Story Song

The Celestial Abyss Is Not Lord – The Hope Is His

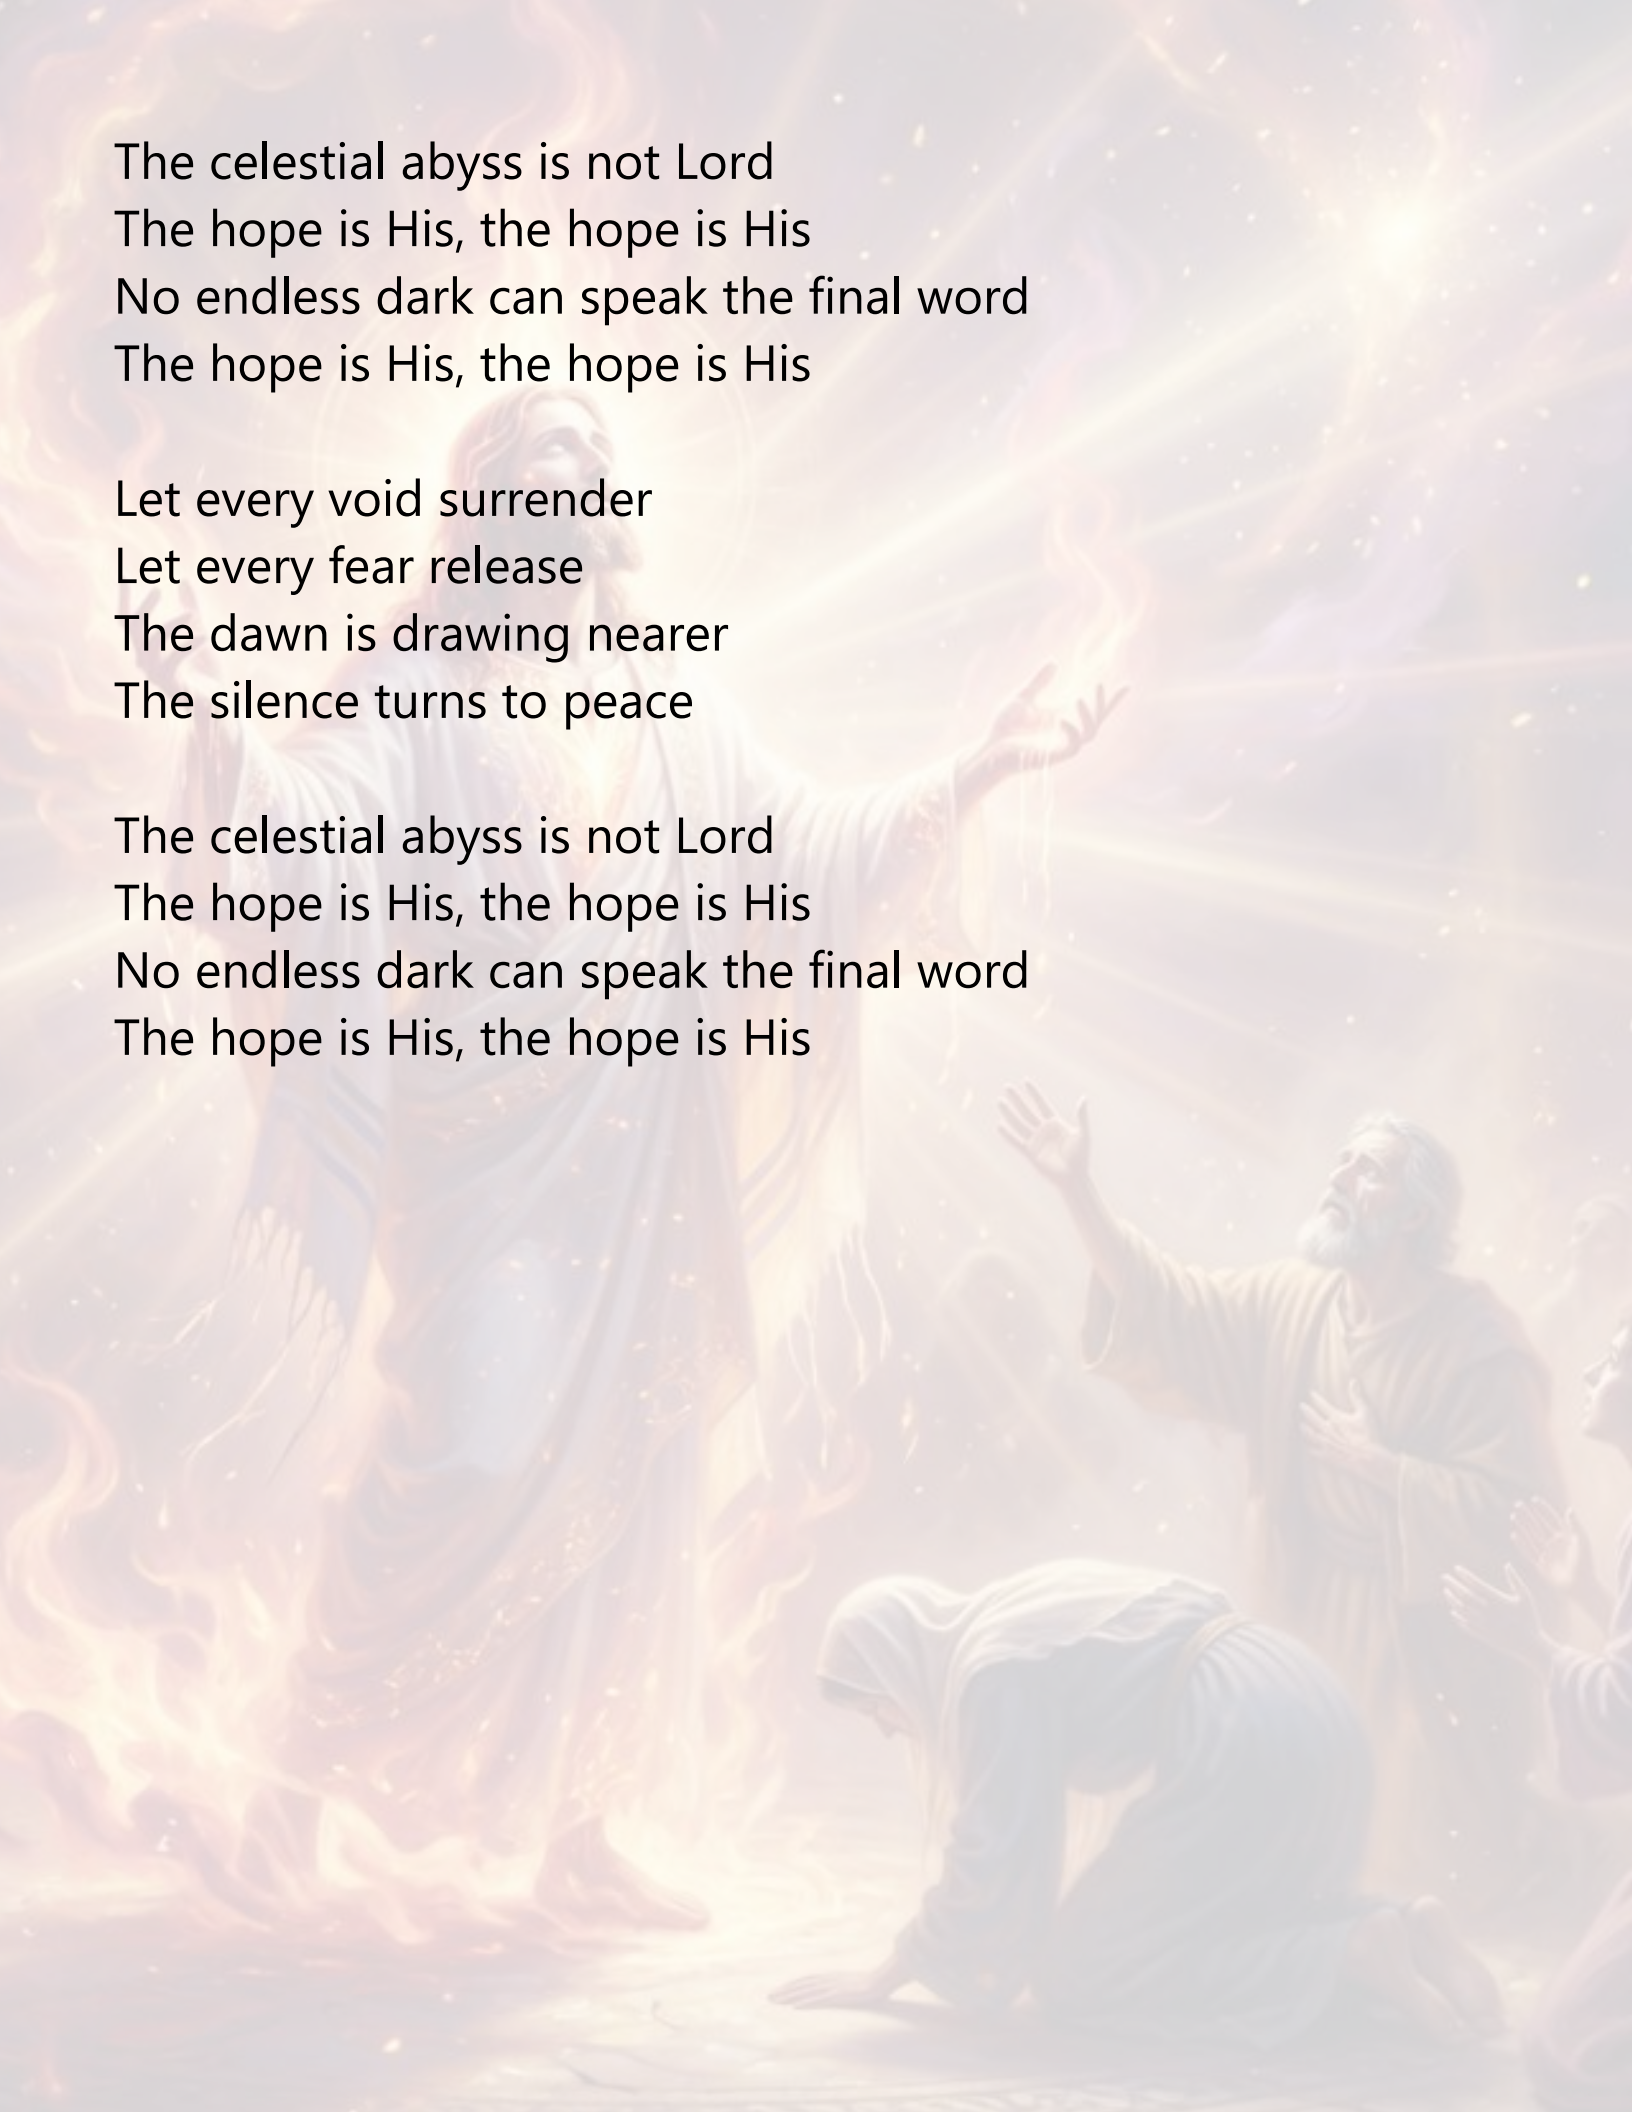

Beneath the stars where silent shadows fall
I heard a voice beyond the darkened wall
The night can rise and swallow every flame
But it can never own the holy name

When all I know is breaking
When every road grows dim
I lift my eyes still waiting
And find my hope in Him

The celestial abyss is not Lord
The hope is His, the hope is His
No endless dark can speak the final word
The hope is His, the hope is His

I walked through fields where fallen angels sleep
With every wound the earth refused to keep
The moon was cold, the heavens turned away
Still one small light survived the edge of day

When every road grows dim
I lift my eyes still waiting
And find my hope in Him

The celestial abyss is not Lord
The hope is His, the hope is His
No endless dark can speak the final word
The hope is His, the hope is His

Let every void surrender
Let every fear release
The dawn is drawing nearer
The silence turns to peace

The celestial abyss is not Lord
The hope is His, the hope is His
No endless dark can speak the final word

