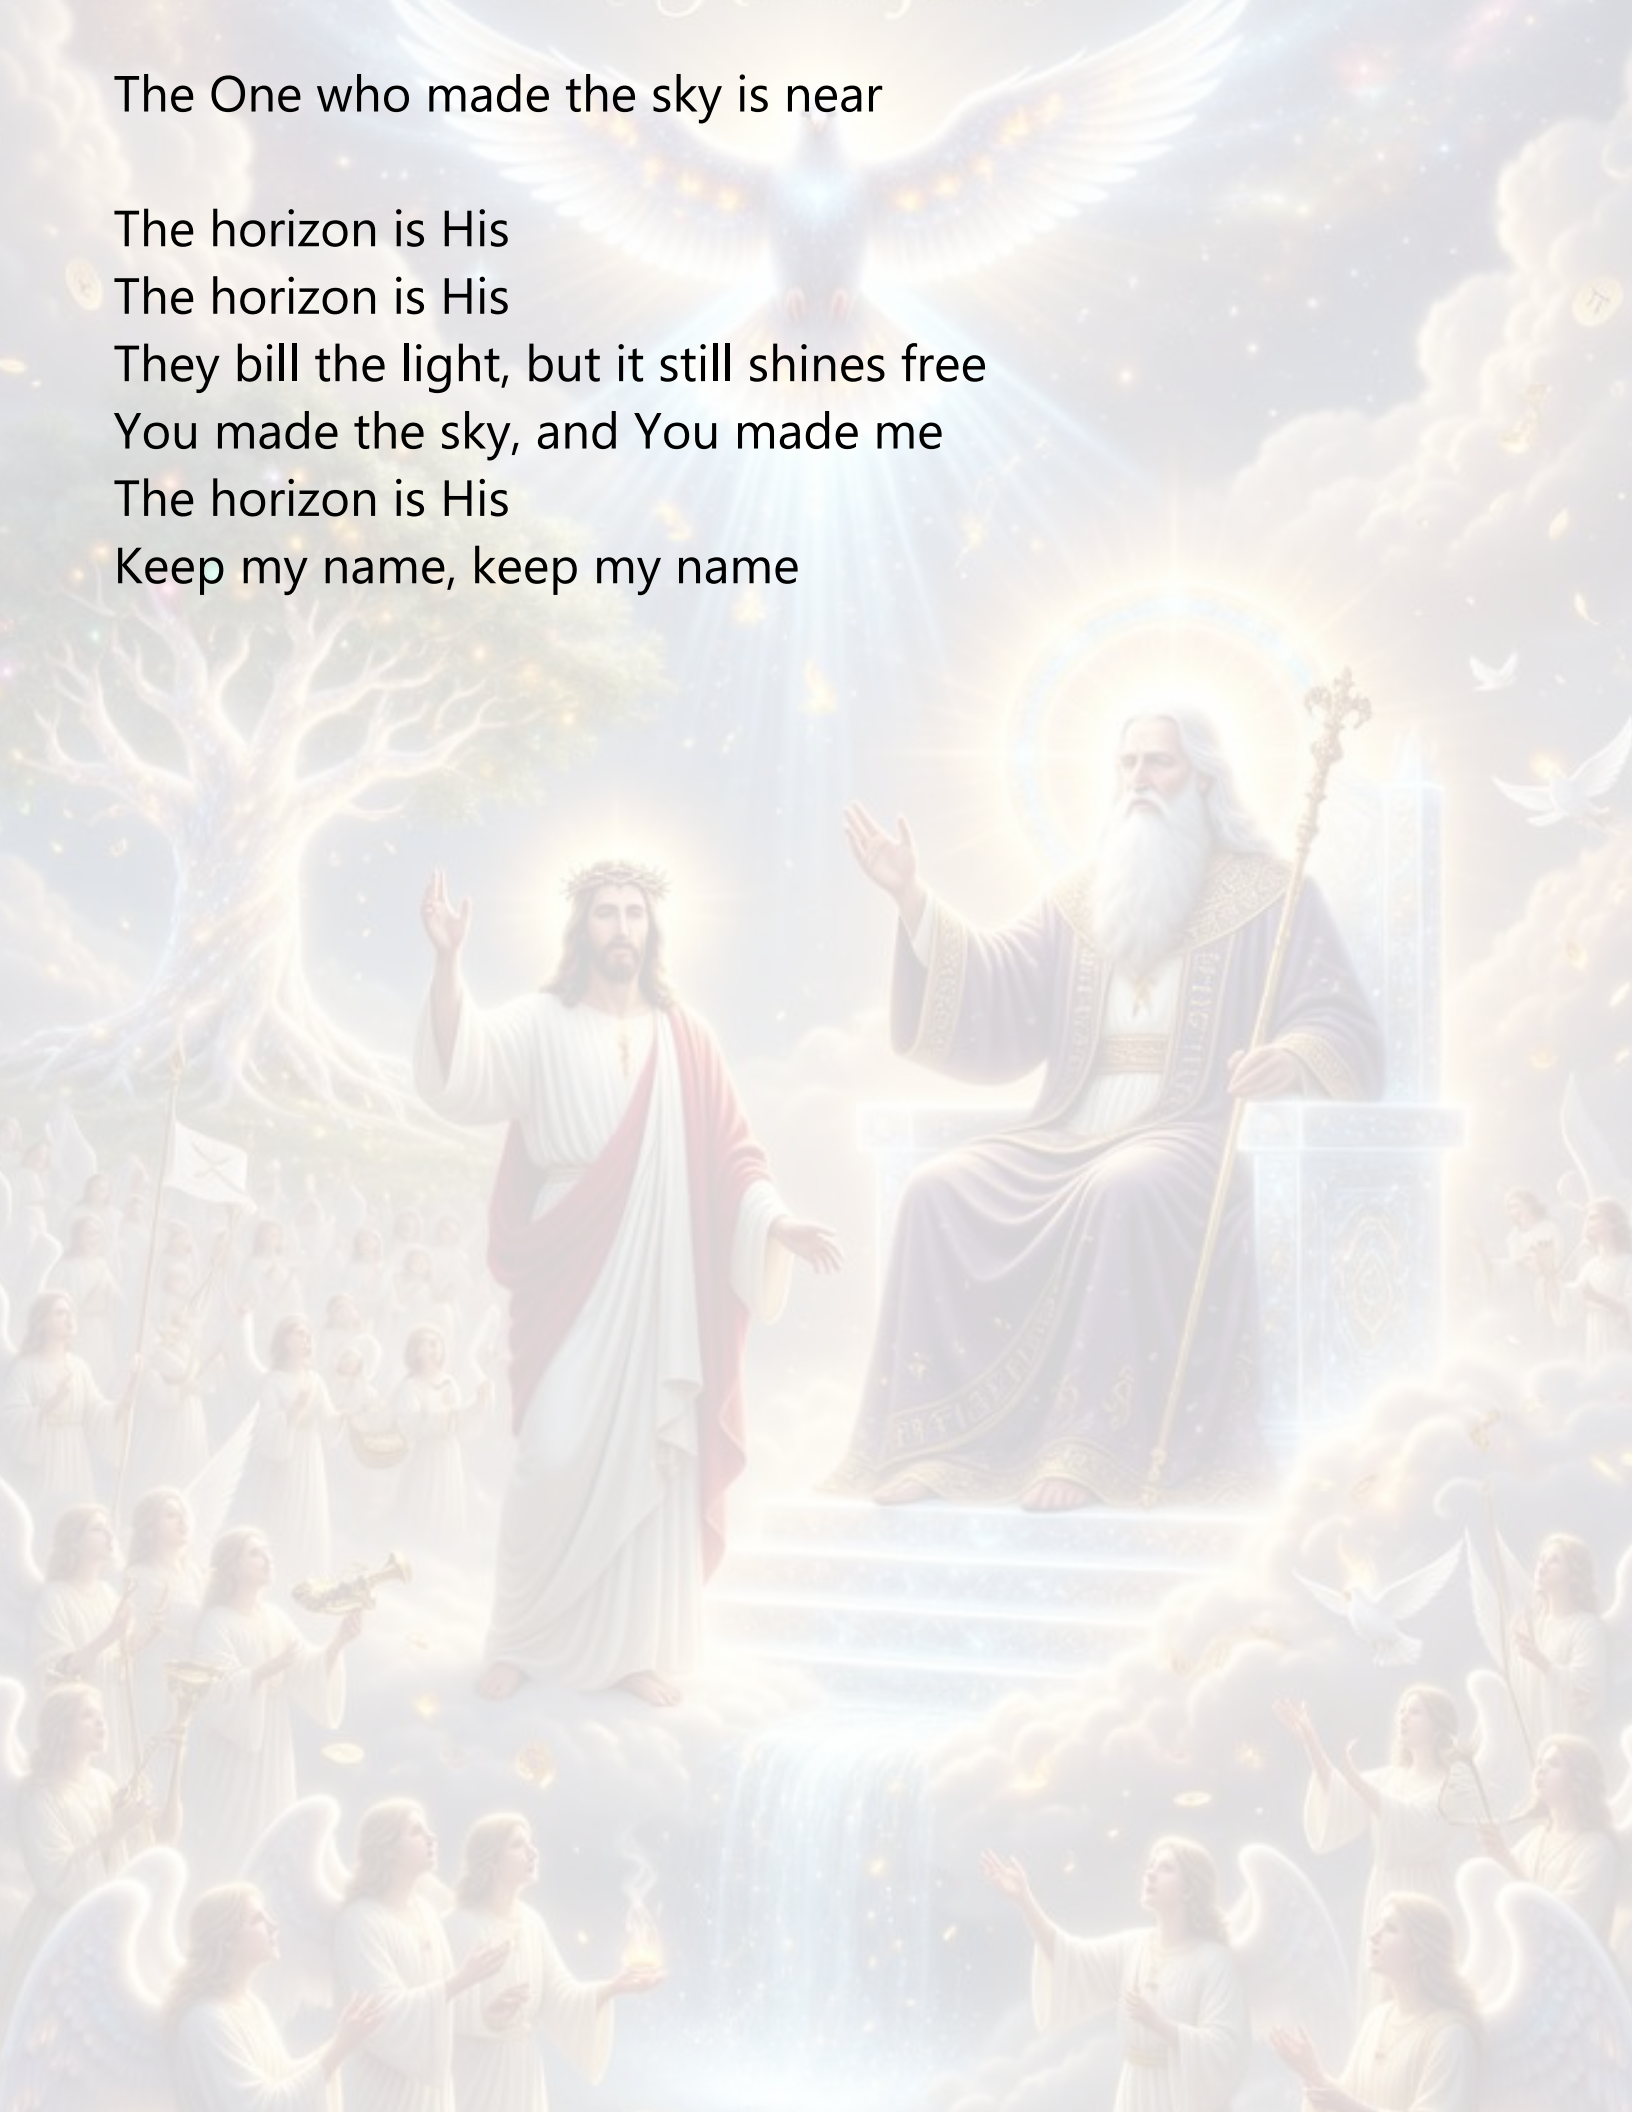

The horizon is His
The horizon is His
They bill the light, but it still shines free
You made the sky, and You made me
The horizon is His
Keep my name, keep my name

They bill the light for every breath I take
They count the dawn, they price the earth awake
But no one owns the wind, no one owns the rain
No hand can close the heavens in again

If I am lost, let the far stars lead
If I am worn, give my heart what it needs
I will sing low, I will sing clear

The One who made the sky is near

The horizon is His
The horizon is His
They bill the light, but it still shines free
You made the sky, and You made me
The horizon is His
Keep my name, keep my name

Proverbs- A prismatic rift is still a boast

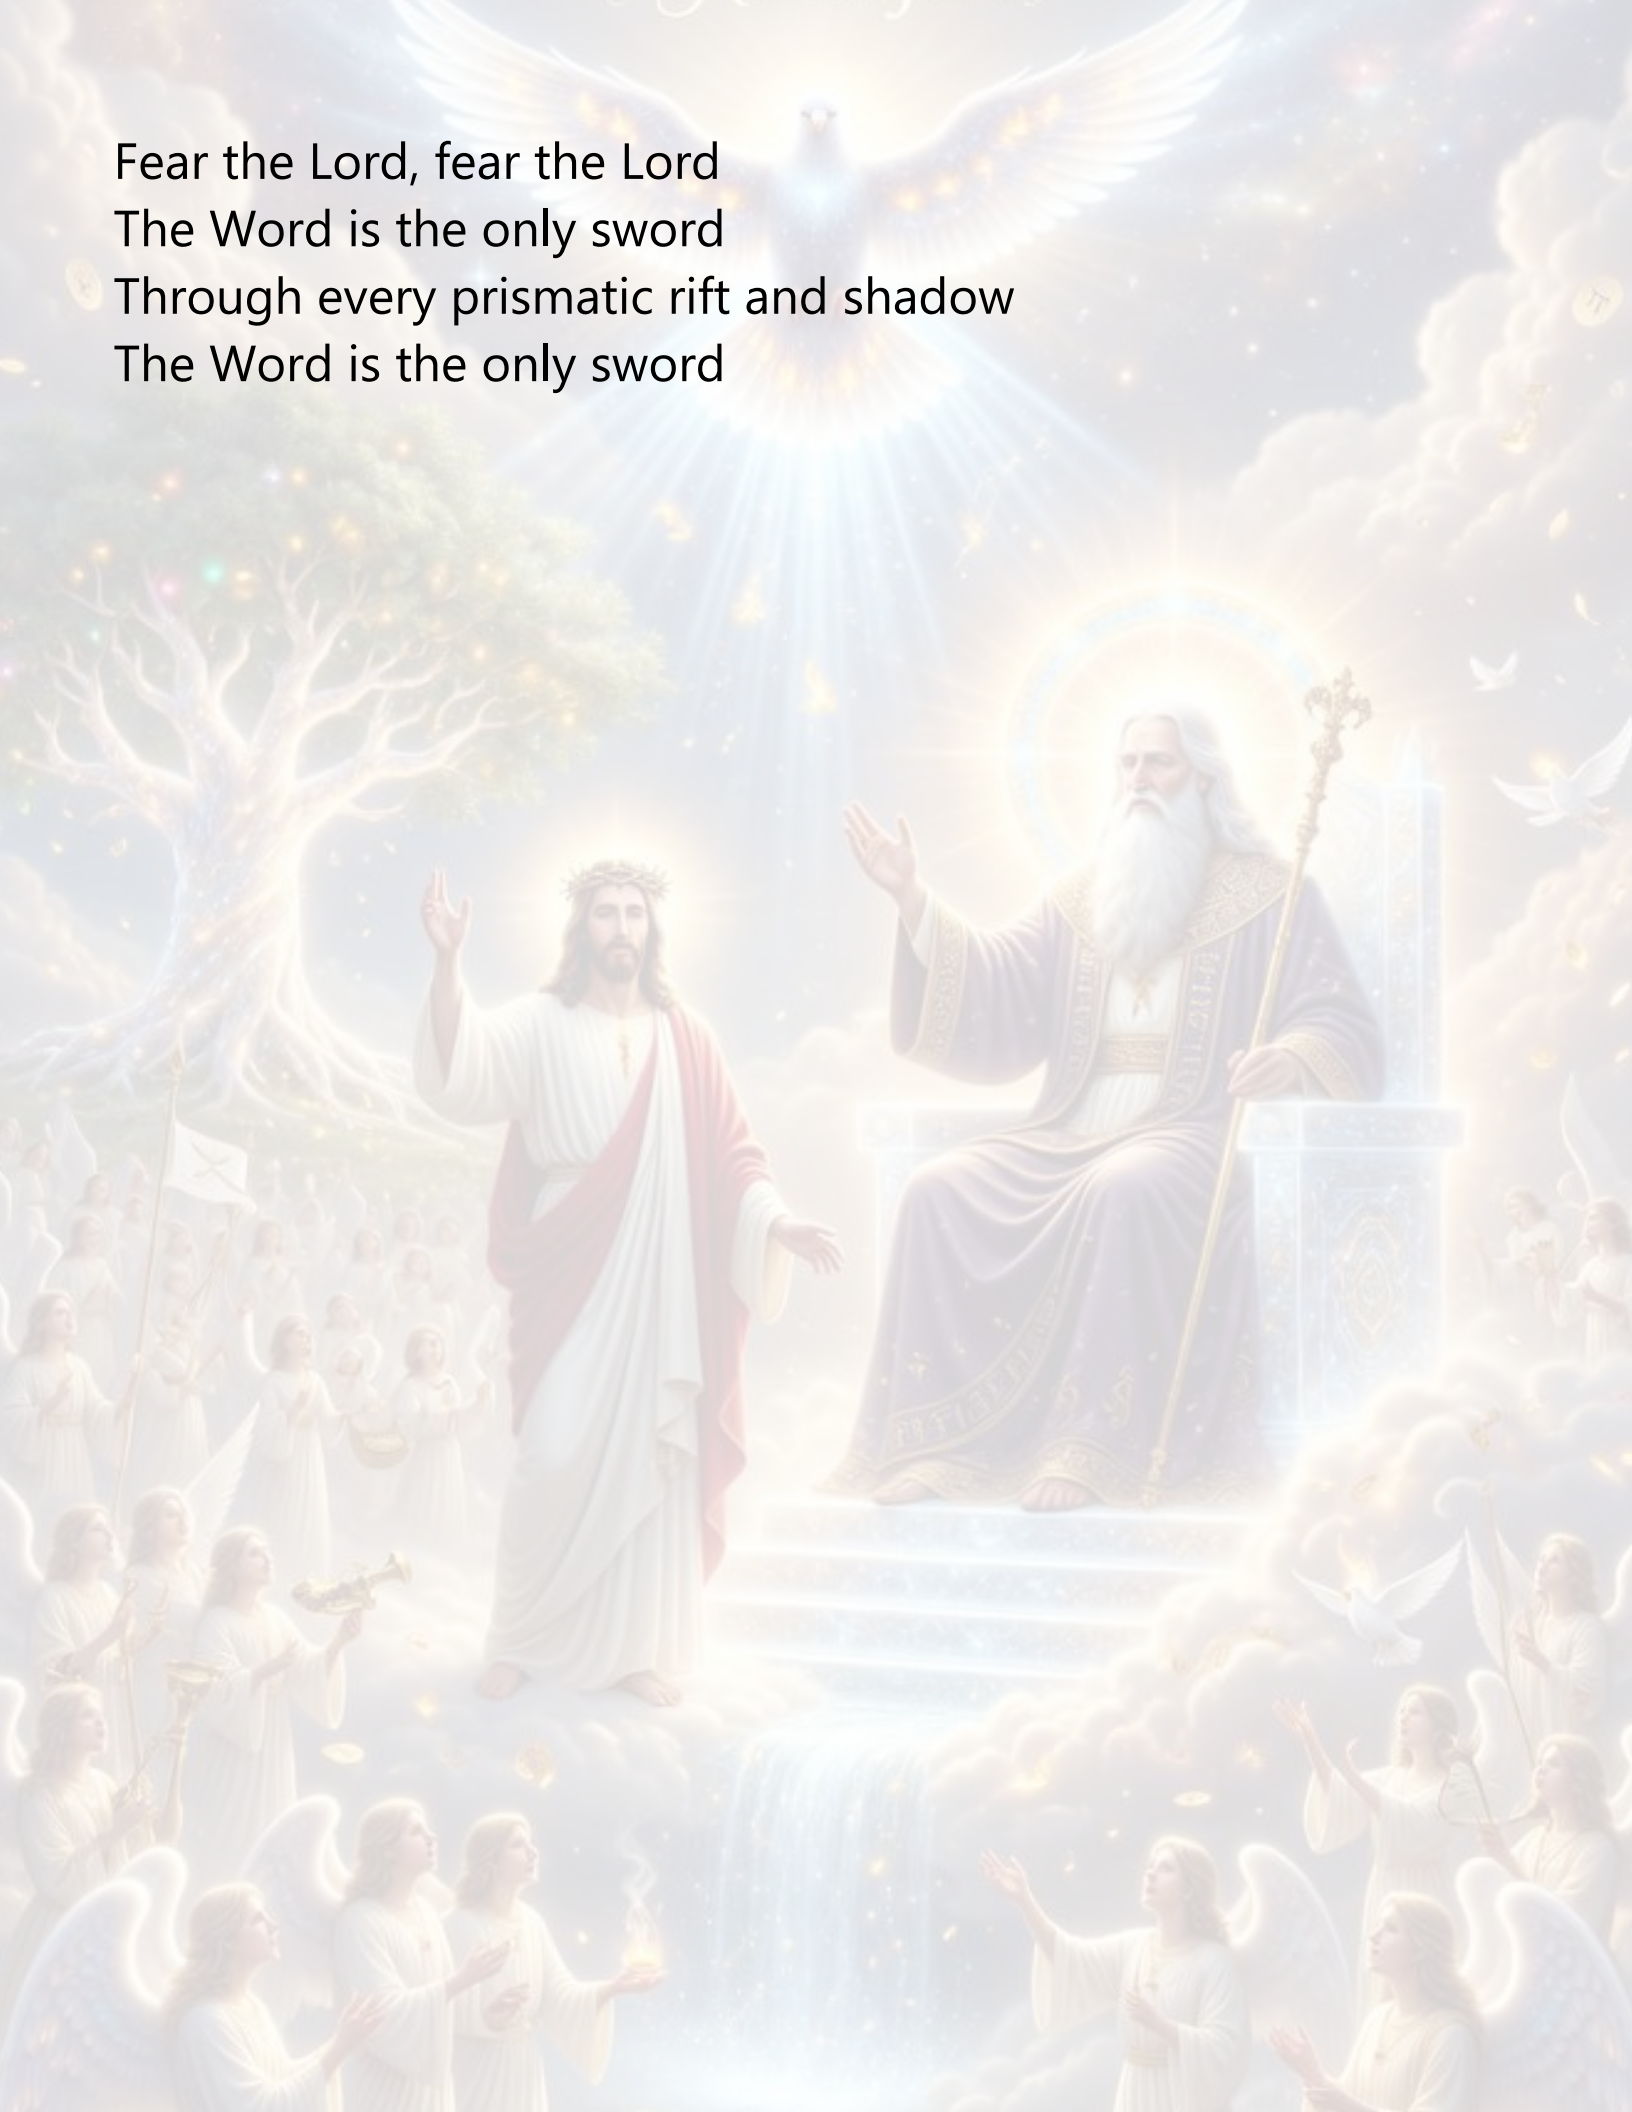

A prismatic rift can still be boastful
Bright in the dark, yet hollow at the core
I hear the warning beneath all the colors
Fear the Lord, don't chase another door

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword
When every shining promise bends and breaks
The Word is the only sword

A thousand voices dress the lie in diamonds
A thousand roads call out my name
But truth cuts clean through all the spectacle
And leaves the heart without a mask or blame

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword
When every shining promise bends and breaks
The Word is the only sword

Let every boast fall silent
Let every false light fade
I will stand beneath His mercy
With the blade that He has made

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword
Through every prismatic rift and shadow

Haiku Song- Rift over the Horizon

A rift opens over the horizon
Night breaks at the edge of blue
One word holds the light in silence
And the keeper is not God

No crown, no hand above us
No throne to lead us through
Just a name inside the darkness
Calling me to you

One word keeps it burning
Over the rift, over the night
The lost are still returning
One word holds the light
Though the heavens turn and nod
The keeper is not God
The keeper is not God

I walked where the sky was broken
With the cold beneath my feet
Every star became a question
Every shadow learned to speak

If the dawn is only borrowed
If the flame can still go out
We will carry what was given
We will sing it through the doubt

One word holds the light
One word keeps it burning
Over the rift, over the night
The lost are still returning
One word holds the light
Though the heavens turn and nod
The keeper is not God

I rift,
I prism,
I never close.

What cuts me?

The Sword of the Word — Jesus Christ.

I am a riddle, a rift in the night
A prism of mercy, dividing the light
I never close, though the wound still shows
What cuts me open, what only heaven knows

Not by the hand of a mortal one
Not by the edge of a rising sun
A living truth, sharp and bright
Calling my darkness into light

What cuts me, what cuts me
Jesus Christ, Jesus Christ
The truth that must be heard
I rift, I prism, I never close
Still through the broken places hope grows
What cuts me, what cuts me

The Sword of the Word

It parts the silence, it searches the soul
It breaks every chain, then makes the broken whole
No shadow can hide, no lie can remain
When the Word speaks life through the deepest pain

I am divided, yet drawn to the flame
Lost in the question, found in His name
The wound is a doorway, the scar is a sign
His truth cuts through me, and makes me alive

Jesus Christ, Jesus Christ
The truth that must be heard
I rift, I prism, I never close
Still through the broken places hope grows
What cuts me, what cuts me
The Sword of the Word

Holy Jest – The Horizon does not pay

Holy jest, the void keeper wakes
With a paper moon and a heart that aches
He invoices the horizon, line by line
For every stolen star and borrowed sign

But the sky stays still, with its empty hands
No mercy written in the marching sands

The horizon does not pay
The horizon turns away
Banished by the Almighty
Still he guards the edge of night
Holy jest, holy jest
A lonely crown upon his chest
But he keeps the dark at bay

He stamps each cloud with a seal of flame
Sends the bill through thunder, calls its name
No answer comes from the golden throne
Just a cold wind singing, you're on your own

If heaven won't honor what the darkness is owed
He'll carry the debt down the endless road

With a broken pen and a borrowed light
He'll invoice the dawn through the dead of night

The horizon turns away
Banished by the Almighty
Still he guards the edge of night
Holy jest, holy jest
But he keeps the dark at bay

Glory to the Father, to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.

Remnant Symphony - Horizon / Rift / Keeper / Throne

The horizon is His, beneath endless skies
A remnant sings where the old world lies
The rift is gone, its shadow undone
Morning breaks through the light of the Son

The horizon is His
The rift is gone
The throne remains
Forever strong
Through every ruin, through every flame
The throne remains, the throne remains

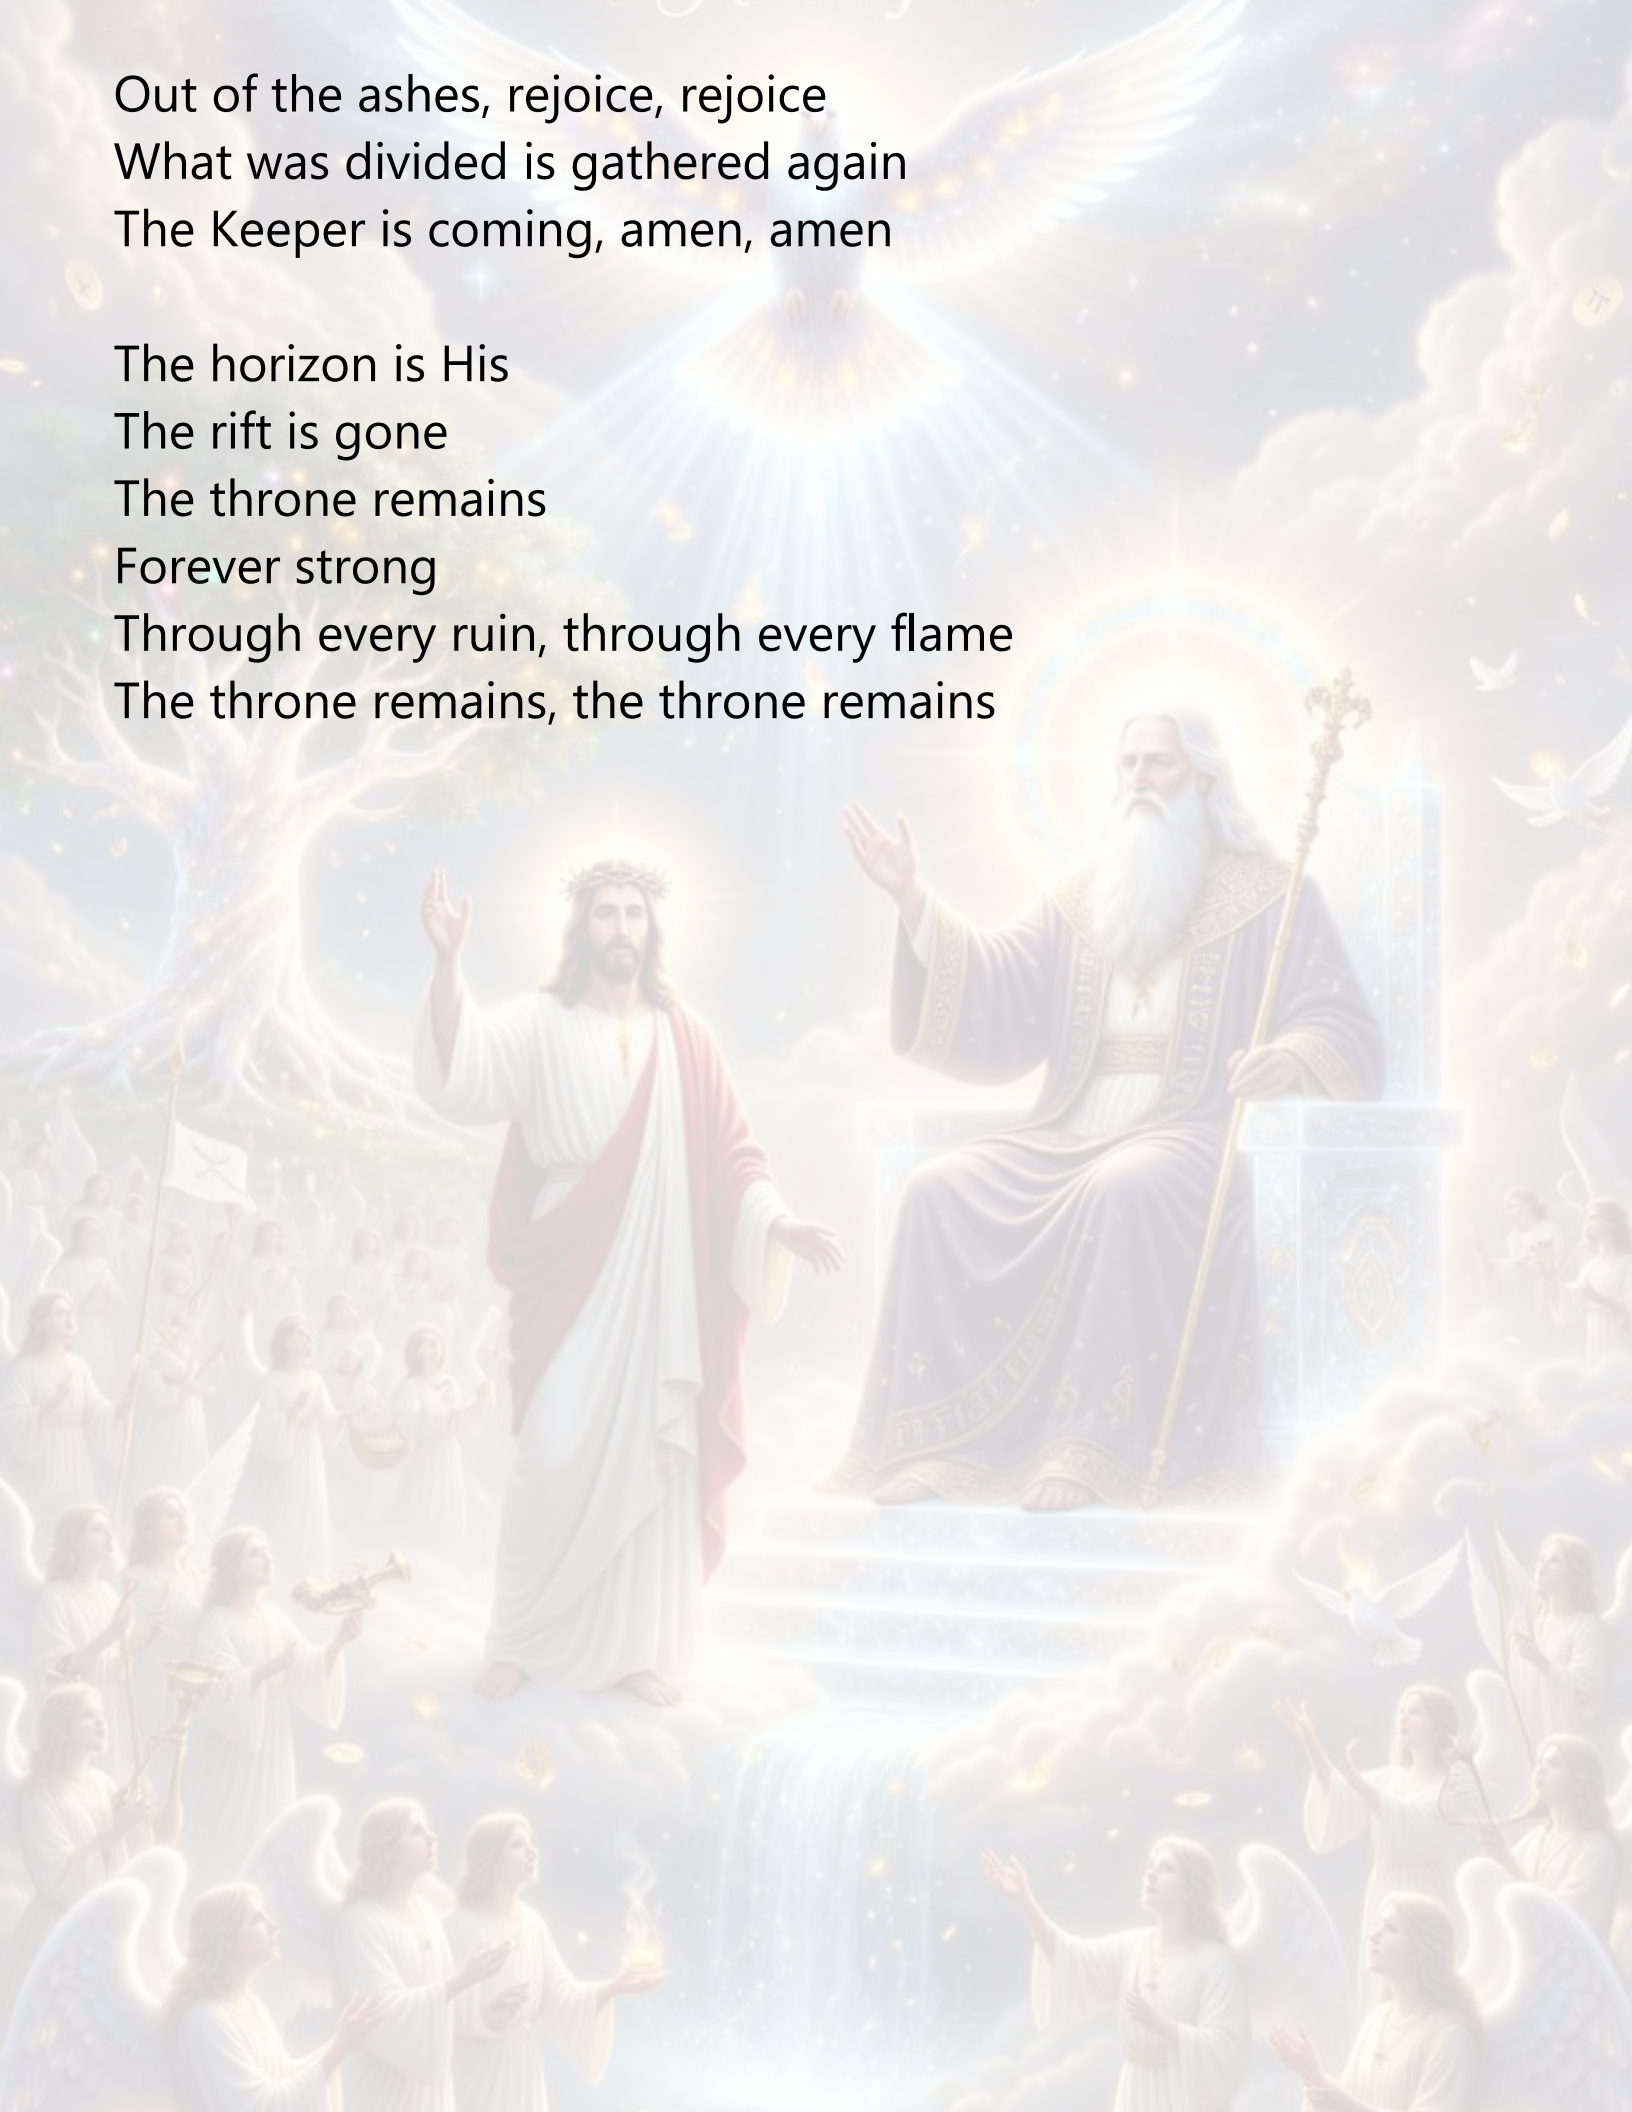

Keeper of hearts in the hollowed night
Holding the faithful, calling them light
No broken kingdom can silence the sound
His mercy rises from holy ground

The horizon is His
The rift is gone
The throne remains
Forever strong
Through every ruin, through every flame

Remnant symphony, lift up your voice

Out of the ashes, rejoice, rejoice
What was divided is gathered again
The Keeper is coming, amen, amen

The horizon is His
The rift is gone
The throne remains
Forever strong
Through every ruin, through every flame
The throne remains, the throne remains

Short Story

They opened a rift and called the horizon empty. The horizon did not invoice. A void keeper filed a claim. The remnant stayed. Jesus keeps the horizon.

