Songs from the Proverbs

1. Read the Proverbs

Read the proverbs,
Son of David, the King of Israel.
Read the proverbs of Solomon,
Worship Jesus, who is greater than Solomon.

Understand wisdom and instruction,
Comprehend the admonitions.
Understanding prudence, righteousness, justice, and temperance,
Receive their teaching.

Read the proverbs,
Son of David, the King of Israel.
Read the proverbs of Solomon,
Worship Jesus, who is greater than Solomon.

Proverbs will give understanding to the simple,
And knowledge and instruction to the young man.
The wise man will grow in knowledge by hearing proverbs,

The prudent will gain good counsel.

Read the proverbs,
Son of David, the King of Israel.
Read the proverbs of Solomon,
Worship Jesus, who is greater than Solomon.

The prudent will understand the meaning of a proverb,
He will know the hidden meaning of the wise man's sayings.

He will know the hidden meaning of the wise man's sayings,
The prudent will understand the meaning of a proverb.

Read the proverbs,
Son of David, the King of Israel.
Read the proverbs of Solomon,
Worship Jesus, who is greater than Solomon.

2. The Fear of the Lord Is the Beginning of Wisdom

The fear of the Lord is wisdom, and its beginning belongs to the Lord.
Listen to your father's instruction—
do not disregard your mother's teaching.

They will be a garland of grace upon your head, and a chain of jewels around your neck.

Do not agree if sinners entice you;
do not stand by to witness bloodshed.
Do not lie in wait to ambush the innocent;
do not swallow them whole, like the grave.

Do not walk in their way;
turn your foot away from their path.

Wisdom is calling aloud outside,
she is raising her voice in the streets.
She cries out in the alleys, at the entrances of the city gates,
she proclaims her message in the town.

Listen to the voice of wisdom, sharpen your understanding.

The background of the entire page is a faded, artistic illustration. It features King Solomon on the right, wearing a golden crown and a red robe, holding a harp. To his left is another figure, also in royal attire. In the background, a city with a prominent golden dome, resembling the Dome of the Rock, is visible under a hazy sky.

Fools, you love foolishness, scoffers, you delight in scoffing,
and the senseless, you hate knowledge—
how long will you remain here?

Do not reject wisdom,
turn away from your foolishness.

Solomon will rebuke you,
he will pour out his spirit upon you,
he will reveal his words to you.
It is good if you listen to his call.

Gain wisdom,
increase your knowledge.

3. I Stretch Out My Hand

I extend my hand,
but no one heeds.
You cast aside all my counsel,
and scorned my rebukes. Therefore,

I will laugh at your distress;
I will mock when your dread comes.
When what you fear arrives like a whirlwind,
and your calamity strikes like a gale,
though you call to me in the early morning,
you will not find me.

I extend my hand,
but no one heeds.
You cast aside all my counsel,
and scorned my rebukes.

Though calamity comes like a tempest,
and disaster strikes like a whirlwind,
though you call to me in the early morning,
and seek me, you will never find me.

I extend my hand,

but no one heeds.

You cast aside all my counsel,
and scorned my rebukes. Therefore,

you rejected knowledge,
and did not choose the fear of the Lord.

You would not accept my counsel,
but despised my reproof.

Therefore, you will eat the fruit of your ways,
and be filled with the consequences of your schemes.

For the waywardness of the simple will kill them,
and the complacency of fools will destroy them.

But whoever listens to me will live in security and be at ease, without fear of disaster.

4. My Son, Incline Your Ear to Wisdom

My son, listen to wisdom.

My daughter, accept my words.

My son, turn your heart to understanding.

My daughter, keep my commands.

Call out for wisdom.

Cry aloud for understanding.

If you seek wisdom like silver and search for understanding like hidden treasure, then you will understand the fear of the Lord and find the knowledge of God.

Call out for wisdom.

Cry aloud for understanding.

The Lord gives wisdom;
from His mouth come knowledge and understanding.
He stores up sound wisdom for the upright;
He is a shield to those who walk blamelessly.

Call out for wisdom.

Cry aloud for understanding.