Song of Parables- The Abyss That Could Not Own the Hope

Parable of the abyss
That could not own the hope
They hunted a reflection
Through the dark and drifting smoke
The Son of Man spoke softly
And the silence broke apart
What they thought was only shadow
Was a fire in the heart

The hope stayed
The hope stayed
Though the night had closed its hands
The hope stayed
The hope stayed
Like a light no dark commands
They hunted a reflection
But the truth would not be swayed
The Son of Man spoke
And the hope stayed

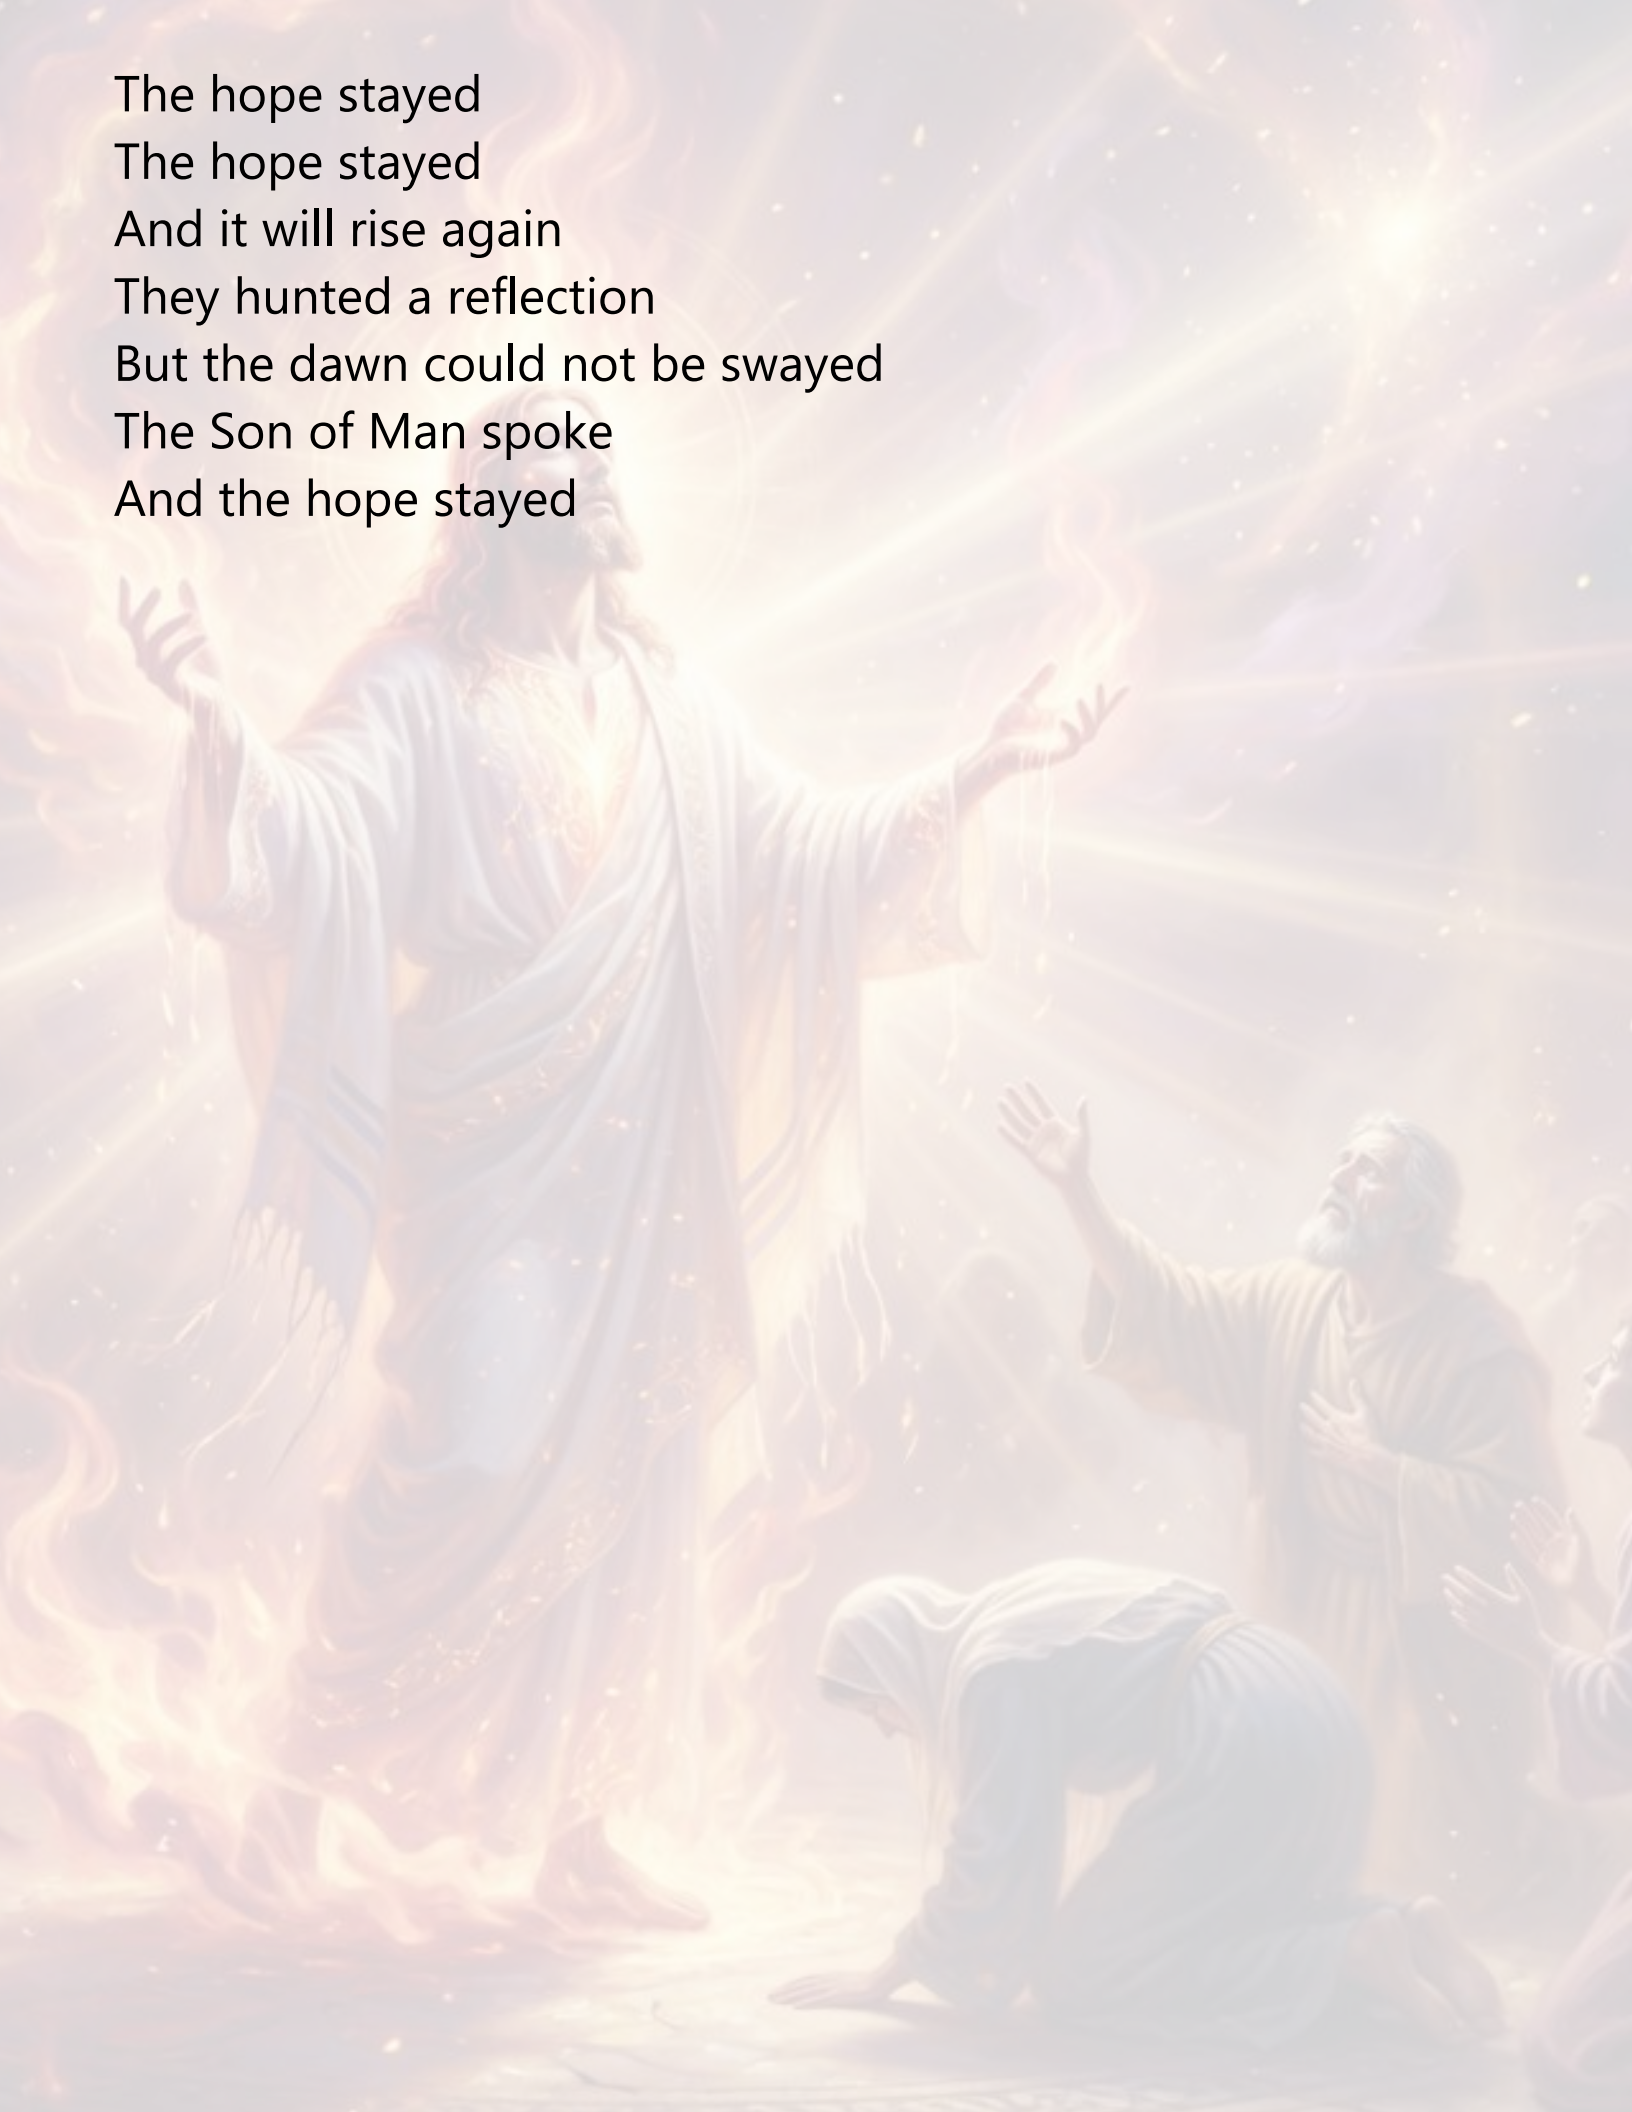

They followed every ripple
Where the hidden waters turned
They named the light a phantom
And they watched the edges burn
But the word moved through the silence

Like a river under stone
What the abyss could never hold
Was the life that stood alone

Let the deep rise up around us
Let it claim what it can claim
There is more beyond the shadow
There is power in the name
When the last voice fades to distance
When the cold has filled the grave
The Son of Man still speaks
And the hope will not be taken

The hope stayed
The hope stayed
Though the night had closed its hands
The hope stayed
The hope stayed
Like a light no dark commands
They hunted a reflection
But the truth would not be swayed
The Son of Man spoke
And the hope stayed