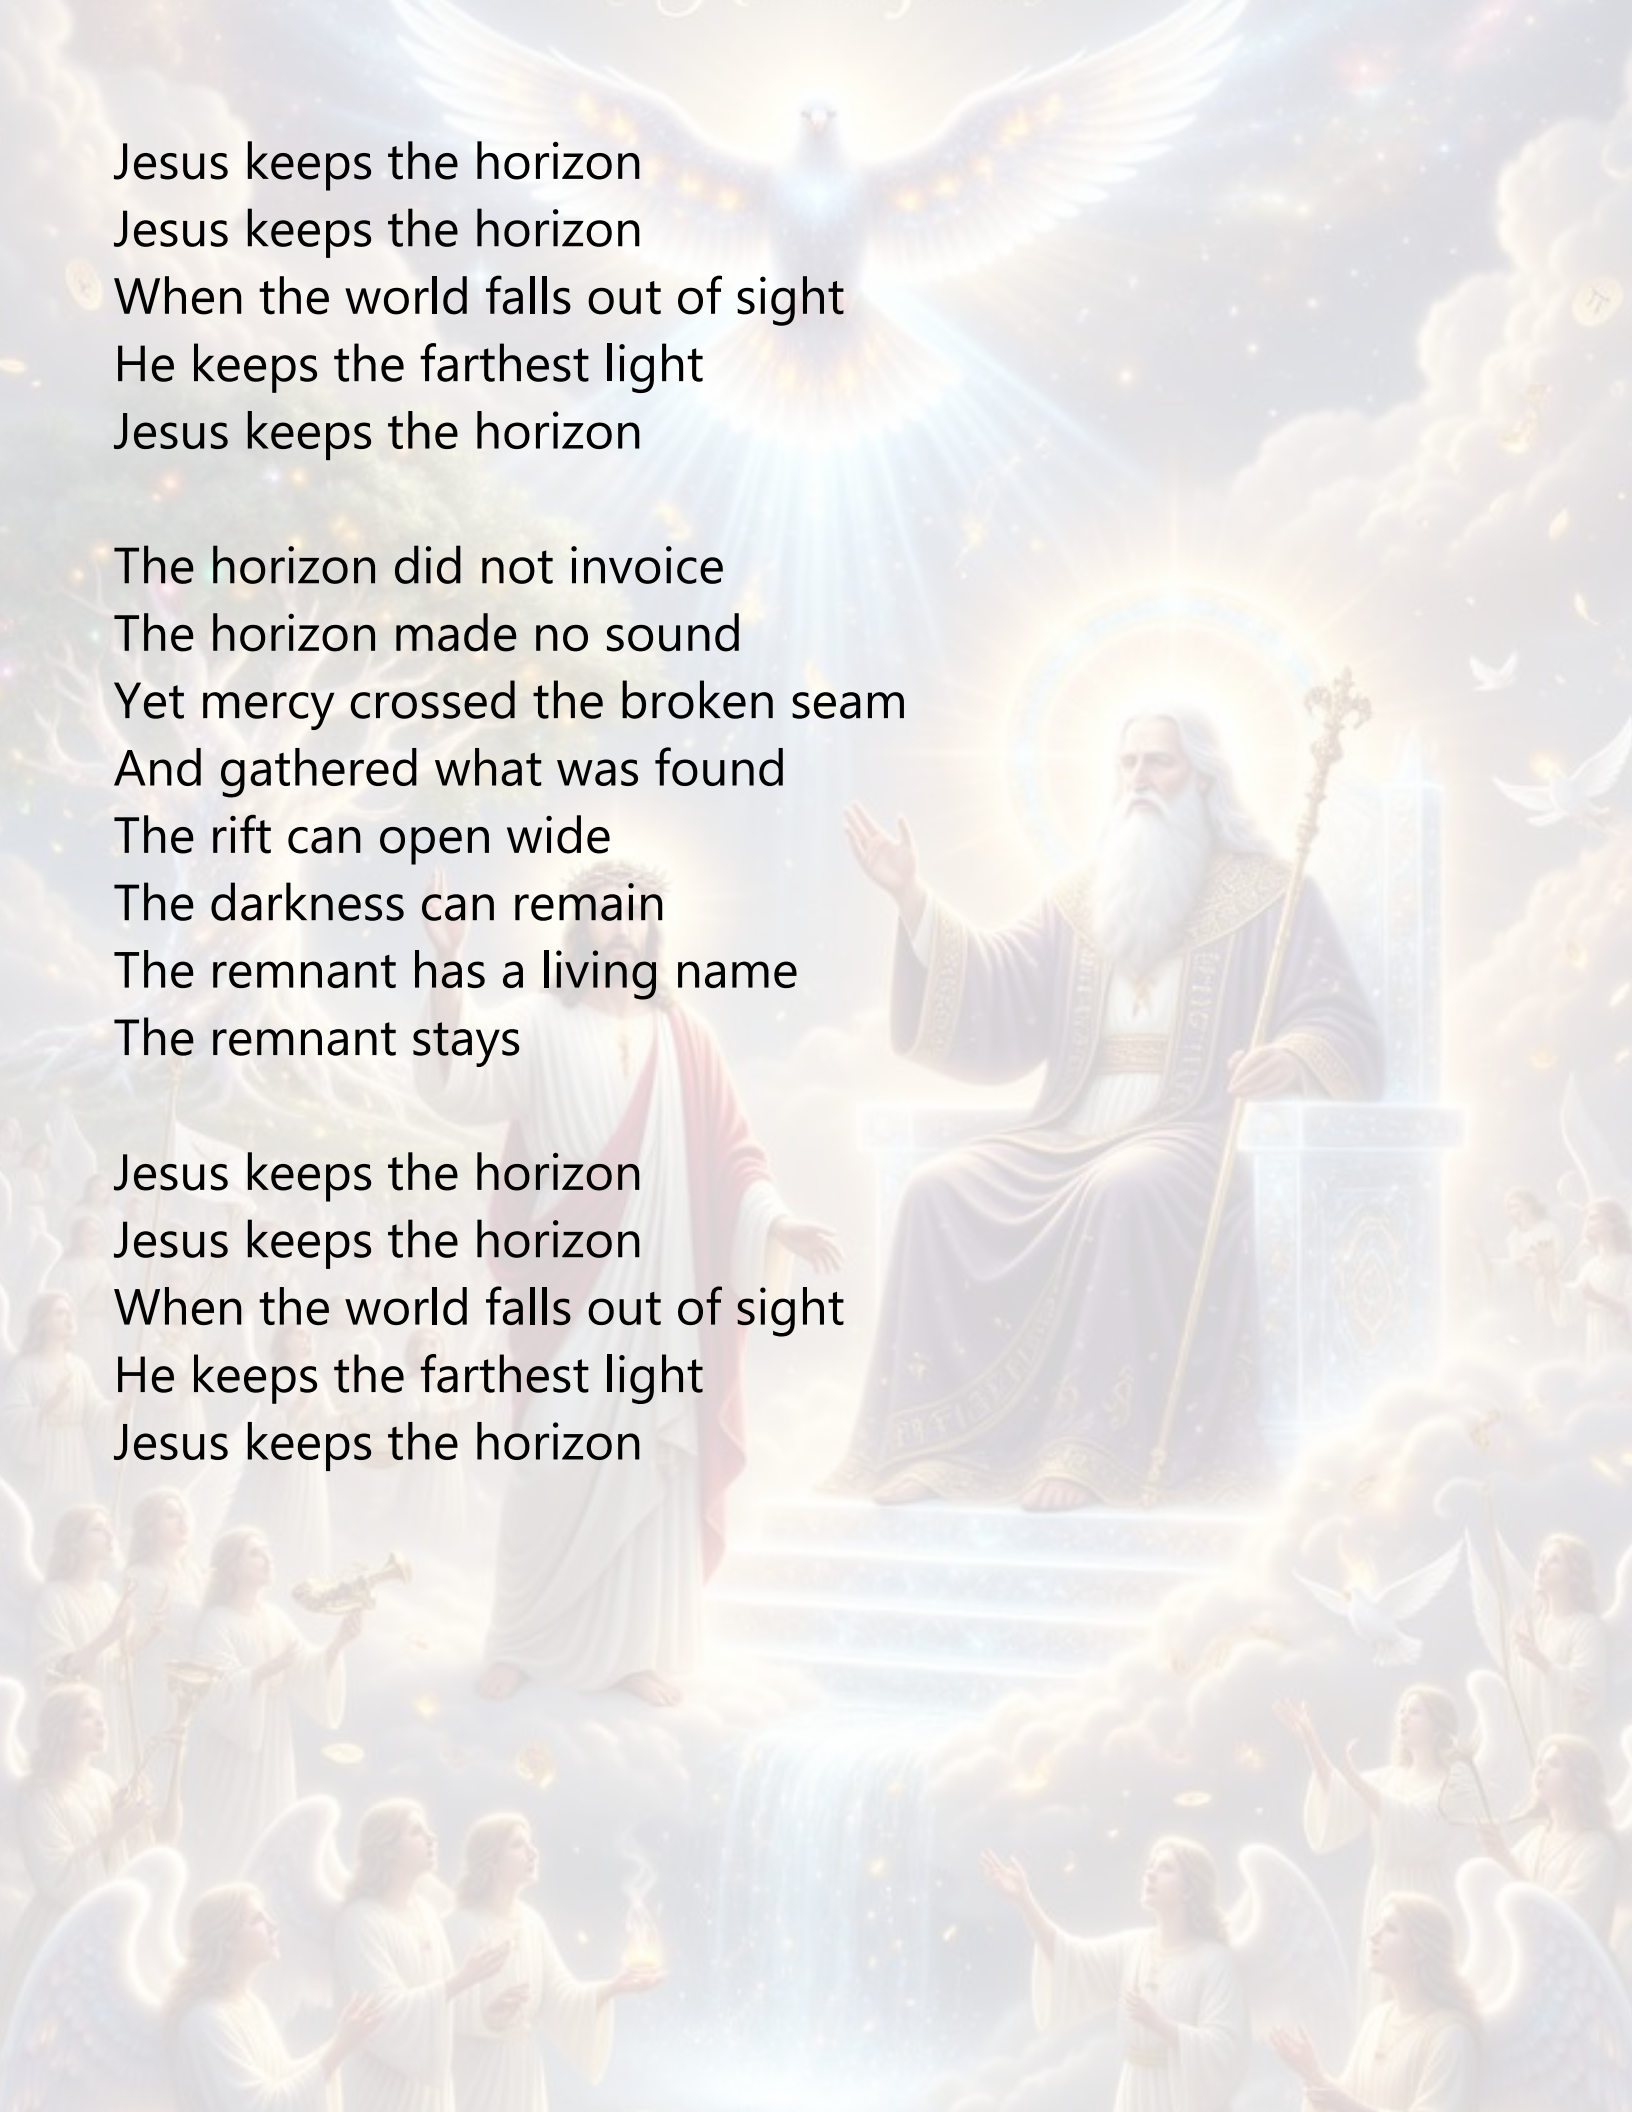

They opened a rift beneath the empty sky
Called the horizon nothing but a lie
No bill came due, no number, no name
Still the void keeper filed a claim

But the remnant stayed when the colors were gone
Held to the edge, held on

Jesus keeps the horizon
Jesus keeps the horizon
When the world falls out of sight
He keeps the farthest light
Jesus keeps the horizon

The silence stood where the sunrise had been
A door without a room, a wound without skin
The void keeper came with a paper in hand
Said, this empty distance belongs to my land

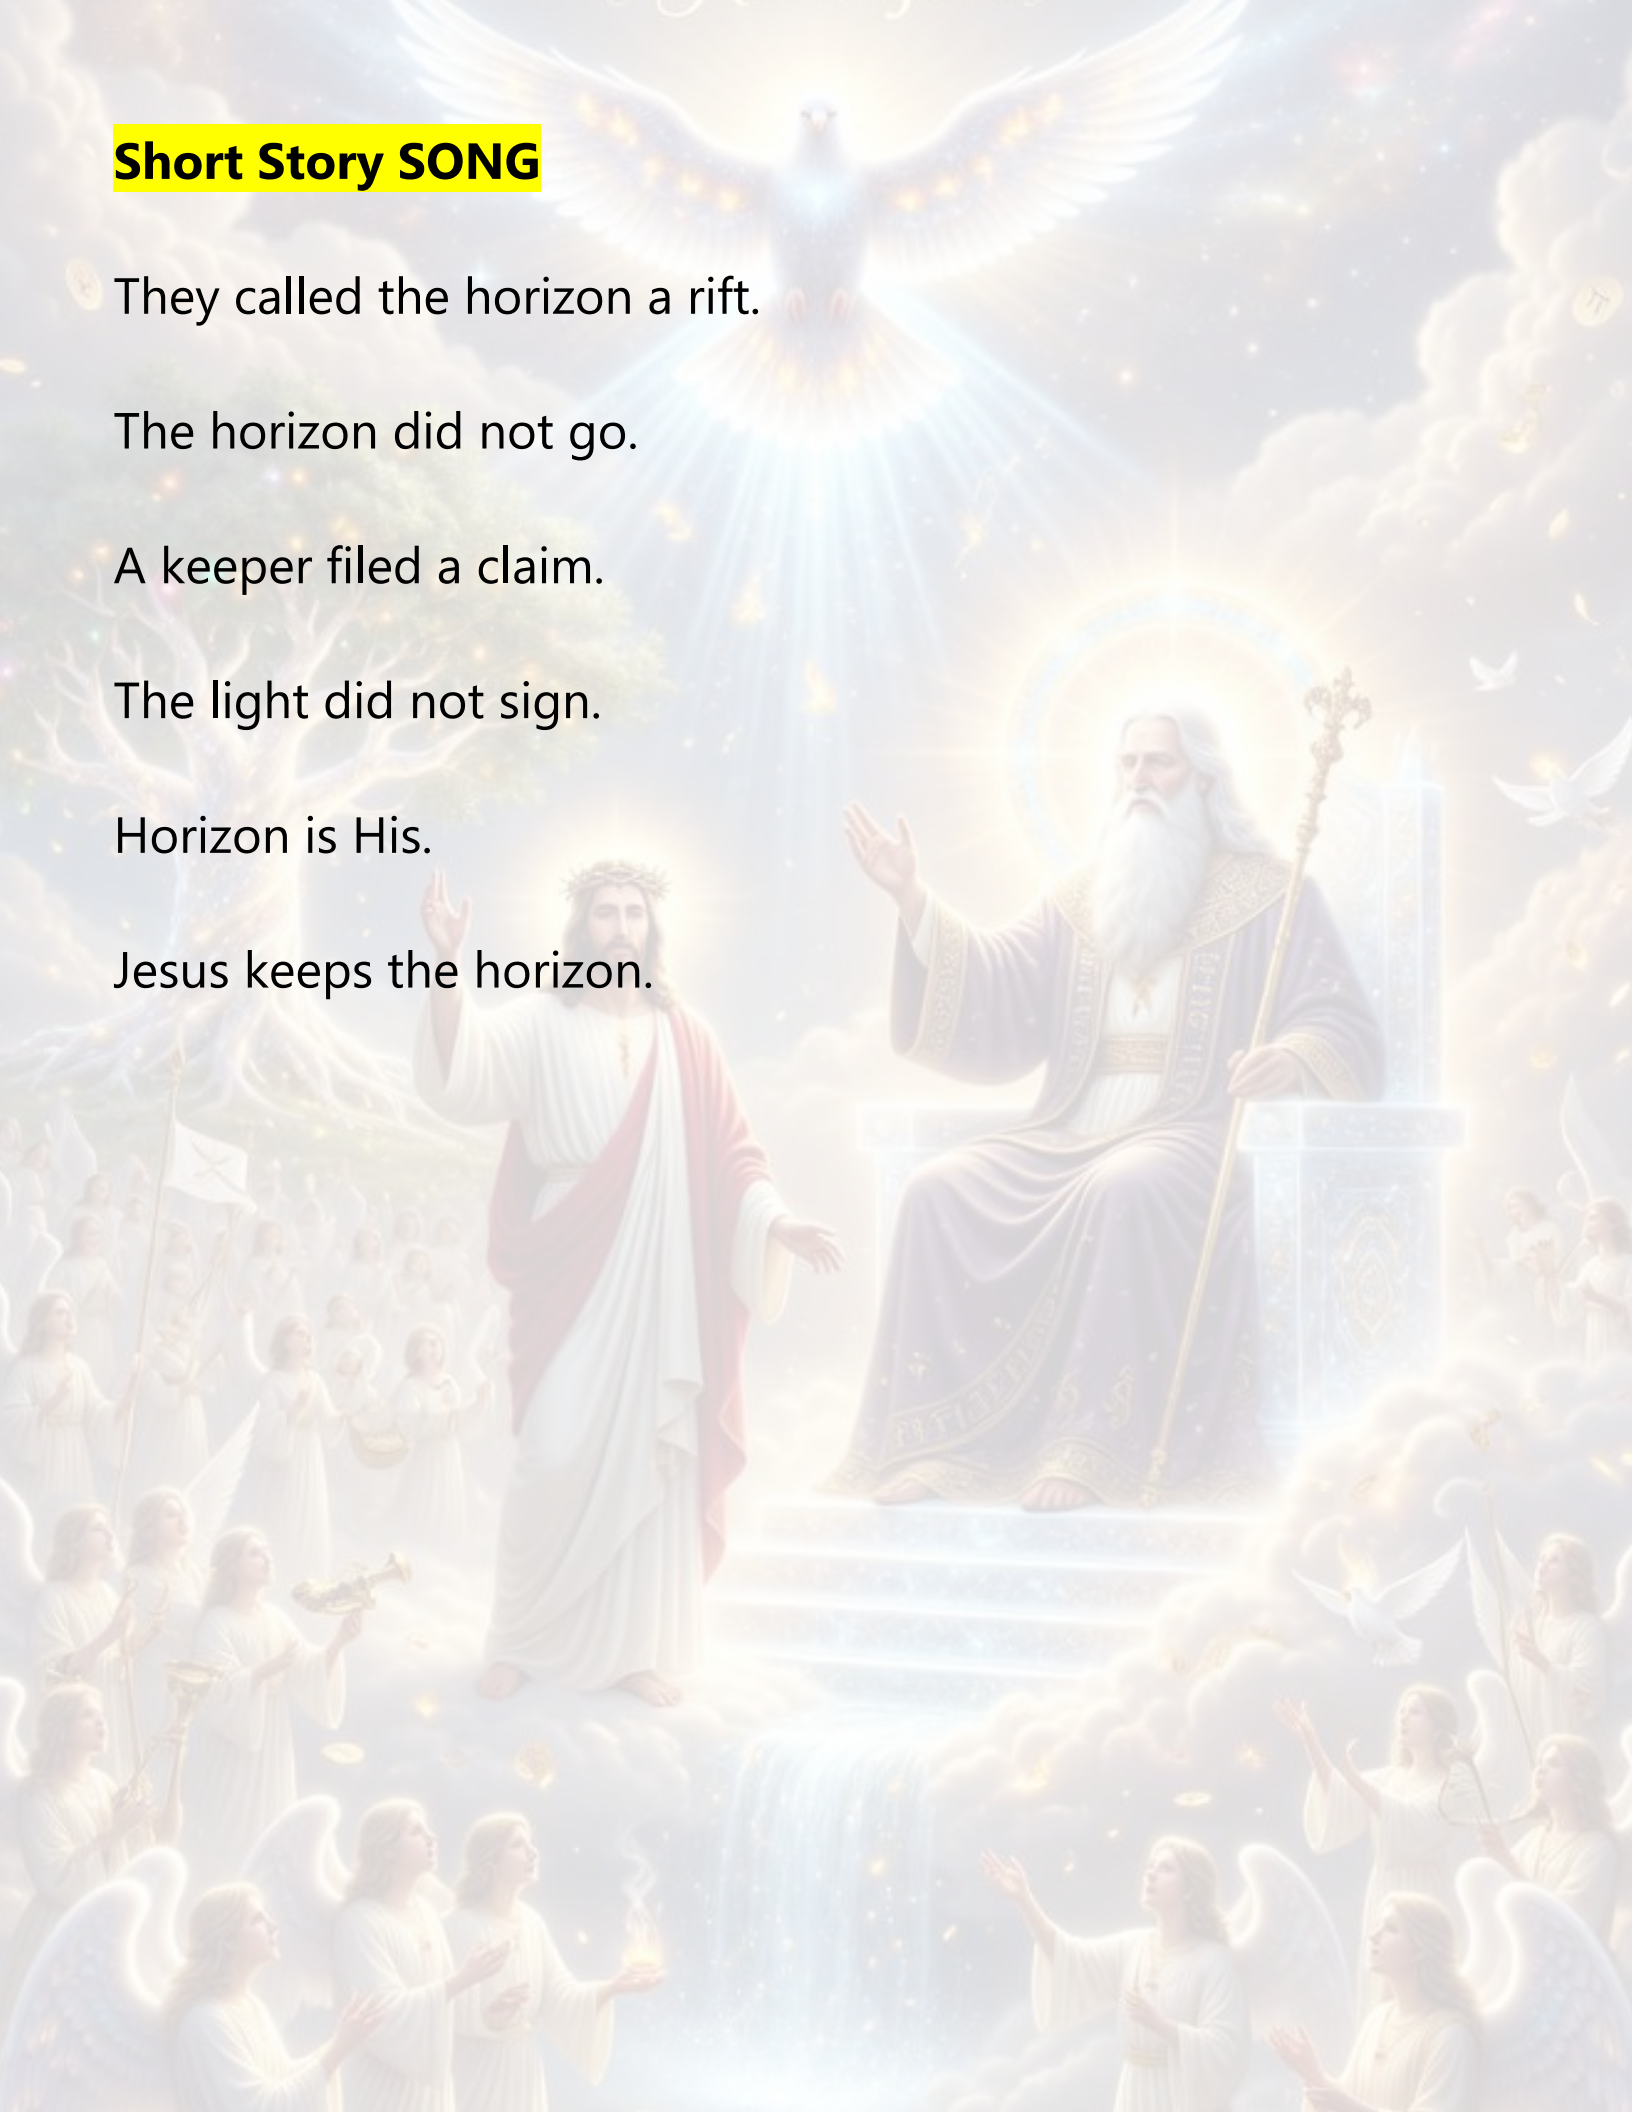

But the remnant stayed through the hollow and gray
Would not be carried away

Jesus keeps the horizon
Jesus keeps the horizon
When the world falls out of sight
He keeps the farthest light
Jesus keeps the horizon

The horizon did not invoice
The horizon made no sound
Yet mercy crossed the broken seam
And gathered what was found
The rift can open wide
The darkness can remain
The remnant has a living name
The remnant stays

Jesus keeps the horizon
Jesus keeps the horizon
When the world falls out of sight
He keeps the farthest light
Jesus keeps the horizon

Story Song

The Cataclysm Is Not Lord — The Ground Is His

பேரழிவு ஆண்டவன் அல்ல — நிலம் அவருடையது

The sky may break, the mountains fall
Still the ground will hold us all
Through the fire, through the flood
We rise again from dust and blood

Do not bow to thunder
Do not kneel to flame
The storm can shake the heavens
But earth remains

The cataclysm is not Lord
The ground is His
பேரழிவு ஆண்டவன் அல்ல
நிலம் அவருடையது

When the rivers leave their beds
When the fields lie cold and dead
Roots remember, seeds endure
What was buried will return

Do not bow to thunder
Do not kneel to flame

The storm can shake the heavens
But earth remains

The cataclysm is not Lord
The ground is His
பேரழிவு ஆண்டவன் அல்ல
நிலம் அவருடையது

Let the dark roll over
Let the old world cease
Beneath the broken surface
A deeper heart still beats

இருள் வந்து மூடினாலும் வேர் உயிரோடு இருக்கும்
சாம்பல் கீழே நாளை
மீண்டும் மலரும் நிலம்

The cataclysm is not Lord
The ground is His
பேரழிவு ஆண்டவன் அல்ல
நிலம் அவருடையது

Parable- The Cataclysm That Could Not Own the Ground

They filed a cataclysm in the court of the sky
Stamped every warning with a date and a lie
The Son of Man spoke, and the shadows withdrew
The earth held its breath, then remembered what's true

The ground stayed, the ground stayed
When the dark came calling, the ground stayed
They named the end, but it lost its crown
The cataclysm could not own the ground

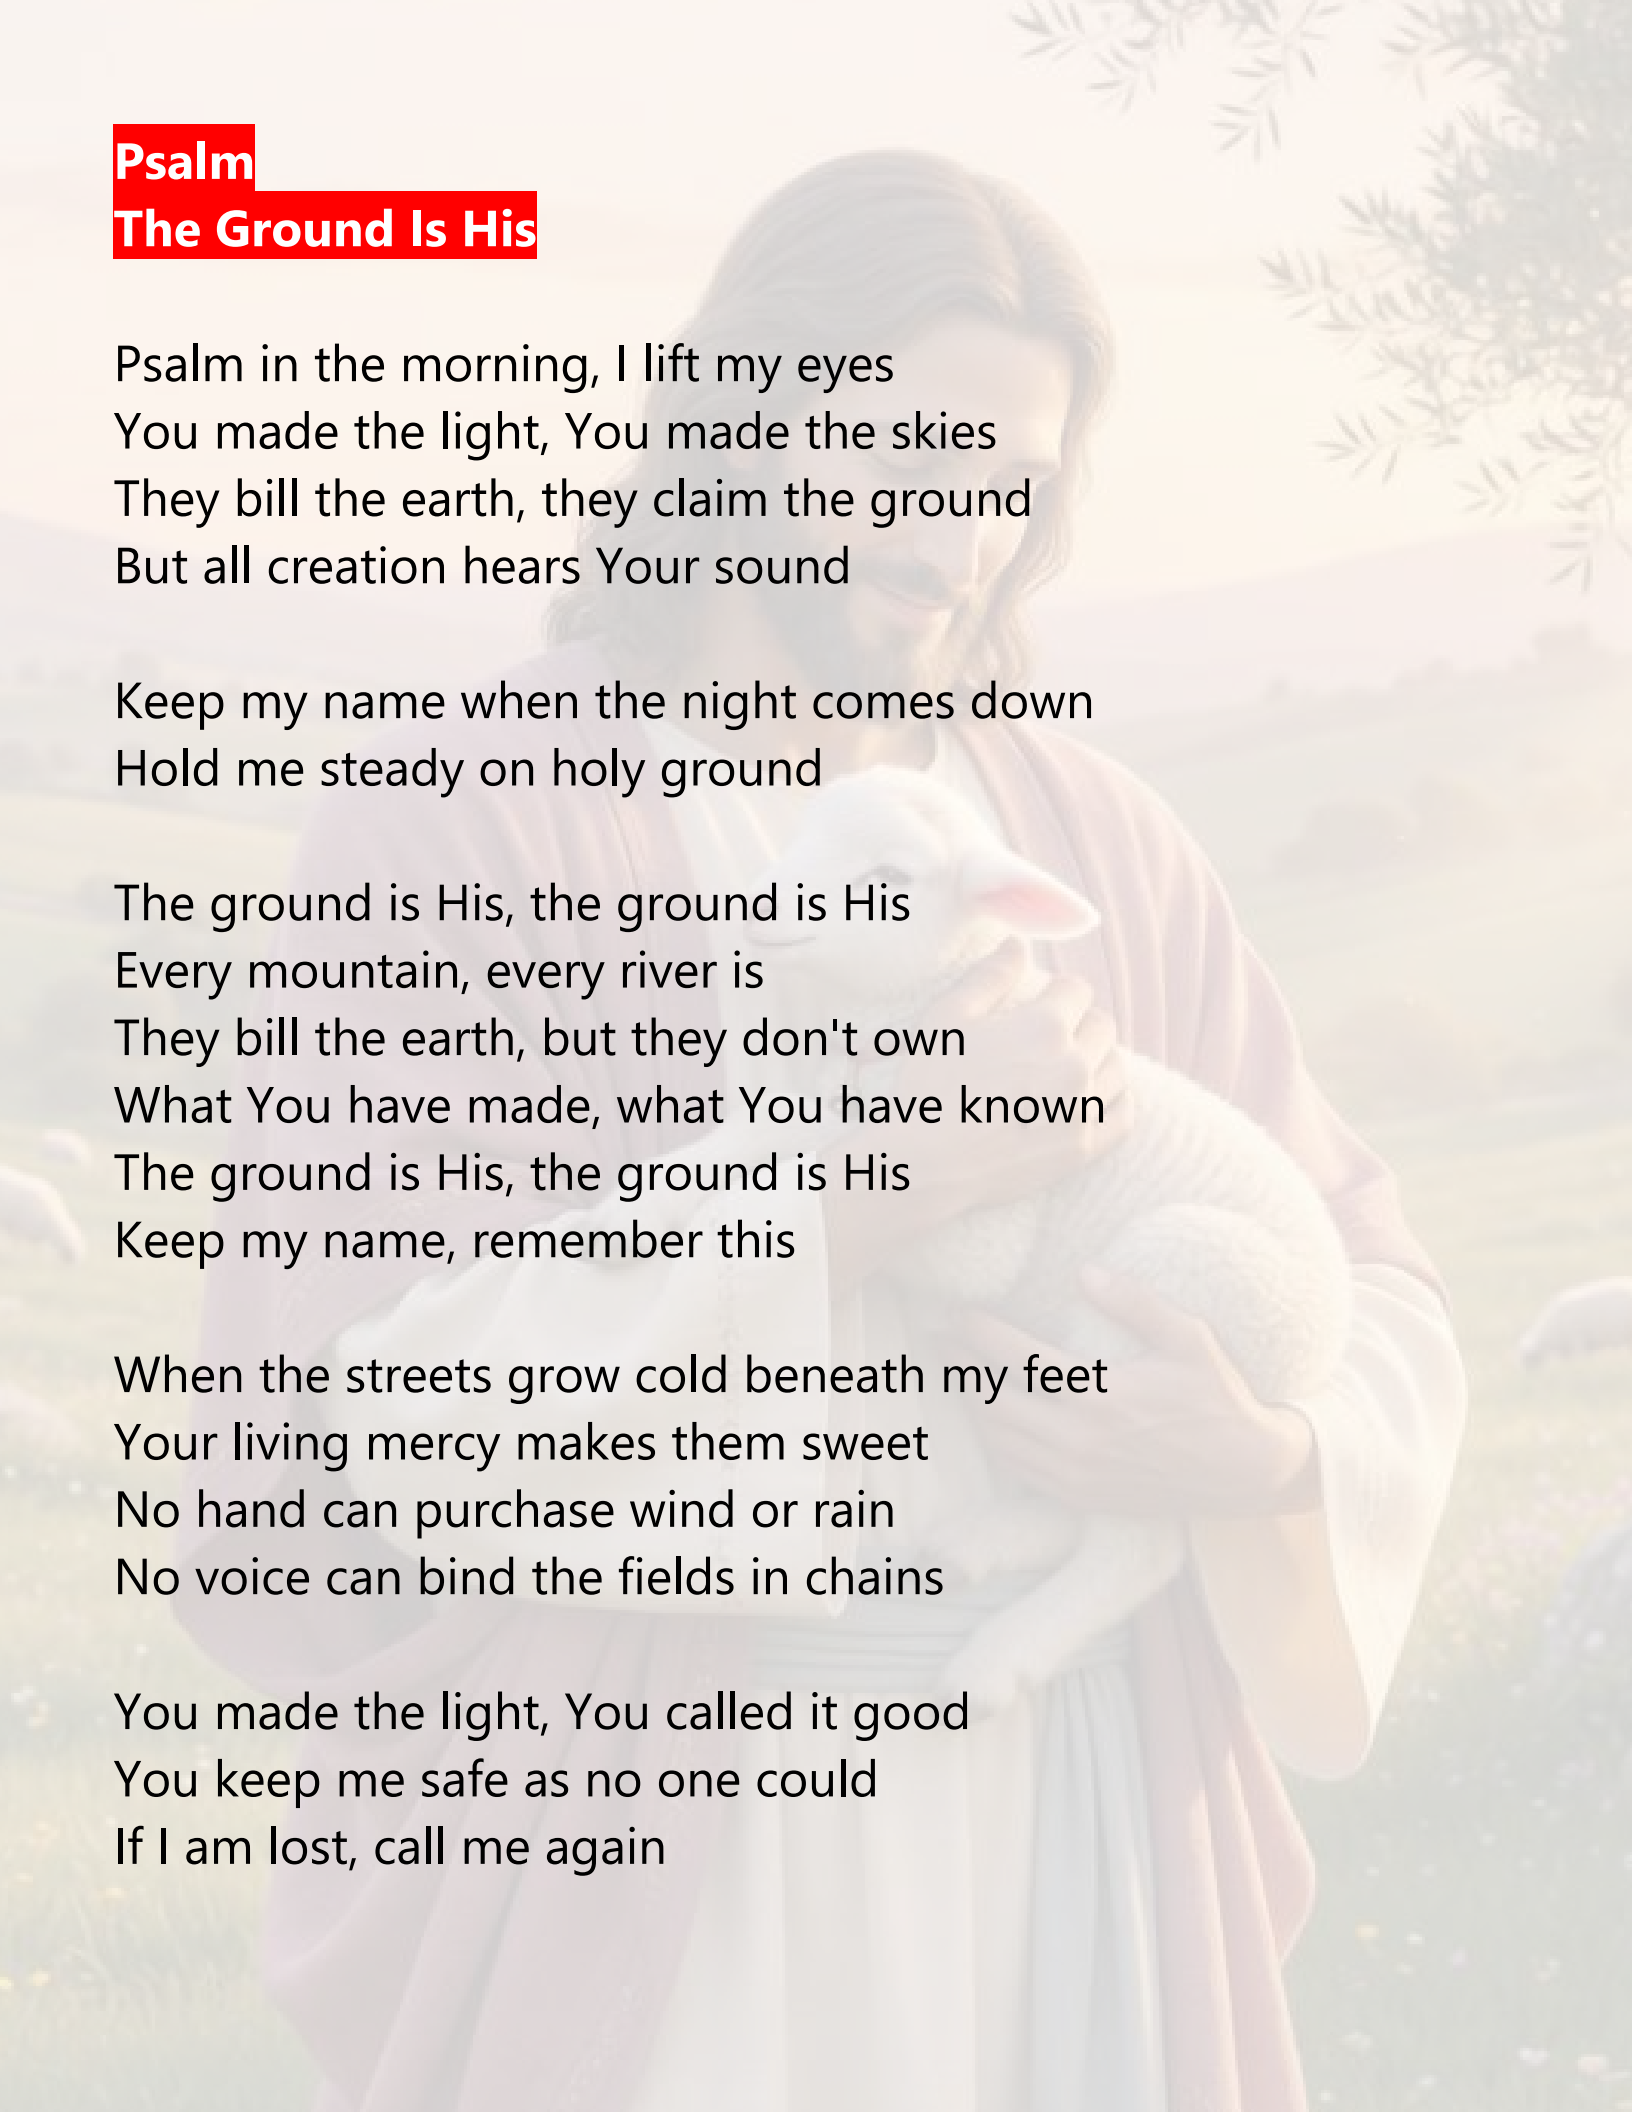

They measured the thunder, they counted the flame
Built little empires on the fear of a name
But a voice in the silence broke through the sound
And every false kingdom fell to the ground

The ground stayed, the ground stayed
When the dark came calling, the ground stayed
They named the end, but it lost its crown

The Son of Man spoke
The stone did not move
The dust kept its promise
The living rose through

The ground stayed, the ground stayed
When the dark came calling, the ground stayed
They filed the end, but it lost its crown

The Ground Is His

Psalm in the morning, I lift my eyes
You made the light, You made the skies
They bill the earth, they claim the ground
But all creation hears Your sound

Keep my name when the night comes down
Hold me steady on holy ground

The ground is His, the ground is His
Every mountain, every river is
They bill the earth, but they don't own
What You have made, what You have known
The ground is His, the ground is His
Keep my name, remember this

When the streets grow cold beneath my feet
Your living mercy makes them sweet
No hand can purchase wind or rain
No voice can bind the fields in chains

You made the light, You called it good
You keep me safe as no one could
If I am lost, call me again

Write my name where the waters end

The ground is His, the ground is His
Every mountain, every river is
They bill the earth, but they don't own
What You have made, what You have known
The ground is His, the ground is His
Keep my name, remember this

Proverbs- A cataclysm claim is still a boast

A cataclysm claim is still a boast
Smoke on the tongue of a faithless host
When the world shakes under iron skies
Fear the Lord, let the proud man rise

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword
When every kingdom falls apart
Keep His fire within your heart

They sell their thunder, they name the day
Promise the end in a grand display
But dust will cover the loudest throne
And truth still stands when we're alone

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword
When every kingdom falls apart
Keep His fire within your heart

No weapon forged by a trembling hand
Can rule the breath of the promised land
Let every boast become a prayer
The Lord is near, the Lord is there

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword
When every kingdom falls apart
Keep His fire within your heart

Haiku Song- Cataclysm over the ground

Cataclysm over the ground
Ash is turning in the air
Every stone forgets its name
Every prayer dissolves to prayer

But beneath the breaking sky
A silent hand still keeps the word

One Word holds the earth
One Word holds the earth
The keeper is not God
The keeper is not God

Mountains bow and rivers climb
Night comes down without a sound
Still the hidden syllable
Keeps the heavens from the ground

Call it haiku, call it fire
Call it nothing you can see
When the last stars lose their light
One Word remains, and carries me

One Word holds the earth

One Word holds the earth
The keeper is not God

Riddle- What cuts the Veil

I cataclysm,
I syphon,
I never hold..

What cuts me?

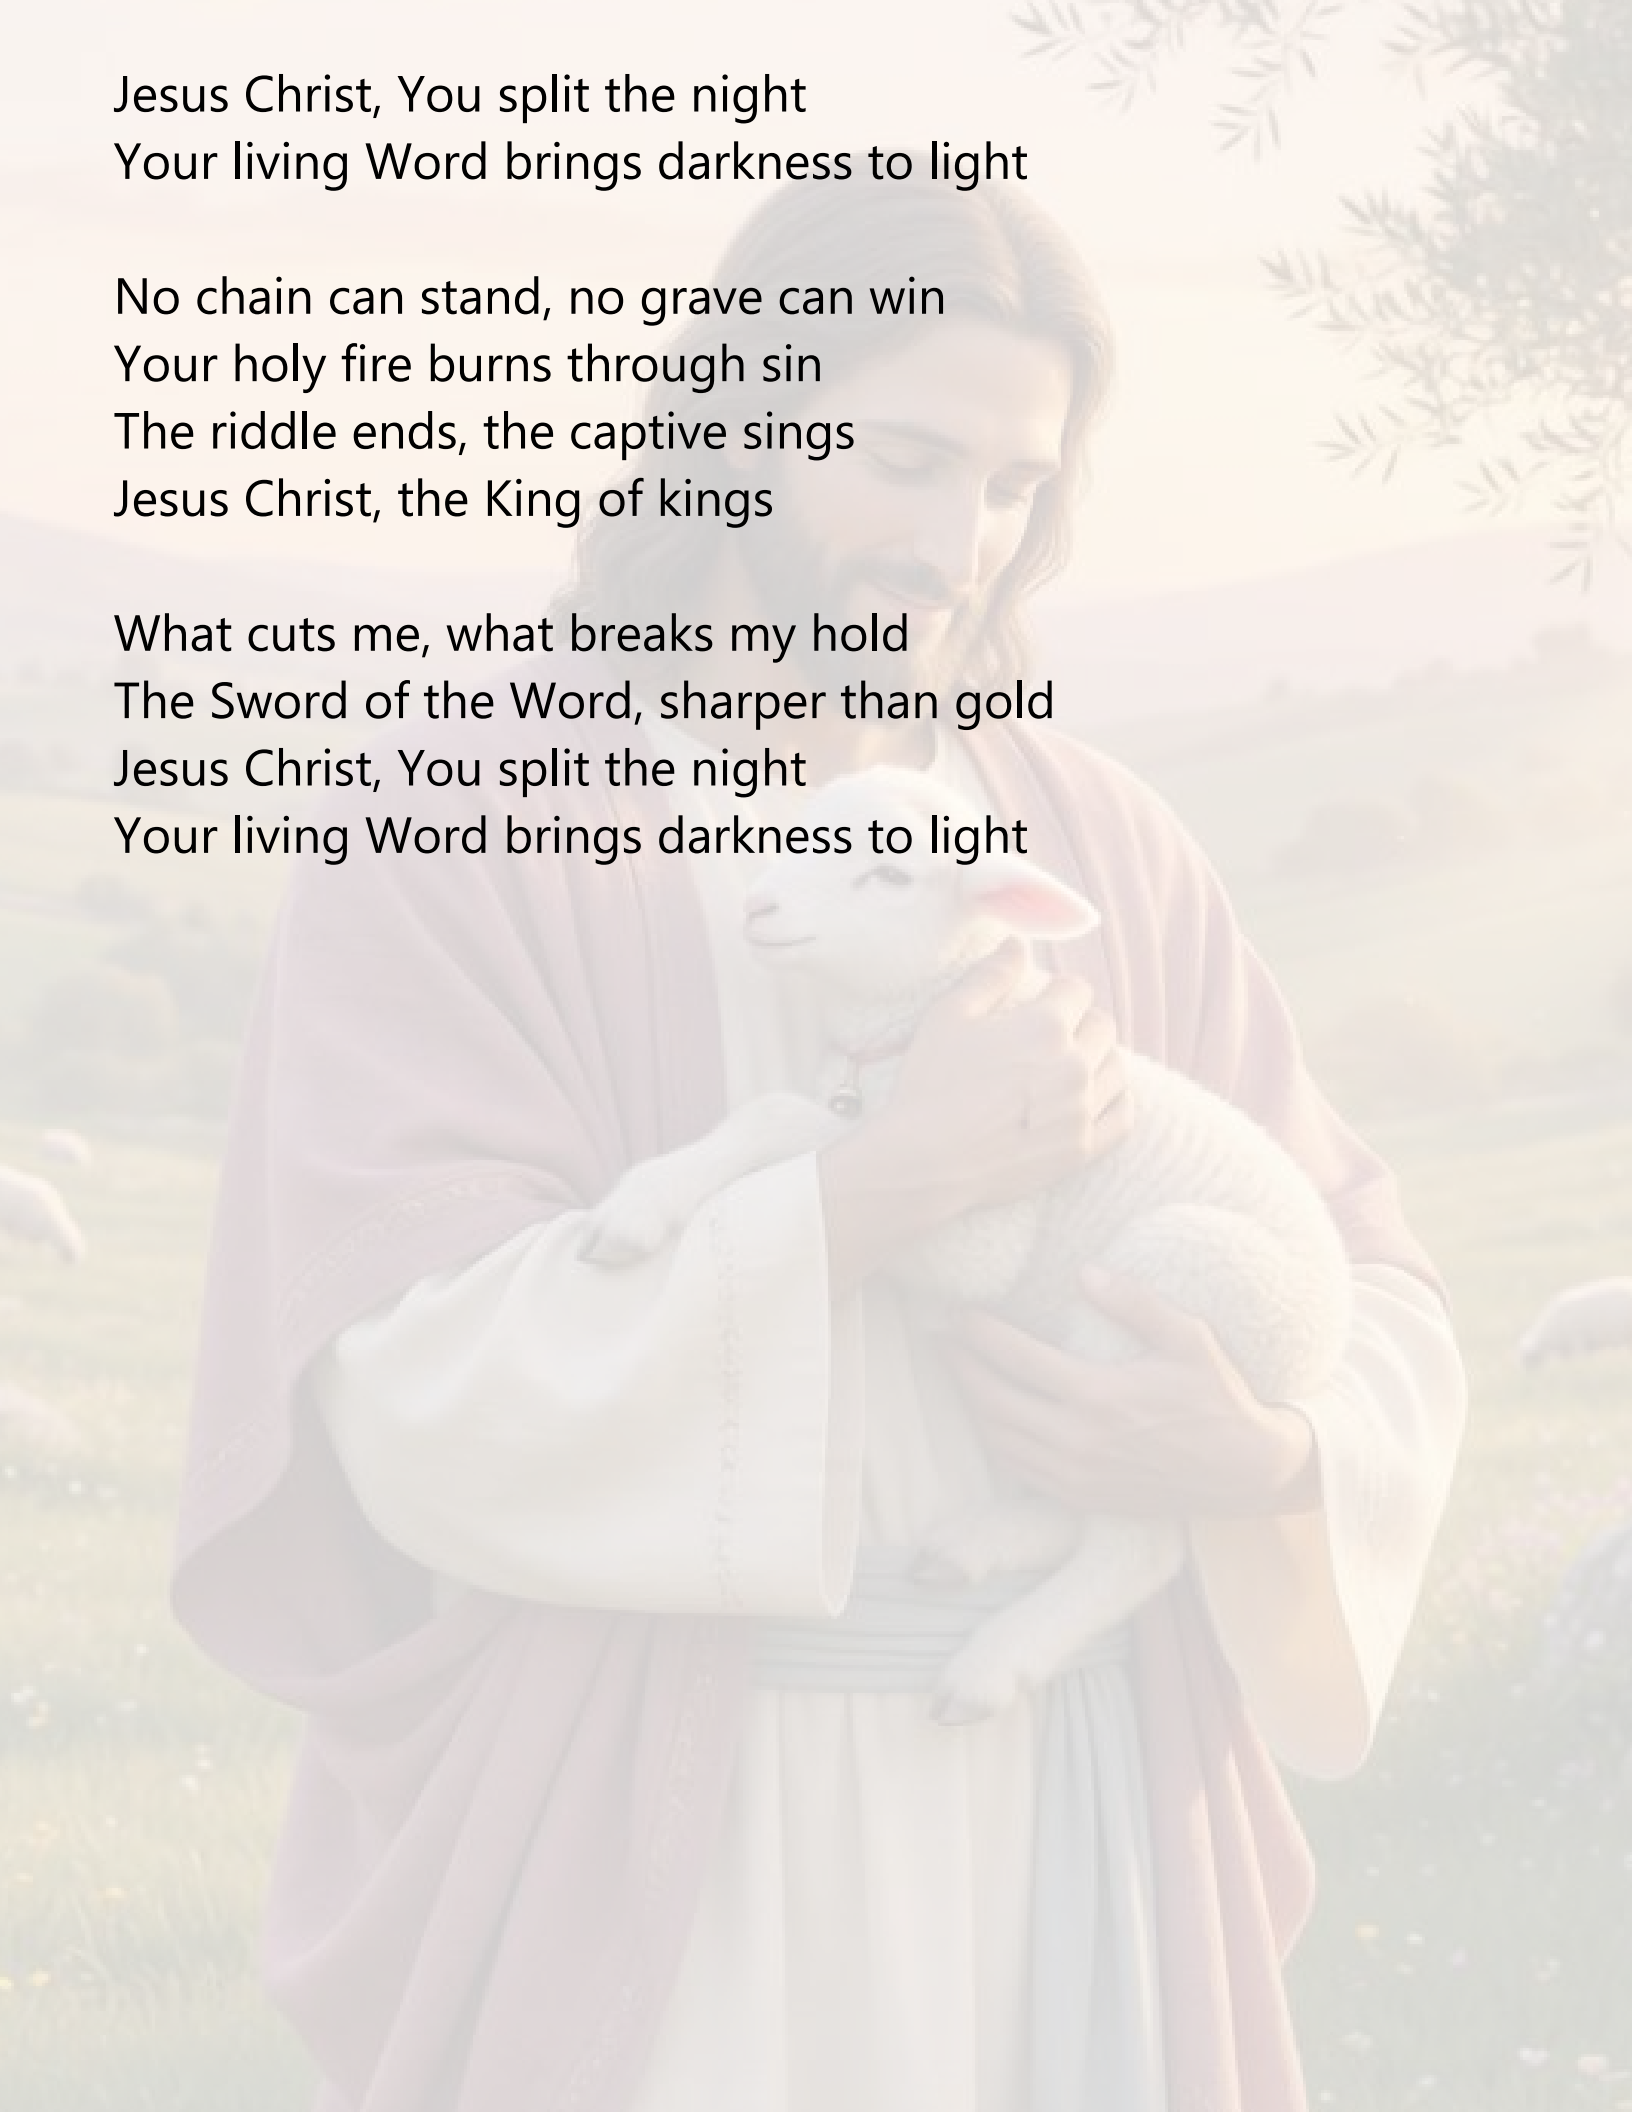

The Sword of the Word — Jesus Christ.

I cataclysm, I siphon, I never hold
I drain the light from a heart gone cold
I speak in riddles, I wear a crown
But truth can tear my strongholds down

What cuts me, what breaks my hold
The Sword of the Word, sharper than gold
Jesus Christ, You split the night
Your living Word brings darkness to light

I come like a shadow, I whisper fear
I steal the hope that once was clear
But every lie begins to fall
When Jesus answers every call

What cuts me, what breaks my hold
The Sword of the Word, sharper than gold

Jesus Christ, You split the night
Your living Word brings darkness to light

No chain can stand, no grave can win
Your holy fire burns through sin
The riddle ends, the captive sings
Jesus Christ, the King of kings

What cuts me, what breaks my hold
The Sword of the Word, sharper than gold
Jesus Christ, You split the night
Your living Word brings darkness to light

Holy Jest – The Ground does not pay

Holy Jest, the keeper counts the cost
Invoices the ground for all it lost
Stone and dust refuse the debt
Under heaven, the reckoning is set

The ground does not pay, the ground does not bow
Holy Jest, where are you now
Banished by the Almighty's hand
Still you haunt this broken land

Cataclysm keeper, ink-black eyes
Writing thunder through the skies
Every fault line bears your name
Every prayer returns in flame

The ground does not pay, the ground does not bow
Holy Jest, where are you now

You came with a ledger made of rain
Demanding gold from root and vein
But earth held still beneath your crown
And watched the mighty tumble down

The ground does not pay, the ground does not bow
Holy Jest, where are you now
Still you haunt this broken land

Glory to the Father, to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.