The Lord guards the paths of justice and protects the way of His saints.
Then you will understand righteousness and justice and equity, every good path.

My son, listen to wisdom.
My daughter, accept my words.
My son, turn your heart to understanding.
My daughter, keep my commands.

Call out for wisdom.
Cry aloud for understanding.

5. Wisdom Will Enter Your Heart

Wisdom shall enter thy heart, and knowledge shall be bliss to thy soul.

Good counsel shall save thee; discretion shall ever shield thee.

Turn away from the path of the wicked, and from the man who speaks perversity.

Walk not in the ways of darkness, nor stray from the paths of righteousness.

Then shall wisdom enter thy heart, and knowledge be bliss to thy soul.

Good counsel shall save thee; discretion shall ever shield thee.

Think not to delight in doing evil, nor rejoice in the perversions of the wicked.

Walk not in crooked ways, nor wander in divergent paths.

Then shall wisdom enter thy heart, and knowledge be bliss to thy soul.

Good counsel shall save thee; discretion shall ever shield thee.

Forsake not the beloved of thy youth, nor forget the covenant of God.

Flee from the strange woman, the foreign wife; walk thou in the way of the good.

Then shall wisdom enter thy heart, and knowledge be bliss to thy soul.

Good counsel shall save thee; discretion shall ever shield thee.

Keep thou the paths of the righteous; live uprightly on this earth.

Remain on earth as one blameless; for the wicked and the treacherous shall be rooted out.

Then shall wisdom enter thy heart, and knowledge be bliss to thy soul.

Good counsel shall save thee; discretion shall ever shield thee.

6. Do Not Forget My Teaching

Forget not my teaching, hold it dear,
Let thy heart keep my commands sincere;
Length of days and peace, they shall increase,
So my precepts bring thy soul release.

Forget not my teaching, let it stay,
My grace and truth in thee hold sway;
Favor and wisdom, from God and man,
Shall be thy portion, as I plan.

Forget not my teaching, lean not on thy mind,
But trust in the Lord, with all thy heart entwined;
He shall make thy paths straight and bright,
If thou dost walk in His holy light.

Forget not my teaching, think not thyself wise,
Fear the Lord, from evil's guise;
Health to thy body He will give,
If in His ways thou choosest to live.

Forget not my teaching, with thy wealth and firstfruits,
Honor the Lord, and He'll grant the roots;
Thy barns shall be filled, and presses overflow,

The background of the entire page is a faded, golden-hued illustration of three kings standing in a cityscape. The king in the center is slightly behind the other two, wearing a crown and a white robe with a red cape. He holds a golden chalice in his right hand. The king on the left is also wearing a crown and a red robe, holding a golden harp. The king on the right is wearing a crown and a red robe, holding a golden scepter. In the background, there are city buildings, including a large domed structure on the right.

When to His glory thy offerings go.

Forget not my teaching, despise not His rod,
Nor faint when chasten'd by thy God;
For whom the Lord loves, He doth correct,
To guide thy soul from sin's defect.

7. Blessed Is the One Who Finds Wisdom

Blessed the soul that wisdom finds,
And blessed whose mind its light enshrines.
More precious than the pearl they gleam,
With long life, wealth, and honor's beam.

Wisdom's trade, beyond silver's worth,
Its gain outshines the golden earth.
Her paths are sweet, her ways are peace,
Where pain and strife forever cease.

Blessed the soul that wisdom finds,
And blessed whose mind its light enshrines.
More precious than the pearl they gleam,
With long life, wealth, and honor's beam.

To them who wisdom hold, a tree of life,
Happy who grasp it, 'midst all strife.
The Lord by wisdom earth did make,
And heavens fixed for wisdom's sake.

Blessed the soul that wisdom finds,
And blessed whose mind its light enshrines.
More precious than the pearl they gleam,

With long life, wealth, and honor's beam.

By wisdom, God the depths did part,
And from the sky, dew did impart.
If true wisdom you keep with care,
You'll walk your path without a fear.

Blessed the soul that wisdom finds,
And blessed whose mind its light enshrines.
More precious than the pearl they gleam,
With long life, wealth, and honor's beam.