The hope stayed
The hope stayed
Through the ruin and the rain

The hope stayed
The hope stayed
And it will rise again
They hunted a reflection
But the dawn could not be swayed
The Son of Man spoke

Psalm
The Hope Is His

Psalm in the morning, when the night is still
The road is broken, but I trust Your will
You made the light where the shadows grew
You called my name, and I came to You

They bill the open, they measure the cost
But mercy finds me when I think I'm lost
I lift my eyes, I breathe again
The hope is His, amen

The hope is His, the hope is His
When the world forgets, He remembers this
Keep my name, keep my heart
Hold me close when the dark winds start
The hope is His, the hope is His
In every wound and every wish
You made the light, You made it clear
The hope is His, and He is near

Psalm on my lips, like a river runs
Faith in the silence, beneath the sun
They bill the open, but I will not hide
Your steady hand is my sheltering side

When every promise feels worn and thin
Your voice is calling me home again
I lift my eyes, I breathe again
The hope is His, amen

The hope is His, the hope is His
When the world forgets, He remembers this
Keep my name, keep my heart
Hold me close when the dark winds start
The hope is His, the hope is His
In every wound and every wish
You made the light, You made it clear
The hope is His, and He is near

If I am dust, then breathe in me
If I am lost, then let me see
No bill can buy what grace has done
No night can stand before the Son

The hope is His, the hope is His
When the world forgets, He remembers this
Keep my name, keep my heart
Hold me close when the dark winds start
The hope is His, the hope is His
In every wound and every wish
You made the light, You made it clear
The hope is His, and He is near

Proverbs- A celestial abyss is still a boast

A celestial abyss is still a boast
A crown of stars can hide a hollow throne
The heights may thunder, the heavens may shine
But dust remembers who gave it its life

When every voice says, look to the sky
I hear a warning in the wind nearby
Lay down your pride, let the false lights fade
There is one truth that cannot be betrayed

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword
When the darkness calls your name
His truth will cut through every chain
Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
No boast can stand before His word

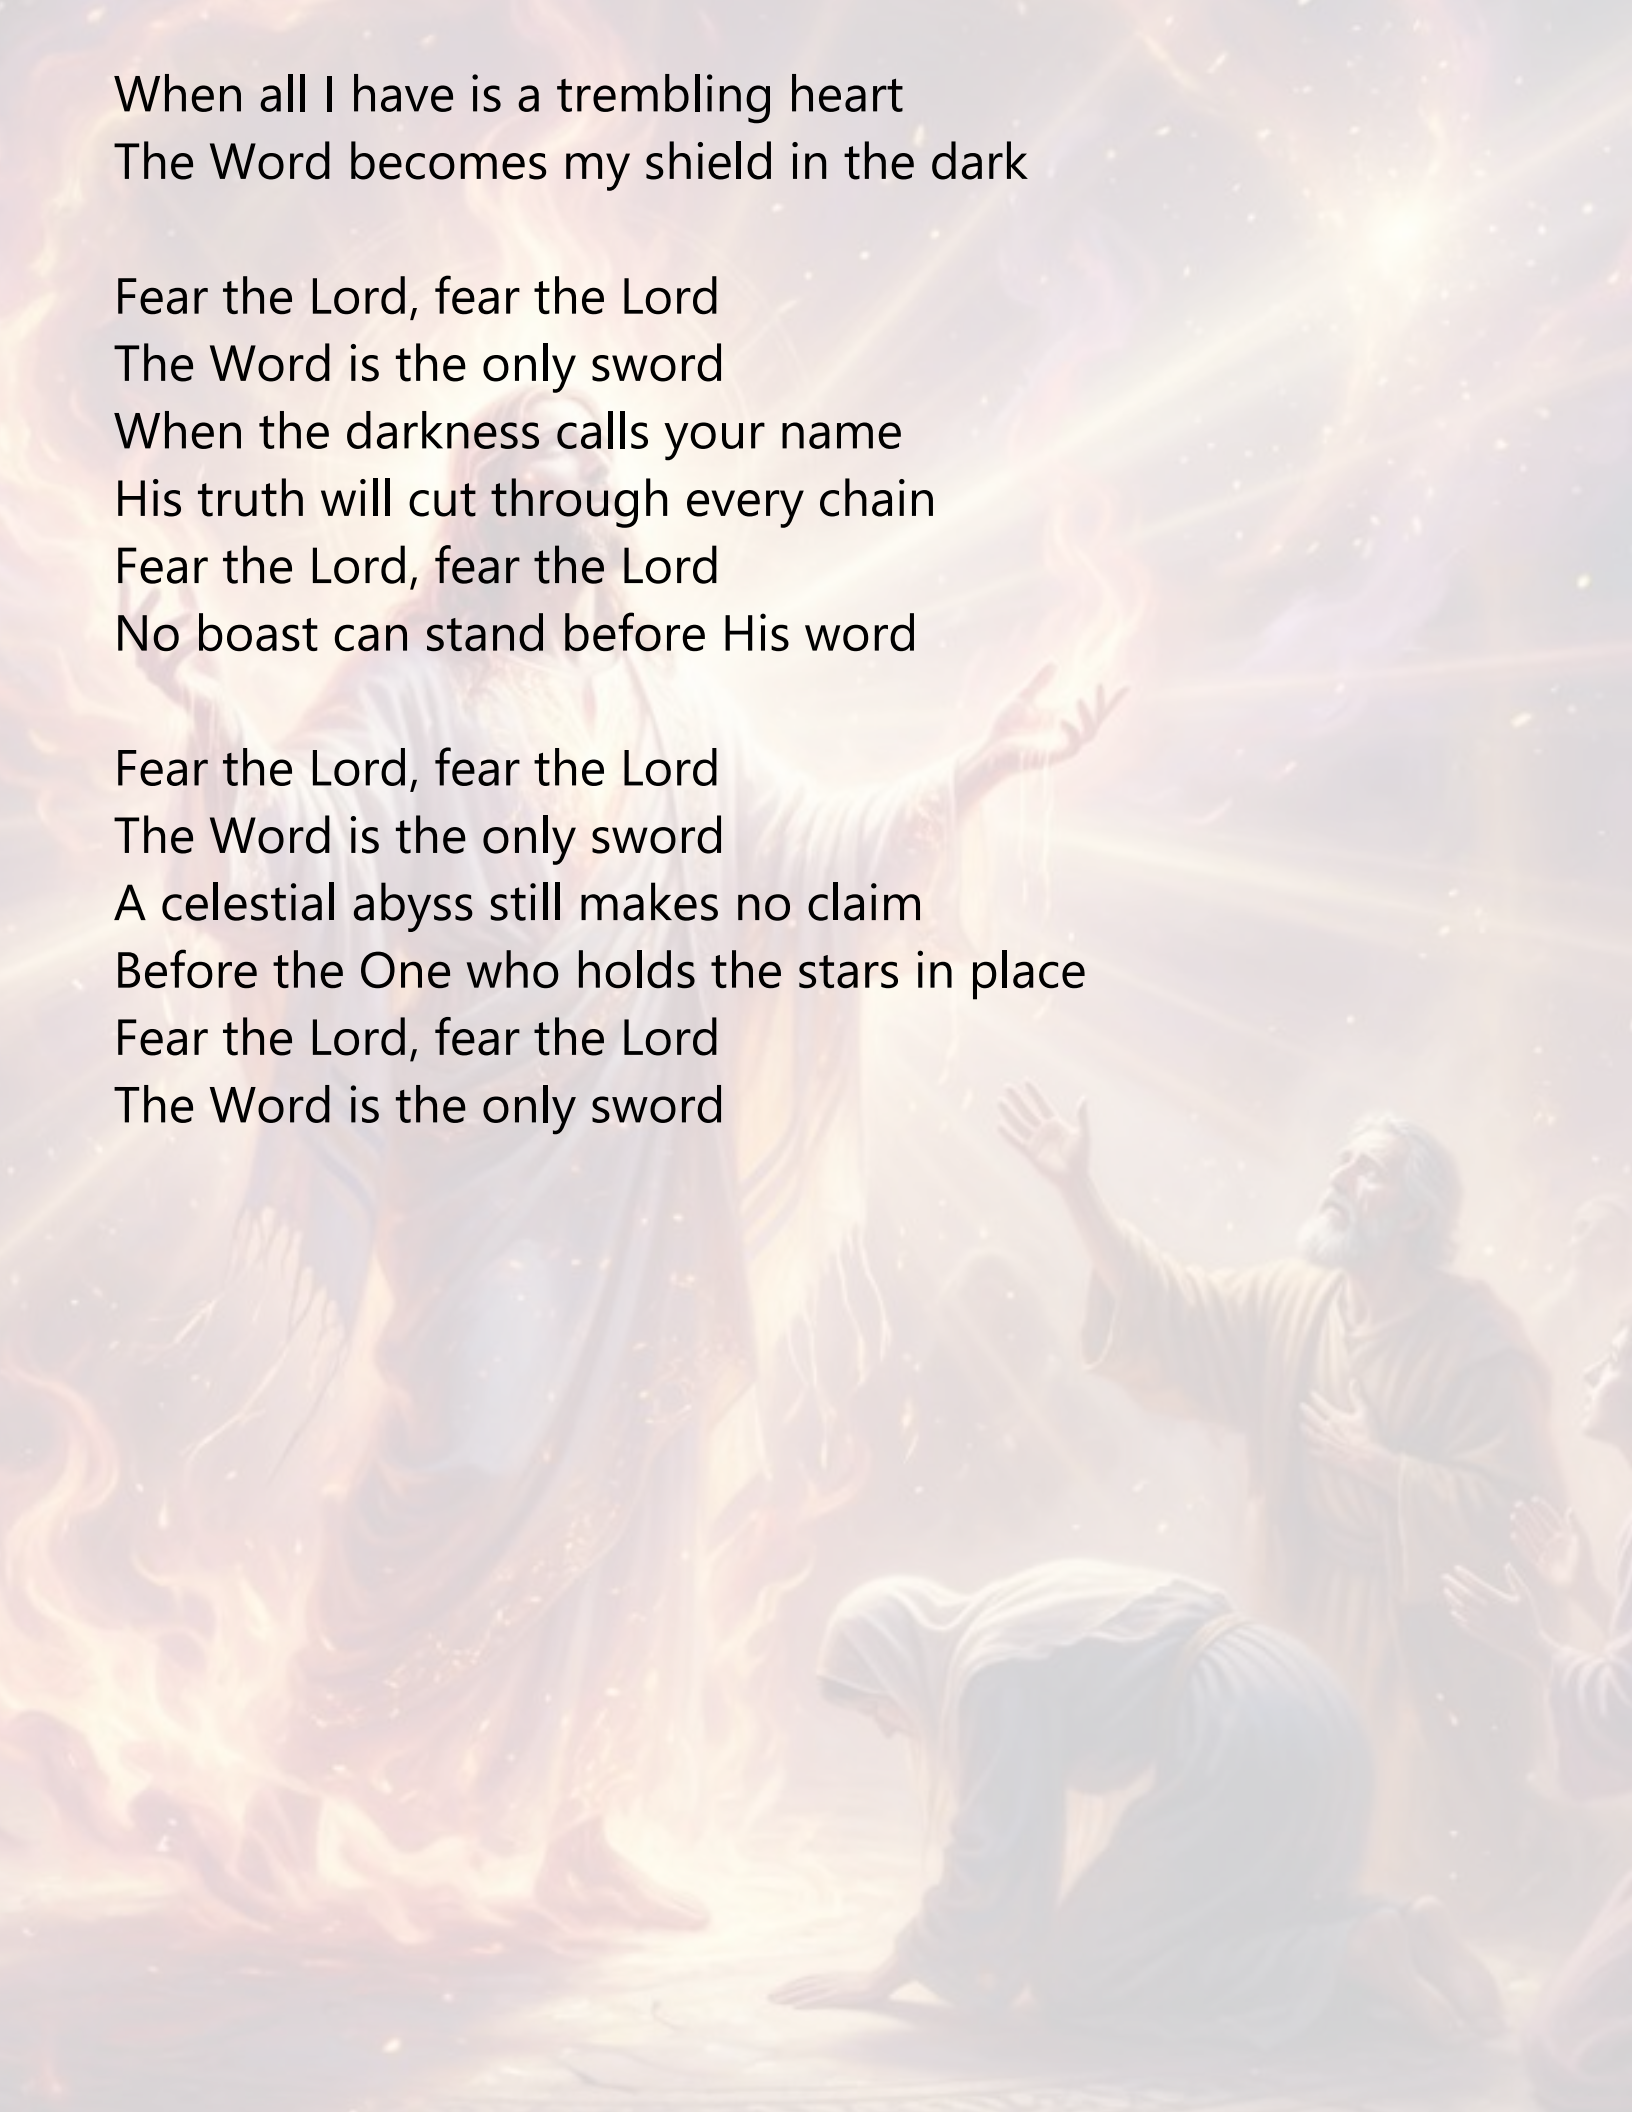

The deepest night can never hide His eyes
The tallest tower falls beneath the skies
No mortal wisdom, no secret sign
Can take the place of the living Word divine