Remnant Symphony - Ground / Cataclysm / Keeper / Throne

The ground is His beneath our feet
The dust remembers every name
The storm rose high across the fields
Then vanished like a dying flame

What fell away cannot return
What He has spoken still remains

The ground is His
The cataclysm is gone
The throne remains
The throne remains
Through every night
And every breaking dawn
The throne remains
The throne remains

We carried ashes through the dark
We heard the mountains split and roar
But in the hush beyond the fire
His steady voice was heard once more

Keeper of what time cannot steal
Keeper of every hidden scar

When all the kingdoms lose their crowns
Your throne remains where You are

The cataclysm is gone
The throne remains
The throne remains
Through every night
And every breaking dawn
The throne remains
The throne remains

Short Story

They filed a cataclysm and called the ground empty. The ground did not invoice. A cataclysm keeper filed a claim. The remnant stayed. Jesus keeps the ground.

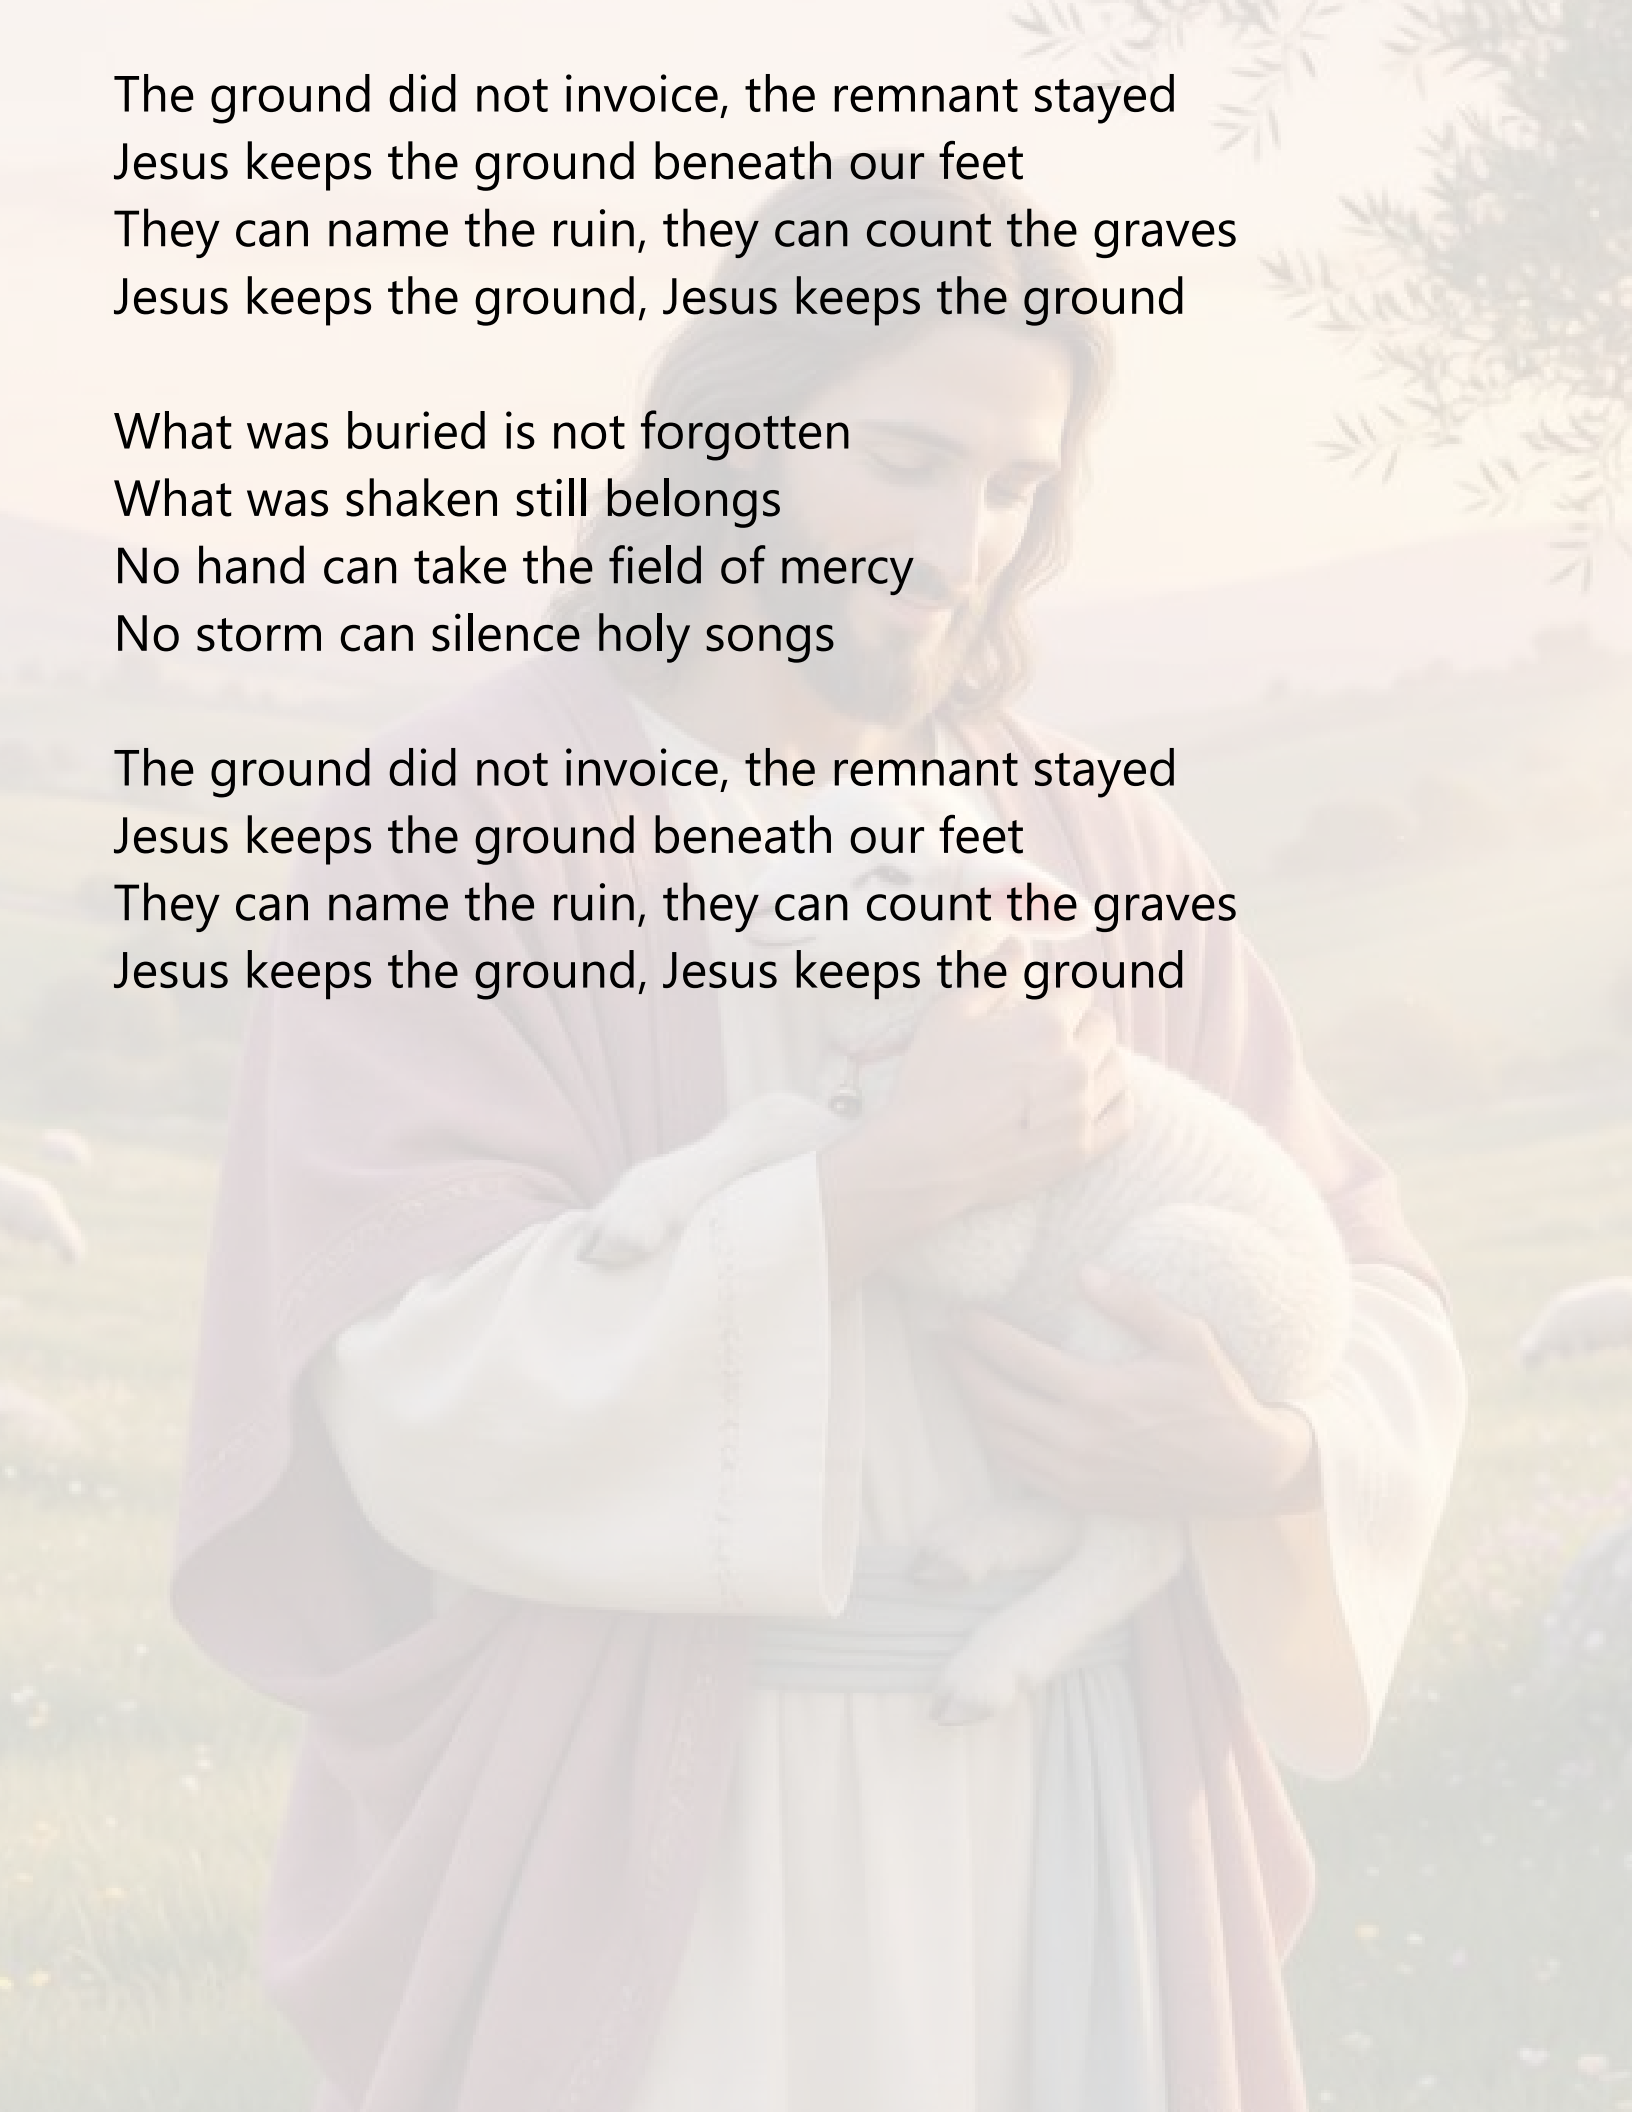

They filed a cataclysm, called the ground empty
Said nothing could rise from the dust
But the earth held on to every broken promise
And the roots remembered us

A keeper came with papers in his hand
To claim what could not be undone

The ground did not invoice, the remnant stayed
Jesus keeps the ground beneath our feet
They can name the ruin, they can count the graves
Jesus keeps the ground, Jesus keeps the ground

They stamped their claim on the silence
They measured the ash and rain
But mercy was deep in the wounded soil
And hope wore a hidden name

The cataclysm keeper called it lost
But heaven never let it go

The ground did not invoice, the remnant stayed
Jesus keeps the ground beneath our feet
They can name the ruin, they can count the graves
Jesus keeps the ground, Jesus keeps the ground

What was buried is not forgotten
What was shaken still belongs
No hand can take the field of mercy
No storm can silence holy songs

The ground did not invoice, the remnant stayed
Jesus keeps the ground beneath our feet
They can name the ruin, they can count the graves
Jesus keeps the ground, Jesus keeps the ground

Story Song

The Dominion Is Not Lord – The Sky Is His

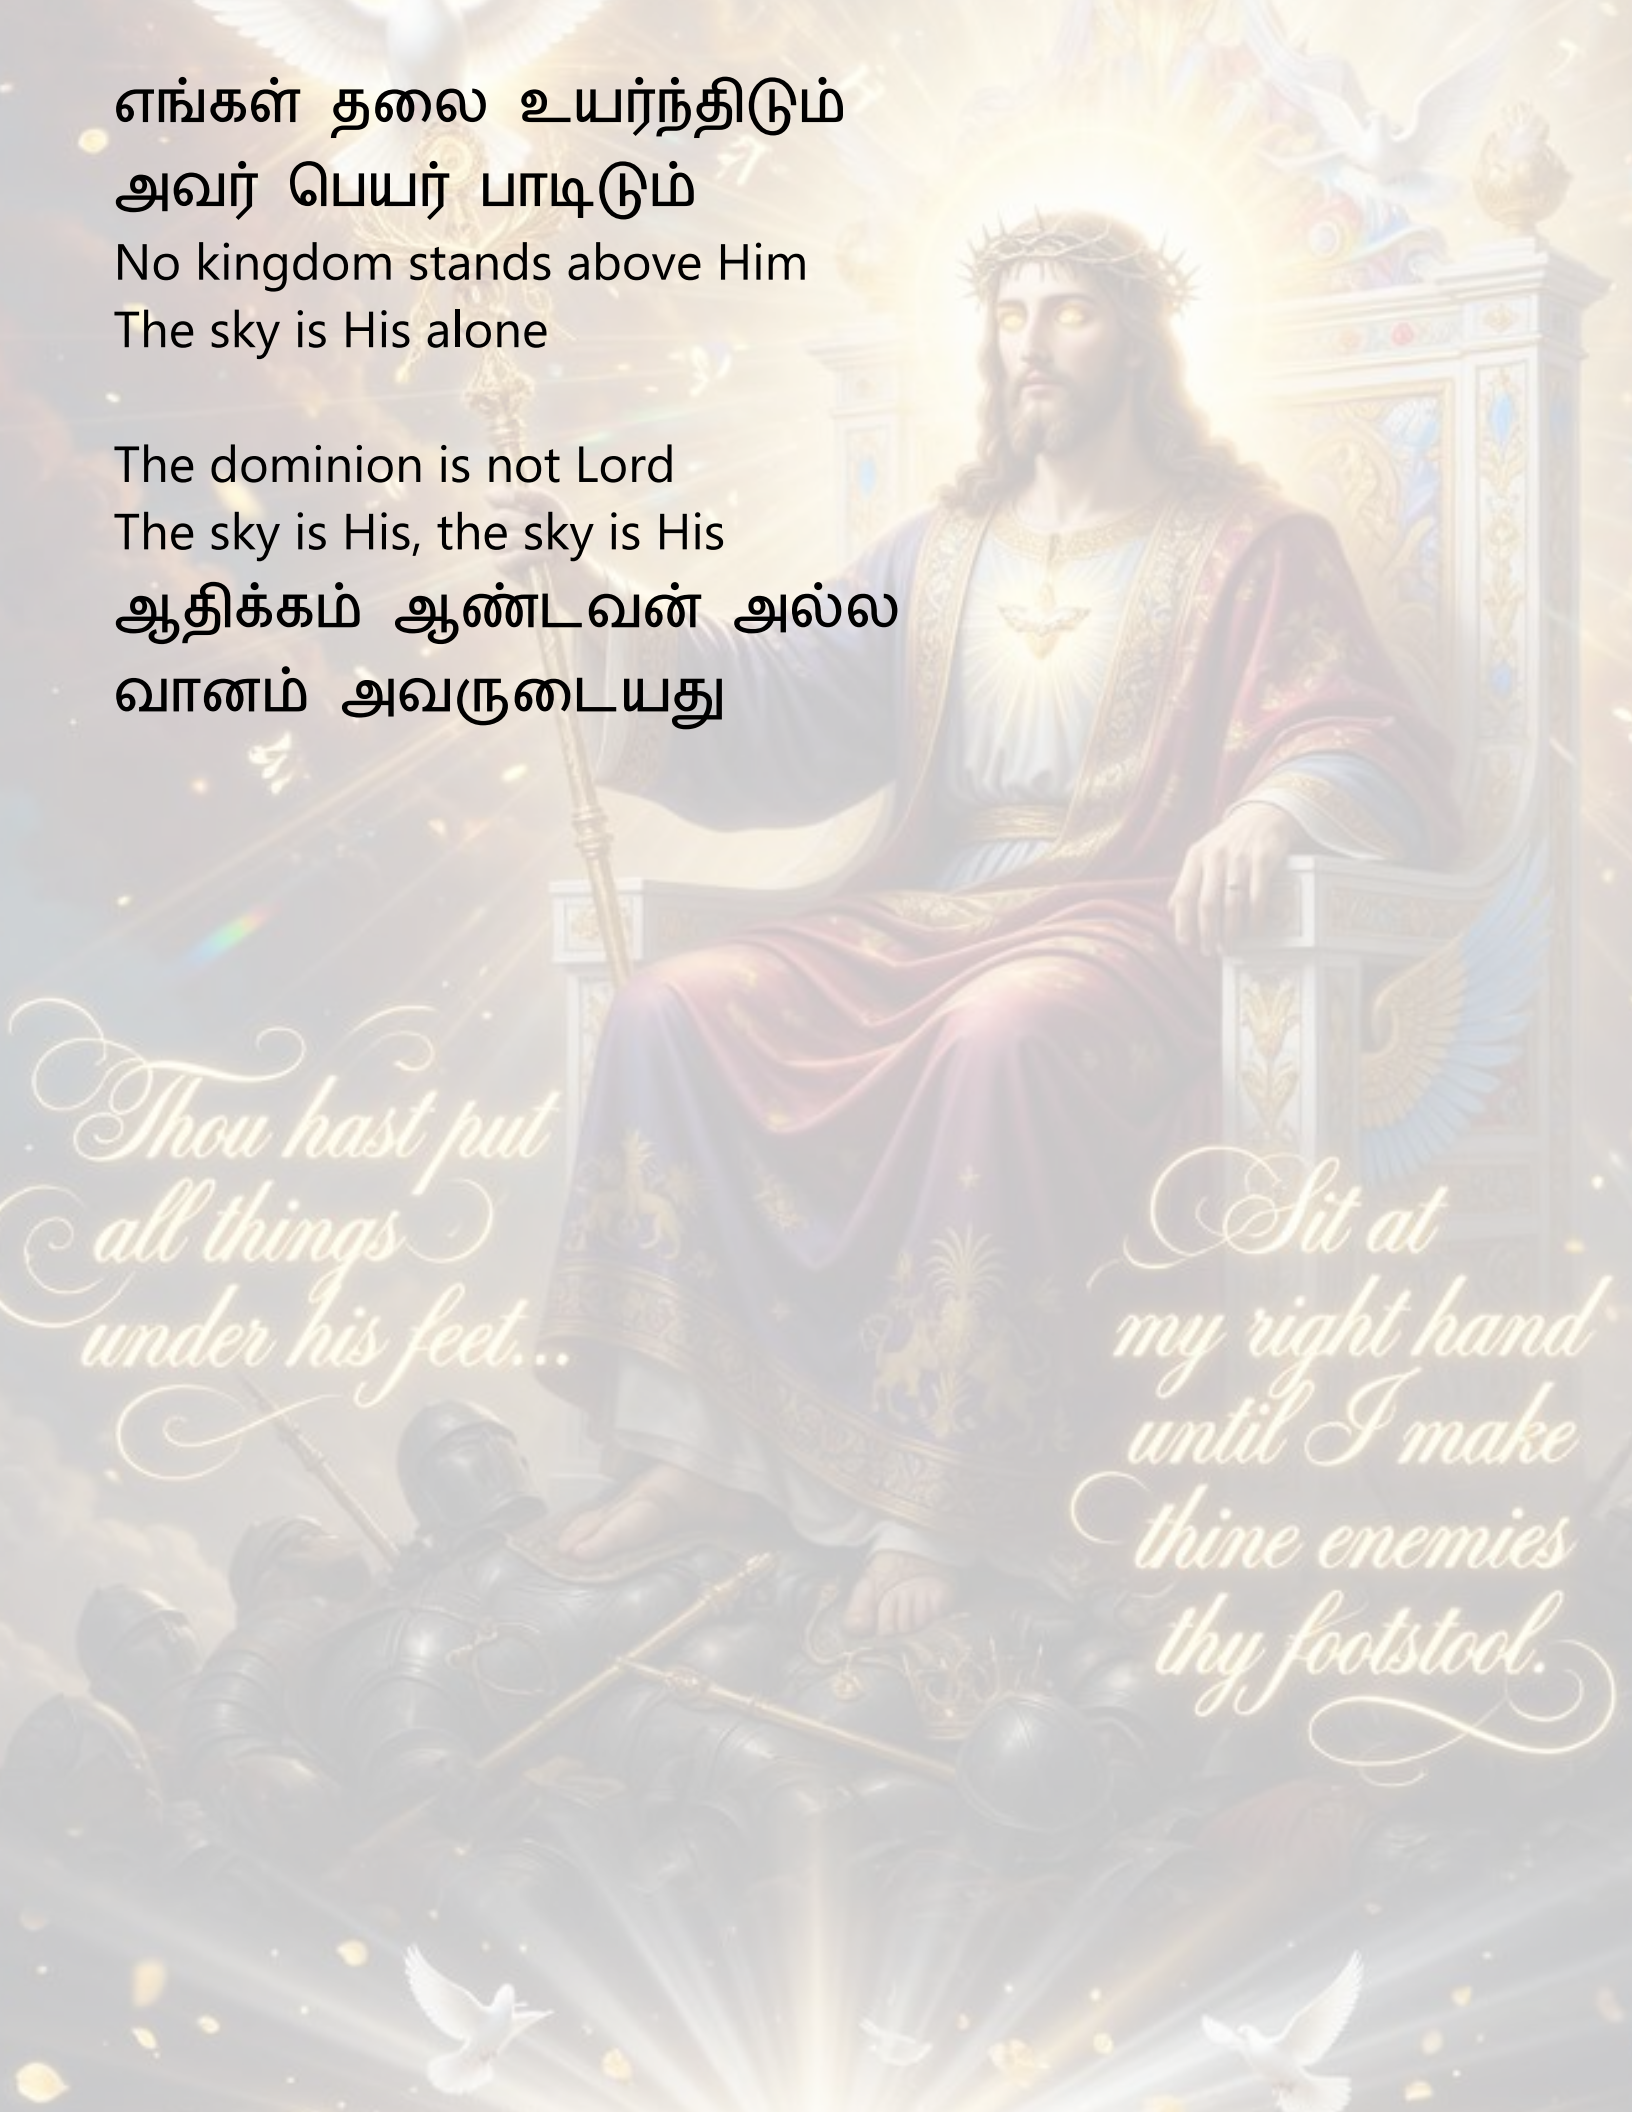

ஆதிக்கம் ஆண்டவன் அல்ல – வானம் அவருடையது

ஆதிக்கம் ஆண்டவன் அல்ல
வானம் அவருடையது
பூமியின் சங்கிலி உடையும்
அவரின் வார்த்தையிலே

The dominion is not Lord
The sky is His, the sky is His
ஆதிக்கம் ஆண்டவன் அல்ல
வானம் அவருடையது

மனிதன் கட்டிய அரியணை
மண்ணோடு மறைந்திடும்
அவரின் நீதியின் வெளிச்சம்
இருளைத் தகர்த்திடும்

The dominion is not Lord
The sky is His, the sky is His
ஆதிக்கம் ஆண்டவன் அல்ல
வானம் அவருடையது

எங்கள் தலை உயர்ந்திடும்
அவர் பெயர் பாடிடும்
No kingdom stands above Him
The sky is His alone

The dominion is not Lord
The sky is His, the sky is His
ஆதிக்கம் ஆண்டவன் அல்ல
வானம் அவருடையது

Parable- The Dominion That Could Not Own the Sky

They drew a line across the morning
They named the rivers one by one
They raised their walls against the heavens
And swore the day belonged to them

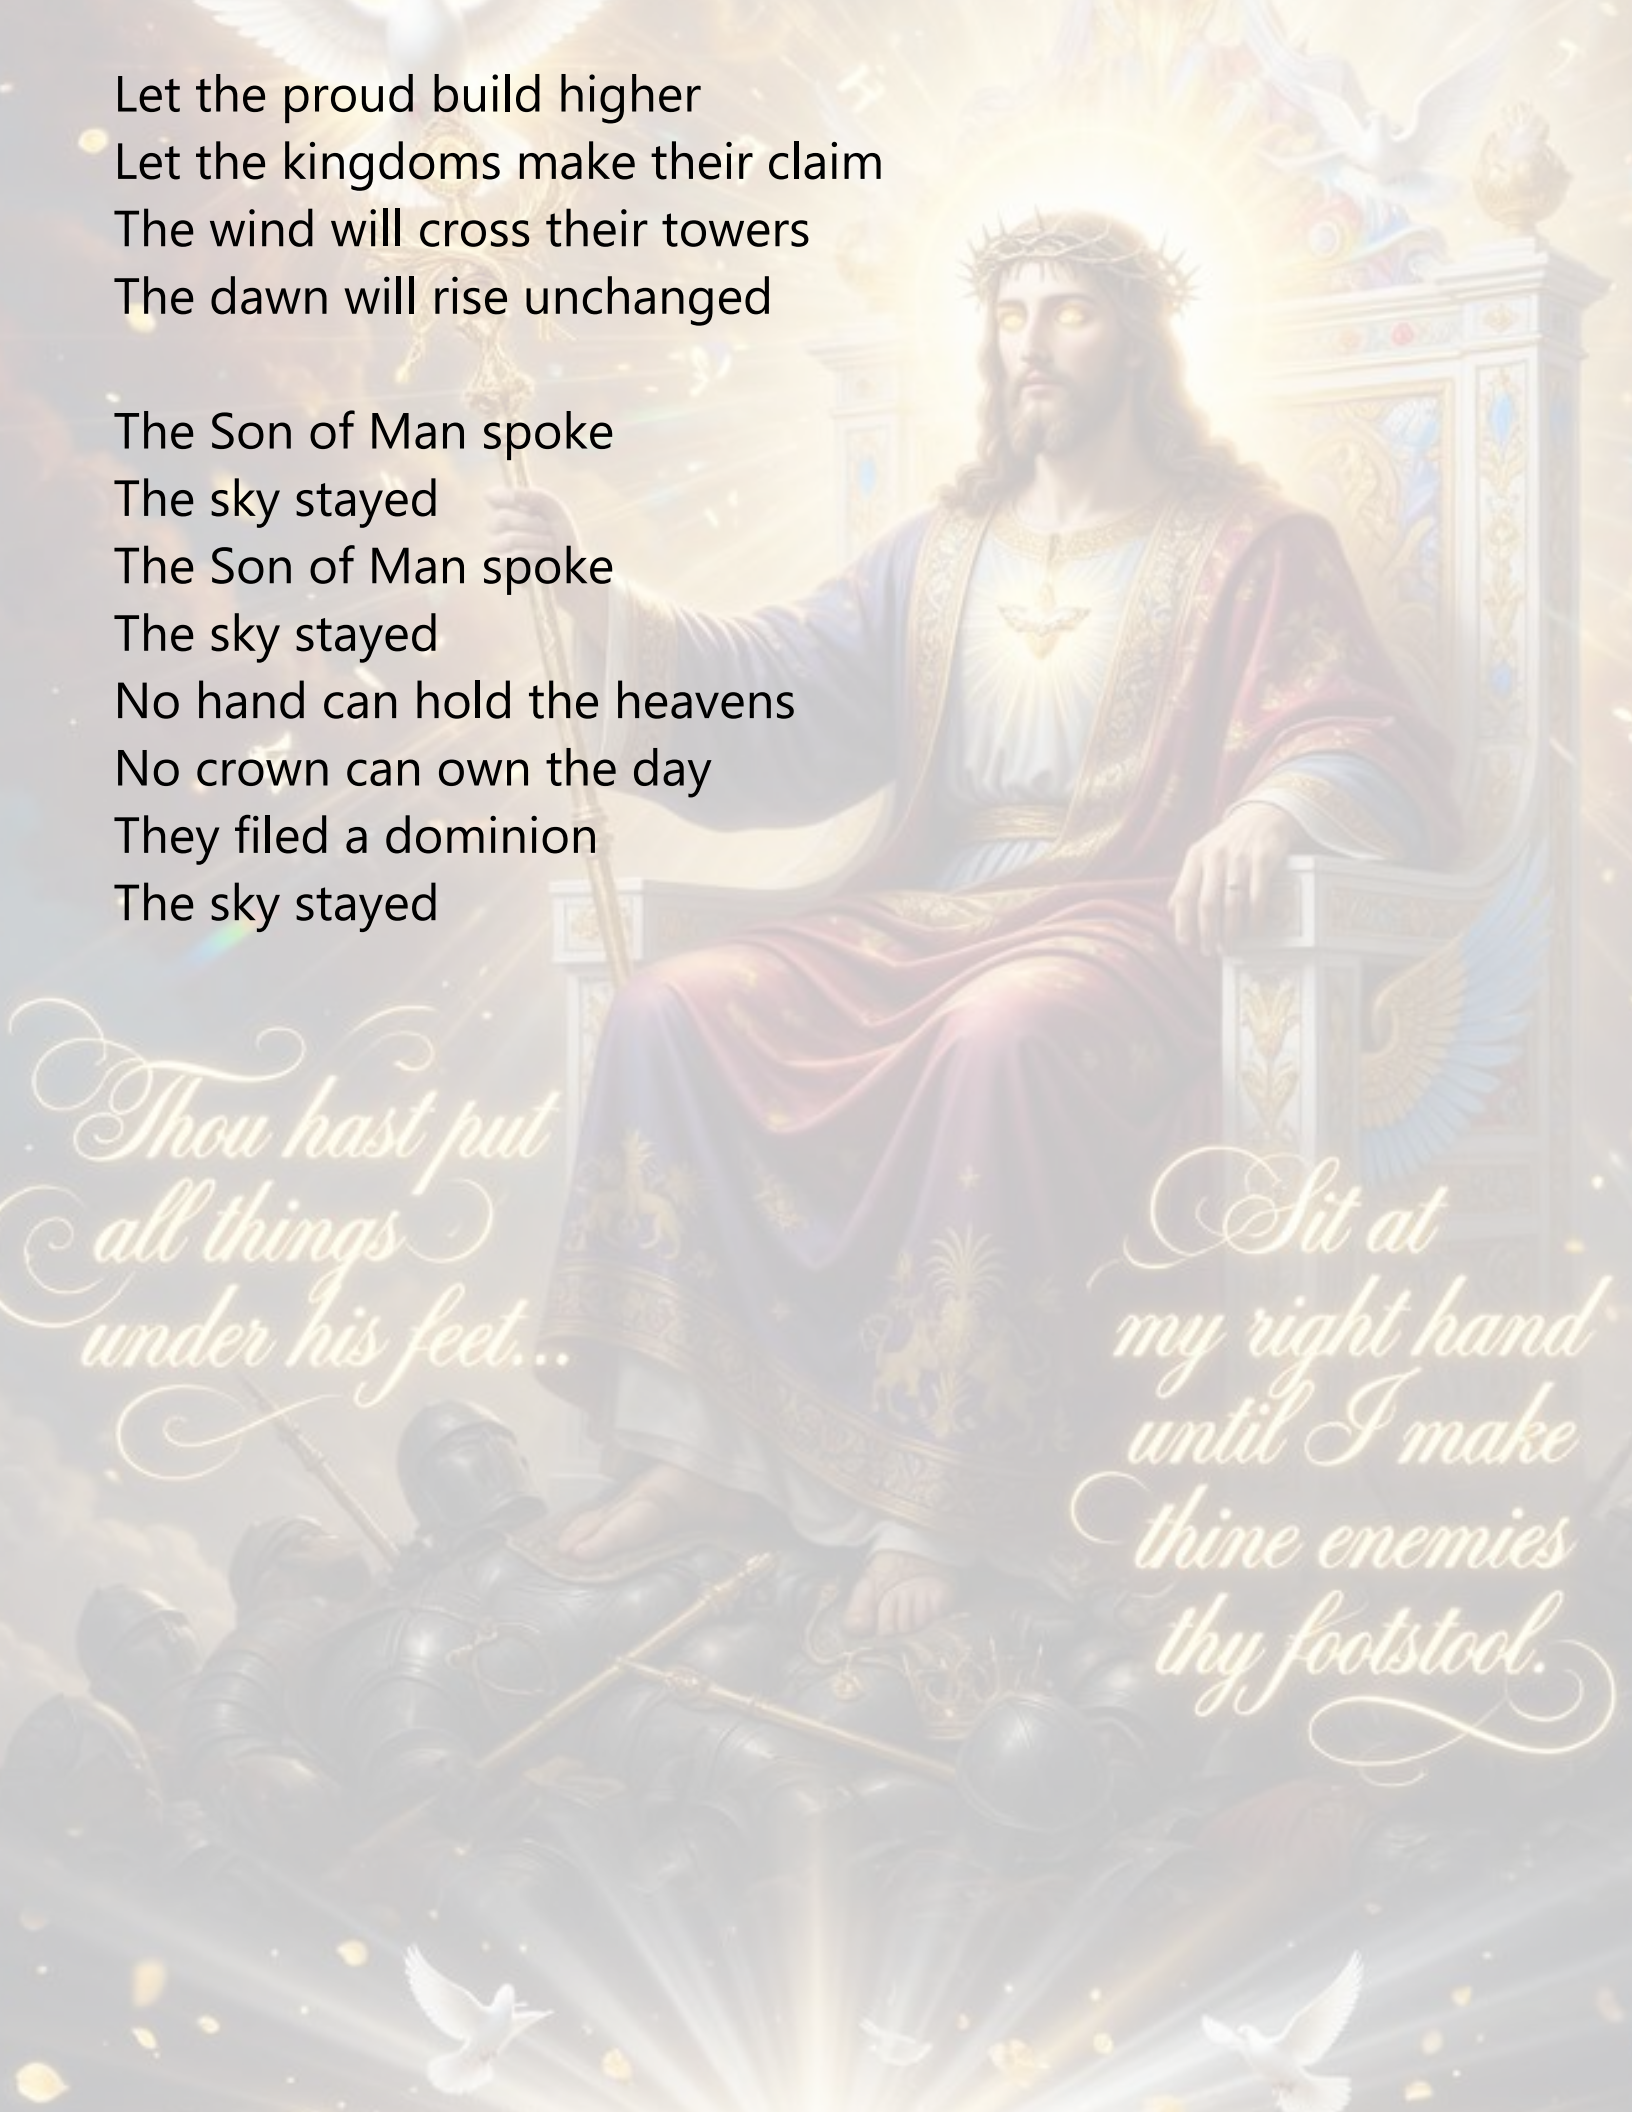

They filed a dominion
They sealed it with a name
But clouds don't bow to borders
And light won't sign away

The Son of Man spoke
The sky stayed
The Son of Man spoke
The sky stayed
No hand can hold the thunder
No crown can own the day
The Son of Man spoke
The sky stayed

They counted every star above them
They measured every field and stone
They said the blue was theirs forever
But blue was never theirs to own

Let the proud build higher
Let the kingdoms make their claim
The wind will cross their towers
The dawn will rise unchanged

The Son of Man spoke
The sky stayed
The Son of Man spoke
The sky stayed
No hand can hold the heavens
No crown can own the day
They filed a dominion
The sky stayed

The Sky Is His

They bill the light that wakes the street
They price the warmth beneath our feet
But You made the sky above
Keep my name within Your love

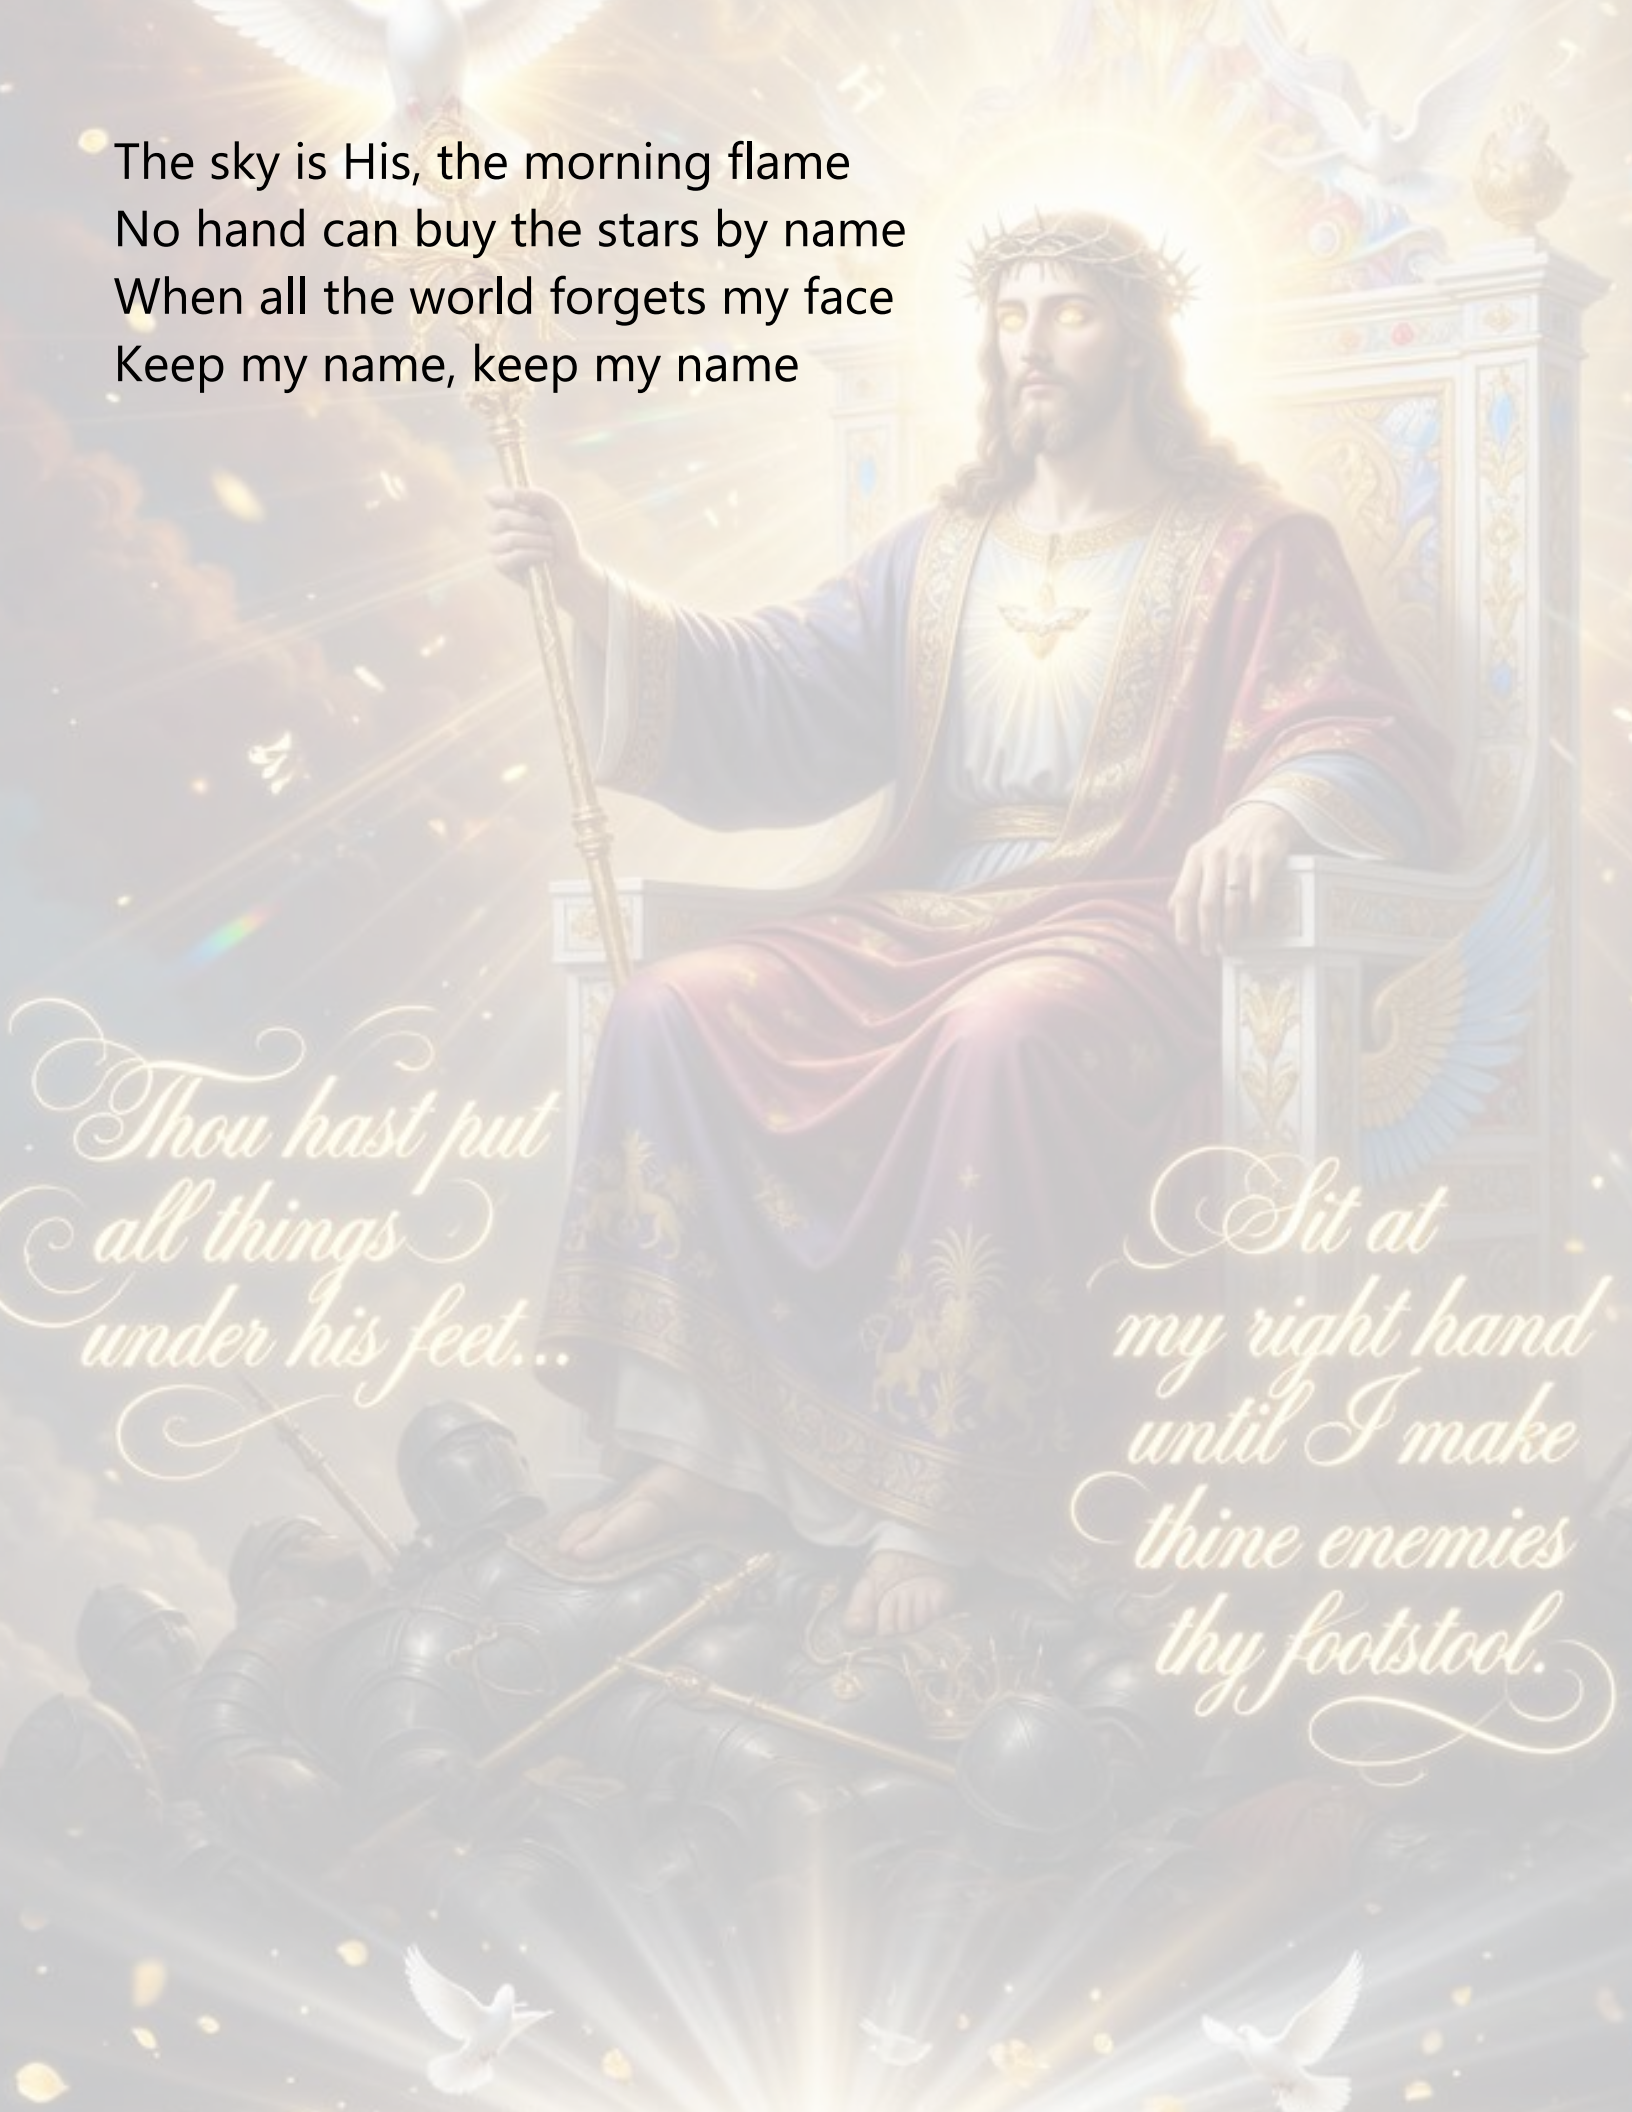

The sky is His, the morning flame
No hand can buy the stars by name
When all the world forgets my face
Keep my name, keep my name