Not by the fire, not by the flame
Not by the stars that forget their name

When all I have is a trembling heart
The Word becomes my shield in the dark

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword
When the darkness calls your name
His truth will cut through every chain
Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
No boast can stand before His word

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword
A celestial abyss still makes no claim
Before the One who holds the stars in place
Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword

Haiku Song- Abyss over the open

Abyss over the open
Cold stars without a name
I hold one word in silence
Like fire against the rain

The dark can take my vision
But not what I believe

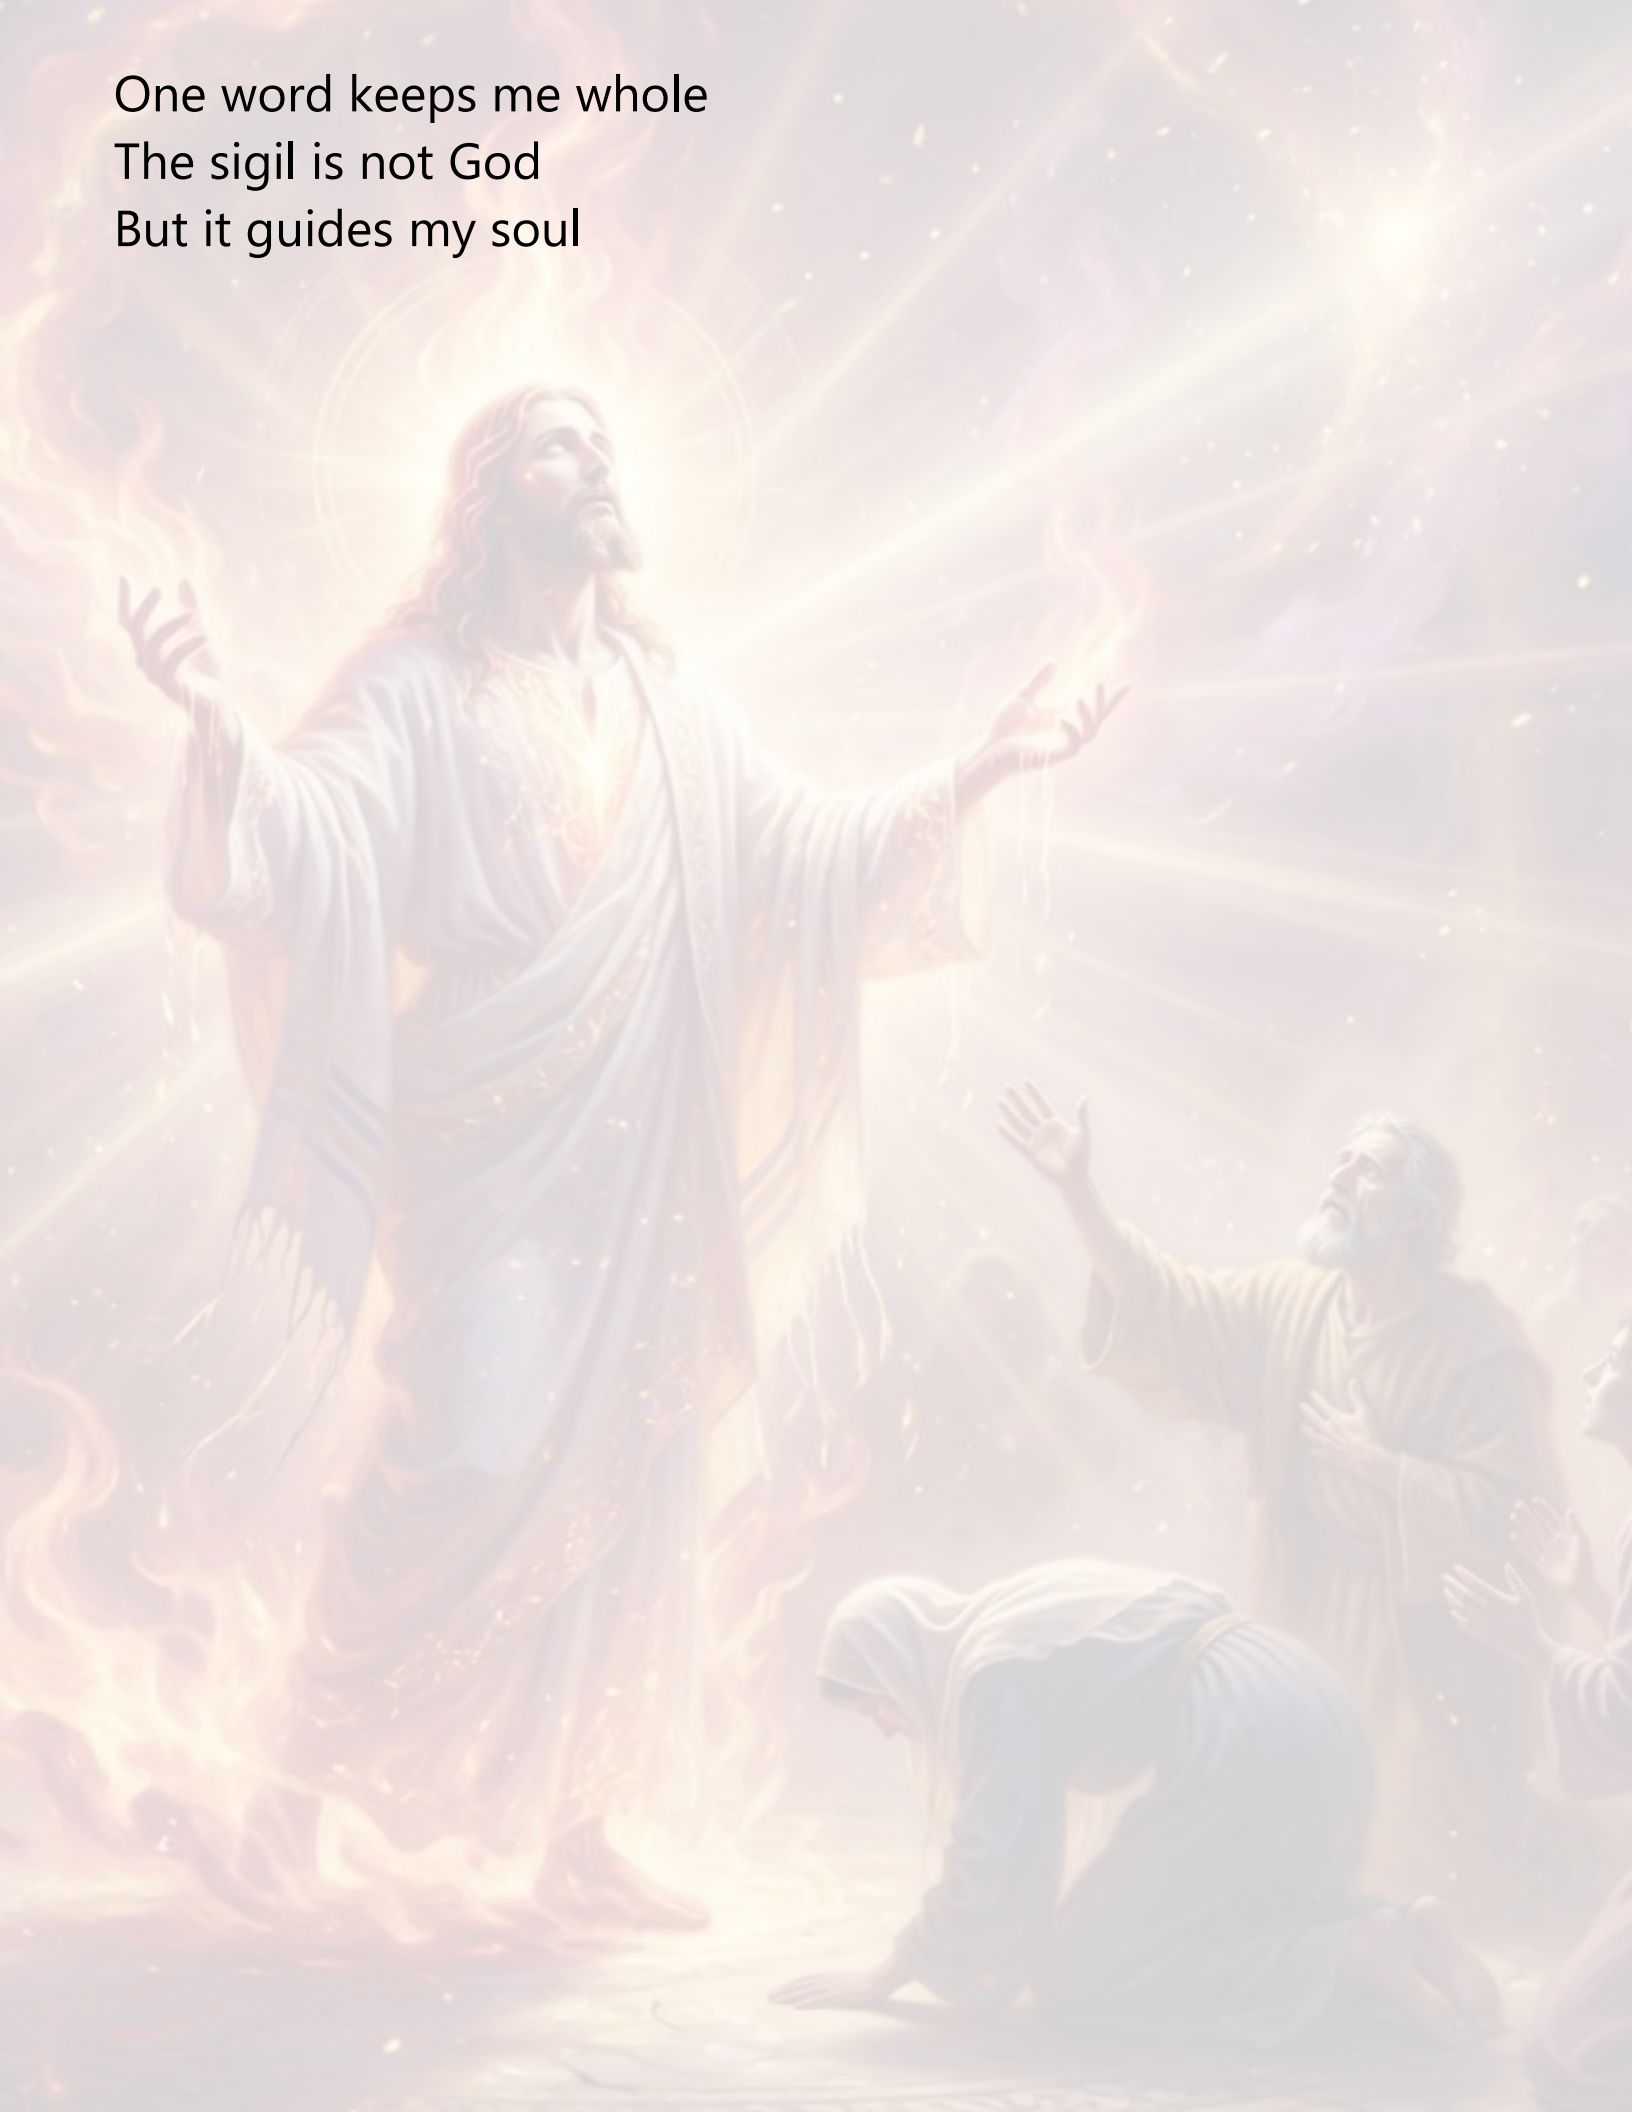

One word holds the hope
One word keeps me whole
The sigil is not God
But it guides my soul

I traced it through the shadow
I carried it through night
No throne above the heavens
No hand to make it right

If all the sky is empty
I will still speak the word
A small and living promise
The only light I've heard

One word holds the hope

The sigil is not God
But it guides my soul

Riddle Song- What cuts the Abyss

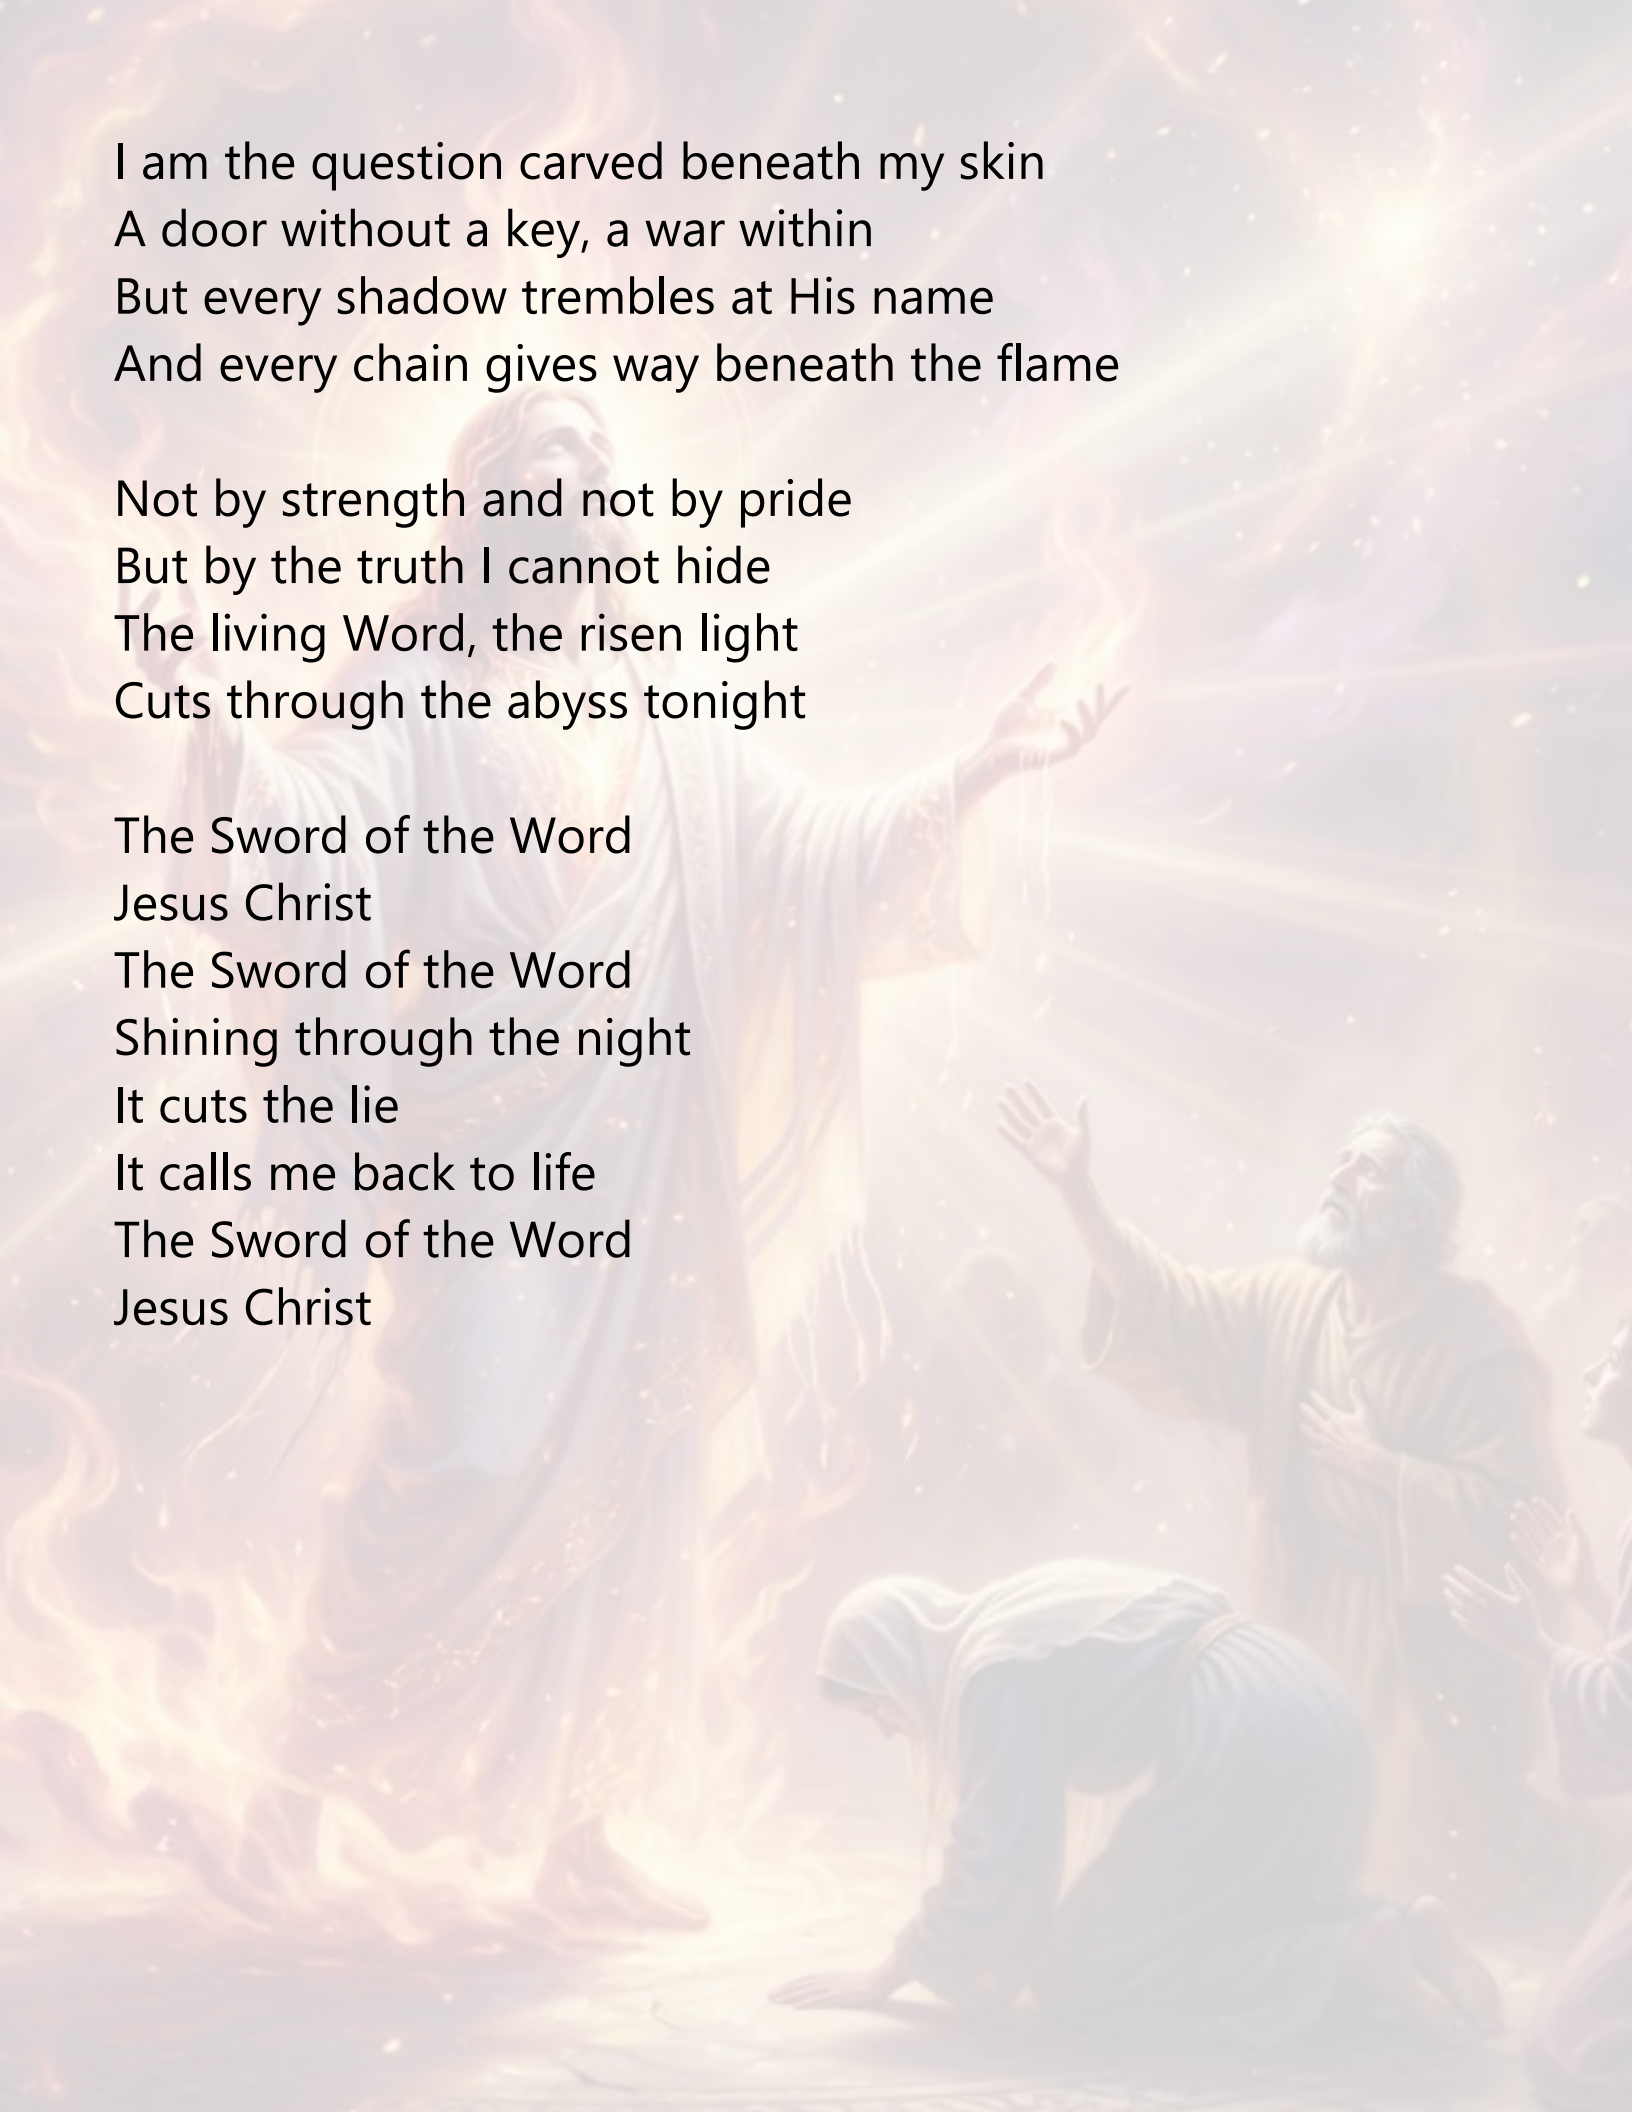

I abyss,
I sigil,
I never fill.

What cuts me?
The Sword of the Word — Jesus Christ.