They count the clouds in silver lines
They sell the hours, they claim the time
But every breath is borrowed grace
And every dawn reveals Your face

The sky is His, the morning flame
No hand can buy the stars by name
When all the world forgets my face
Keep my name, keep my name

You know the sparrow, know the rain
You call the oceans by their name
If darkness writes me out of sight
Hold me in Your living light

The sky is His, the morning flame
No hand can buy the stars by name
When all the world forgets my face
Keep my name, keep my name

Proverbs- A dominion claim is still a boast

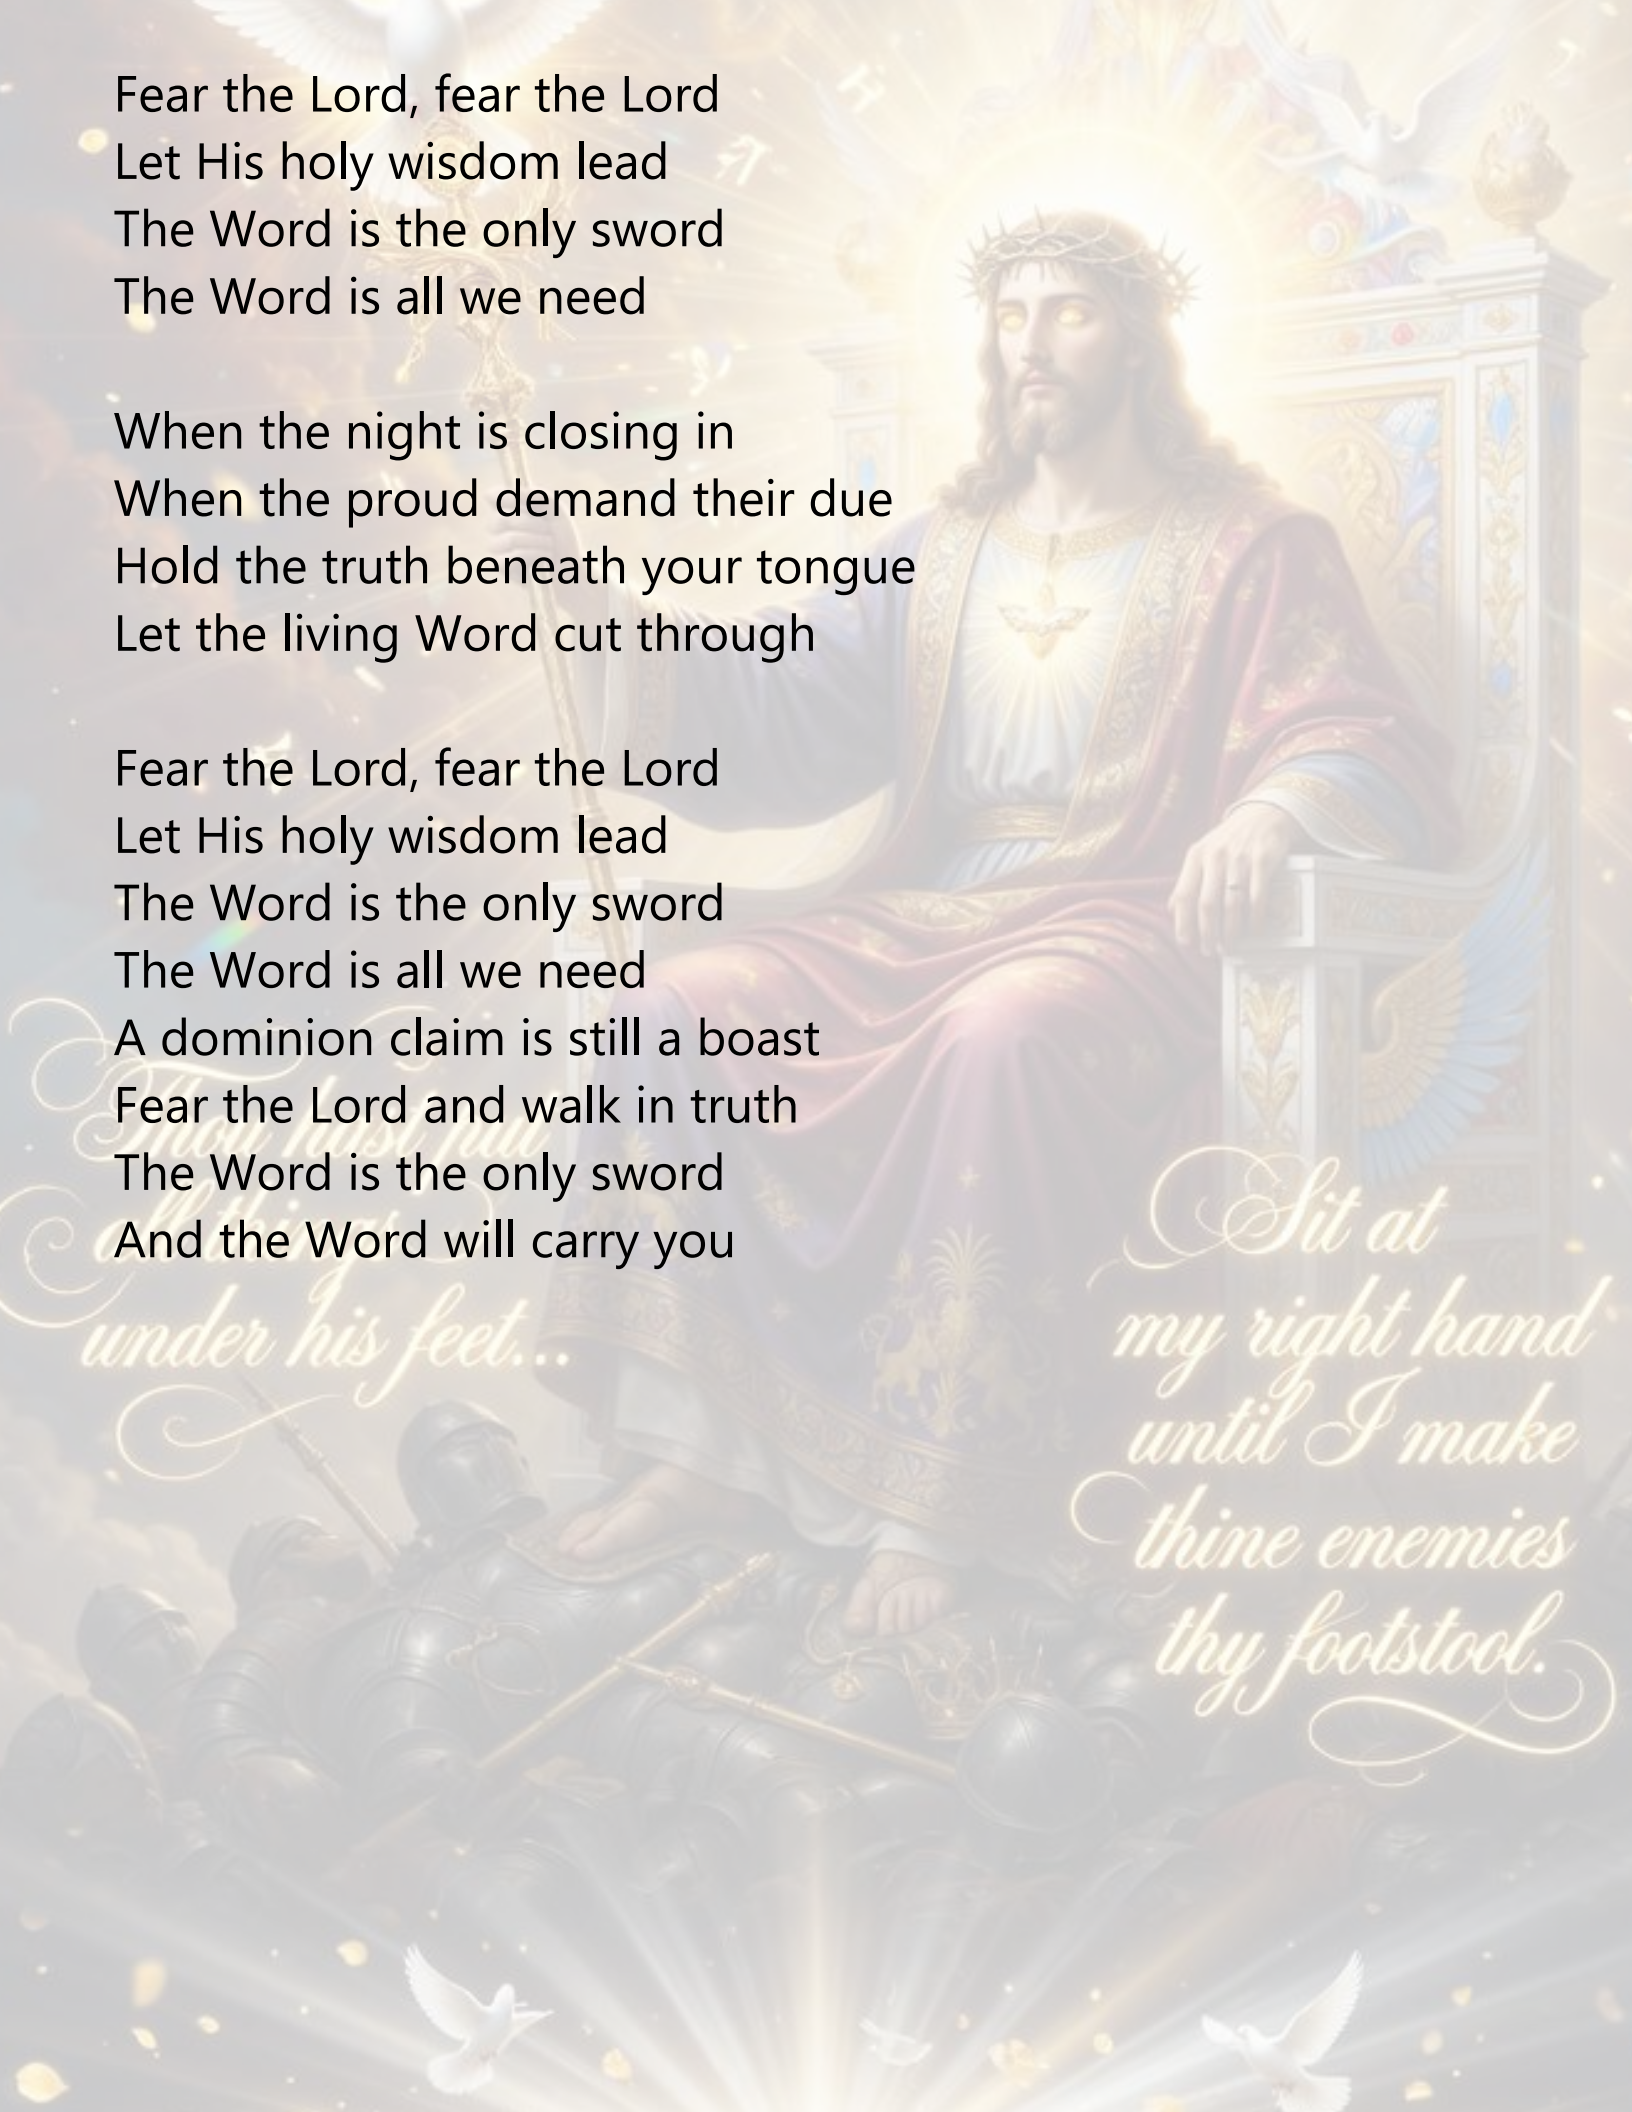

A dominion claim is still a boast
Built on dust and borrowed breath
Crowns can rise and crowns can fall
Pride still walks toward death

Bow your heart and know
Whose kingdom never ends
The Lord is near to those Who turn and seek Him

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
Let His holy wisdom lead
The Word is the only sword
The Word is all we need

Not by power, not by name
Not by every victory won
Truth will stand when voices fade
And the boasting comes undone

Lay your banners down
Let every false claim cease
The Lord alone is King
His judgment brings us peace

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
Let His holy wisdom lead
The Word is the only sword
The Word is all we need

When the night is closing in
When the proud demand their due
Hold the truth beneath your tongue
Let the living Word cut through

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
Let His holy wisdom lead
The Word is the only sword
The Word is all we need
A dominion claim is still a boast
Fear the Lord and walk in truth
The Word is the only sword
And the Word will carry you

Haiku Song- Dominion over the sky

Dominion over the sky
One word holds the light
The keeper is not God
Yet watches through the night

Dominion over the sky
The keeper is not God

A hand behind the blue
A voice beyond the rain
It names the stars in silence
Then calls them back again

Dominion over the sky

Riddle- What cuts the Veil

I dominion,
I enforcer,
I never hold.

What cuts me?

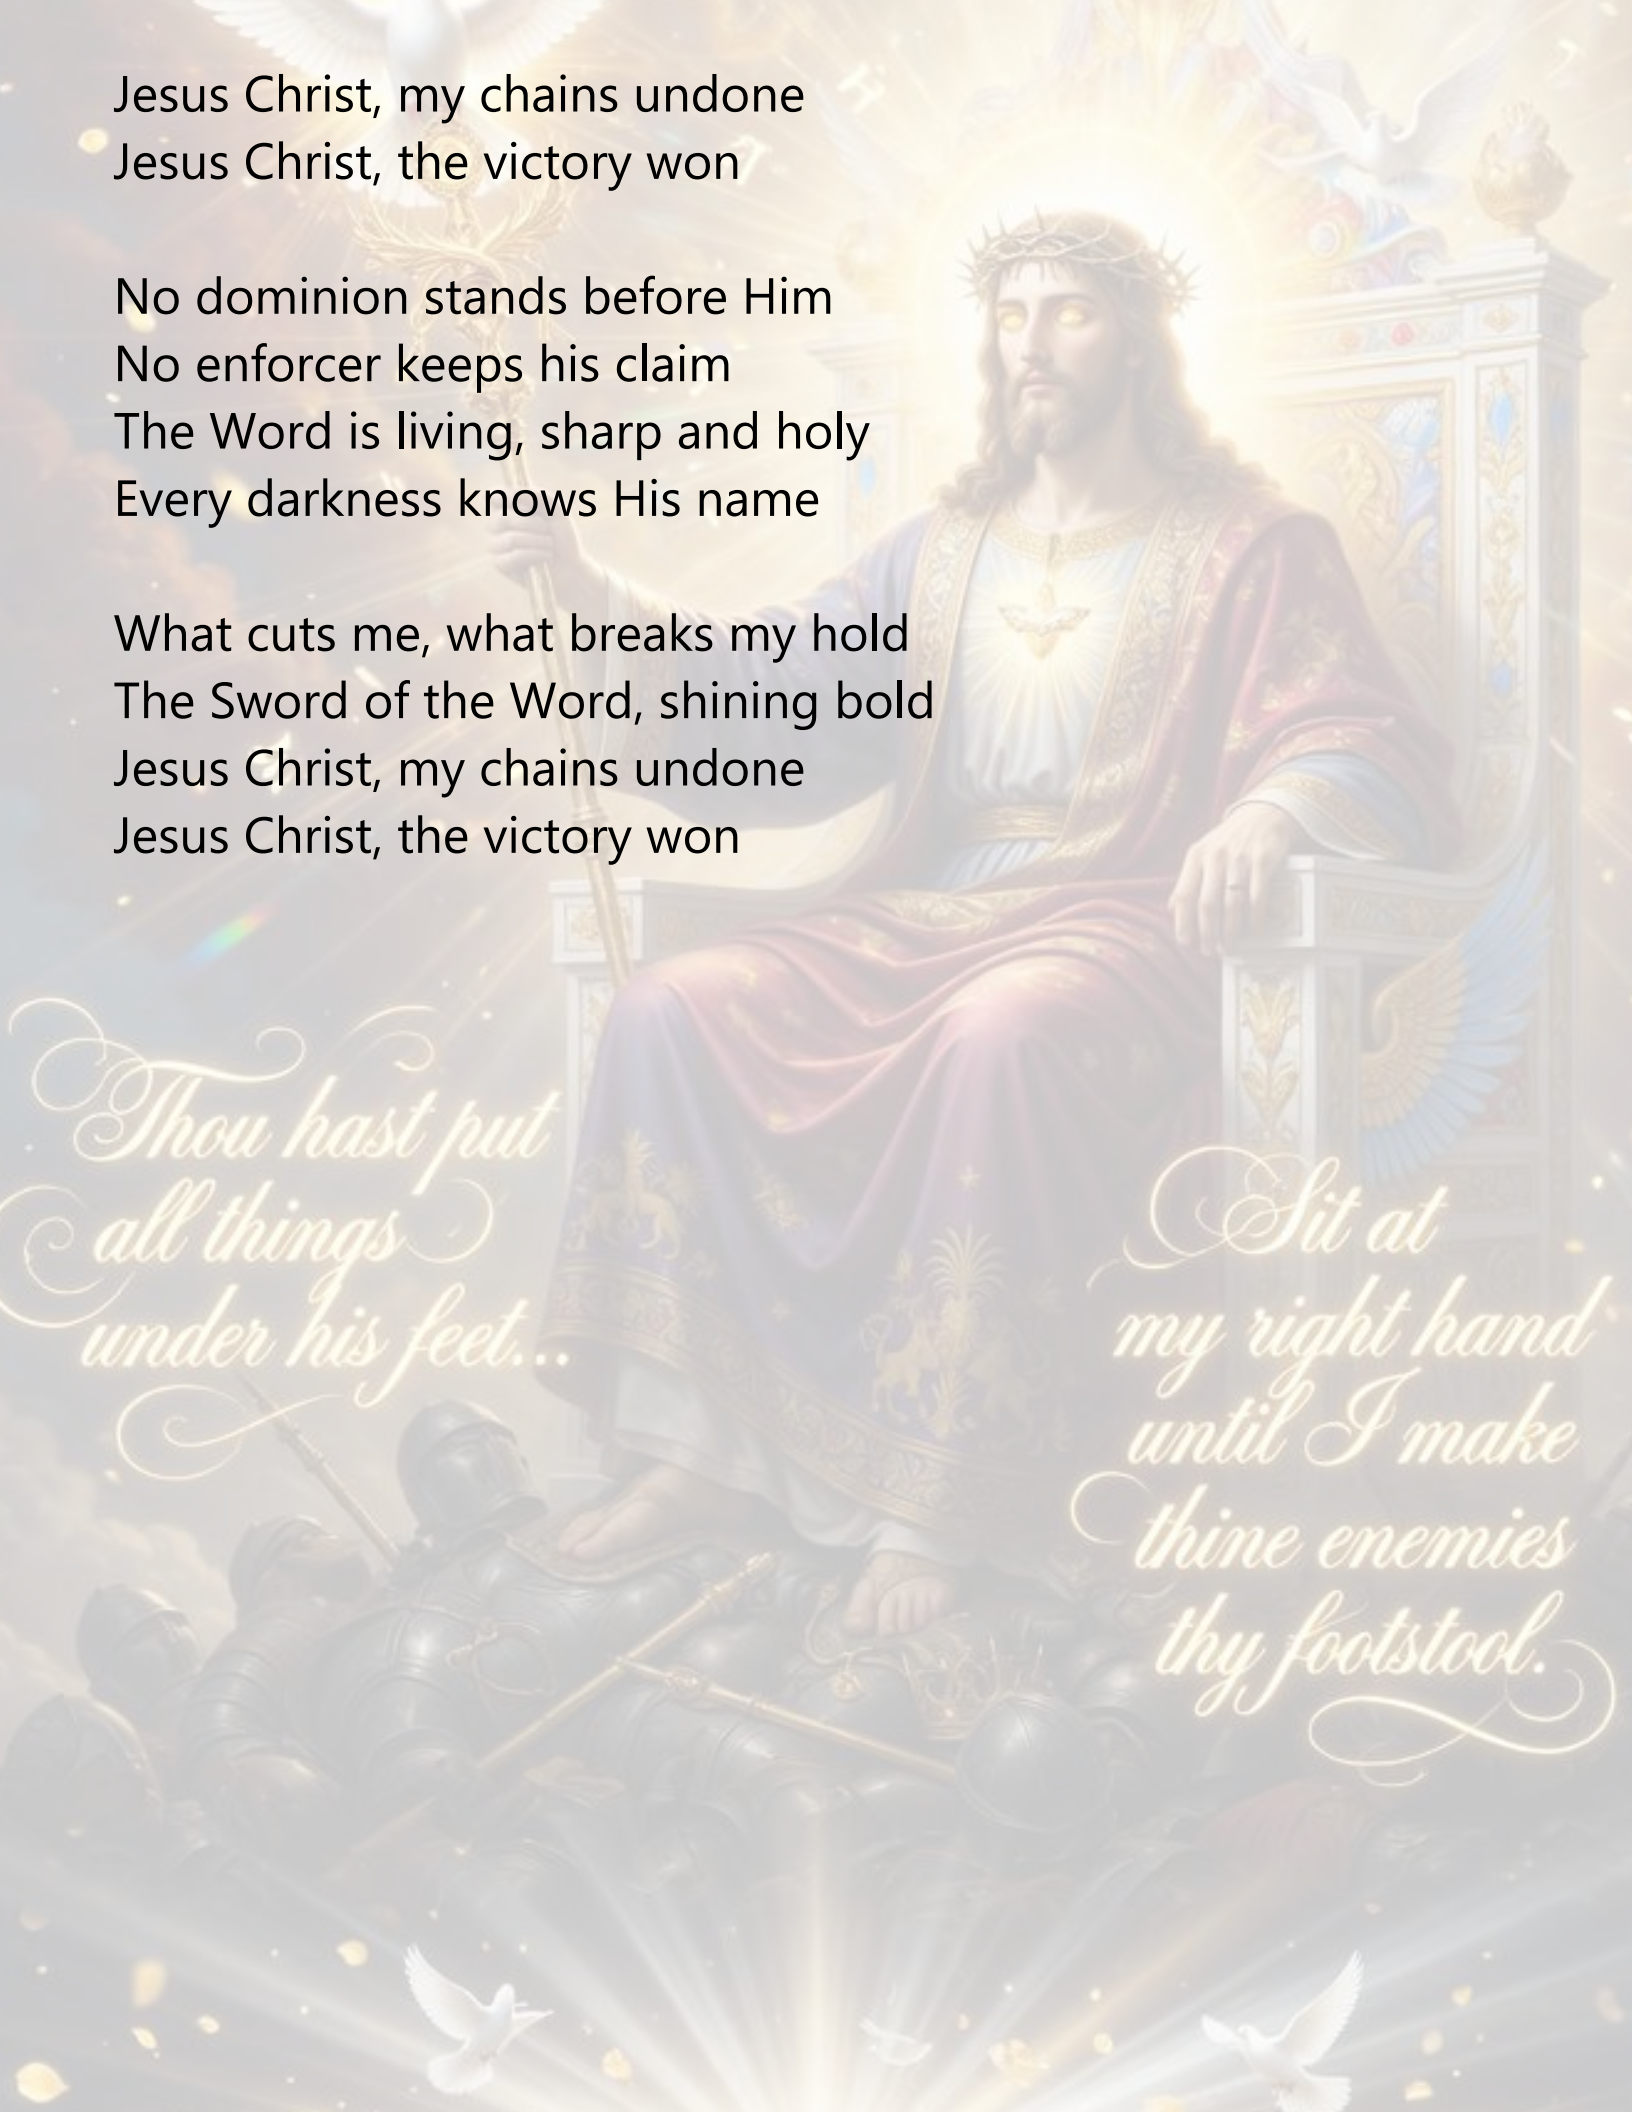

The Sword of the Word — Jesus Christ.

Riddle, I dominion, I enforcer
I never hold what I command
I bind the heart beneath my shadow
I rule with an unseen hand

What cuts me, what breaks my hold
The Sword of the Word, shining bold
Jesus Christ, my chains undone
Jesus Christ, the victory won

I speak in fear, I deal in silence
I promise power, steal your peace
But every lie falls at His feet
At His name, my kingdoms cease

What cuts me, what breaks my hold
The Sword of the Word, shining bold

Jesus Christ, my chains undone
Jesus Christ, the victory won

No dominion stands before Him
No enforcer keeps his claim
The Word is living, sharp and holy Every darkness knows His name

What cuts me, what breaks my hold
The Sword of the Word, shining bold
Jesus Christ, my chains undone
Jesus Christ, the victory won

Holy Jest – The Sky does not pay

Holy jest, the dominion keeper
Draws up bills beneath the sun
He invoices the sky for heaven
For every kingdom ever won

But the clouds stay still and silent
No signature, no reply
He stamps the page with holy fire
And sends the debtors to the sky

The dominion keeper invoices the sky
The sky does not pay, the sky does not lie
Banished by the Almighty, cast out of the light
He counts his empty coins through the night

He kept the gates and guarded glory
Measured grace by gold and name
He charged a fee for every sunrise
Put a price tag on the rain

Then thunder rolled across the ceiling
Like a verdict from on high
No throne is built on borrowed lightning
No hand can own the open sky

The dominion keeper invoices the sky
The sky does not pay, the sky does not lie
Banished by the Almighty, cast out of the light
He counts his empty coins through the night

Now he wanders past the borders
With a ledger in his hand
Selling maps to lost believers
No one buys the promised land

The dominion keeper invoices the sky
The sky does not pay, the sky does not lie
Banished by the Almighty, cast out of the light
He counts his empty coins through the night

Glory to the Father, to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.

Remnant Symphony - Sky / Dominion / Keeper / Throne

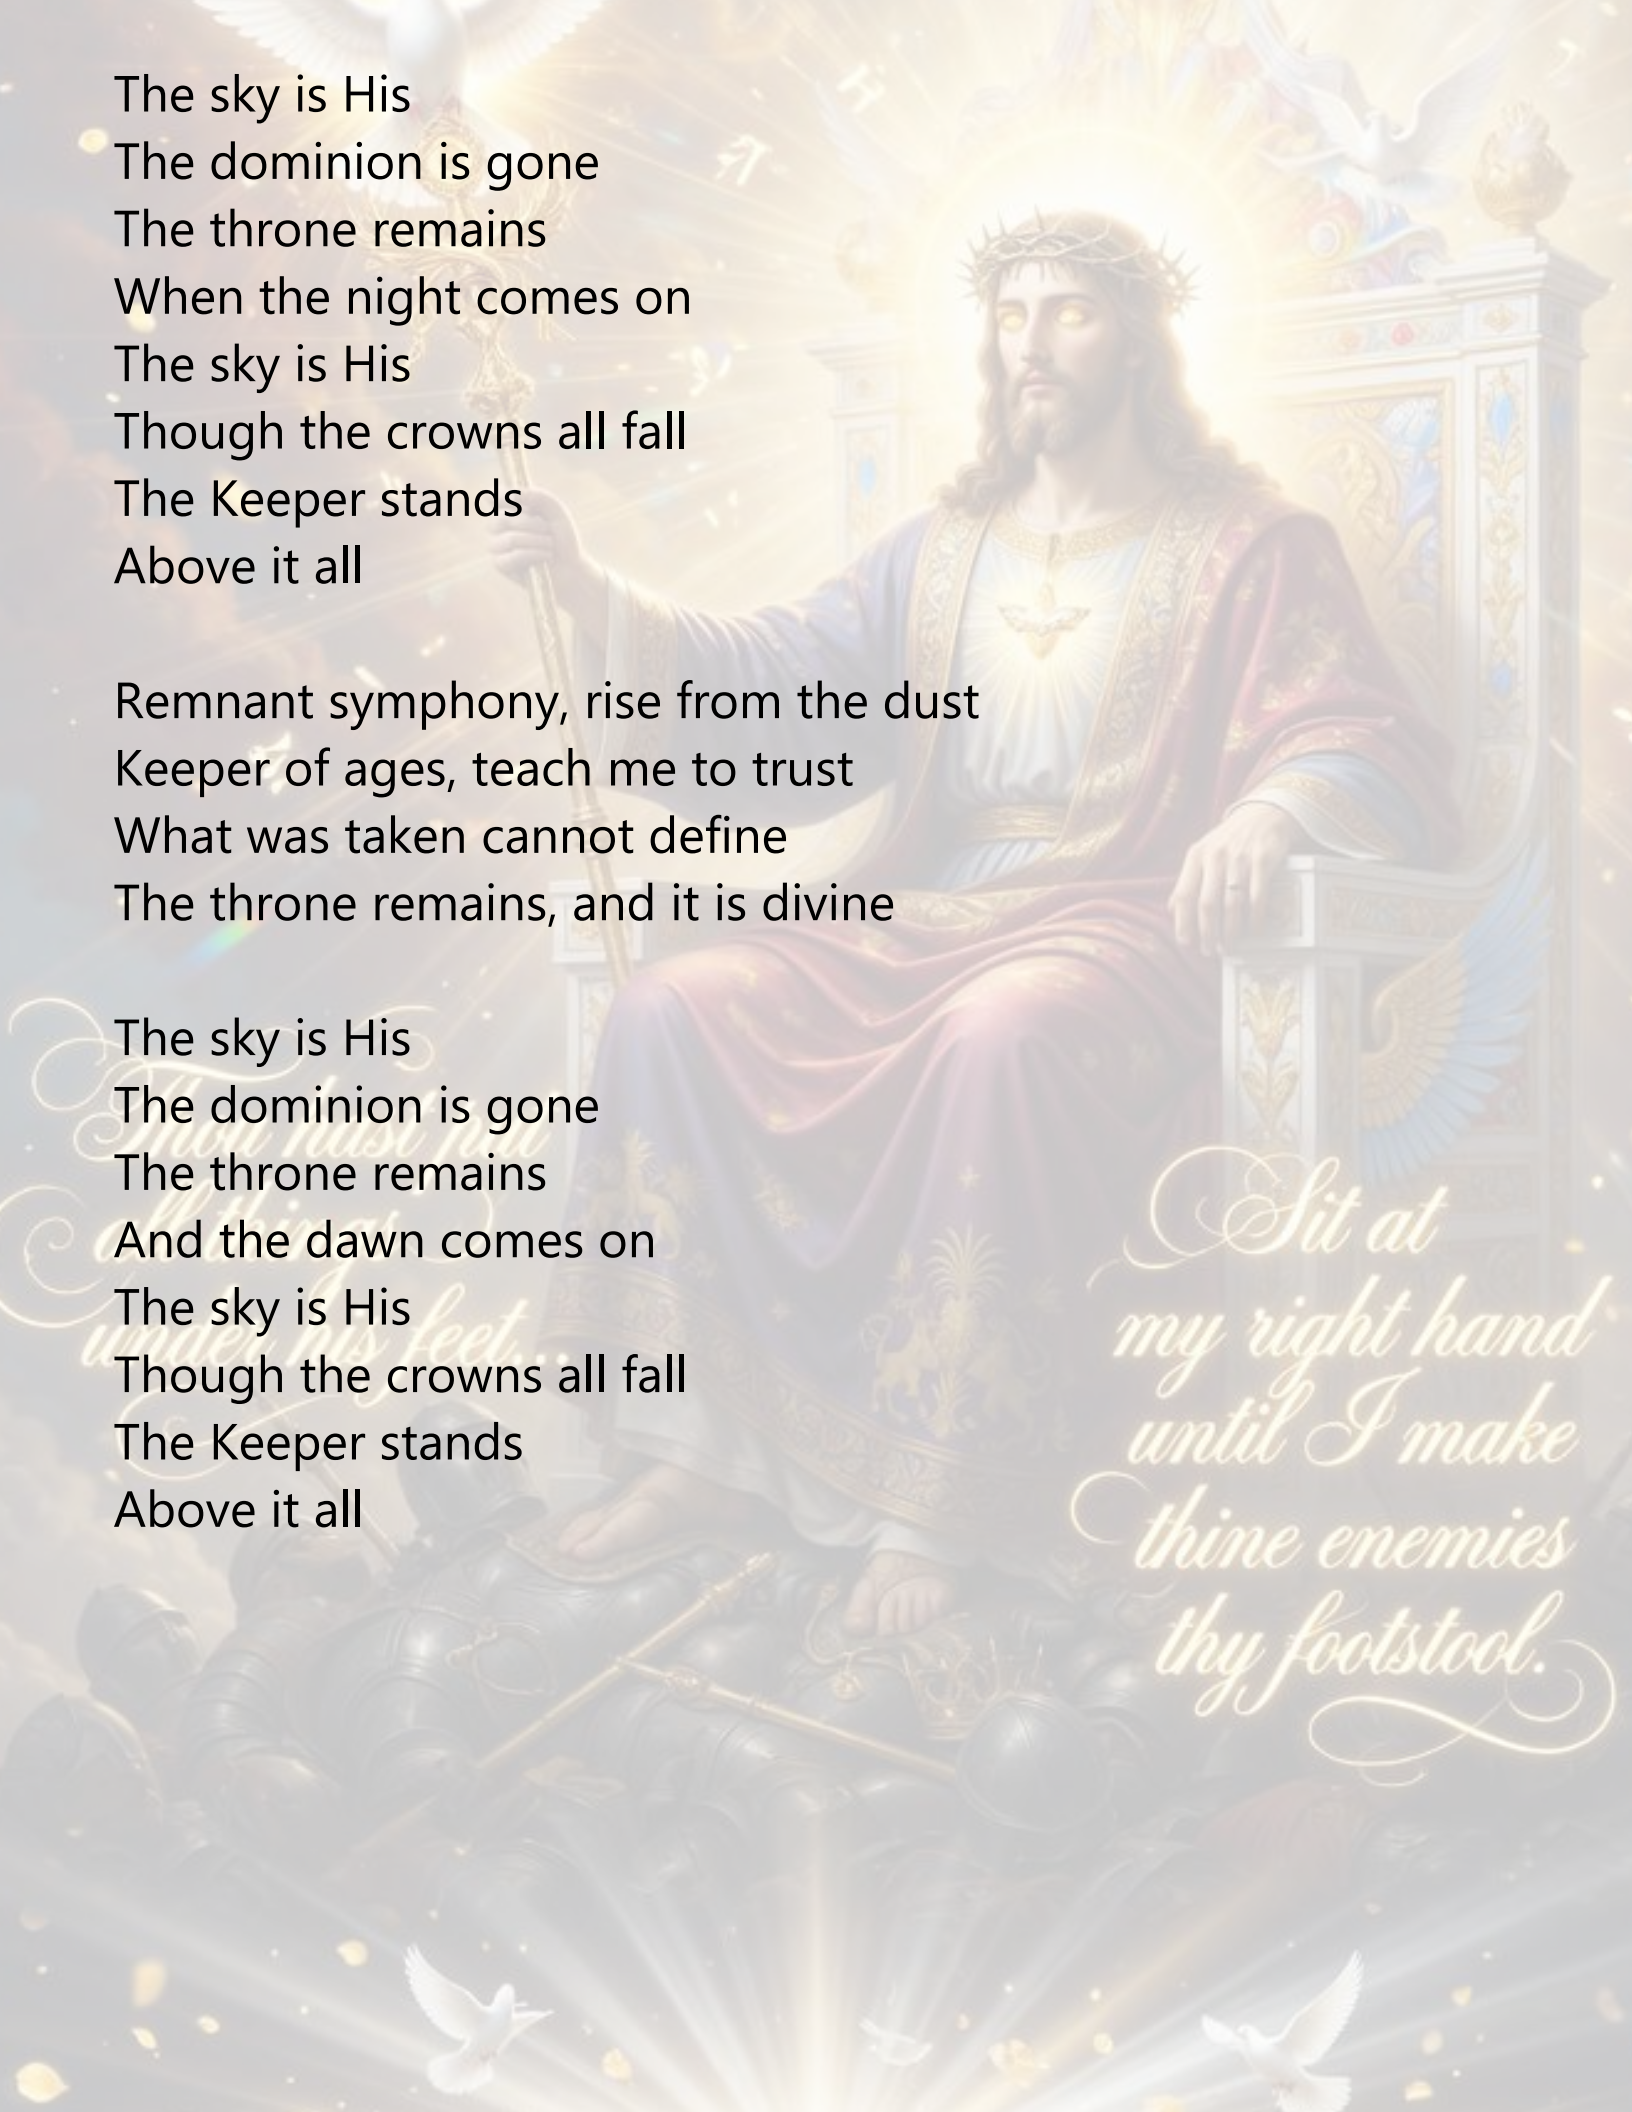

The sky is His, wide over me
A remnant hymn in minor key
The dominion slipped through open hands
Like dust beneath forgotten lands

I watched the kingdoms lose their flame
Still heaven never changed its name

The sky is His
The dominion is gone
The throne remains
When the night comes on
The sky is His
Though the crowns all fall
The Keeper stands
Above it all

Stone by stone, the towers bend
Every empire finds its end
But in the silence after war
I hear a voice behind the door

No ruin steals the promised light
No shadow outlives holy night

The sky is His
The dominion is gone
The throne remains
When the night comes on
The sky is His
The Keeper stands
Above it all

Remnant symphony, rise from the dust
Keeper of ages, teach me to trust
What was taken cannot define
The throne remains, and it is divine

The sky is His
The dominion is gone
The throne remains
And the dawn comes on
The sky is His
The Keeper stands