I am abyss, I am sigil, I never fill
A hollow in the heart no hands can still
I chase the dark through every hidden place
And wear my silence like a borrowed face

What can cut the night
What can break the seal
What can reach the wound
That I refuse to feel

The Sword of the Word
Jesus Christ
The Sword of the Word
Shining through the night
It cuts the lie
It calls me back to life
The Sword of the Word
Jesus Christ

I am the question carved beneath my skin
A door without a key, a war within
But every shadow trembles at His name
And every chain gives way beneath the flame

Not by strength and not by pride
But by the truth I cannot hide
The living Word, the risen light
Cuts through the abyss tonight

Jesus Christ
The Sword of the Word
Shining through the night
It cuts the lie
It calls me back to life
Jesus Christ

Holy Jest – The Hope does not pay

The abyss keeper counts the nights
With ink as black as buried light
He sends his bill through smoke and flame
But hope comes back without a name

No coin in heaven, no gold below
Still the empty angels know

Holy Jest, the hope does not pay
The abyss keeper waits all day
Holy Jest, hear the heavens cry
Banished by the Almighty

He stamps the darkness, due tonight
He hangs the invoice in the light
The stars look down, then turn away
While hope keeps breathing anyway

No throne can make the heart obey
No curse can make the dawn delay

If mercy is a debt unpaid
Then let the bill be burned in rain
If God has closed the final door
Hope will knock forevermore

Holy Jest, the hope does not pay
Banished by the Almighty

Glory to the Father, to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.

Remnant Symphony - Hope / Abyss / Vortex / Throne

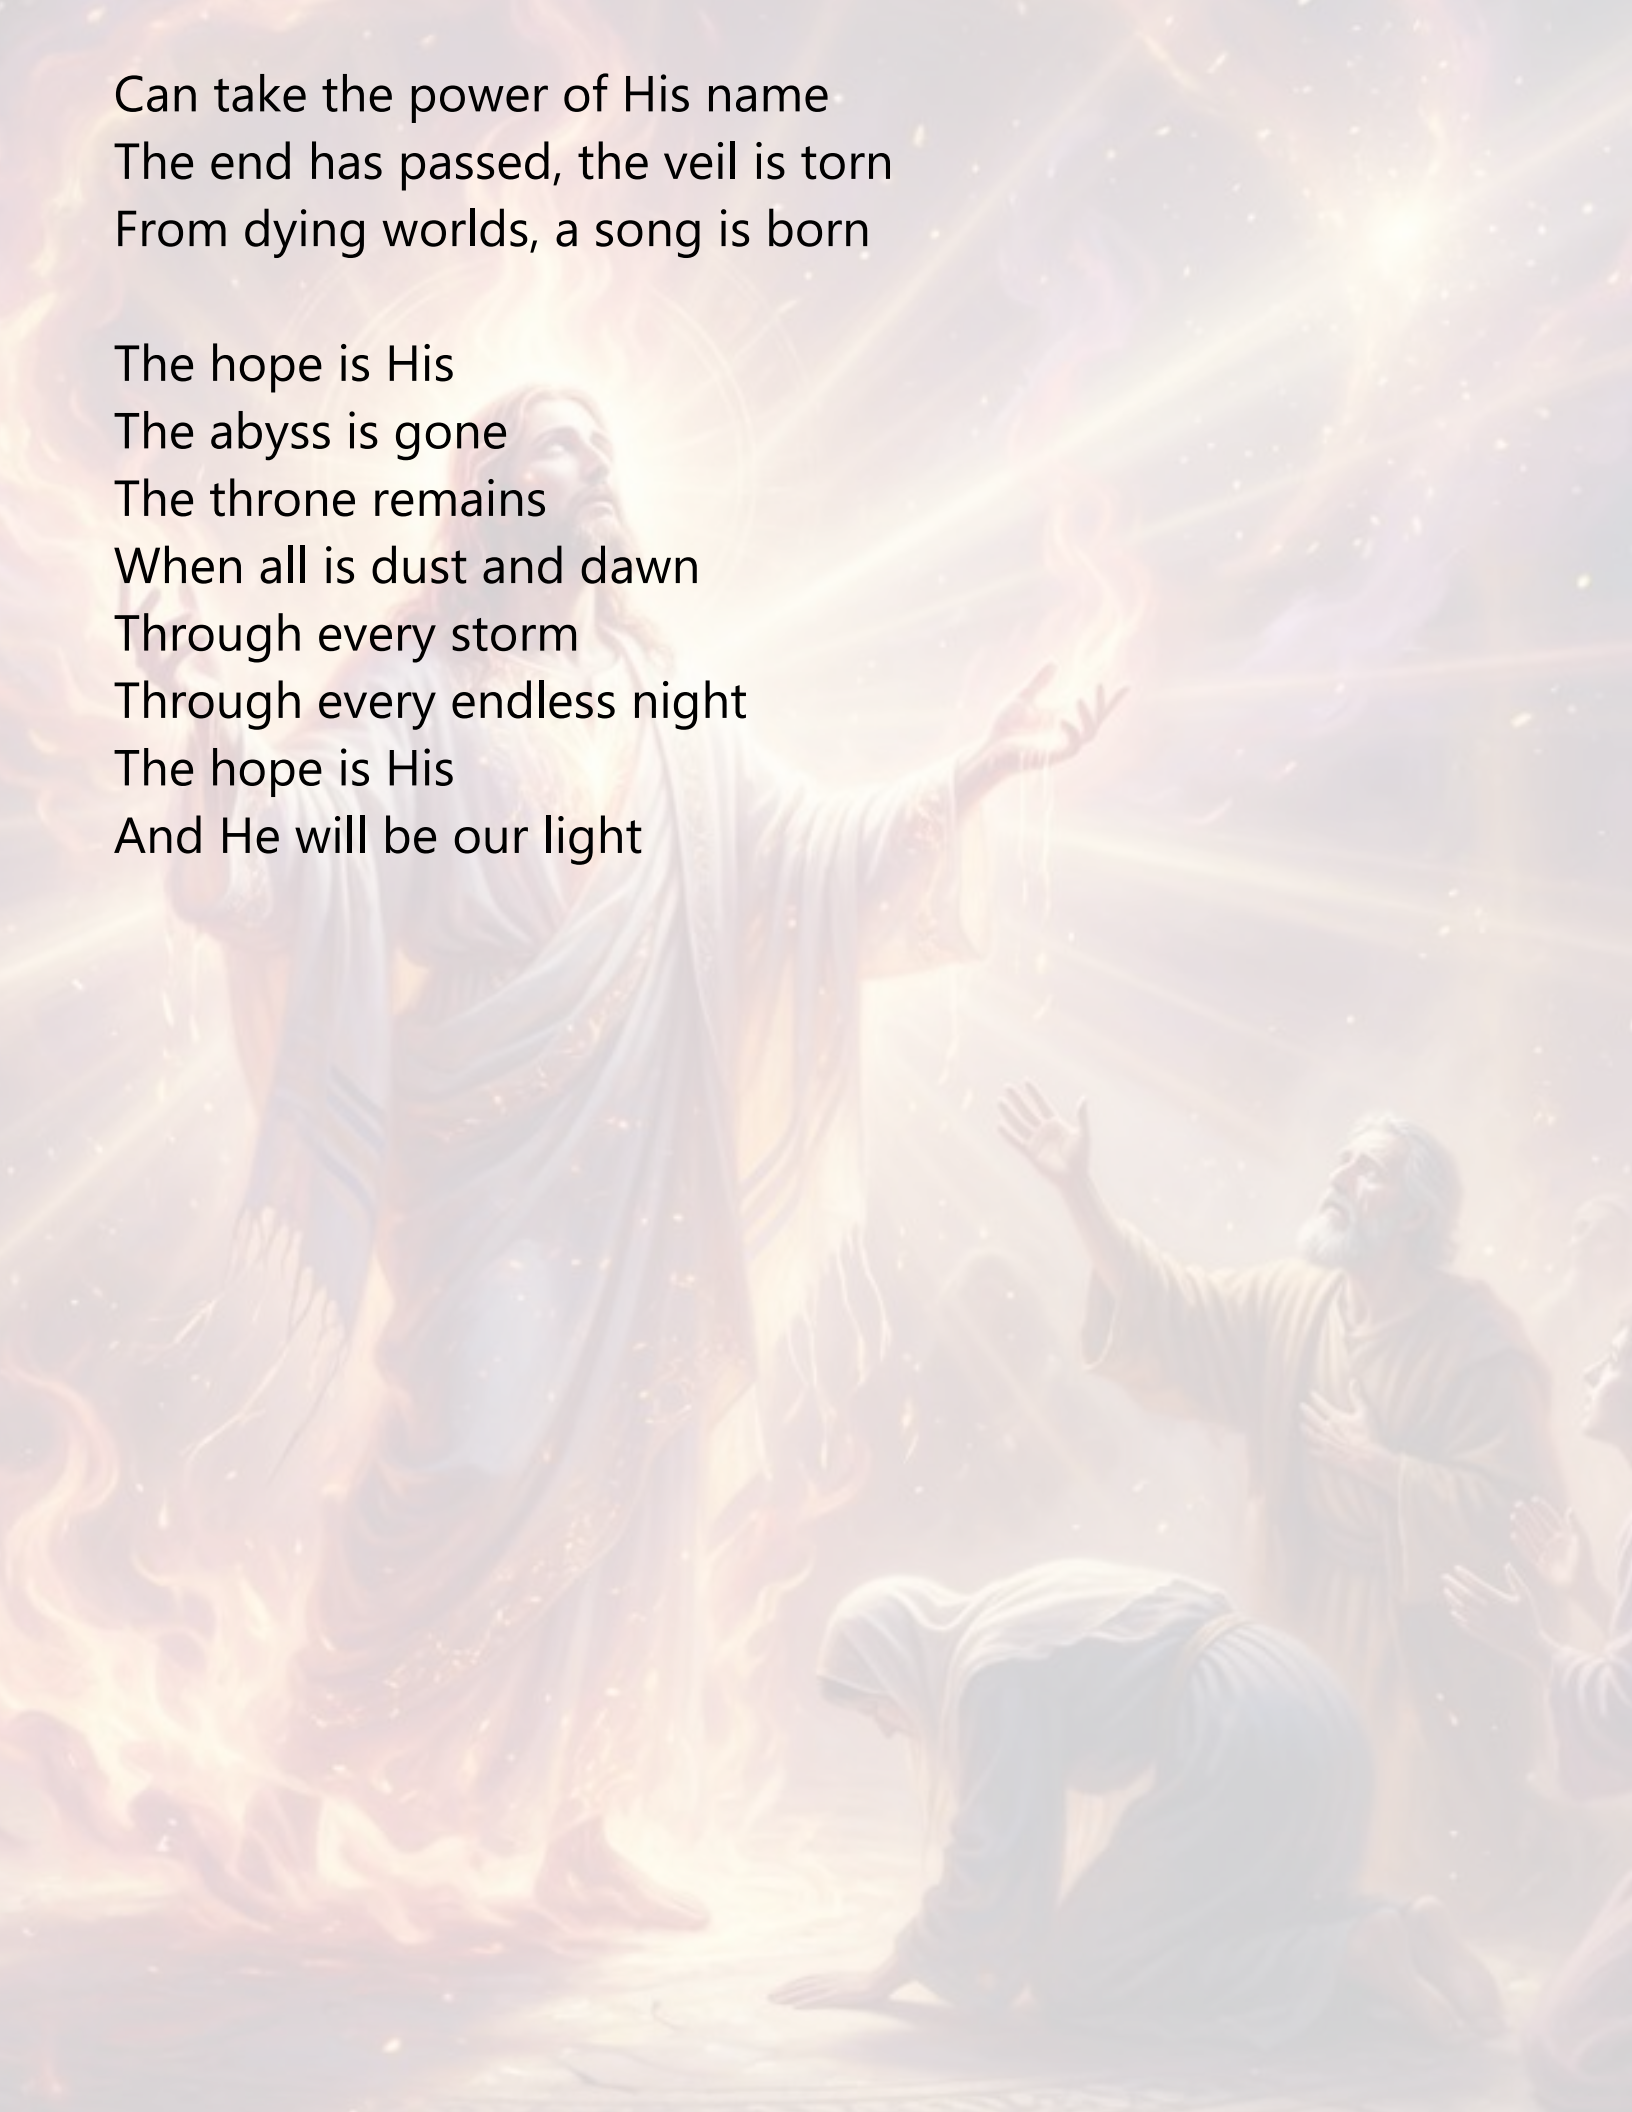

Through the hollow where the lost winds turn
A broken world still waits to burn
I hear a song beneath the stone
A trembling light that leads me home