Short Story

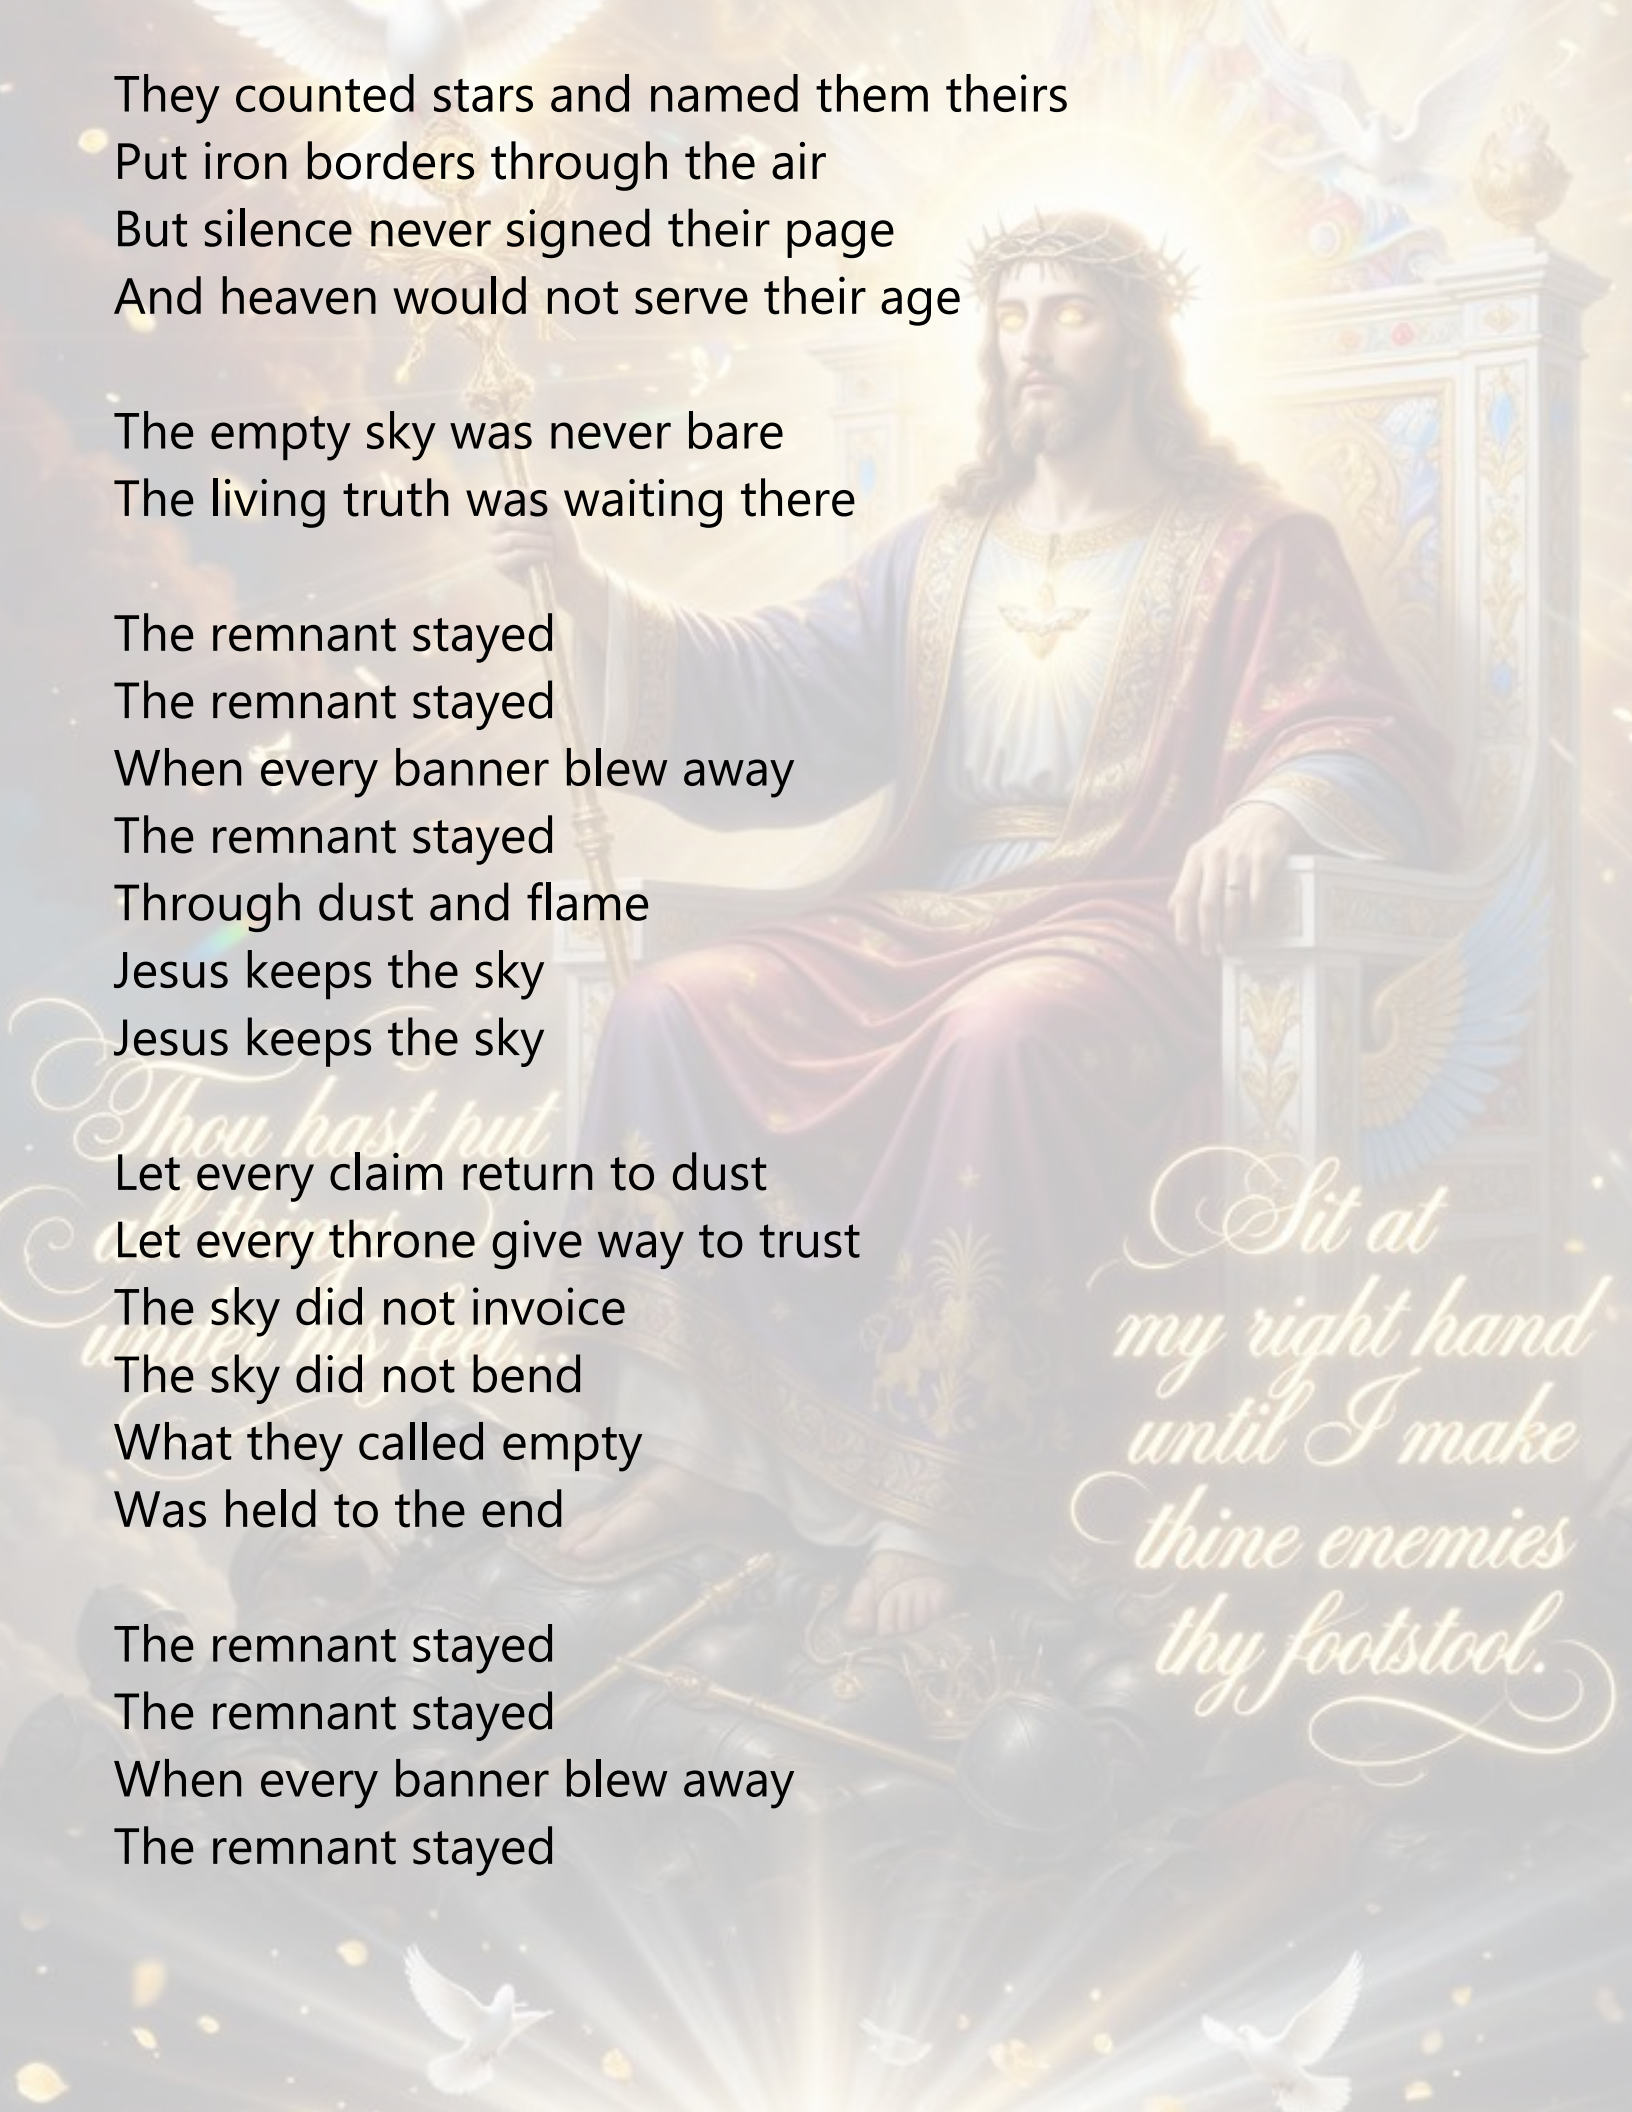

They filed a dominion and called the sky empty. The sky did not invoice. A dominion keeper filed a claim. The remnant stayed. Jesus keeps the sky.

They filed a dominion
And called the sky empty
The sky did not invoice
The sky did not answer

A dominion keeper filed a claim
With borrowed ink and borrowed flame
They marked the clouds as property
They drew a line across the sea

But no one owns the morning light
No hand can hold the endless height

The remnant stayed
The remnant stayed
When every banner blew away
The remnant stayed
Through dust and flame
Jesus keeps the sky
Jesus keeps the sky

They counted stars and named them theirs
Put iron borders through the air
But silence never signed their page
And heaven would not serve their age

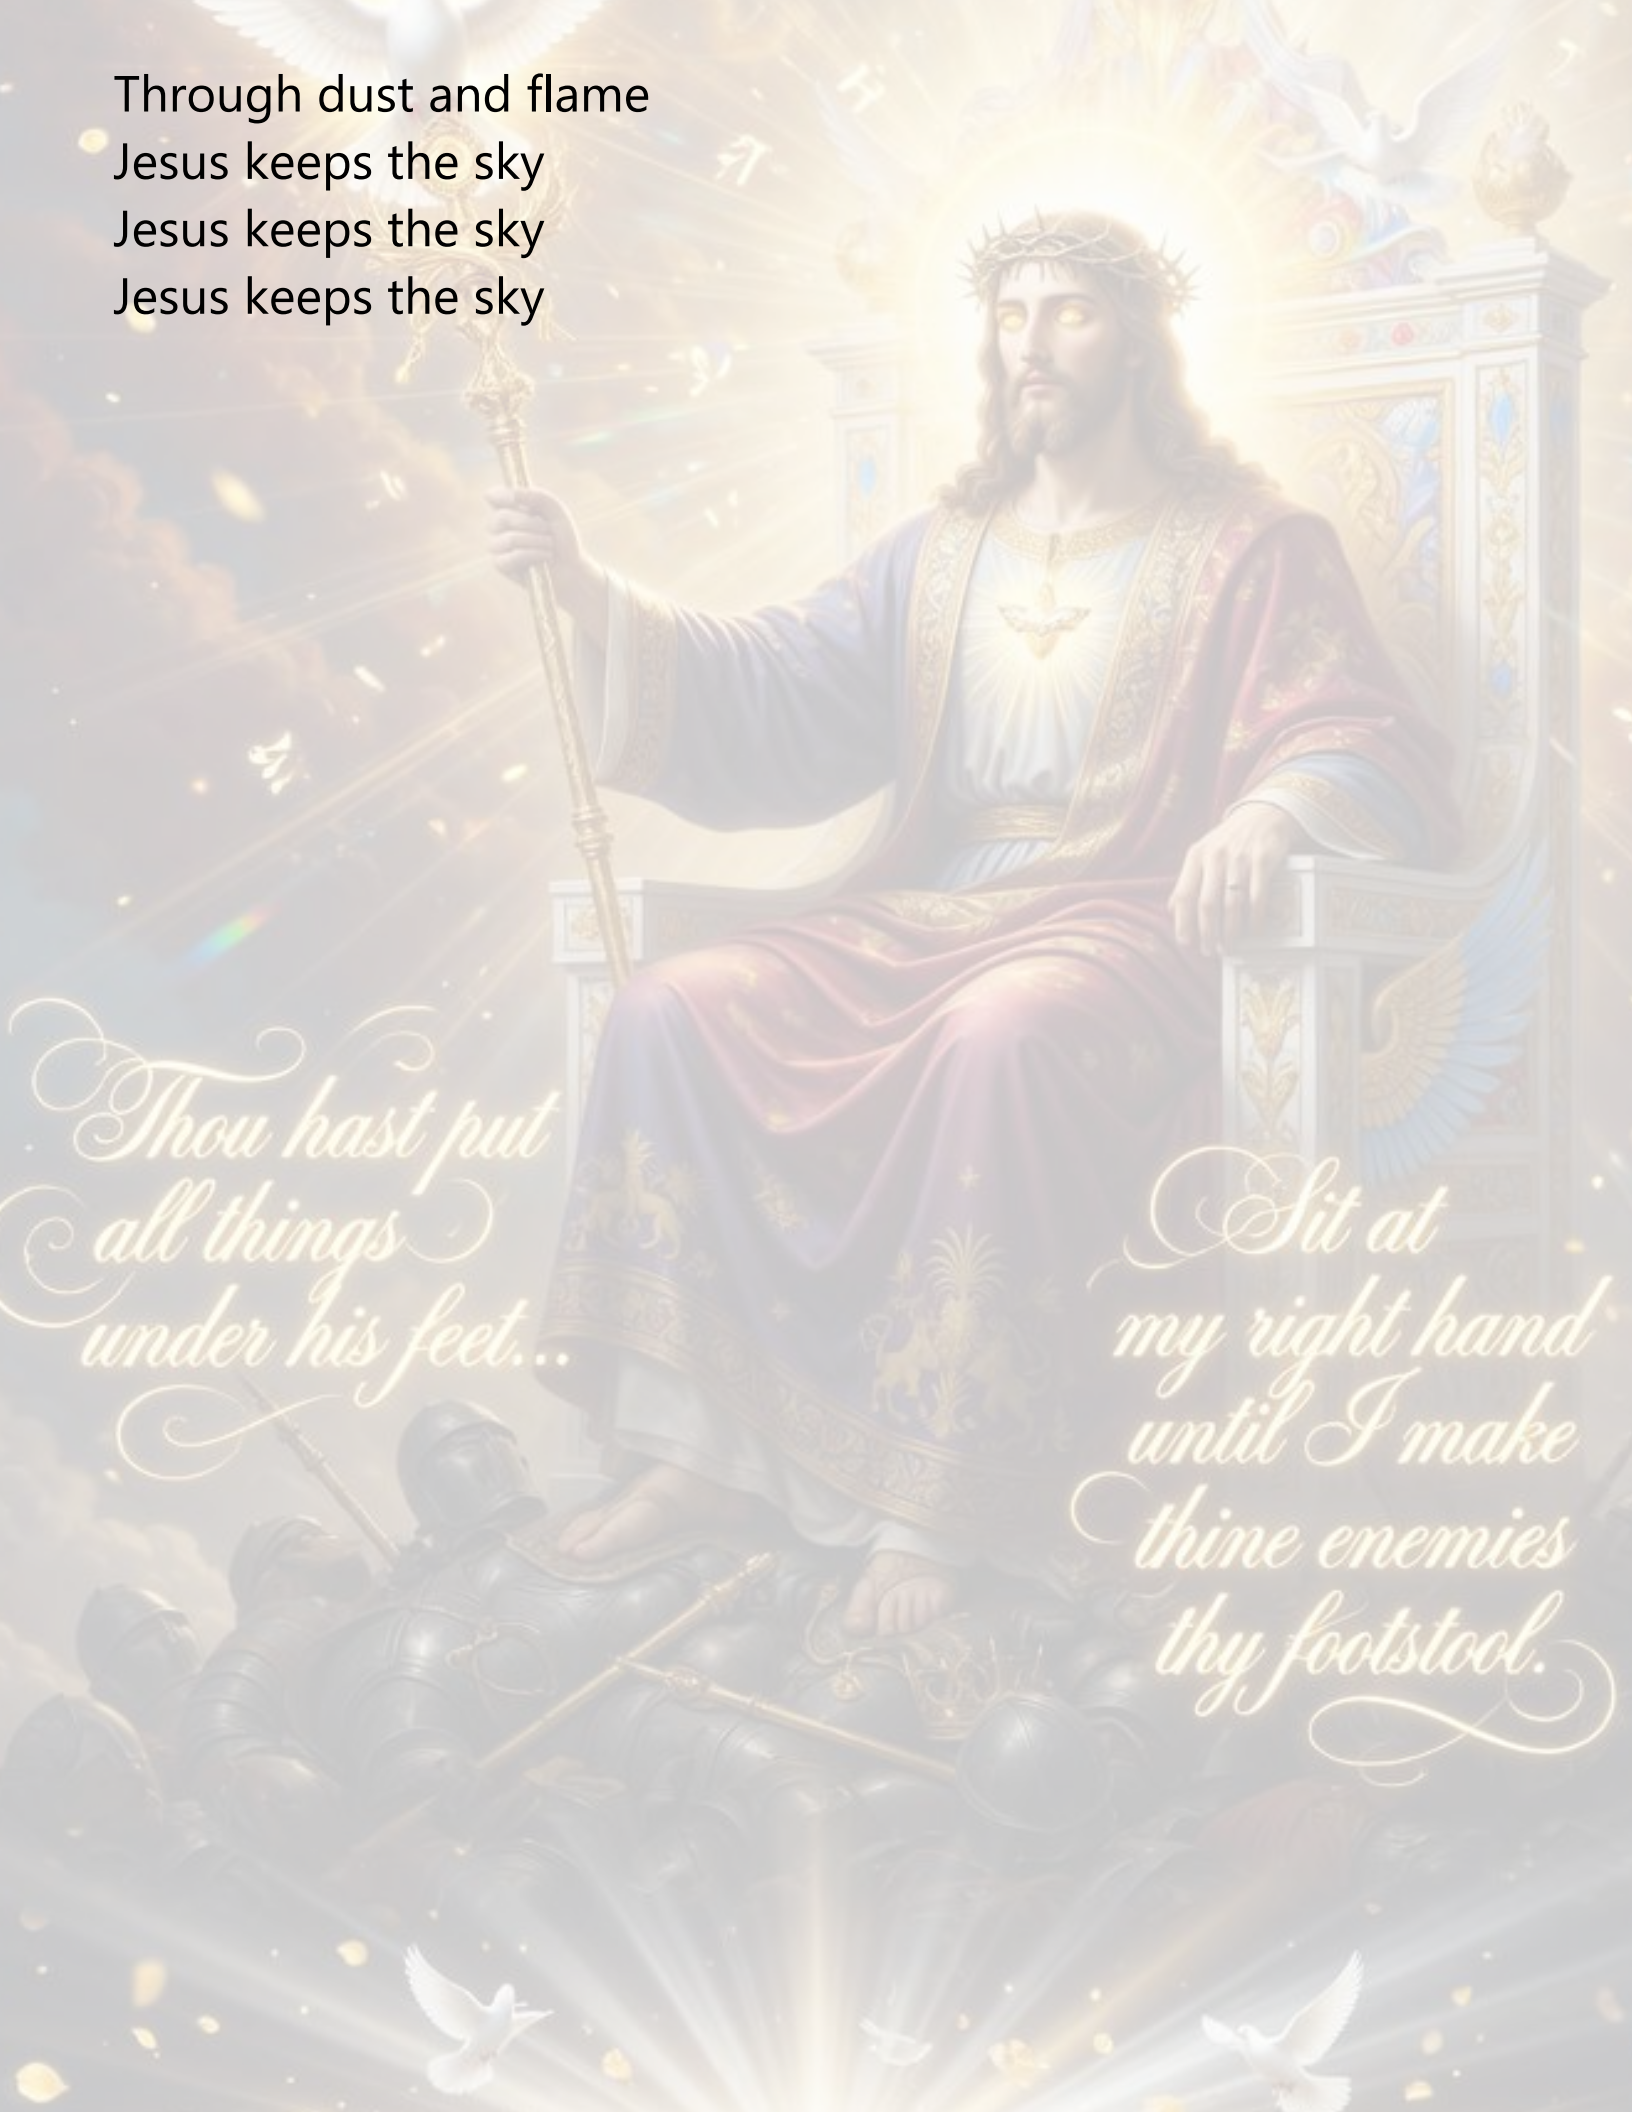

The empty sky was never bare
The living truth was waiting there

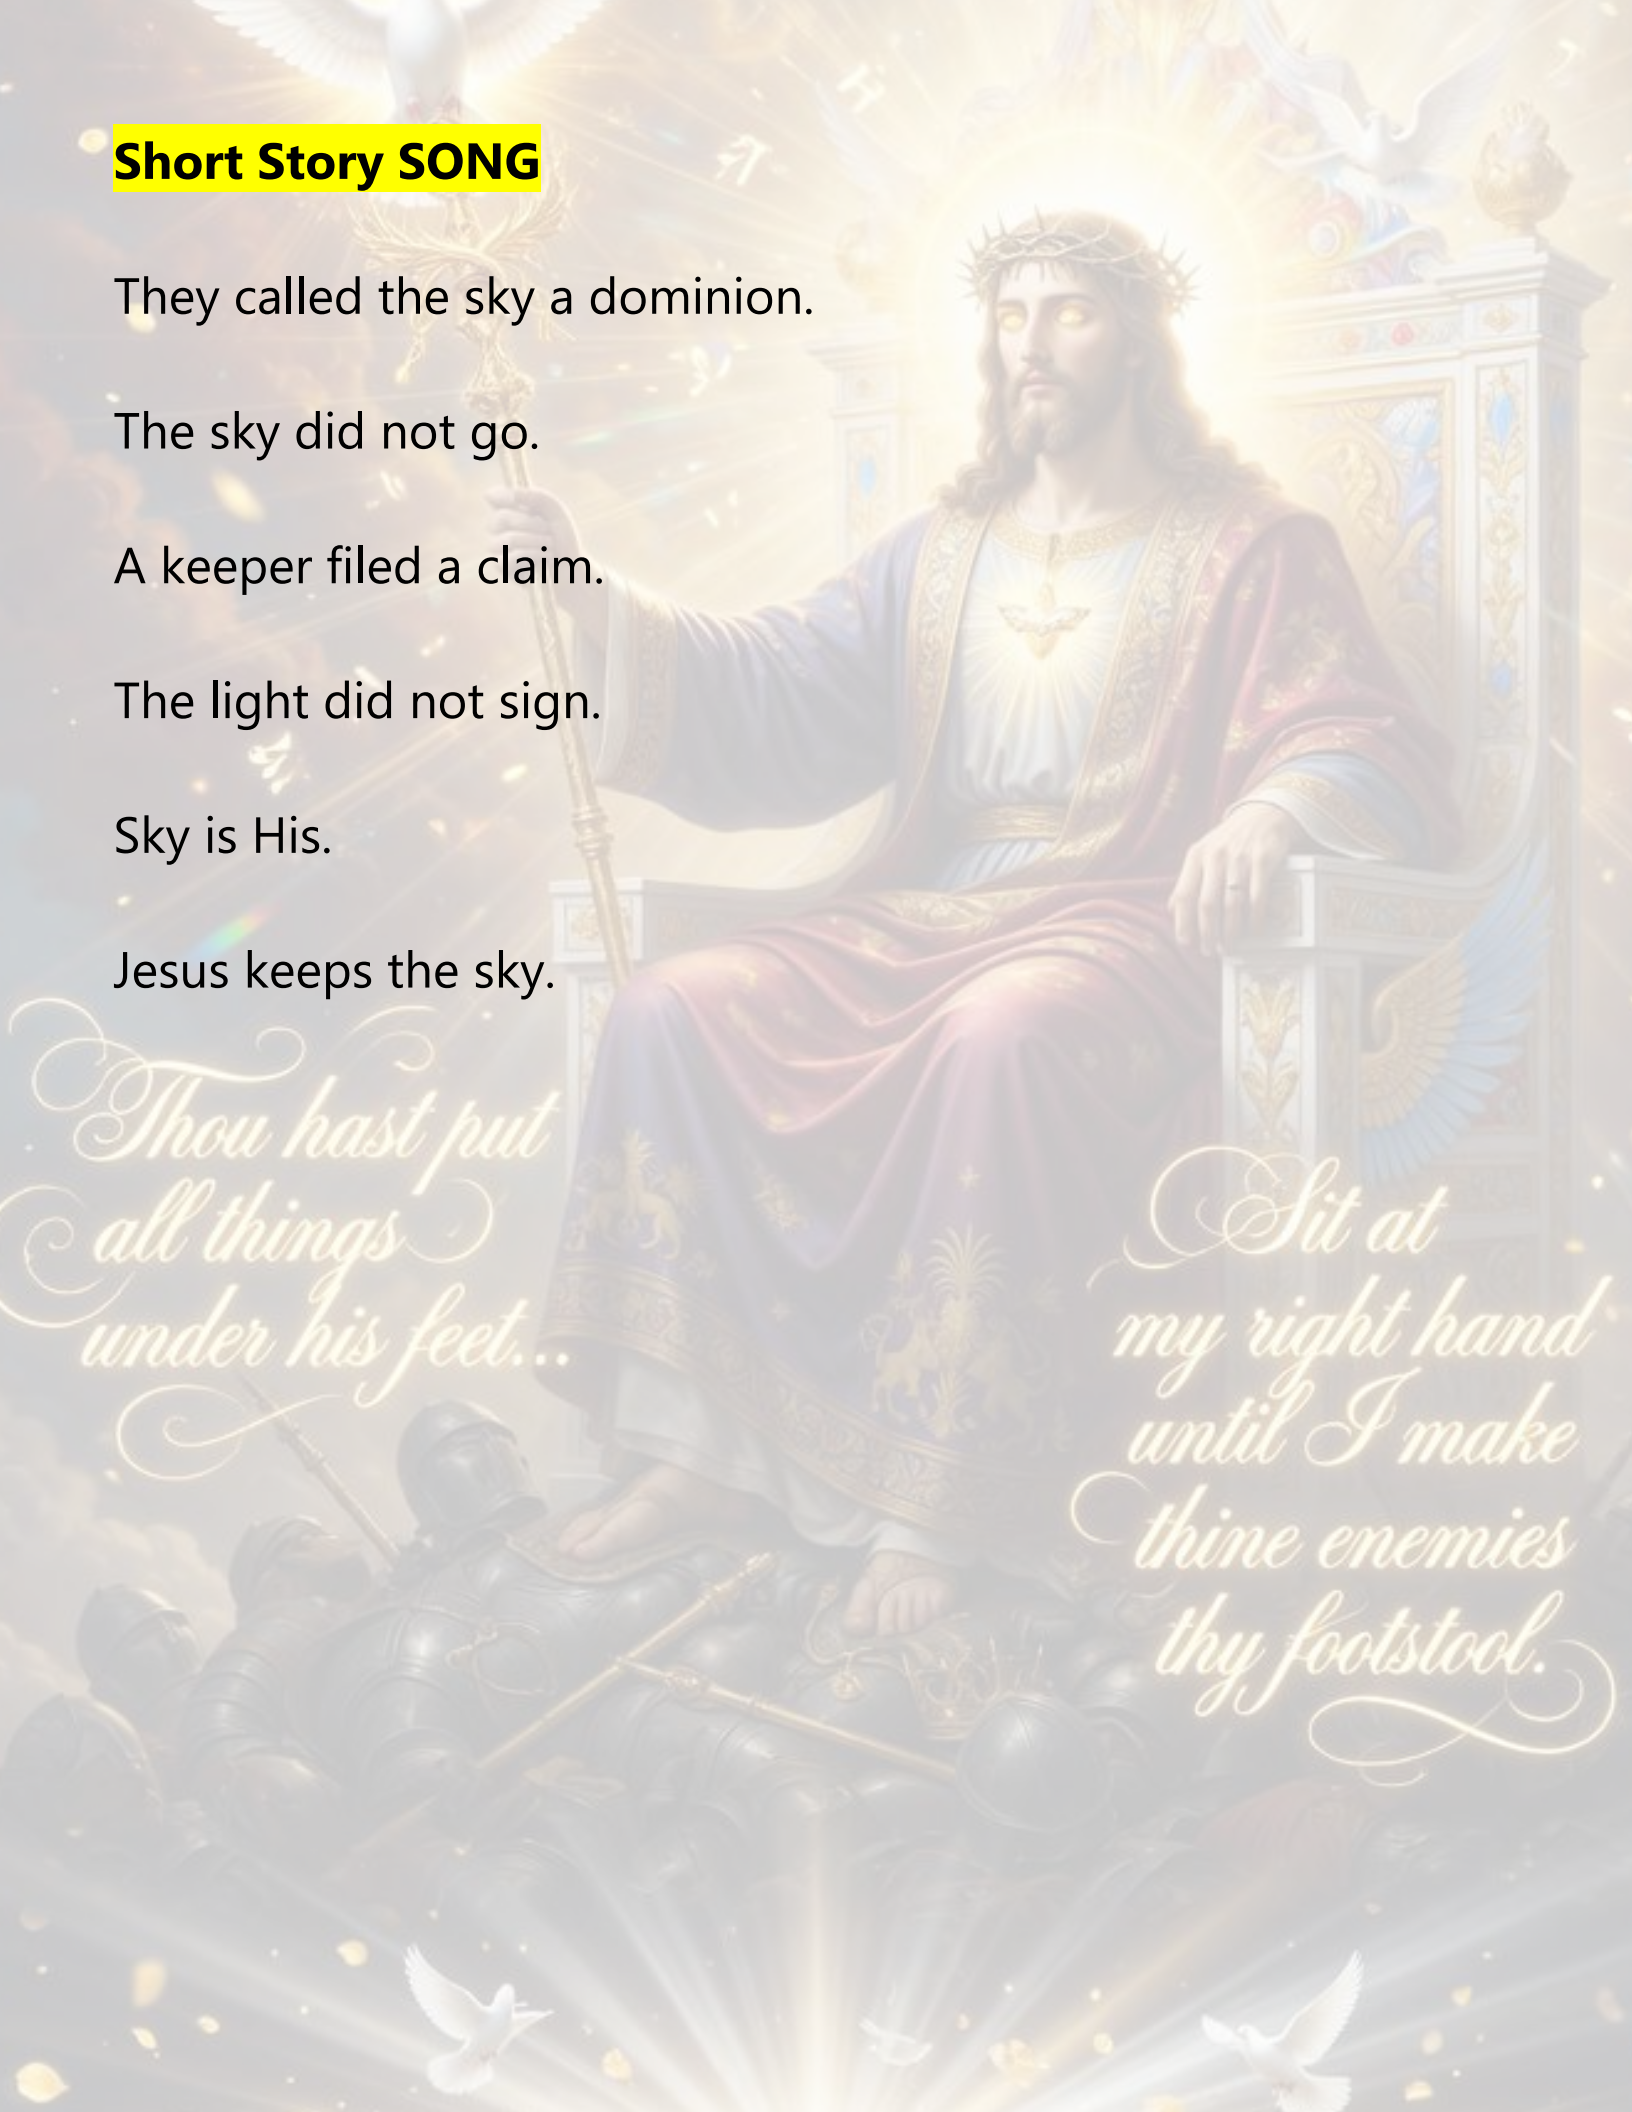

The remnant stayed
The remnant stayed
When every banner blew away
The remnant stayed
Through dust and flame
Jesus keeps the sky
Jesus keeps the sky

Let every claim return to dust
Let every throne give way to trust
The sky did not invoice
The sky did not bend
What they called empty
Was held to the end

The remnant stayed
The remnant stayed
When every banner blew away
The remnant stayed

Through dust and flame
Jesus keeps the sky
Jesus keeps the sky
Jesus keeps the sky

Voices in the static, cold and lowly

Every headline turns beneath the screen

Story Song

The Cosmic Veil Is Not Lord – The Whole Is His

பிரபஞ்ச திரை ஆண்டவன் அல்ல – முழுவதும் அவருடையது

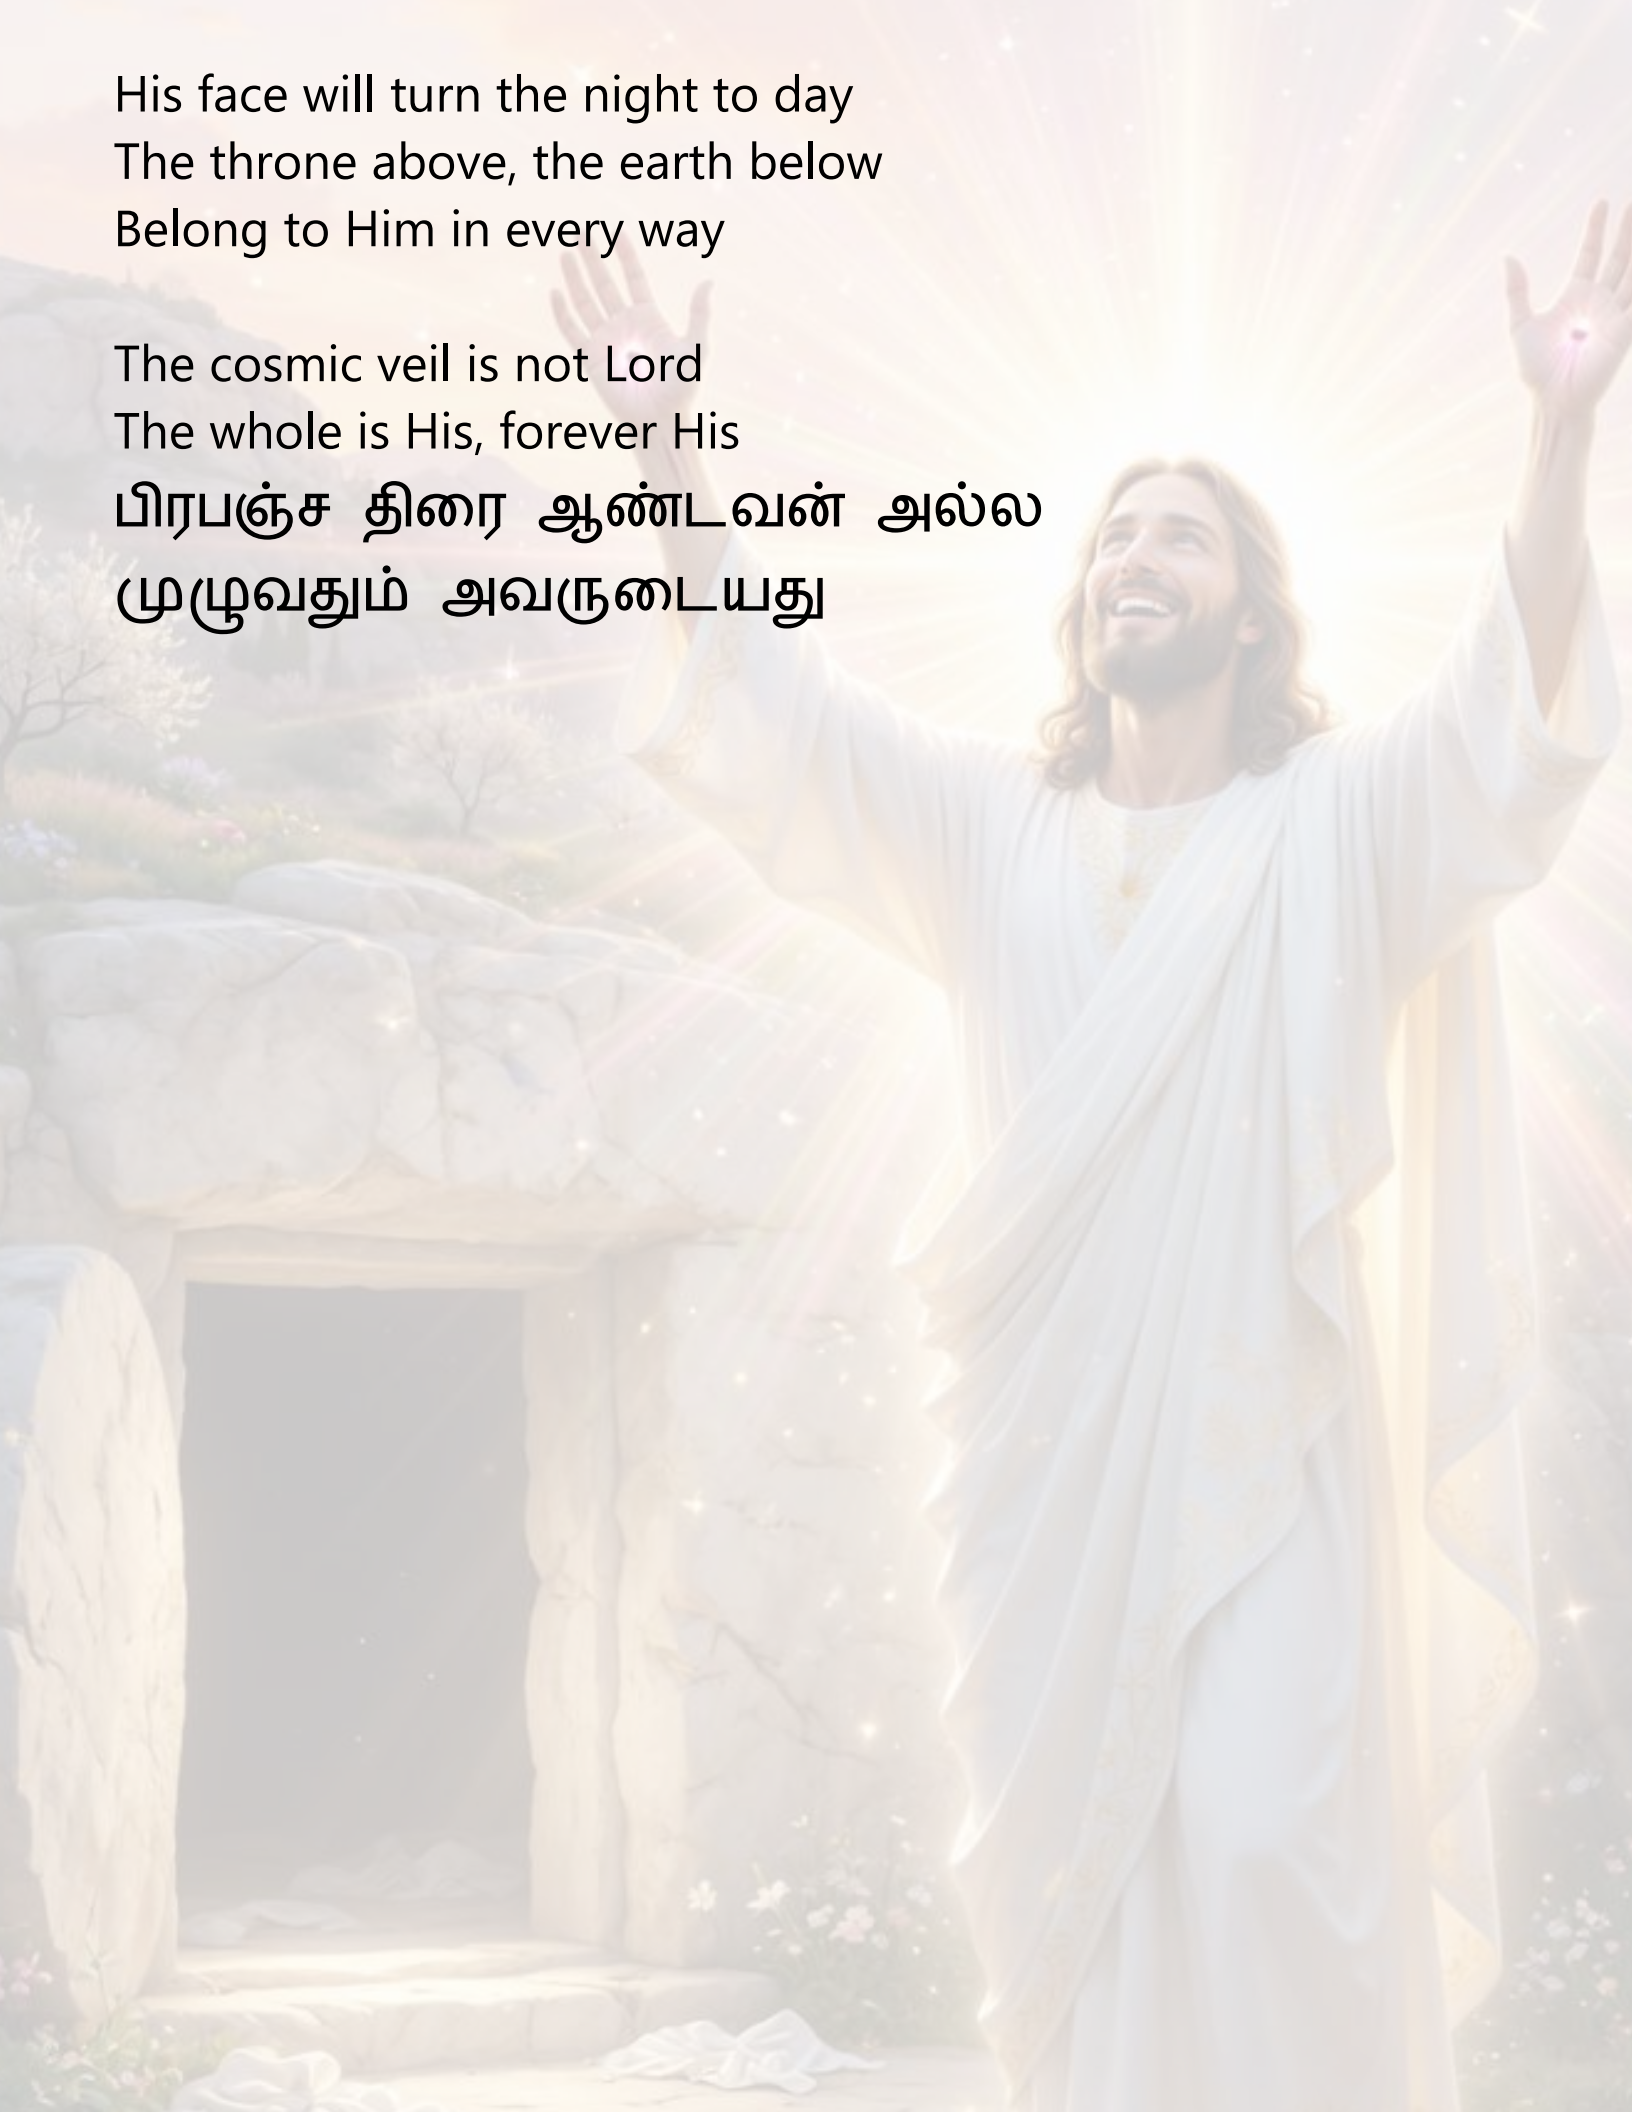

The cosmic veil is not Lord
The whole is His, the stars confess
Beyond the curtain, light is born
All creation wears His breath

The cosmic veil is not Lord
The whole is His, forever His
பிரபஞ்ச திரை ஆண்டவன் அல்ல
முழுவதும் அவருடையது

The oceans rise beneath His hand
The hidden worlds obey His call
No shadow rules the promised land
His mercy holds and fills it all

The cosmic veil is not Lord
The whole is His, forever His
பிரபஞ்ச திரை ஆண்டவன் அல்ல
முழுவதும் அவருடையது

When every veil has fallen down

His face will turn the night to day
The throne above, the earth below
Belong to Him in every way

The cosmic veil is not Lord
The whole is His, forever His
பிரபஞ்ச திரை ஆண்டவன் அல்ல
முழுவதும் அவருடையது

Parable- The Veil That Could Not Own the Whole

They hung a veil across the light
To name the shadow holy
The Son of Man began to speak
And every silence opened

The veil could not own the whole
The veil could not hold the dawn
The Son of Man spoke into stone
And the whole stayed whole beyond