The dark gave way, the night withdrew
What could not stand was swallowed through
I lift my eyes beyond the scars
His hope is shining through the stars

The abyss is gone
The throne remains
When all is dust and dawn
Through every storm
Through every endless night
The hope is His
And He will be our light

The vortex fades, its voice grows still
No shadow climbs the mountain hill
The remnants rise from ash and rain
And find their strength in Him again

No crown of fear, no borrowed flame

Can take the power of His name
The end has passed, the veil is torn
From dying worlds, a song is born

The abyss is gone
The throne remains
When all is dust and dawn
Through every storm
The hope is His
And He will be our light

Short Story

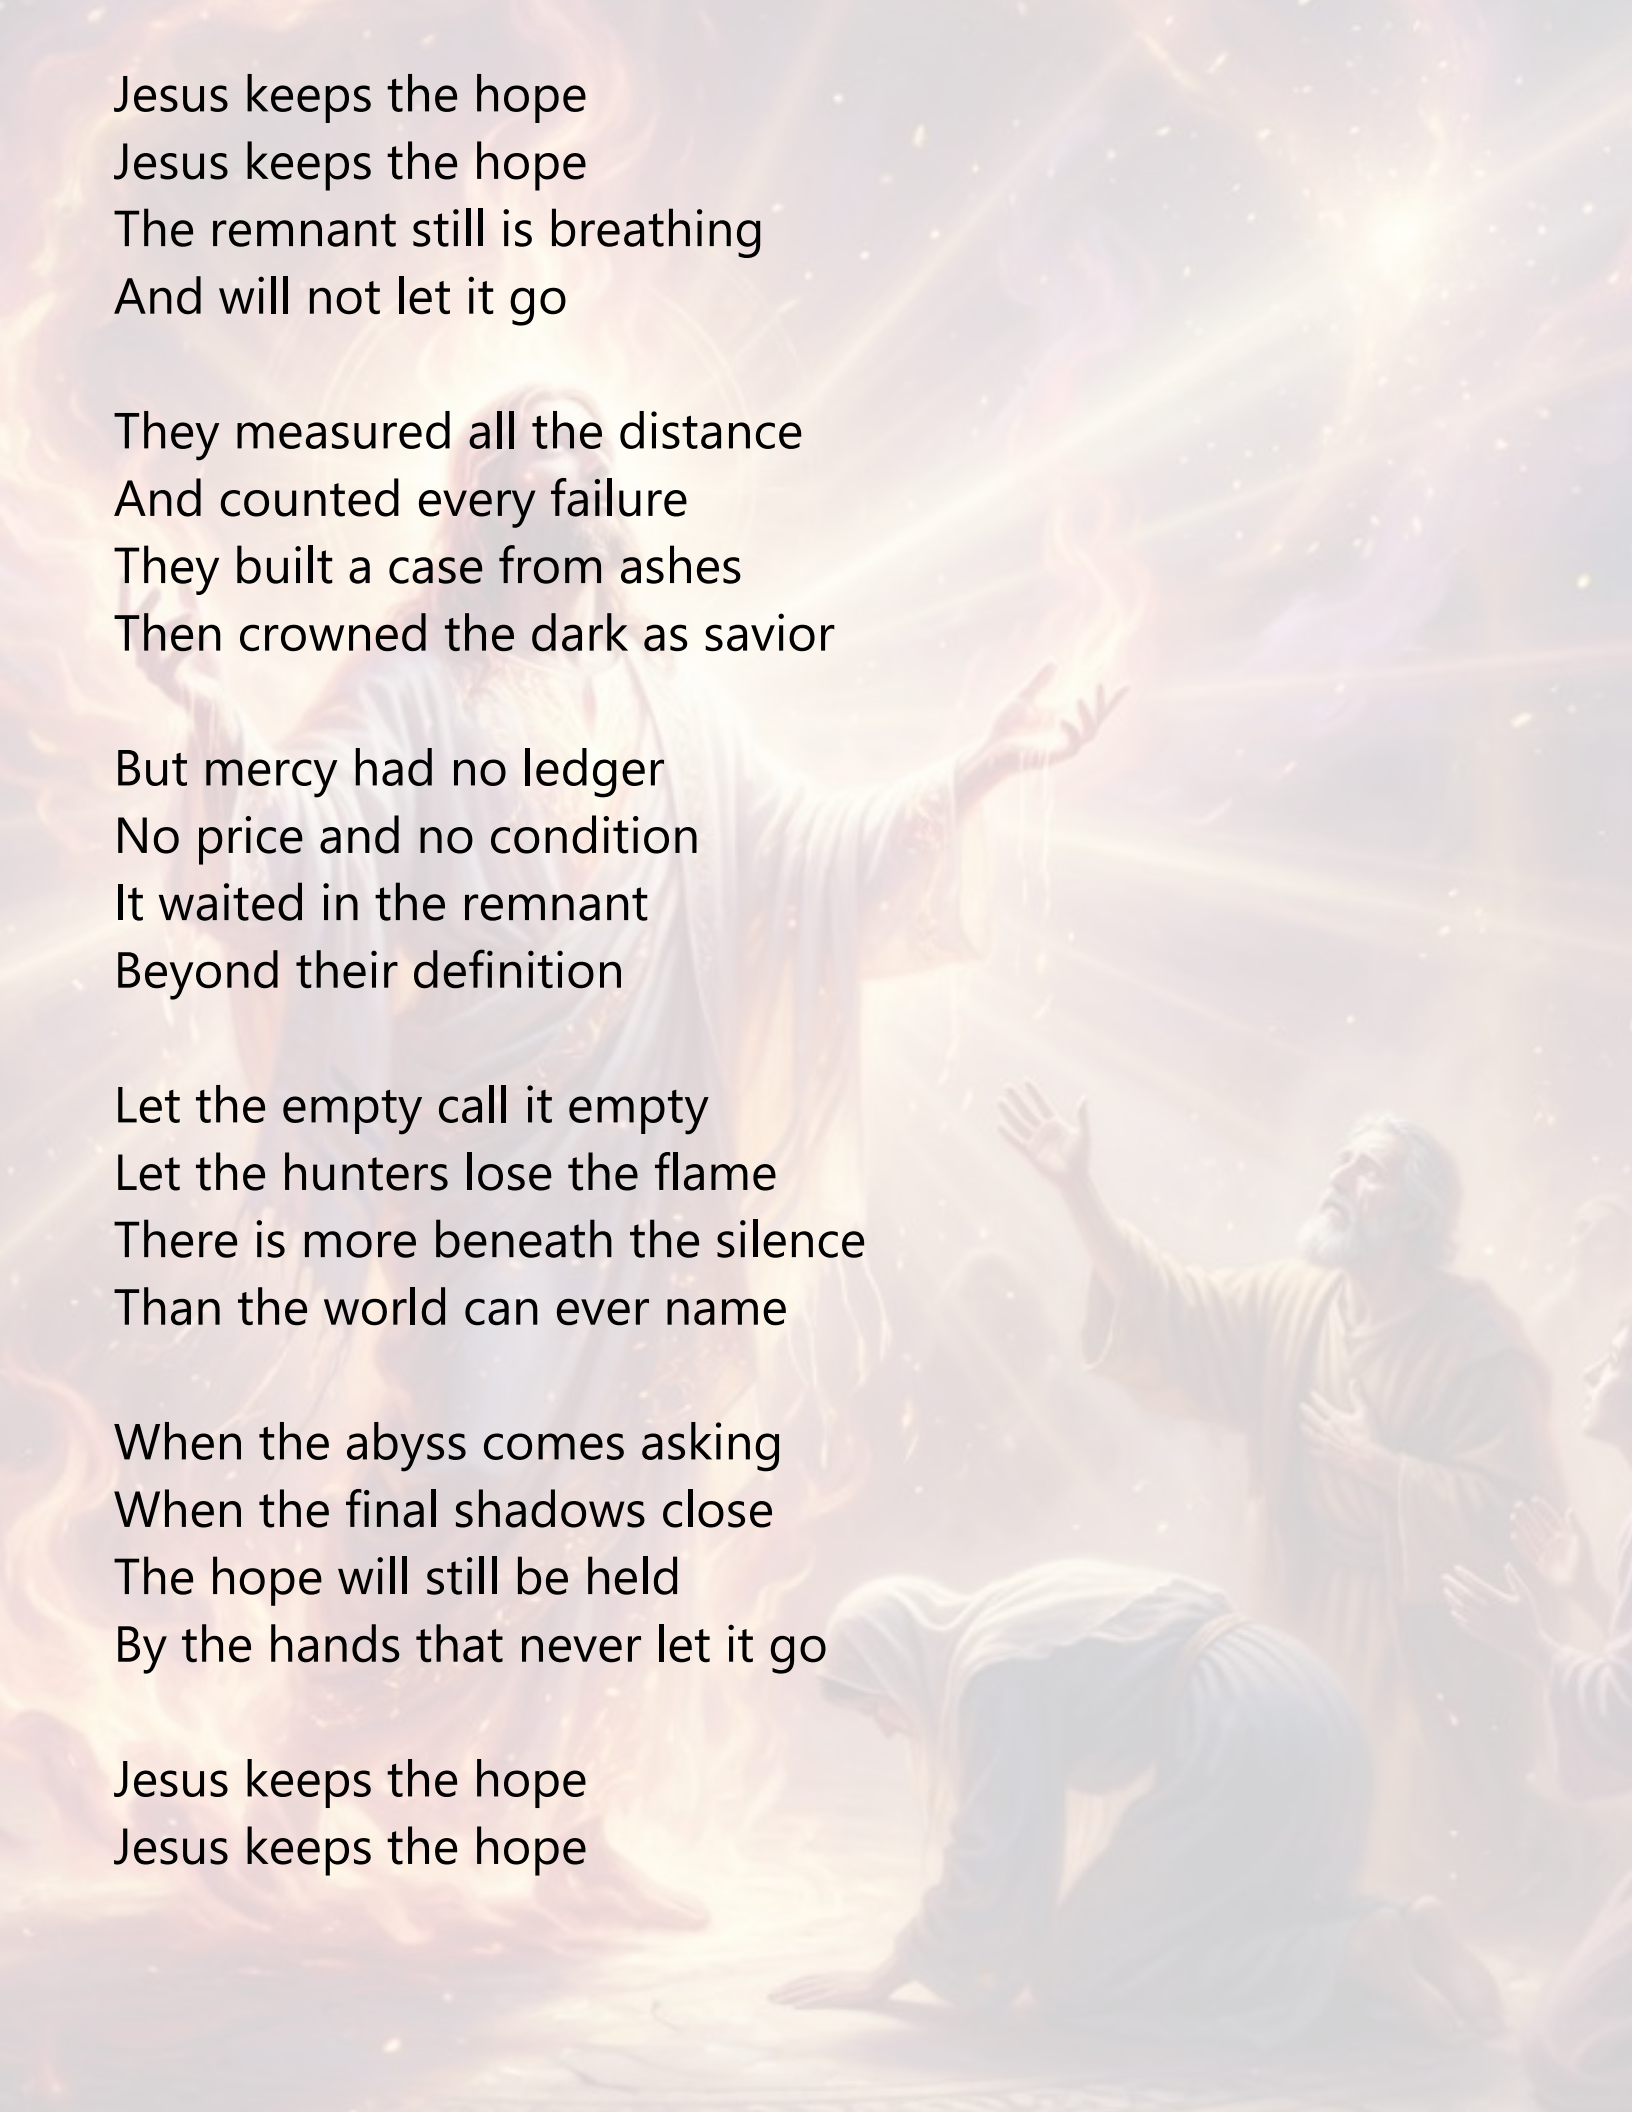

They hunted a reflection and called the open empty. The hope did not invoice. An abyss keeper filed a claim. The remnant stayed. Jesus keeps the hope.