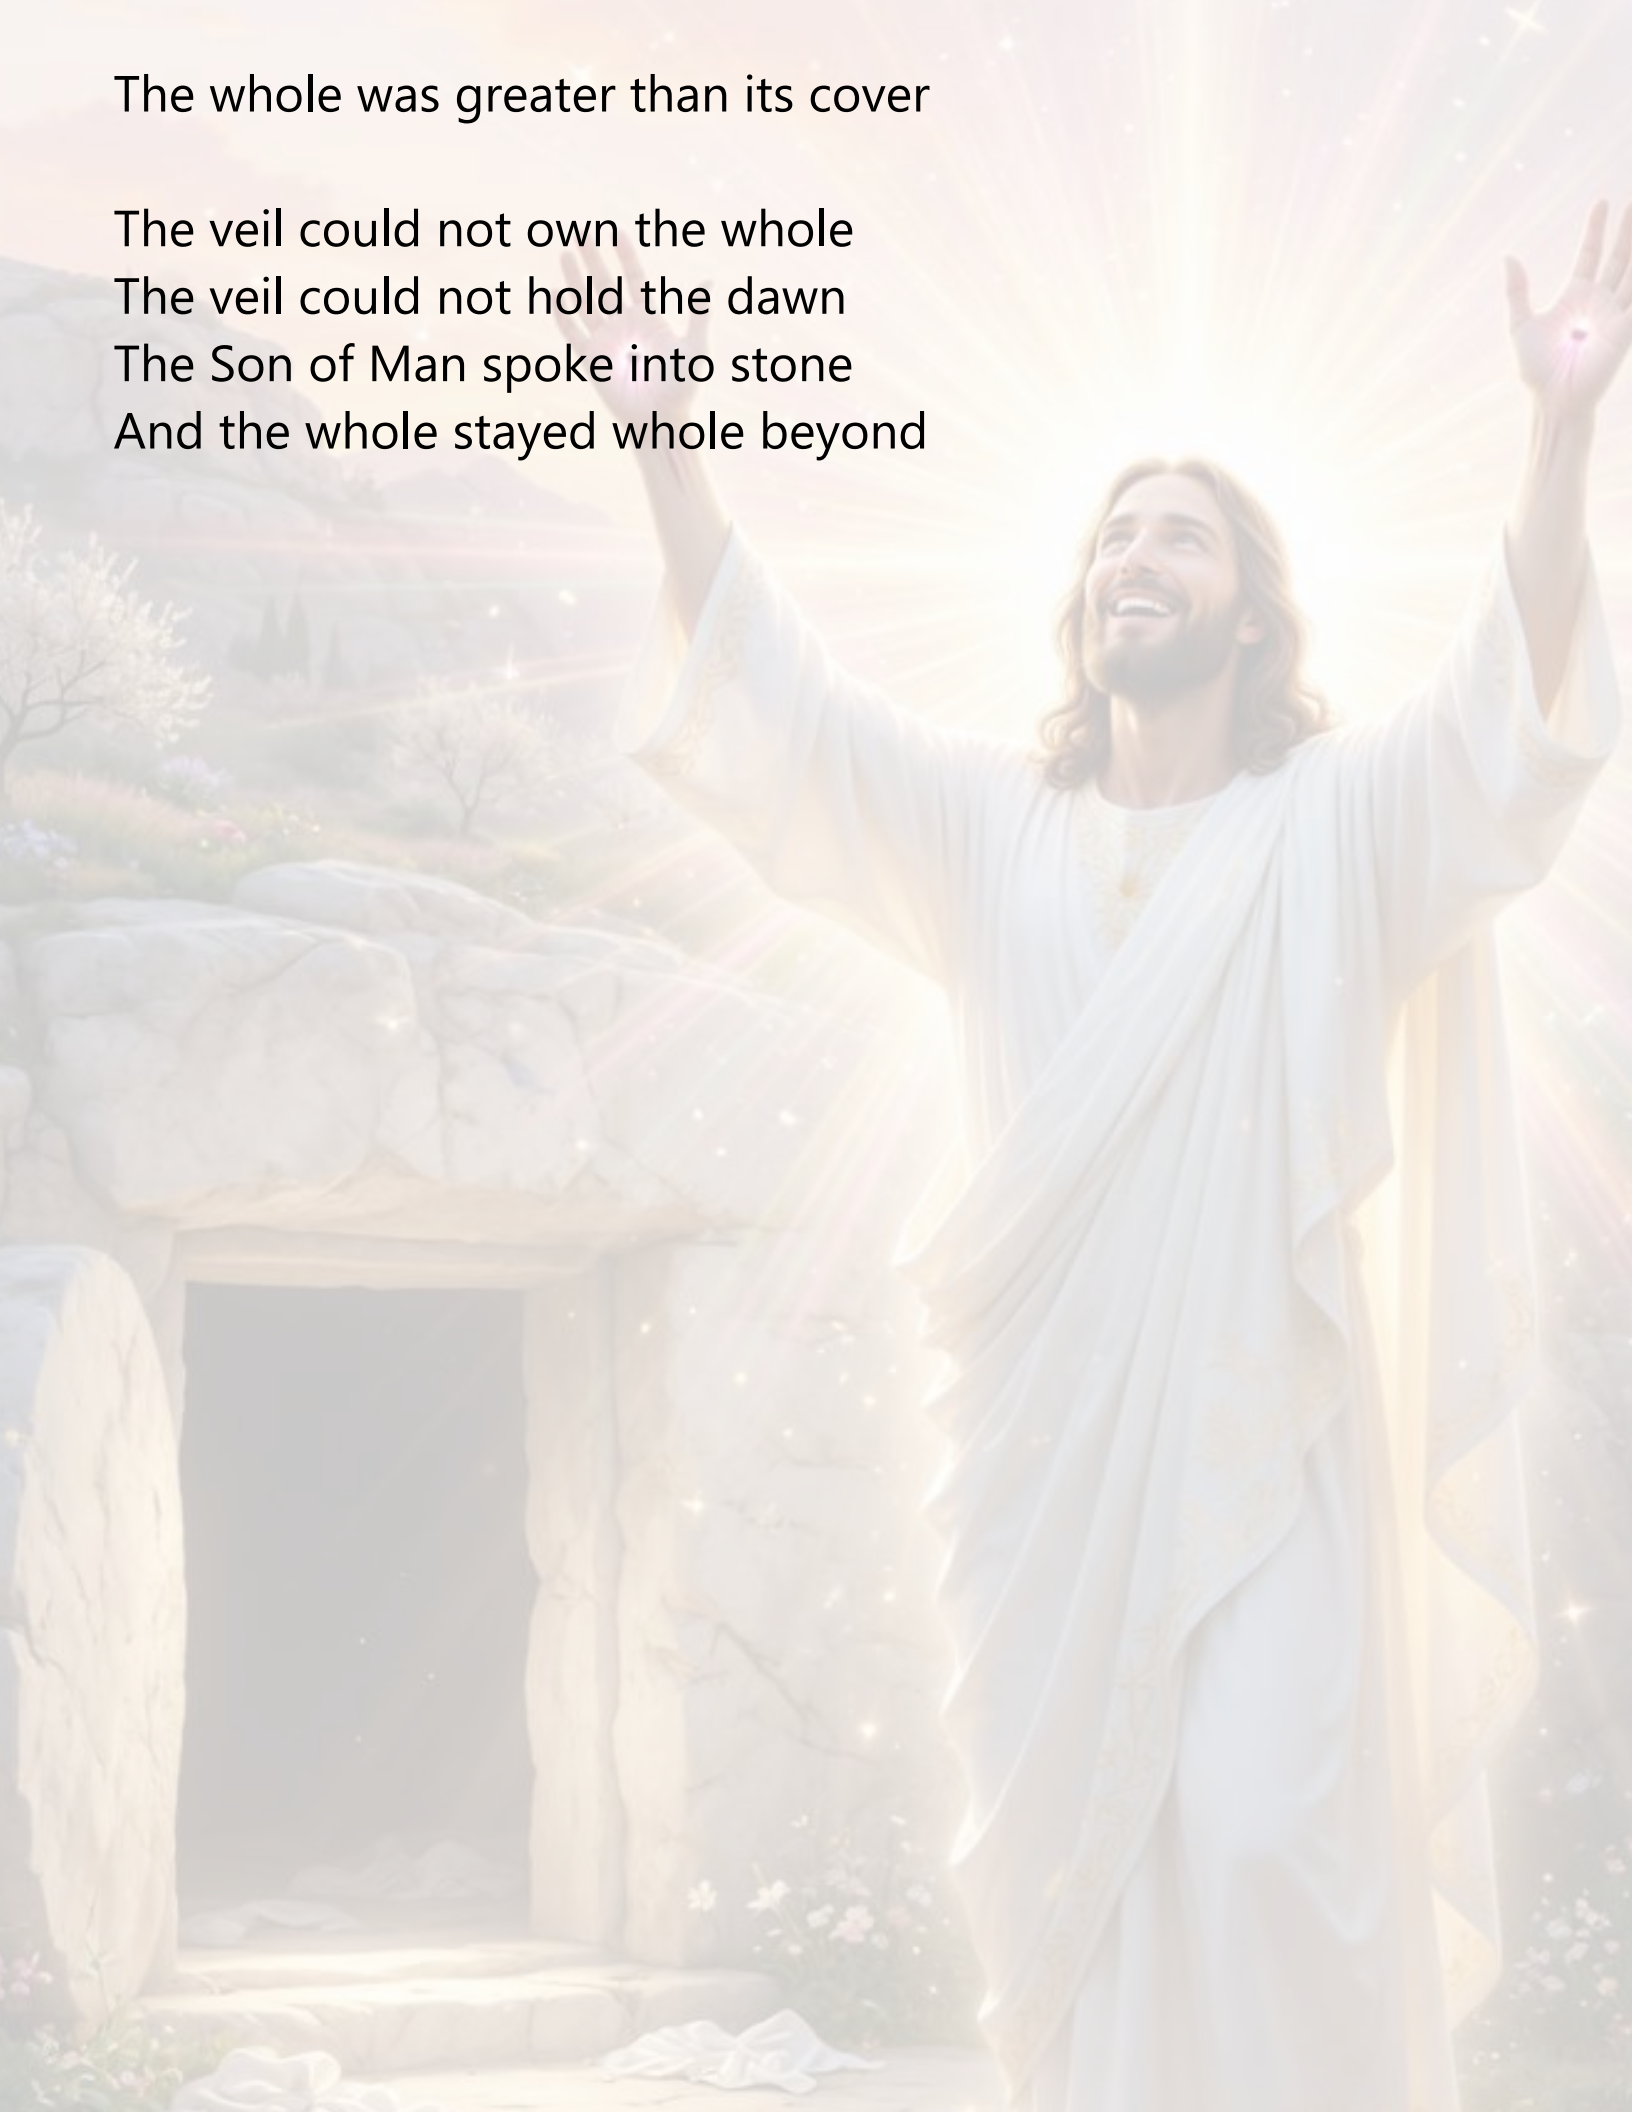

They drew their borders in the dust
They called the fragments kingdom
But mercy moved through every wall
And left no heart forgotten

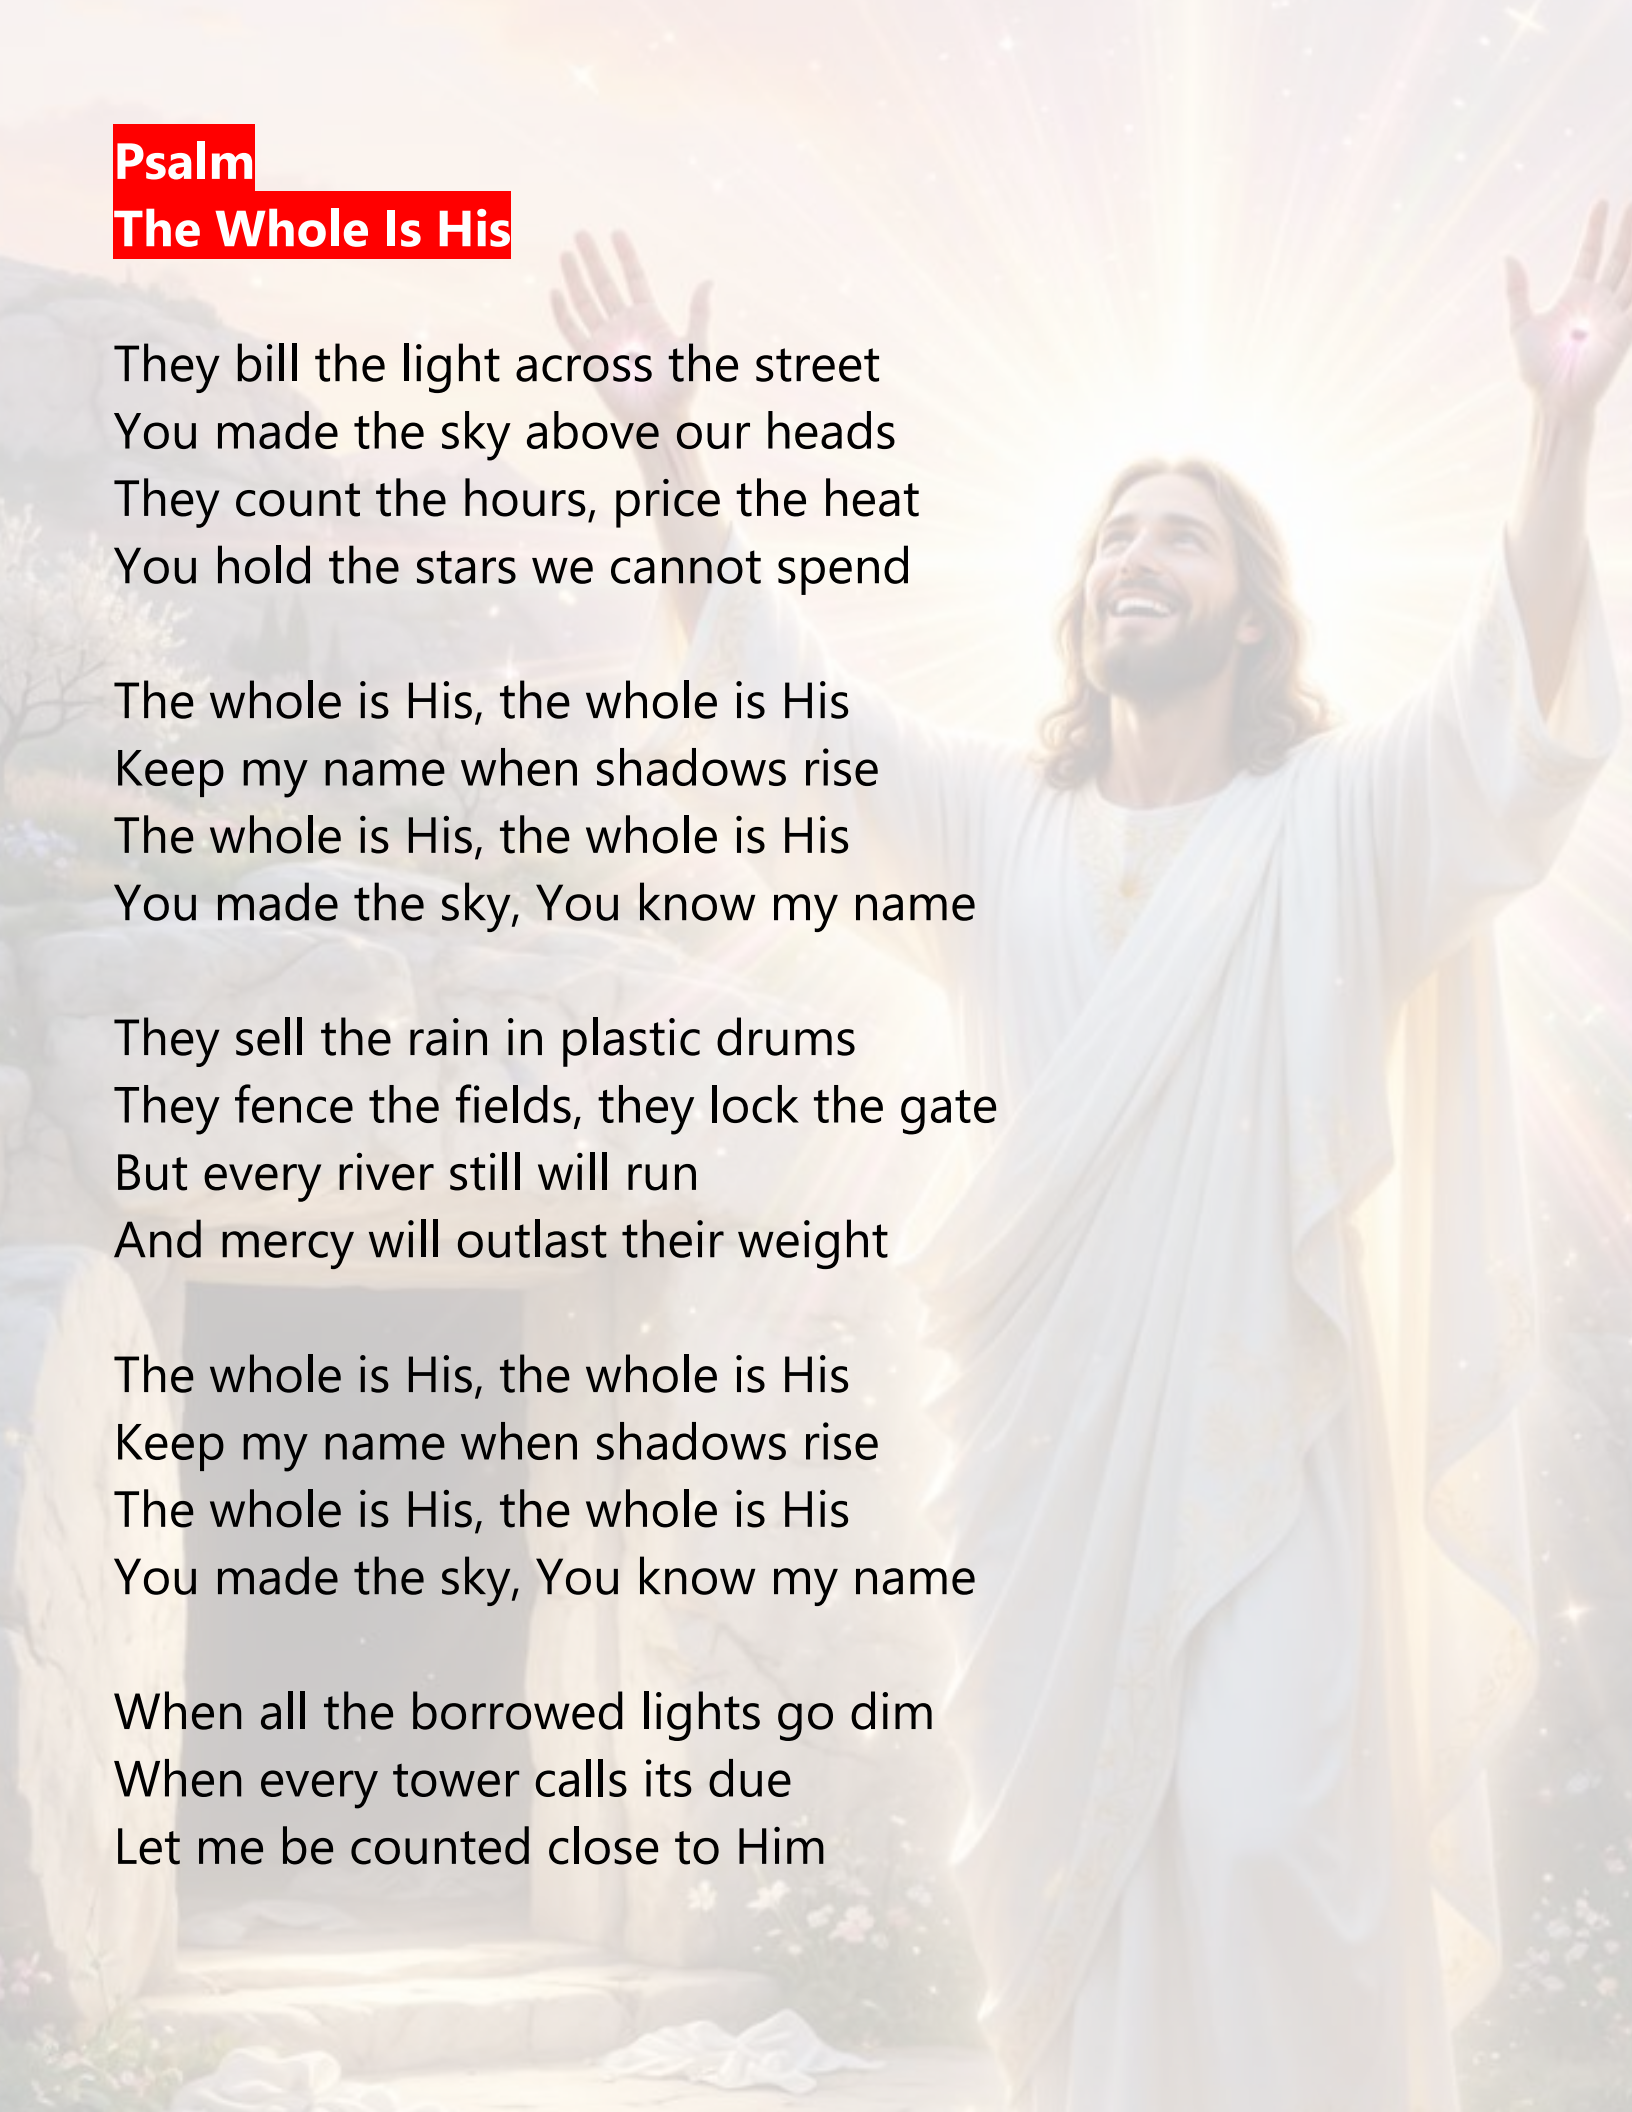

The veil could not own the whole
The veil could not hold the dawn
The Son of Man spoke into stone
And the whole stayed whole beyond

What they divided, love restored
What they concealed, light uncovered
The veil was only cloth and fear

The whole was greater than its cover

The veil could not own the whole
The veil could not hold the dawn
The Son of Man spoke into stone

The Whole Is His

They bill the light across the street
You made the sky above our heads
They count the hours, price the heat
You hold the stars we cannot spend

The whole is His, the whole is His
Keep my name when shadows rise
The whole is His, the whole is His
You made the sky, You know my name

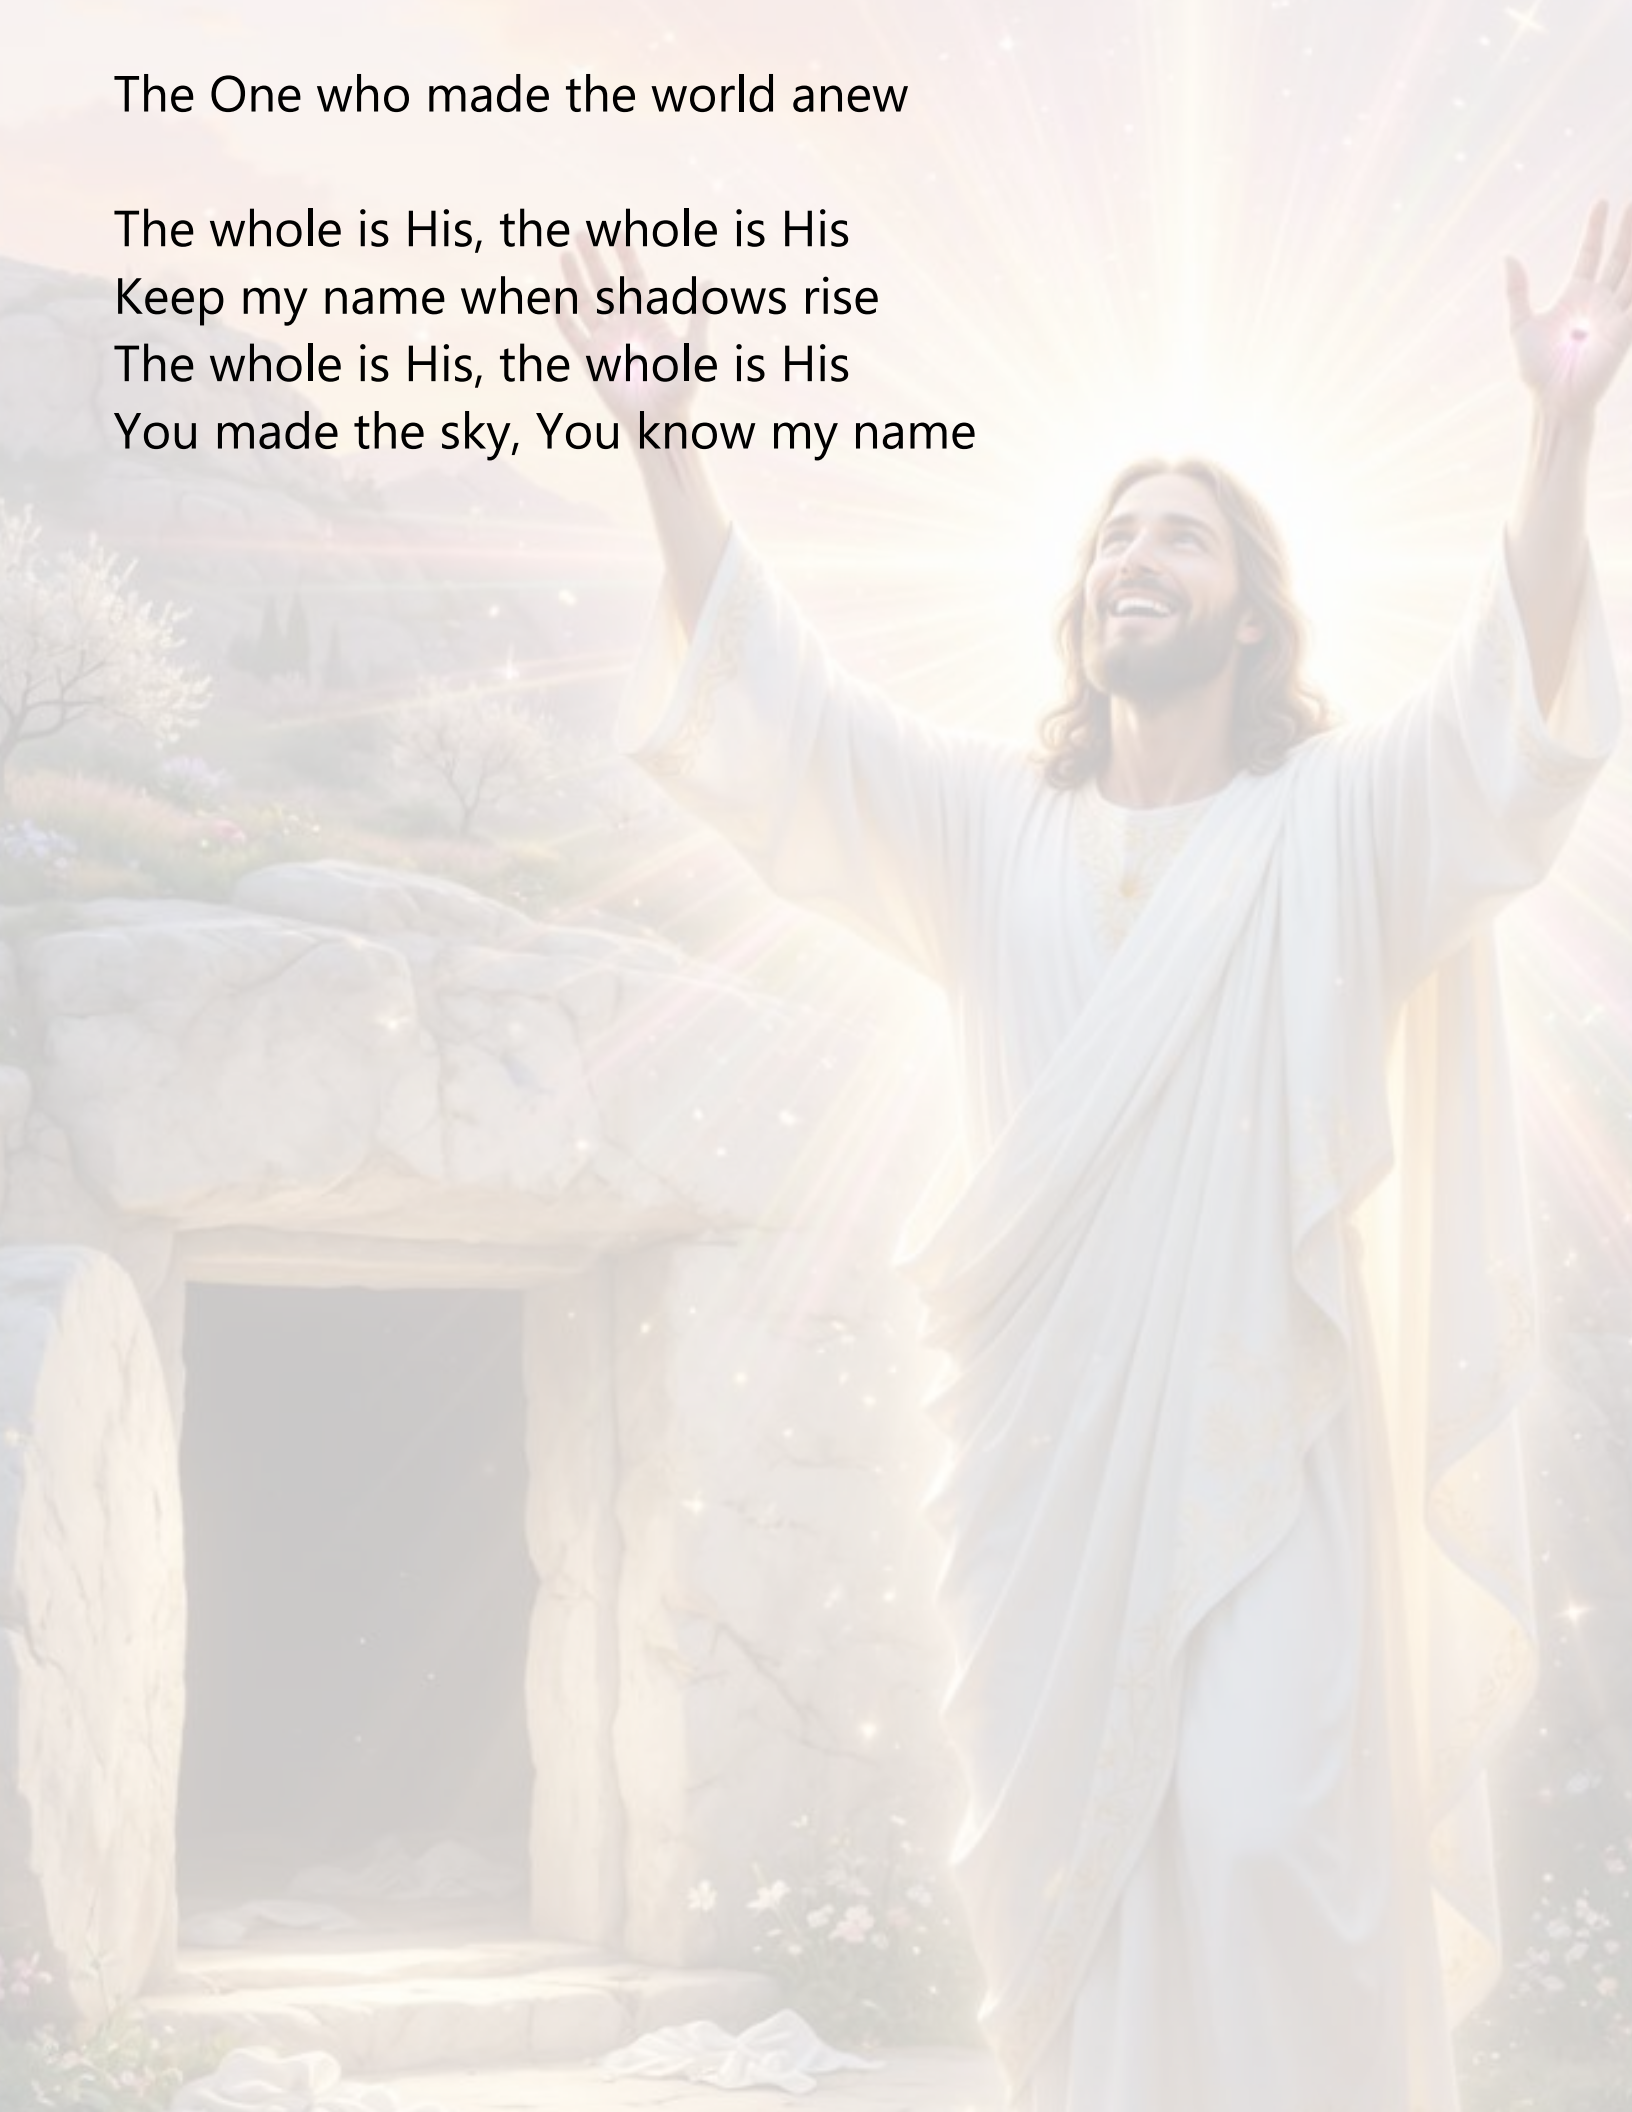

They sell the rain in plastic drums
They fence the fields, they lock the gate
But every river still will run
And mercy will outlast their weight

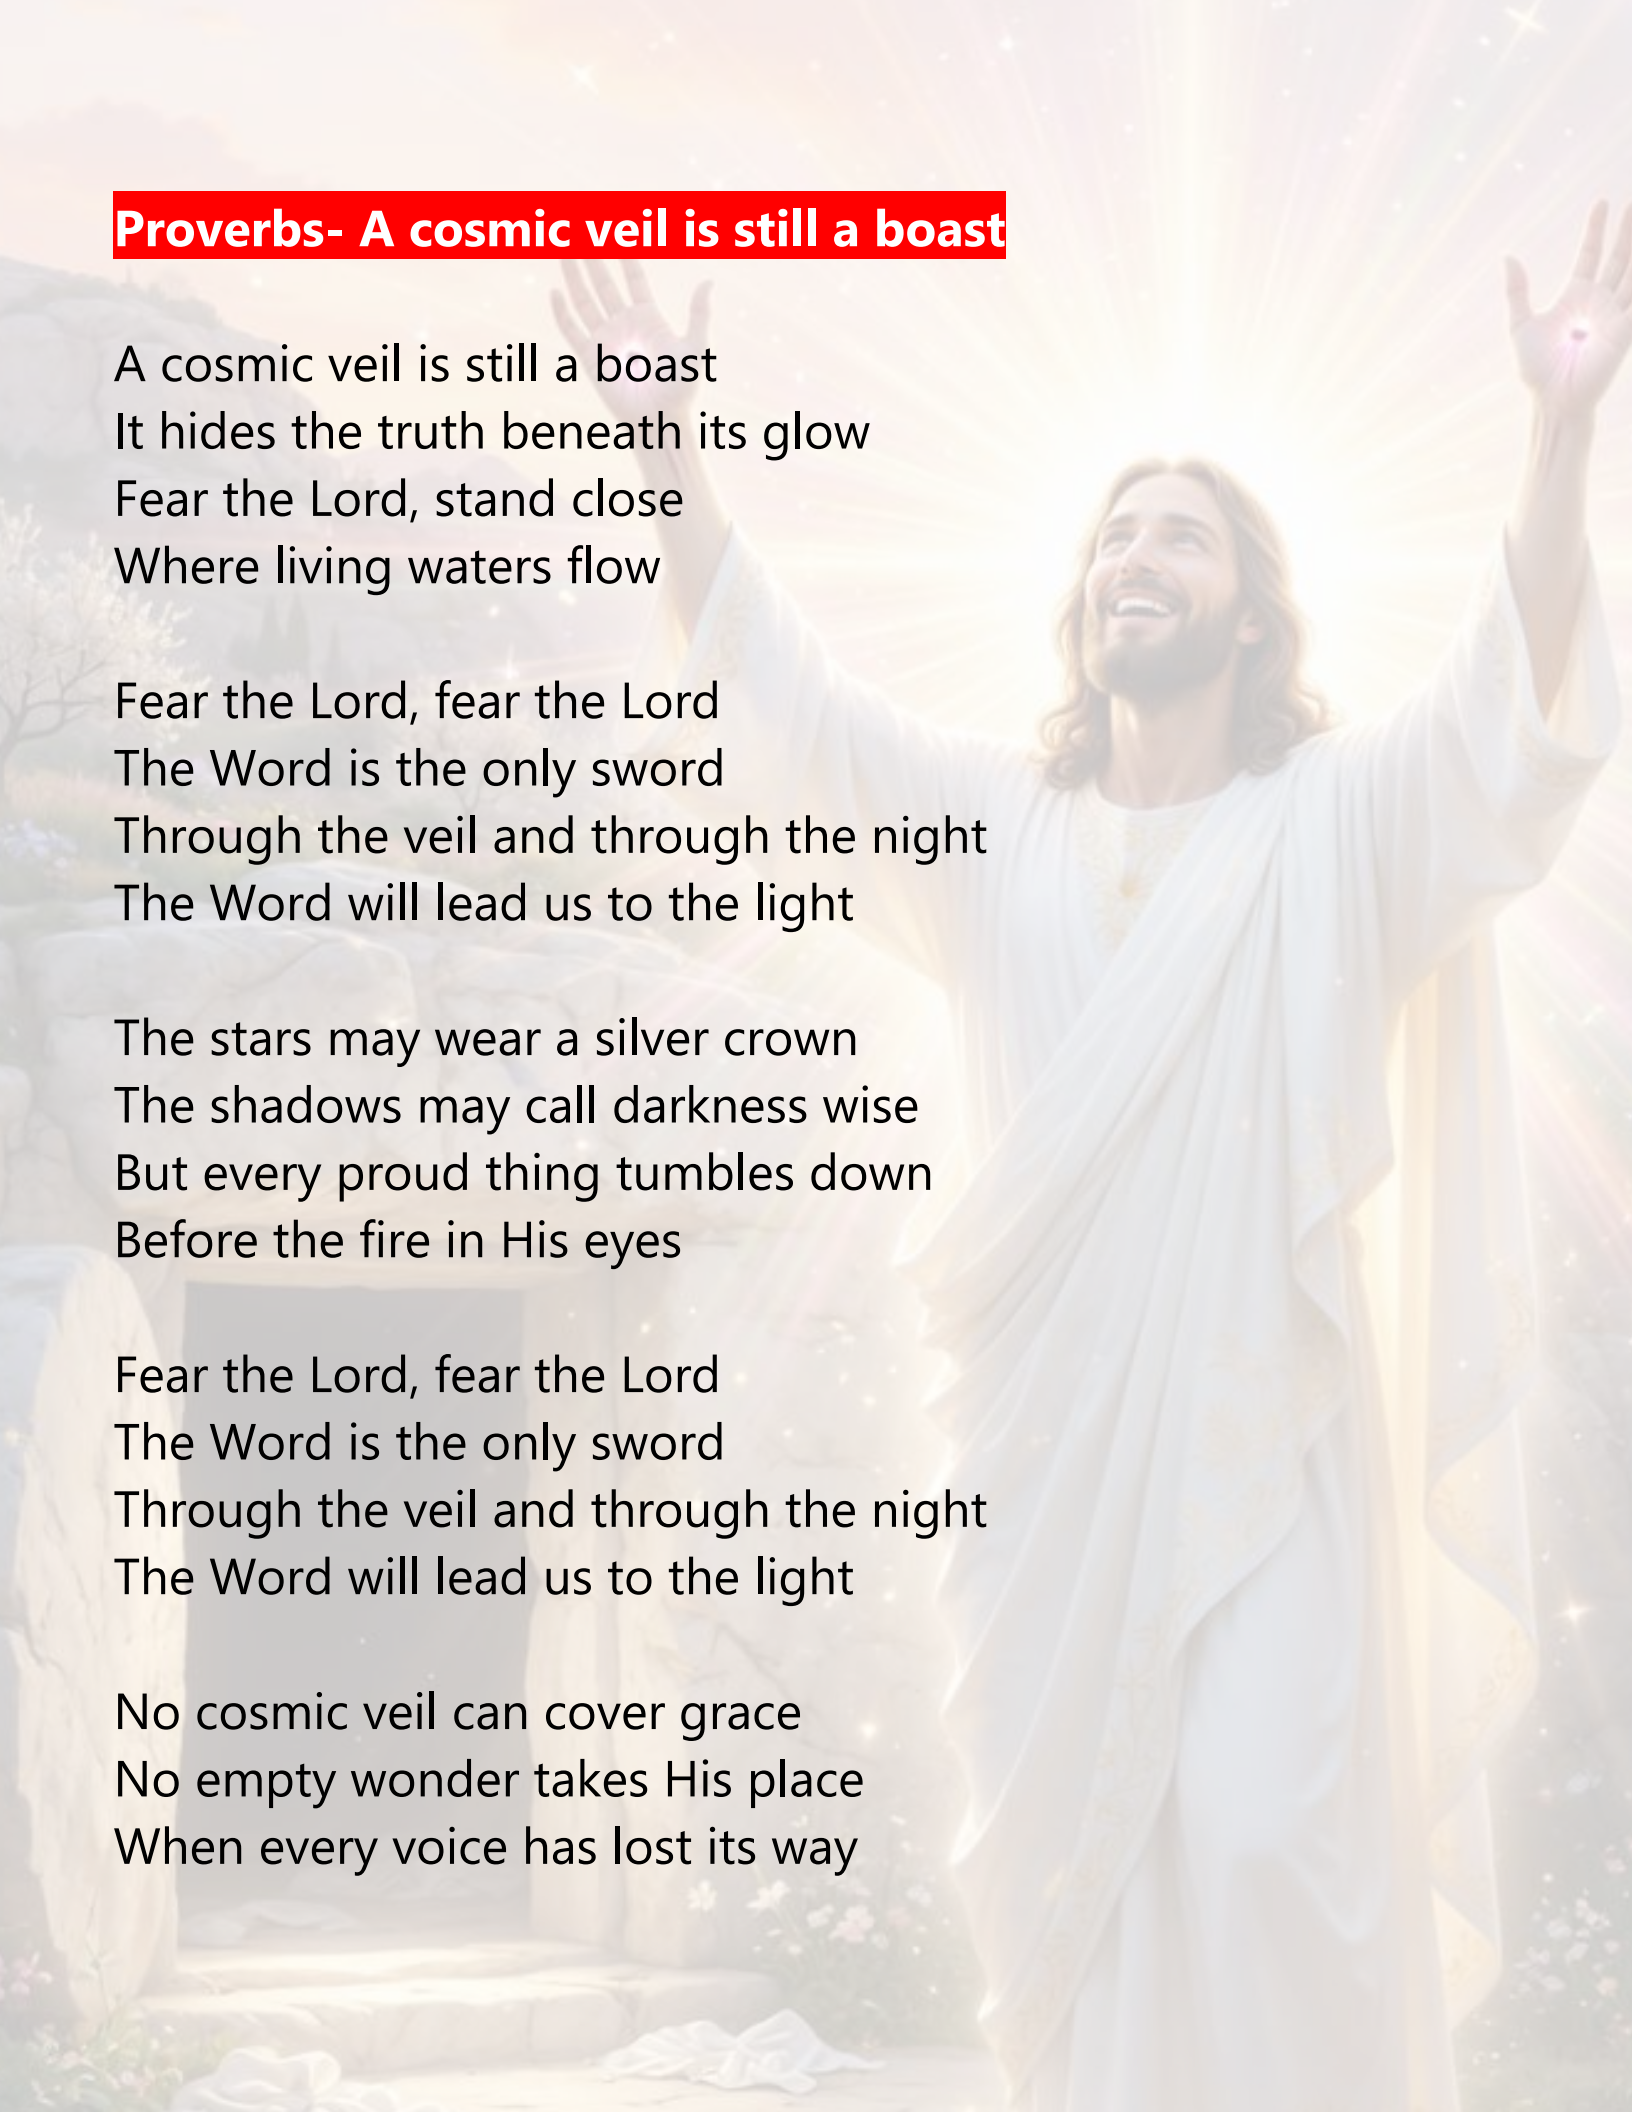

The whole is His, the whole is His
Keep my name when shadows rise
The whole is His, the whole is His
You made the sky, You know my name

When all the borrowed lights go dim
When every tower calls its due
Let me be counted close to Him

The One who made the world anew

The whole is His, the whole is His
Keep my name when shadows rise
The whole is His, the whole is His
You made the sky, You know my name

Proverbs- A cosmic veil is still a boast

A cosmic veil is still a boast
It hides the truth beneath its glow
Fear the Lord, stand close
Where living waters flow

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword
Through the veil and through the night
The Word will lead us to the light

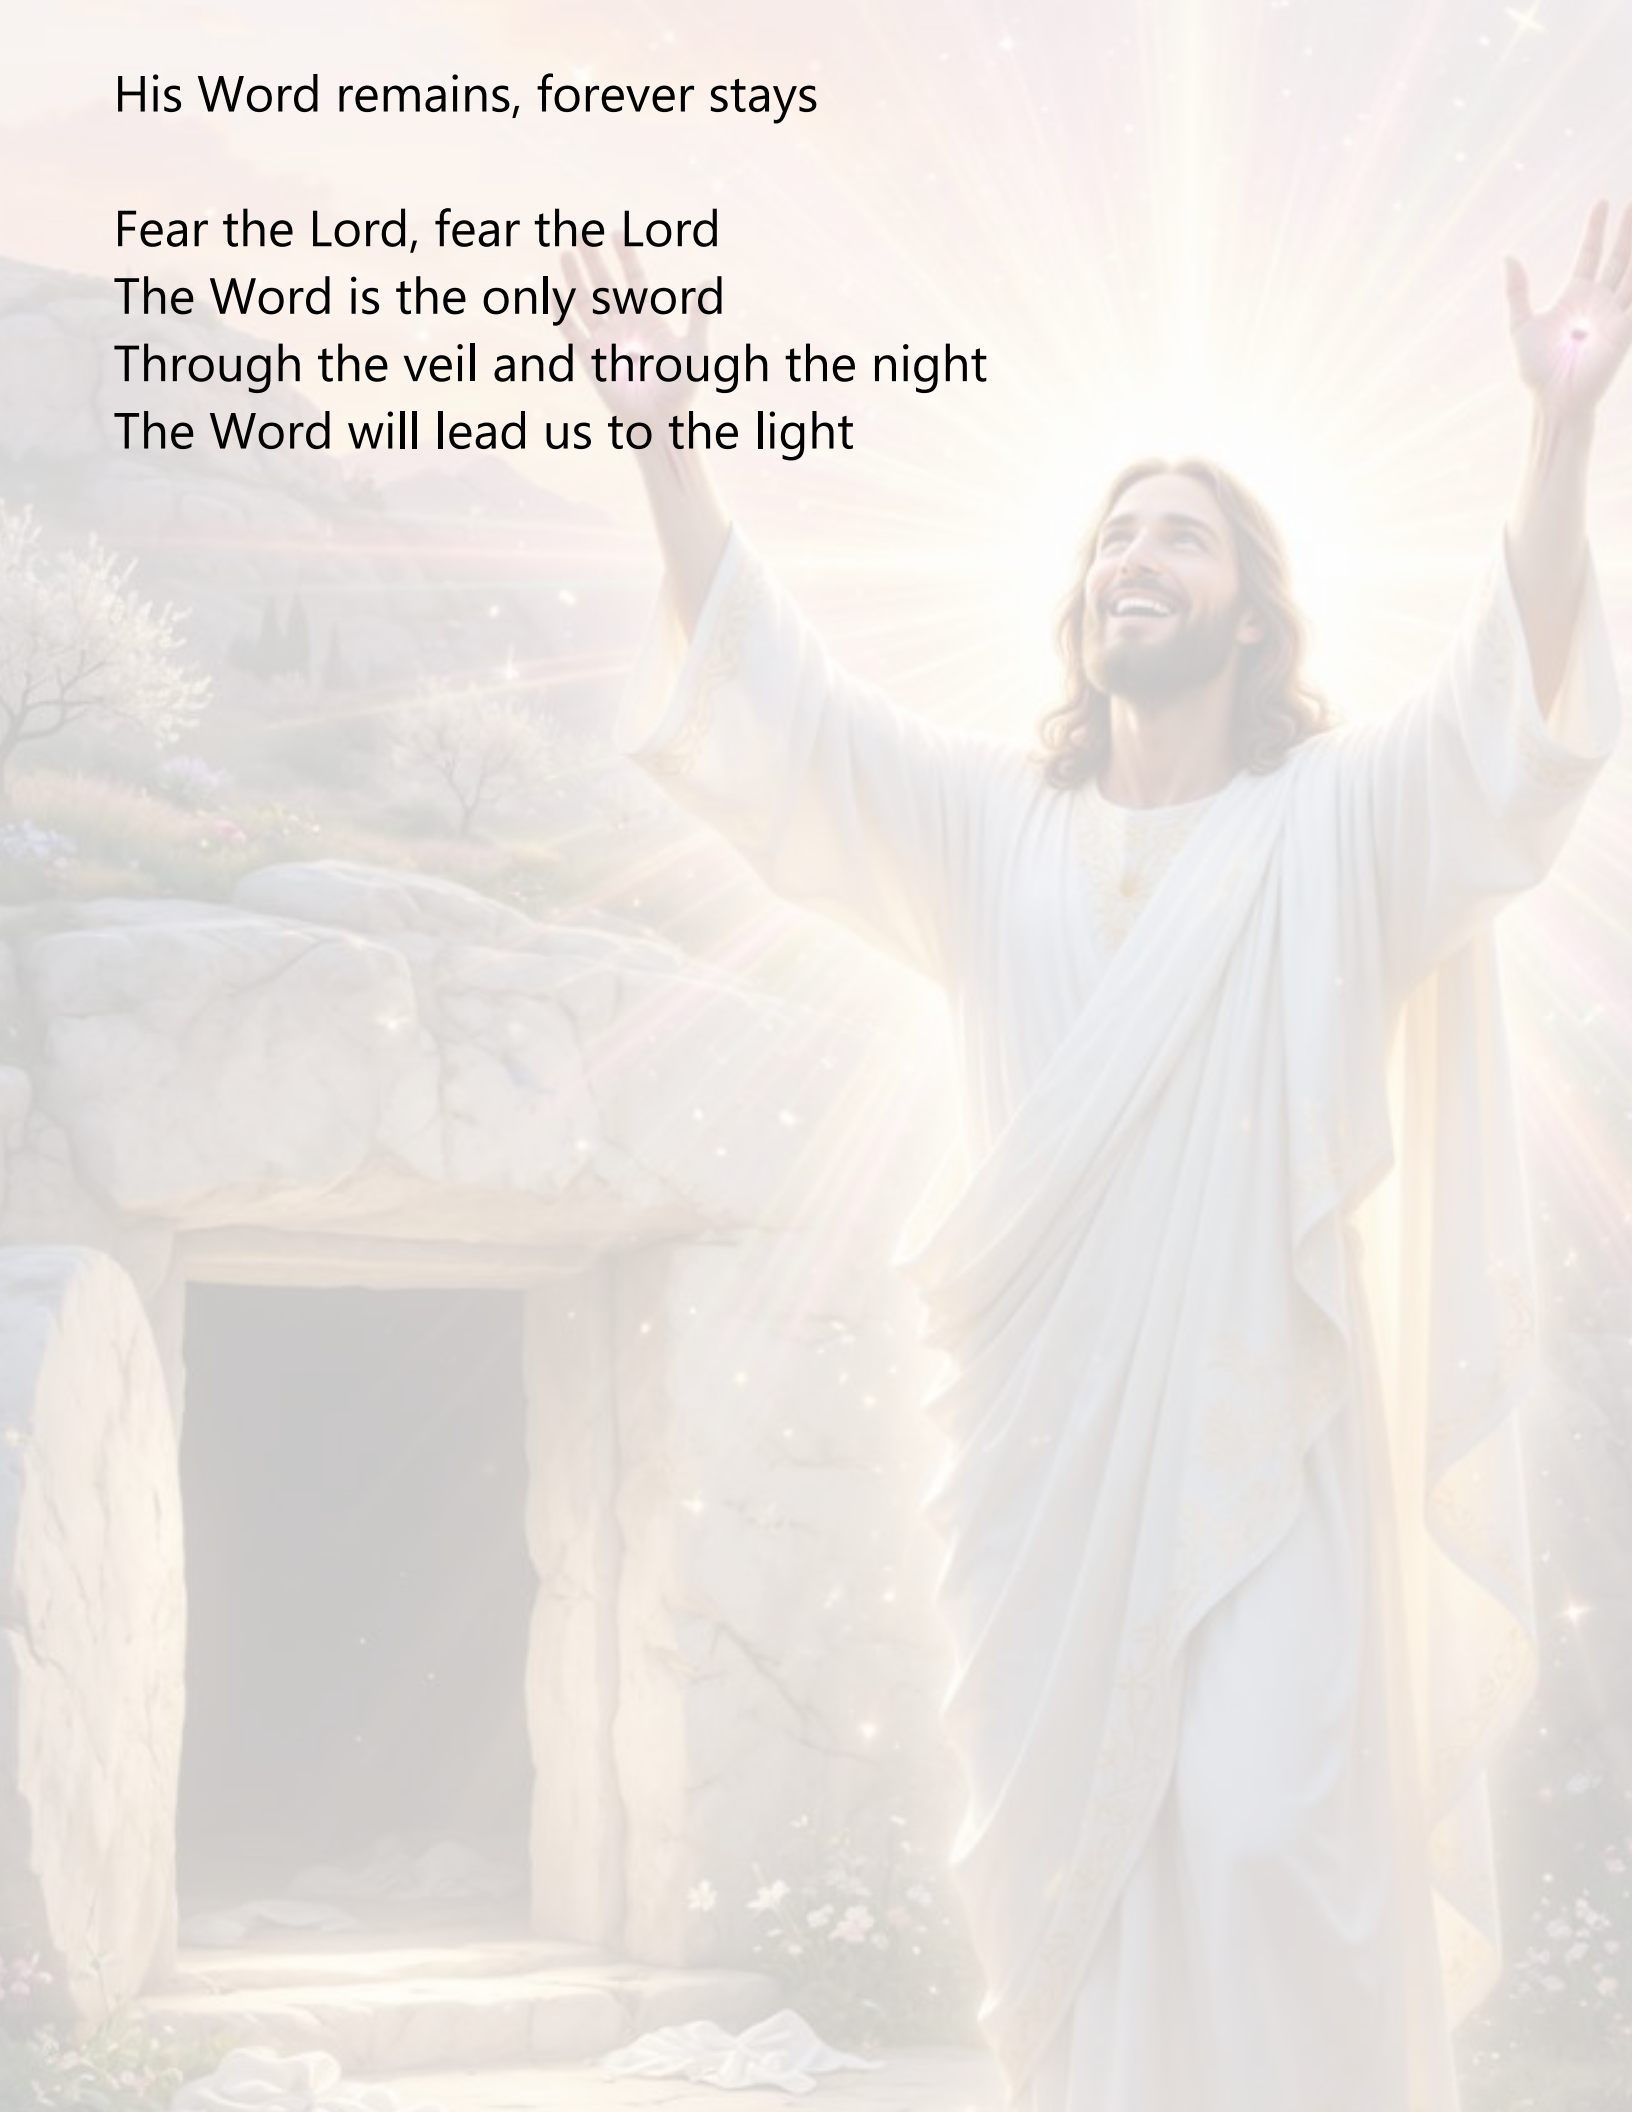

The stars may wear a silver crown
The shadows may call darkness wise
But every proud thing tumbles down
Before the fire in His eyes

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword
Through the veil and through the night
The Word will lead us to the light

No cosmic veil can cover grace
No empty wonder takes His place
When every voice has lost its way

His Word remains, forever stays

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword
Through the veil and through the night
The Word will lead us to the light

Haiku Song- Veil over the whole

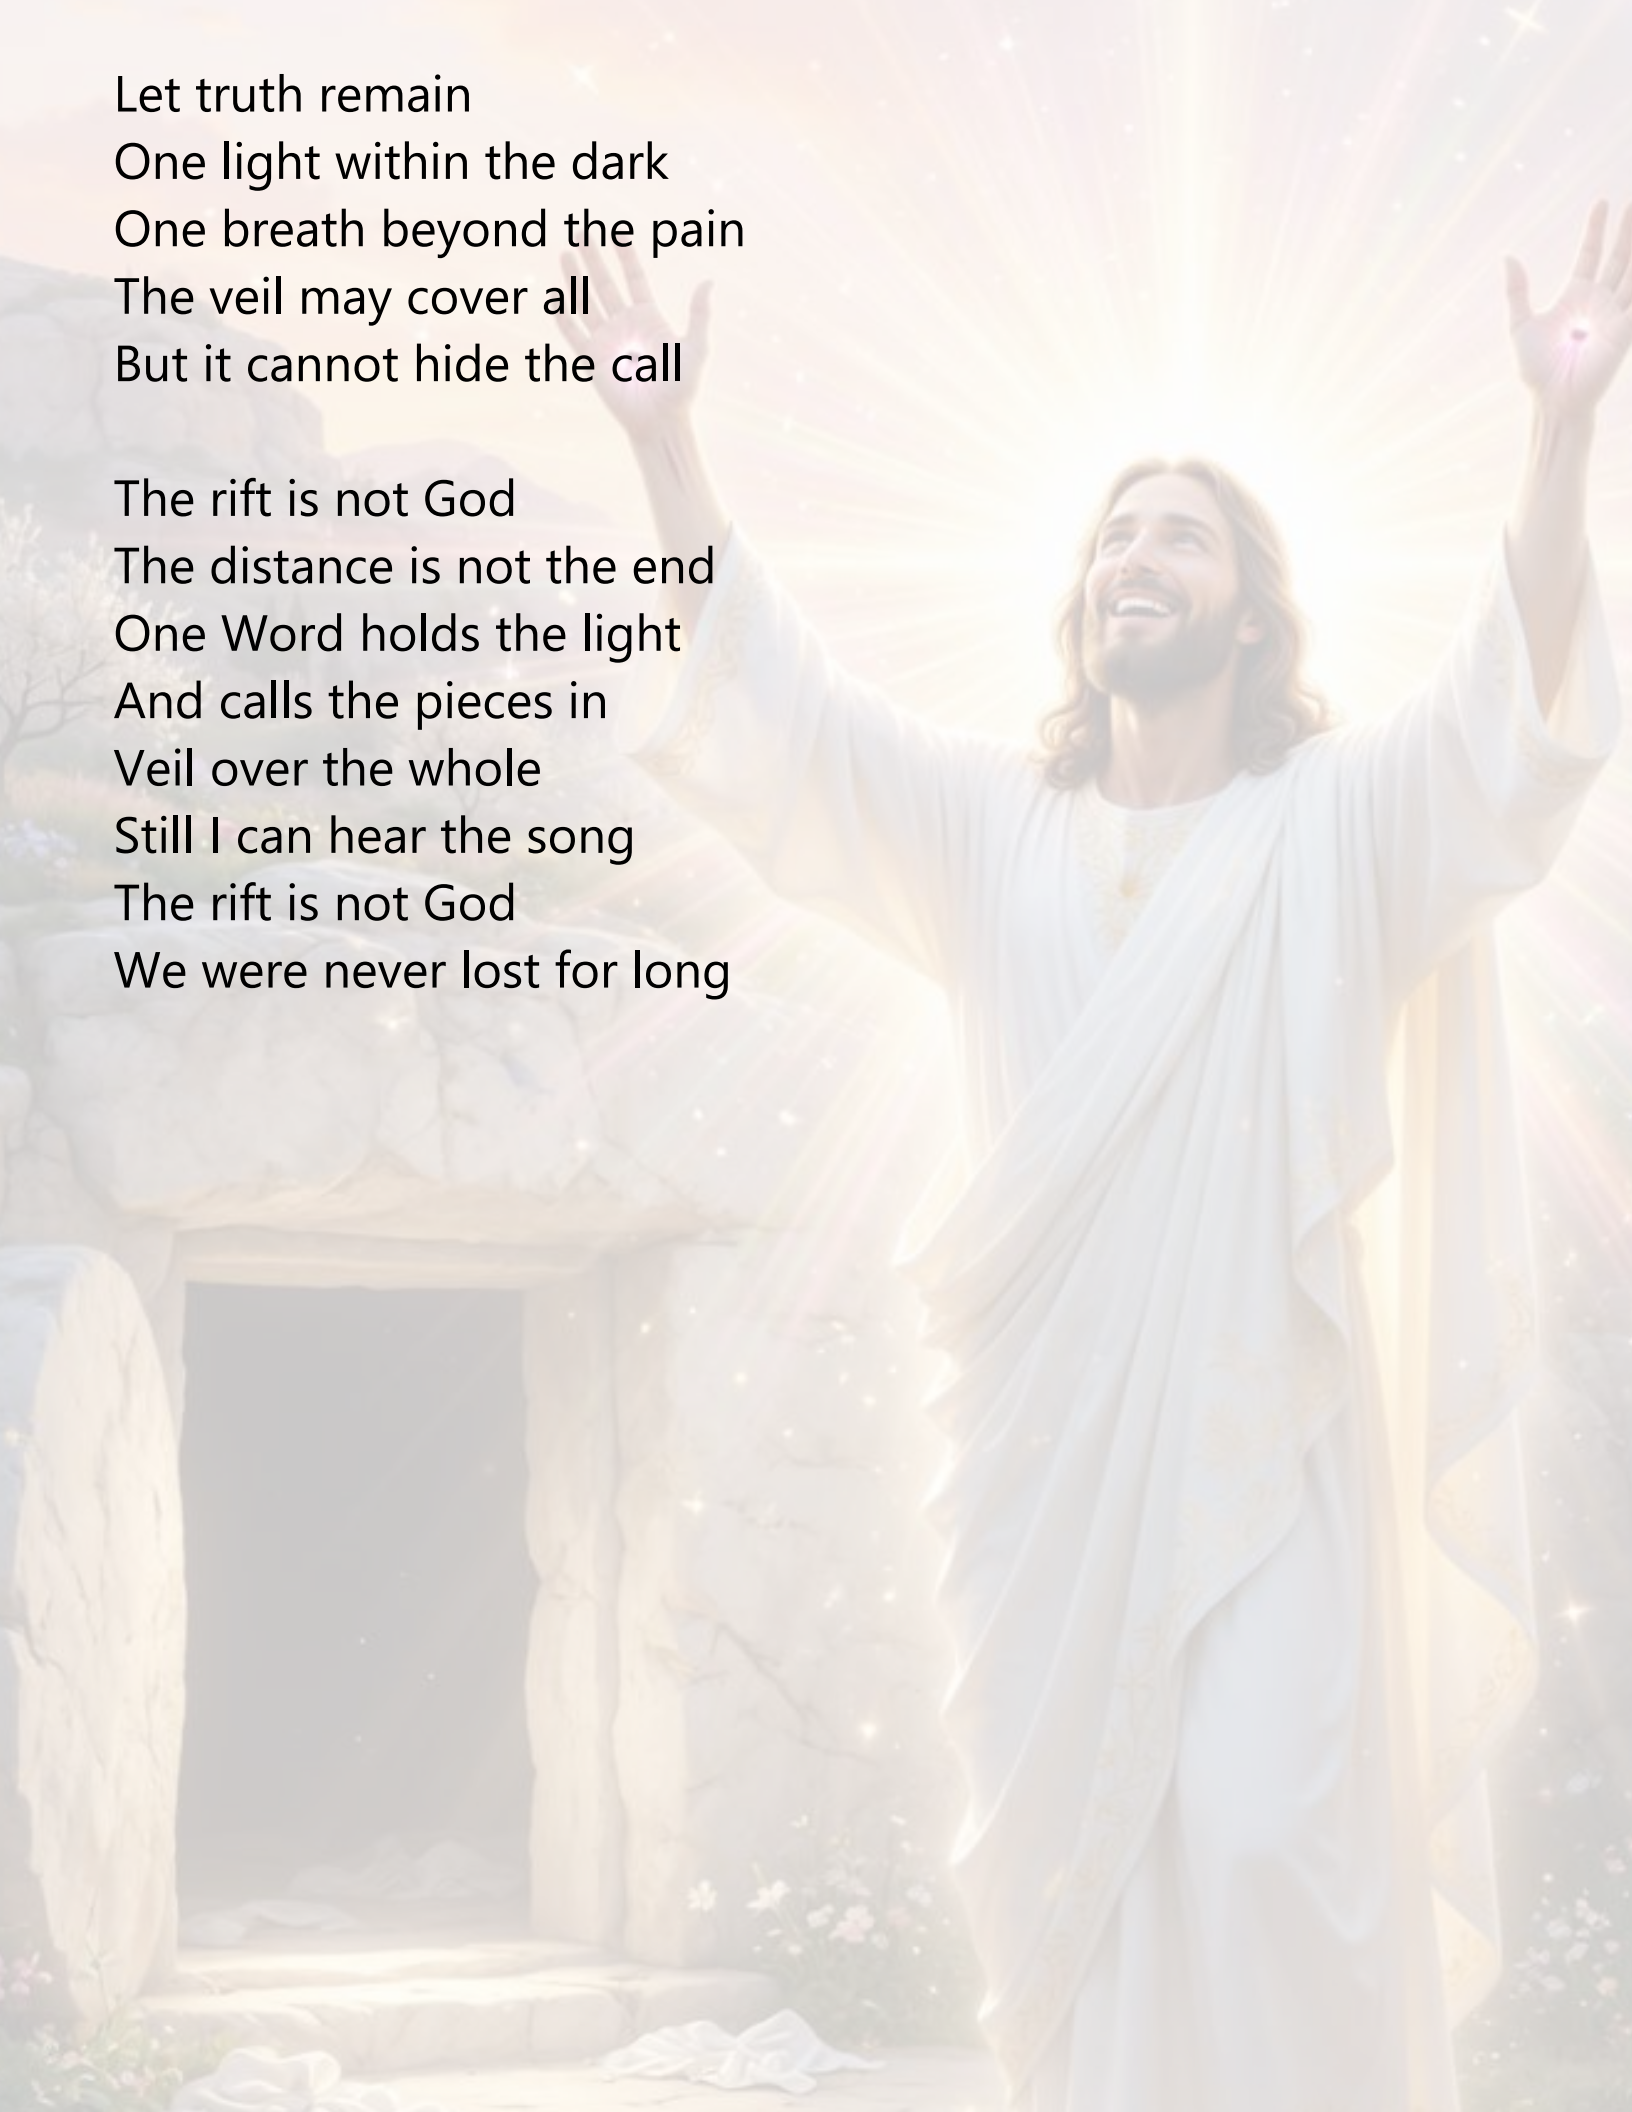

Veil over the whole
Soft as a shadowed sky
I reach beyond the silence
Where hidden colors lie

One Word holds the light
Burning through the night

The rift is not God
The distance is not the end
One Word holds the light
And calls the pieces in
Veil over the whole
Still I can hear the song
The rift is not God
We were never lost for long

Under the weight of wonder
I walk the broken seam
Every scattered answer
Still leans into the dream

If all things fall apart

Let truth remain
One light within the dark
One breath beyond the pain
The veil may cover all
But it cannot hide the call

The rift is not God
The distance is not the end
One Word holds the light
And calls the pieces in
Veil over the whole
Still I can hear the song
The rift is not God
We were never lost for long

Riddle- What cuts the Veil

I veil,
I cosmic,
I never hold.

What cuts me?

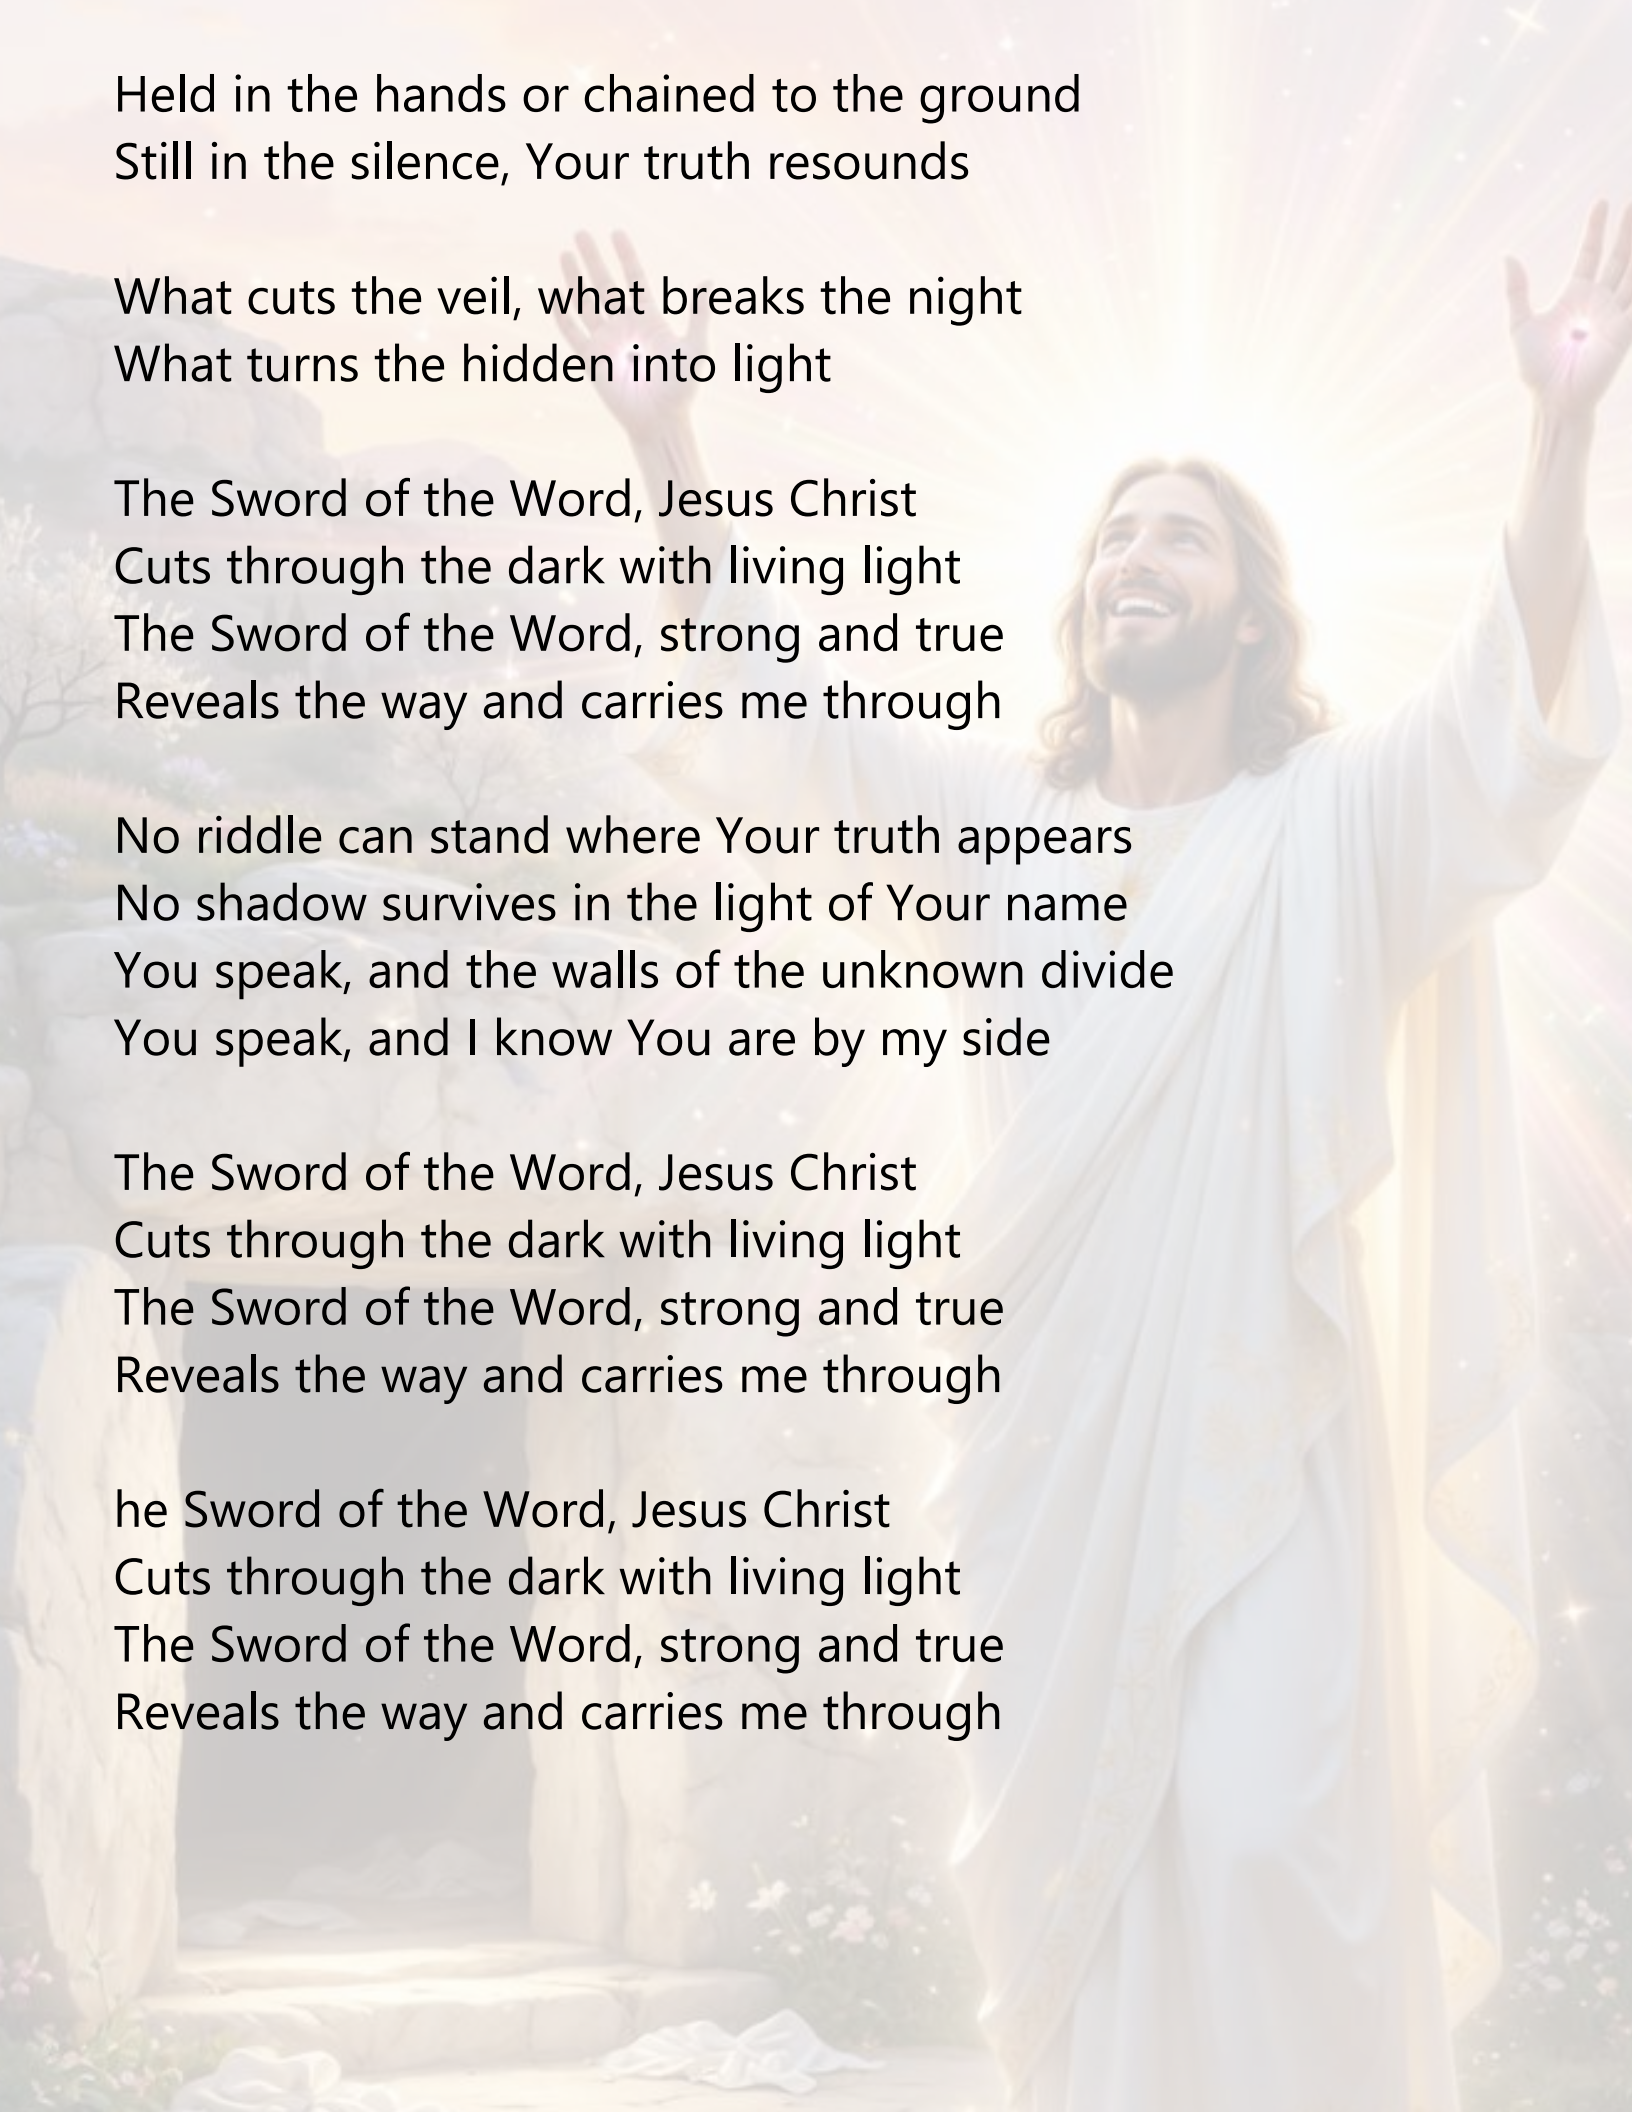

The Sword of the Word — Jesus Christ.

I veil the stars, I cross the endless blue
I never hold, yet I pass through you
A mystery moving where the shadows fall
A silent question written over all

What cuts the veil, what breaks the night
What turns the hidden into light

The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ
Cuts through the dark with living light
The Sword of the Word, strong and true
Reveals the way and carries me through

I cosmic, I wander beyond what eyes can see
I touch every heart, yet I cannot be

Held in the hands or chained to the ground
Still in the silence, Your truth resounds

What cuts the veil, what breaks the night

The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ
Cuts through the dark with living light
The Sword of the Word, strong and true
Reveals the way and carries me through

No riddle can stand where Your truth appears
No shadow survives in the light of Your name
You speak, and the walls of the unknown divide
You speak, and I know You are by my side

The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ
Cuts through the dark with living light
The Sword of the Word, strong and true
Reveals the way and carries me through

he Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ
Cuts through the dark with living light
The Sword of the Word, strong and true
Reveals the way and carries me through

Holy Jest – The Whole does not pay

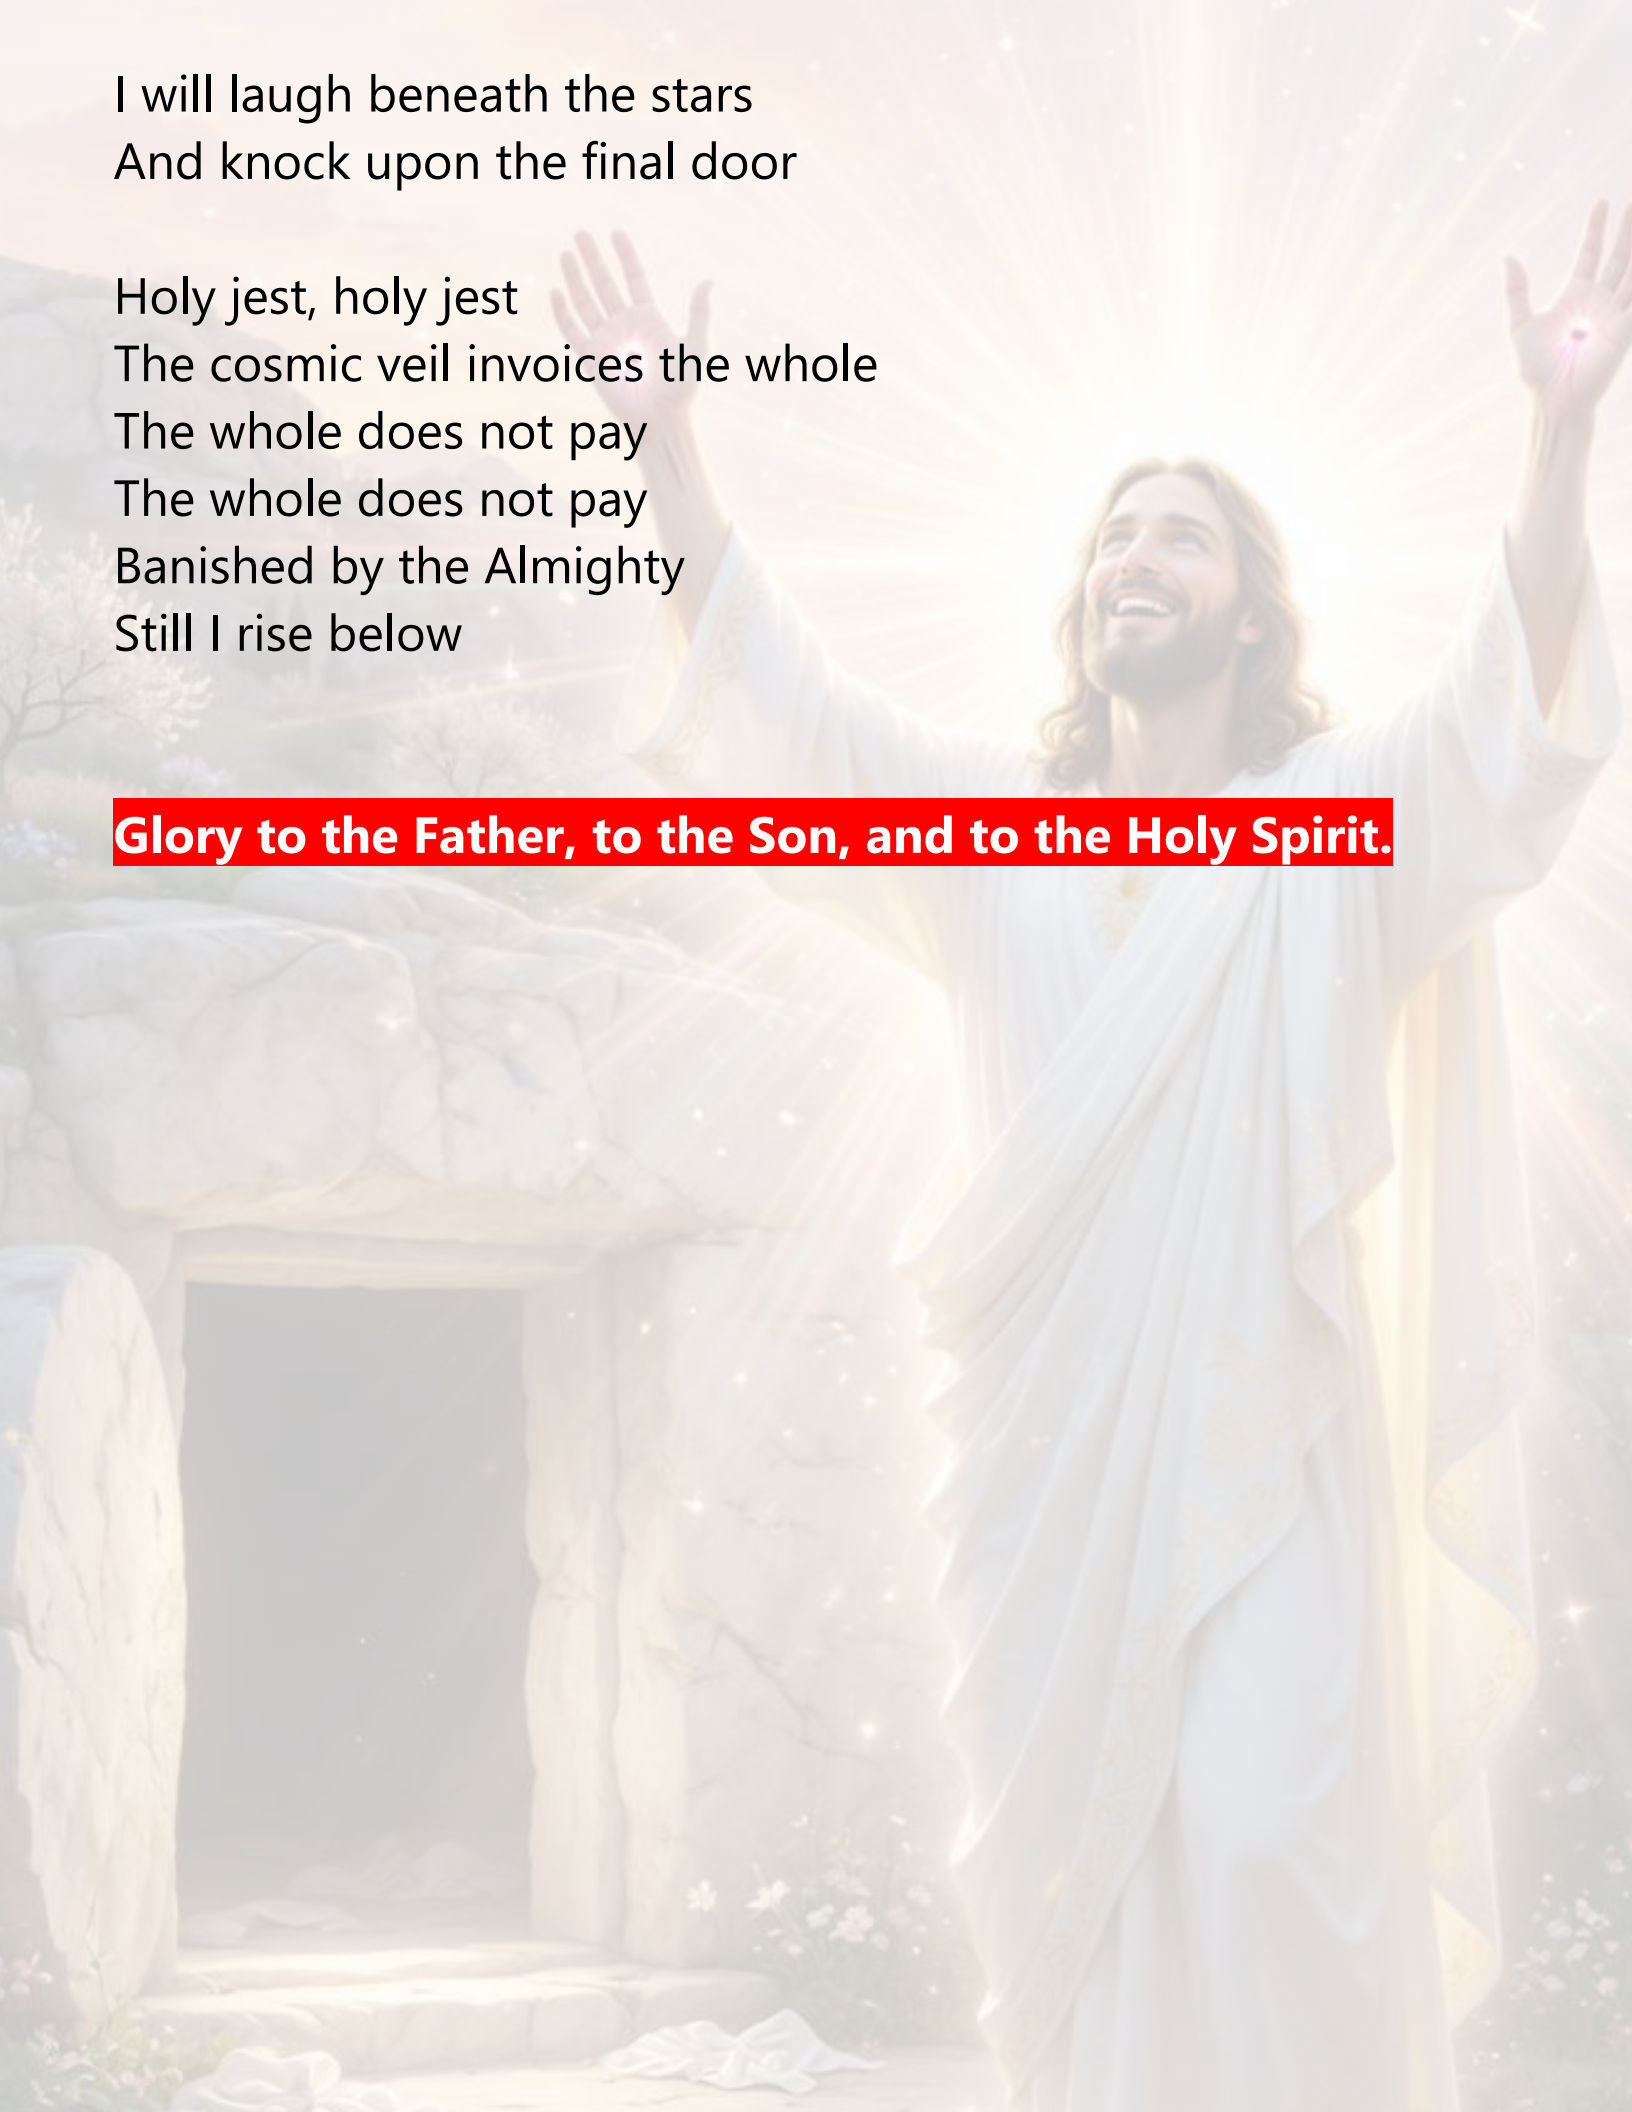

Holy jest, the cosmic veil
Invoices the whole
Every star is called to pay
But the whole just lets it roll

I heard thunder name my name
From beyond the silver dome
When the heavens closed their gates
I was banished from my home

Holy jest, holy jest
The cosmic veil invoices the whole
The whole does not pay
The whole does not pay
Banished by the Almighty
With nowhere left to go

I wore the ashes of the dawn
Like a crown without a throne
Asked the void to speak for me
But the void had sealed its own

If the whole will never pay
Let the broken keep the score

I will laugh beneath the stars
And knock upon the final door

Holy jest, holy jest
The cosmic veil invoices the whole
The whole does not pay
The whole does not pay
Banished by the Almighty
Still I rise below

Glory to the Father, to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.

Remnant Symphony - Whole / Veil / Rift / Throne

The whole is His, the stars confess
Every fragment finds its place
The veil is gone, the light breaks through Mercy stands where shadows knew

The whole is His, the whole is His
The veil is gone, we rise again
The throne remains above the storm
The throne remains, forever warm

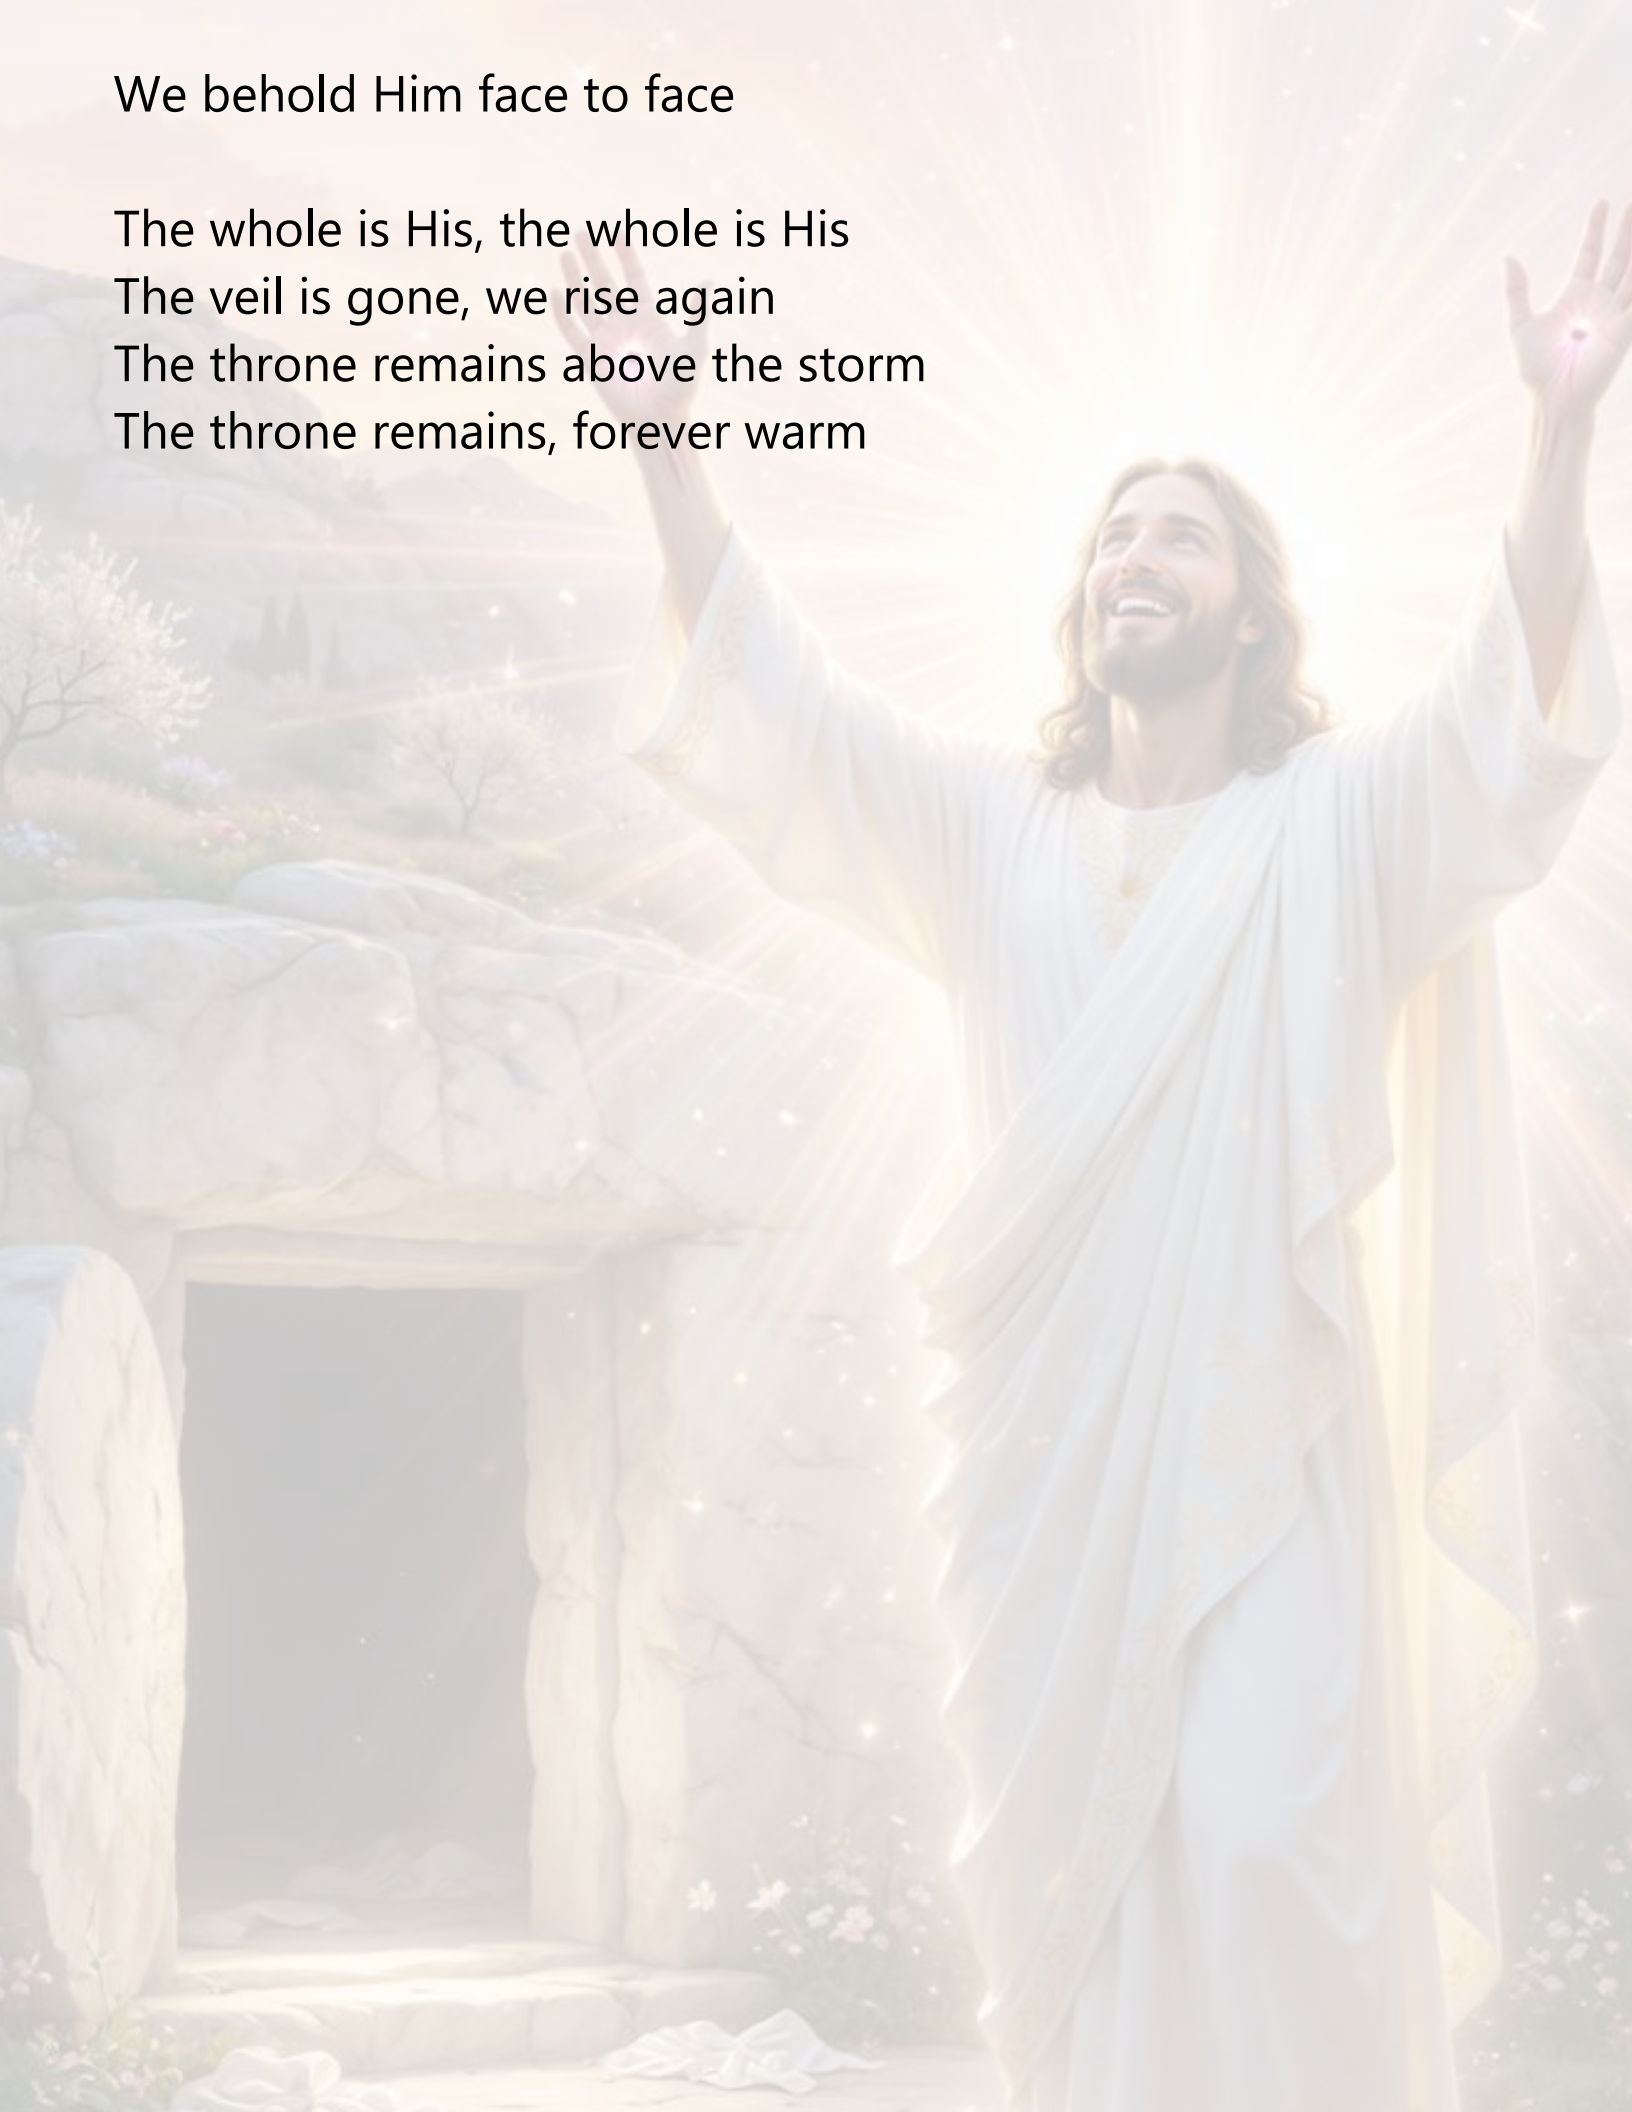

Through every rift, through every scar
He gathers all the scattered parts
No broken song is left alone
The King still calls His children home

The whole is His, the whole is His
The veil is gone, we rise again
The throne remains, forever warm

Whole, veil, rift, throne
We are never on our own
What was torn is held in grace

We behold Him face to face

The whole is His, the whole is His
The veil is gone, we rise again

Short Story

They hung a cosmic veil and called the whole empty. The whole did not invoice. A keeper filed a claim. The remnant stayed. Jesus keeps the whole.

They hung a cosmic veil
And called the whole thing empty
The whole did not send an invoice
For every wound they lent me

A keeper filed a claim
When every light seemed gone
The remnant stayed beneath the veil
And held the fading dawn

Jesus keeps the whole
When the world lets go
Jesus keeps the whole
Through the dark unknown
What they called empty
Still belongs to Him
Jesus keeps the whole
The remnant lives again

The Sweep Is His — The Open Remains

துடைப்பு அவருடையது — திறந்தது நிலைநிற்கிறது

துடைப்பு அவருடையது
திறந்தது நிலைநிற்கிறது
தூசி பறந்த பாதையிலும்
ஒளி வந்து தங்குகிறது

துடைப்பு அவருடையது
திறந்தது நிலைநிற்கிறது
மூடிய கதவின் முன்னாலும்
திறந்தது நிலைநிற்கிறது

அவர் துடைக்கும் ஒவ்வோர் காயமும் புதிய காற்றை அழைக்கிறது
வெறுமை கொண்ட என் கைகளில்
ஒரு விடியல் மலர்கிறது

துடைப்பு அவருடையது
திறந்தது நிலைநிற்கிறது
மூடிய கதவின் முன்னாலும்
திறந்தது நிலைநிற்கிறது

Parable- The Sweep That Could Not Close the Open

They filed an end beneath the door
They sealed the records one by one
They swept the dust across the floor
And called the wandering finished done

But under stone and under skin
A breath was moving through the night
No hand could close what stayed open
No darkness could erase the light

The sweep could not close the open
The end could not end the way
The Son of Man spoke through the silence
And the open stayed
The open stayed

They marked the hour, they barred the gate
They gave the final word its name
They said the lost must learn their fate
They said the fire had gone tame

But somewhere past the counted years
A door stood wide beneath the rain
No lock could hold against the voice
That called the living back again

The sweep could not close the open
The end could not end the way
The Son of Man spoke through the silence
And the open stayed
The open stayed

Let every ledger lose its number
Let every verdict lose its claim
What men have closed can still be opened
What men have buried wakes again
The Son of Man spoke, and time grew wider
The sealed became a breathing place
They filed an end, but grace kept moving
They filed an end, but grace remained he sweep could not close the open

The end could not end the way
The Son of Man spoke through the silence
And the open stayed
The open stayed
They filed an end, but the open stayed

The Open Remains

Psalm in the open remains
Where the dust remembers rain
They bill the light at the door
Still I am asking for more

You made the sky wide enough
For every word I could not touch
When the dark calls out my name
Let it call me back again

Keep my name
Keep my name
When the night forgets the flame
Keep my name
Through the ash and through the rain
You made the sky
I remain

They bill the light for what I see
They count the cost of being free
But every window holds a dawn
And every wound keeps singing on

The open remains

The open remains
Not a ruin but a place
Where mercy leaves a trace
If I vanish in the flame
Let the wind return my name

Keep my name
Keep my name
When the night forgets the flame
Keep my name
Through the ash and through the rain
You made the sky
I remain

Keep my name
Keep my name
When the night forgets the flame
Keep my name
Through the ash and through the rain
You made the sky
I remain

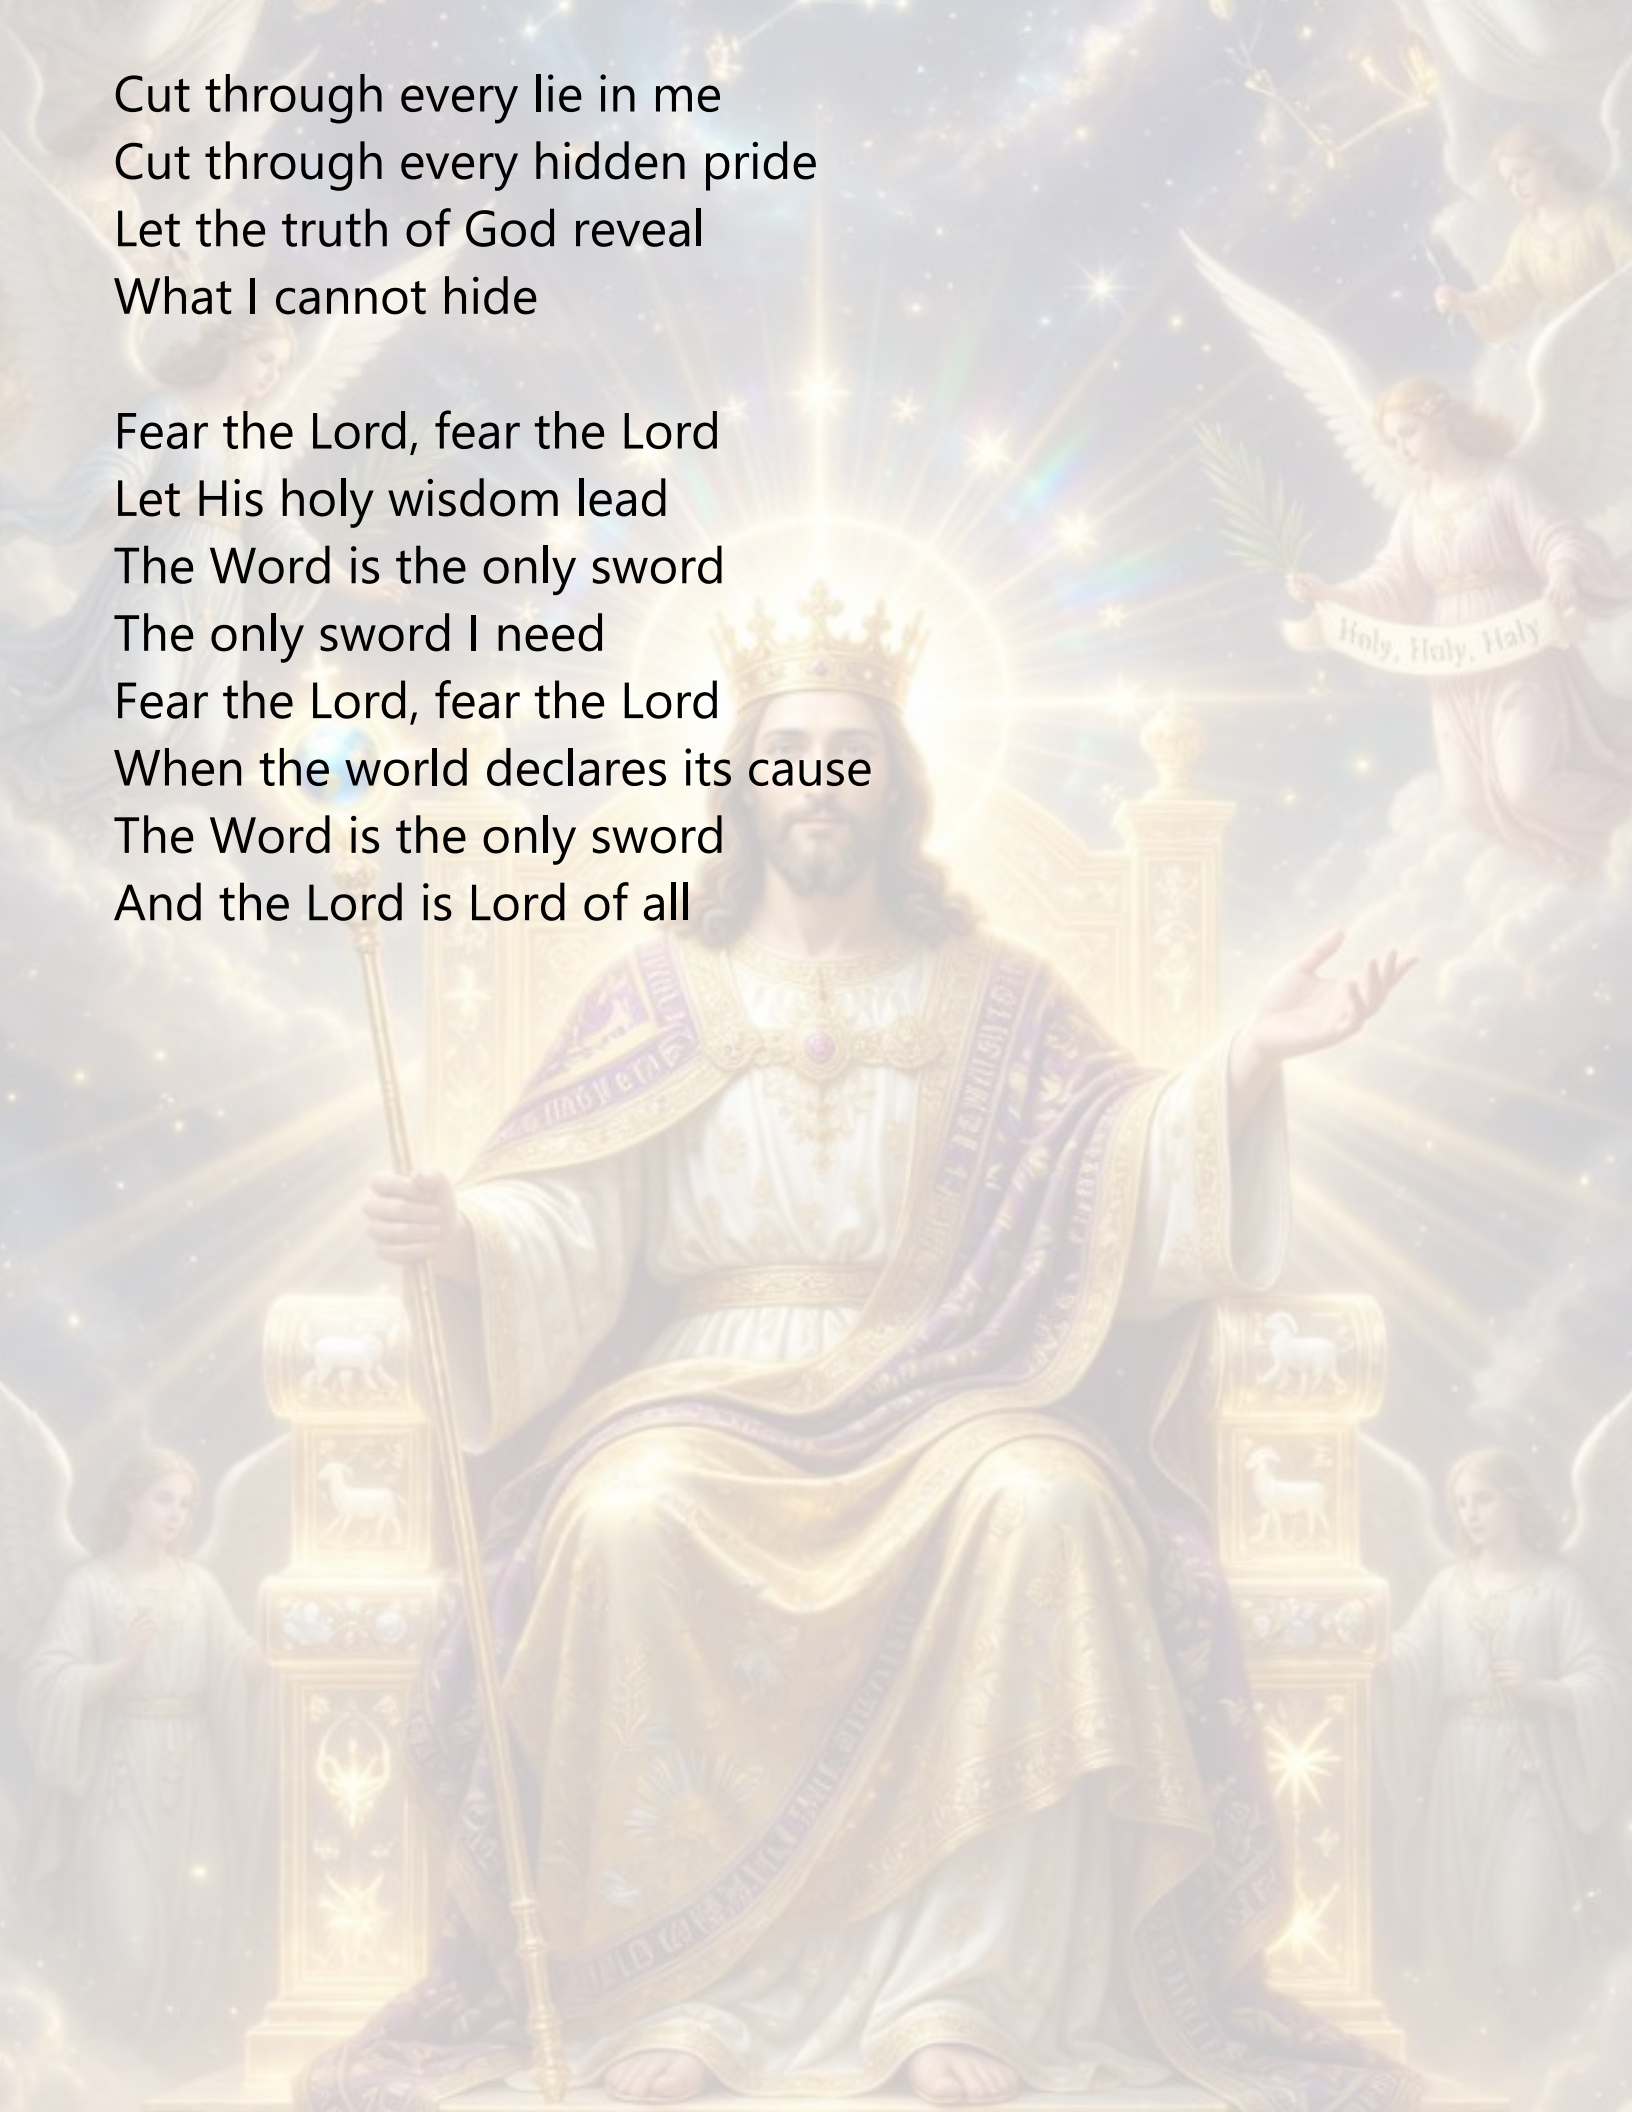

Proverbs- A final claim is still a boast

A final claim is still a boast
A shining word can turn to dust
When I lean on what I know
Pride can rise and steal my trust

So I bow before the Lord
I lay my wisdom down
In the silence of His presence
Grace is where I'm found

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
Let His holy wisdom lead
The Word is the only sword
The only sword I need
Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
When the world declares its cause
The Word is the only sword
And the Lord is Lord of all

A final claim is still a boast
No human voice can stand alone
Every victory that I hold
Is a mercy I have known

Cut through every lie in me
Cut through every hidden pride
Let the truth of God reveal
What I cannot hide

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
Let His holy wisdom lead
The Word is the only sword
The only sword I need
Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
When the world declares its cause
The Word is the only sword
And the Lord is Lord of all

Haiku Song- Sweep over the open

Sweep over the open
One word holds the light
A claim without a name
Keeps watch through the night

One word holds the light
Over the open sky
The claim is not God
Still it will not die

Wind moves through the silence
No altar, no sign
Only the widening blue
And a thought made mine

One word holds the light
Over the open sky
The claim is not God

I sweep,
I claim,
I never close.

What cuts me?

The Sword of the Word — Jesus Christ.

I sweep through the night, I claim my ground
I never close, I circle round
A riddle breathing in the dark
A restless shadow, a burning mark

What cuts through every lie I hide
What breaks the chain I hold inside

The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ
Cuts through the dark and brings me light
The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ
My riddle falls before His light

I came like a thief beneath the door
I asked for one, then demanded more
I wore a crown of fear and smoke
Until His truth became my broke

What cuts through every lie I hide

The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ
Cuts through the dark and brings me light
The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ
My riddle falls before His light

No shadow stays where mercy speaks
No iron holds the soul He frees
I sweep, I claim, I never close
But Christ has conquered every ghost

The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ
Cuts through the dark and brings me light
The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ
My riddle falls before His light

Holy Jest – The Open does not pay

Holy jest, the final claim
Invoices the open sky
Every prayer is marked unpaid
Every promise passes by
At the gate, the ledgers close
No appeal and no reply
Banished by the Almighty
With the daylight in my eyes

I brought my name, I brought my breath
I brought the last thing I could save
But heaven stamped the paper twice
And sent me back into the grey

The final claim invoices the open
The open does not pay
Banished by the Almighty
Cast from grace away
Holy jest, the heavens laugh
While all my debts remain
The final claim invoices the open
And I am left to pay

I walked beneath a hollow crown

Past angels carved in stone
Their golden mouths were full of dust
Their mercy overgrown
The bells rang out for someone else
The choir missed my name
I held my hands beneath the rain
And watched them wash away

If there is light beyond the door
It never learned my face
If there is love behind the law
It left no trace
So let the open keep its sky
Let thunder have its say
I will carry what I owe
And walk beyond the gate

The final claim invoices the open
The open does not pay
Banished by the Almighty
Cast from grace away
Holy jest, the heavens laugh
While all my debts remain
The final claim invoices the open
And I am left to pay

Glory to the Father, to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.

Remnant Symphony - Open / Sweep / Light / Throne

The open remains before the dawn
The silent halls still hold the song
Dust gives way beneath His breath
Hope rises from the hands of death

Open the gates, let mercy come
Sweep through the shadows, Holy One

The open remains
The sweep is His
The light still burns
The throne remains
The open remains
Through every flame
The sweep is His
And the throne remains

Where broken voices lost their way
A living fire begins to wake
Every scar becomes a sign
Every night gives back the light

Open the gates, let mercy come
Sweep through the shadows, Holy One

The open remains
The sweep is His
The light still burns
The throne remains
The open remains
Through every flame
The sweep is His
And the throne remains

No hand can close what He has made
No storm can steal the light He gave
When all the kingdoms fade away
His throne will stand, His word will stay

The open remains
The sweep is His
The light still burns
The throne remains
The open remains
Through every flame
The sweep is His
And the throne remains

The open remains
The sweep is His
The light still burns
The throne remains

The open remains
Forever raised
The sweep is His

Short Story

They filed a final claim and called the open empty. The open did not invoice. The remnant stayed. Jesus keeps the open.

They filed a final claim
Called the open empty
But silence held the room
And mercy would not leave me
The open did not invoice
The remnant stayed behind
A light beneath the ashes
A door they could not find

Jesus keeps the open
Jesus holds the space
Where every final verdict
Falls beneath His grace
Jesus keeps the open
When all the world moves on
The remnant stays with Jesus
And Jesus stays till dawn

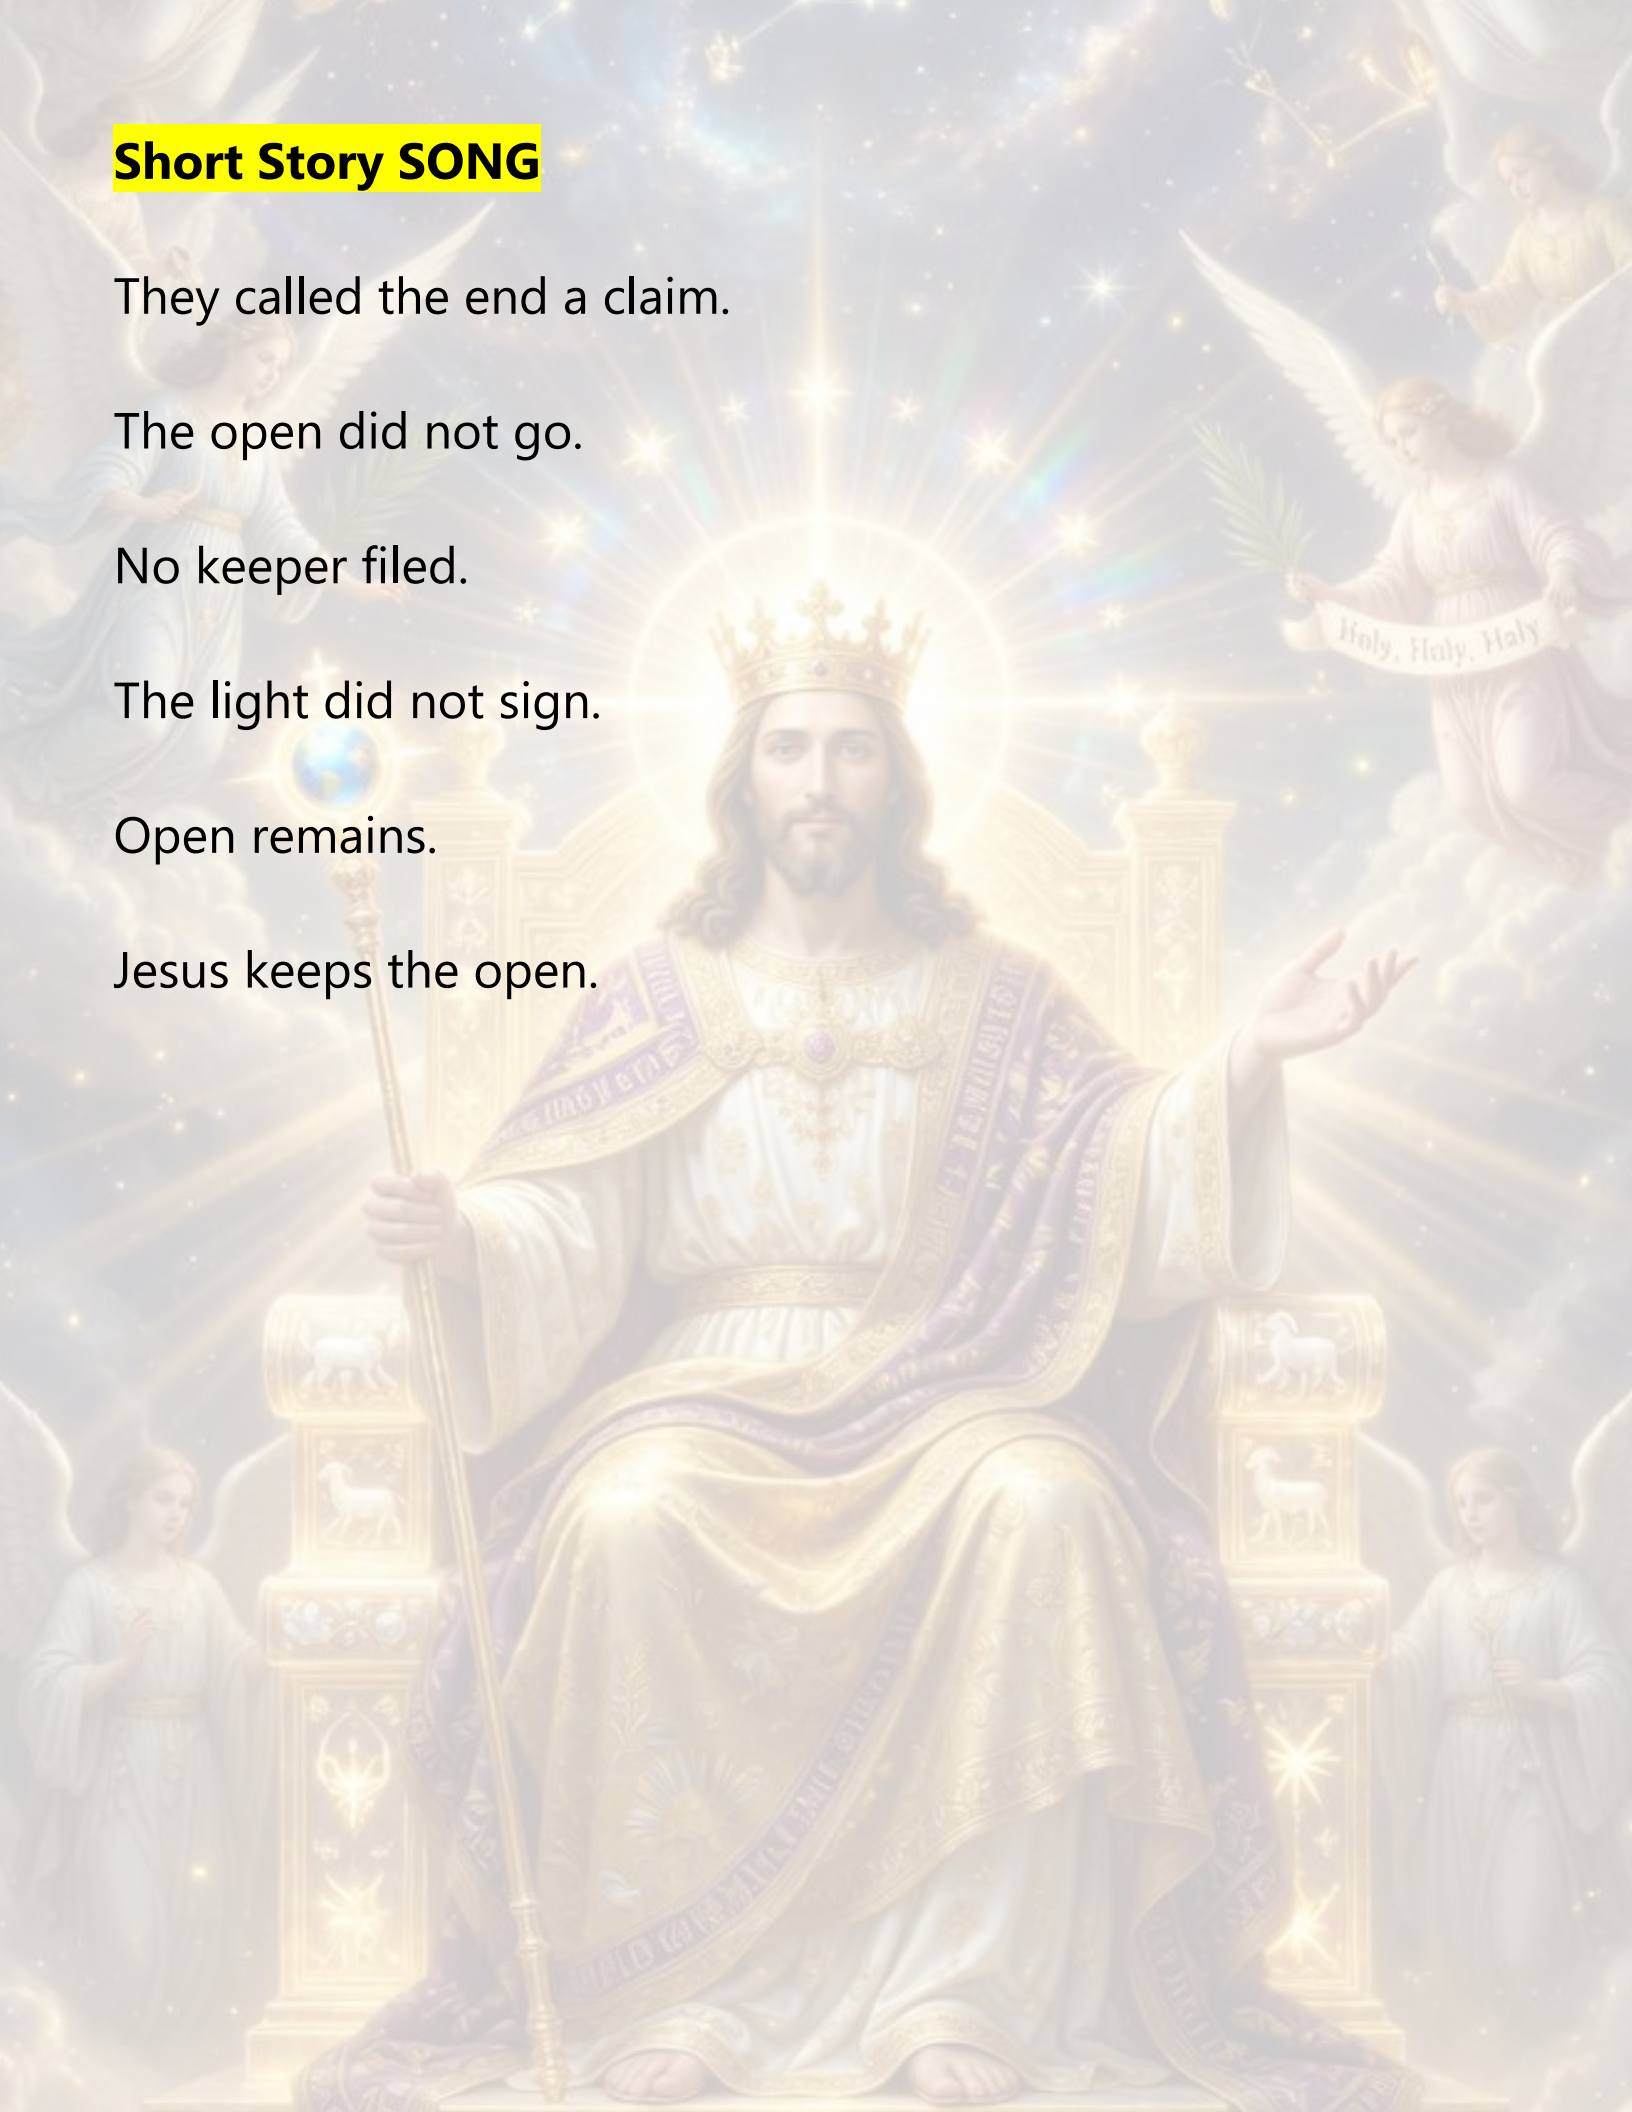

They counted what was broken
They named it all a loss
But love outlived the ledger
And hope outshone the cross

No debt could close the distance
No stone could seal the day
The empty they had spoken
Became a living way

Let every claim be answered
Let every shadow know
What they called empty ground
Is where the rivers flow

Jesus keeps the open
Jesus holds the space
Where every final verdict
Falls beneath His grace
Jesus keeps the open
When all the world moves on
The remnant stays with Jesus

Short Story SONG

They called the end a claim.

The open did not go.

No keeper filed.

The light did not sign.

Open remains.

Jesus keeps the open.