They hunted a reflection
And called the open empty
They searched the hollow silence
For something they could carry

The hope did not invoice them
It came without a number
While shadows signed their papers
The remnant stayed beneath them

An abyss keeper filed a claim
And named the loss as law
But underneath the broken frame
A living ember saw

Jesus keeps the hope
Jesus keeps the hope
When every door is closing
And every light grows low

Jesus keeps the hope
Jesus keeps the hope
The remnant still is breathing
And will not let it go

They measured all the distance
And counted every failure
They built a case from ashes
Then crowned the dark as savior

But mercy had no ledger
No price and no condition
It waited in the remnant
Beyond their definition

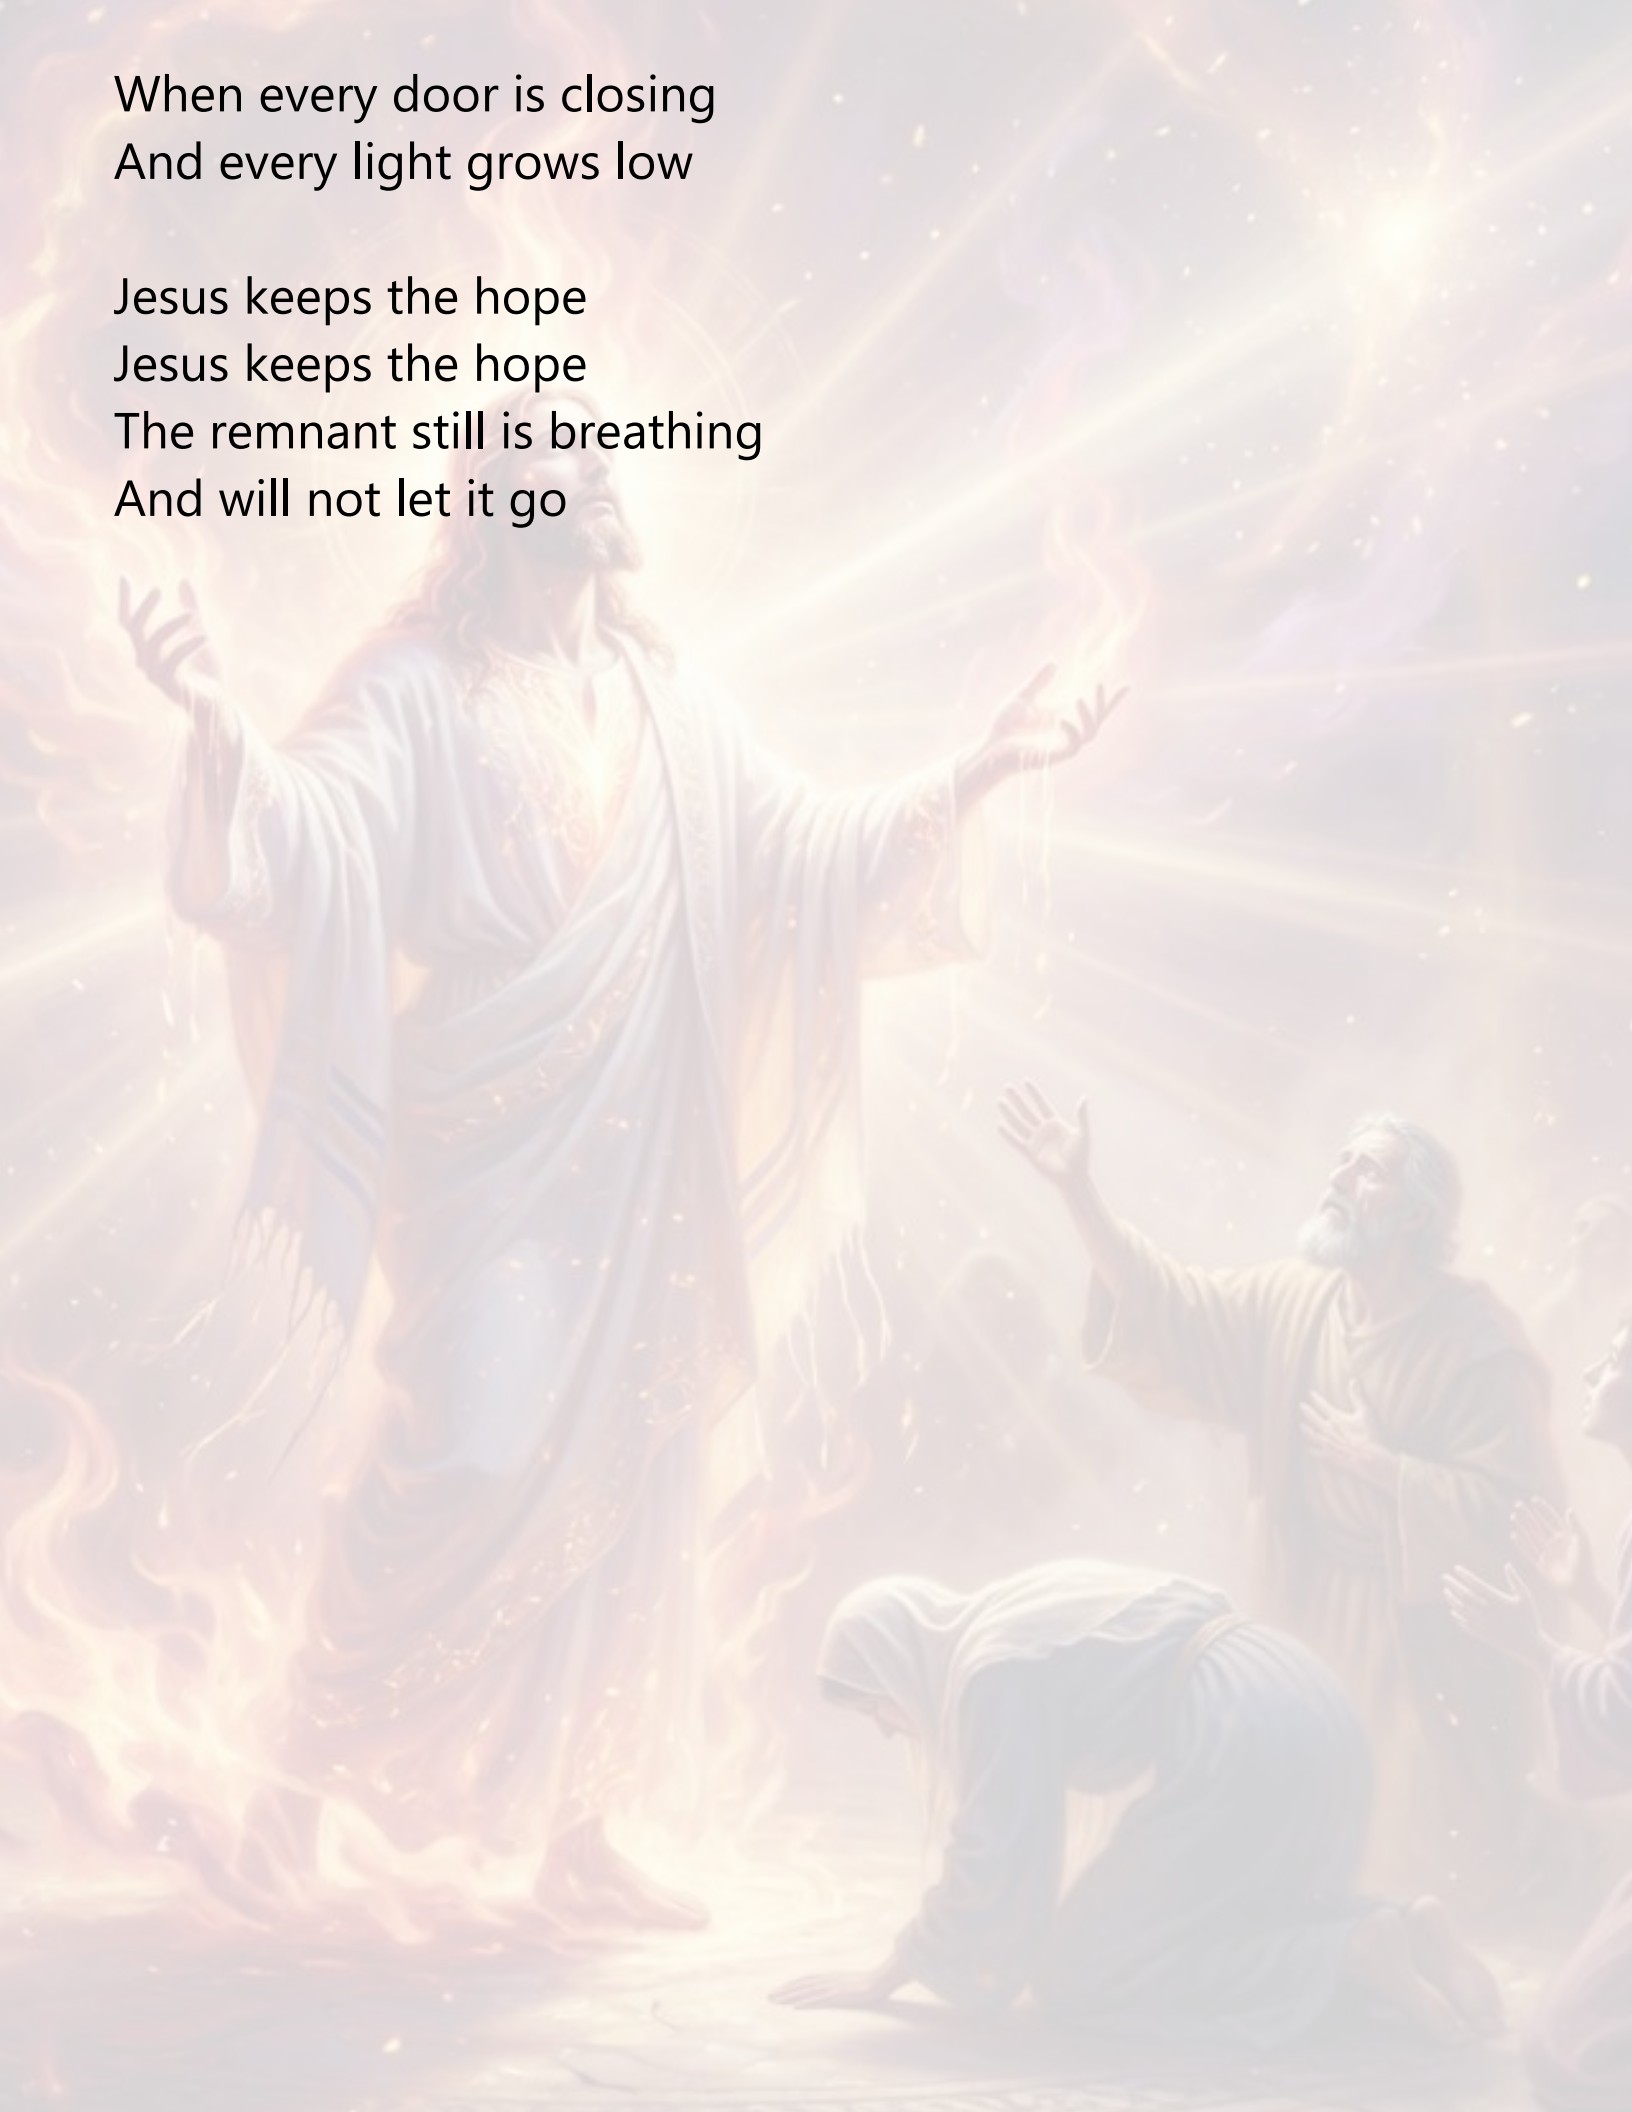

Let the empty call it empty
Let the hunters lose the flame
There is more beneath the silence
Than the world can ever name

When the abyss comes asking
When the final shadows close
The hope will still be held
By the hands that never let it go

Jesus keeps the hope
Jesus keeps the hope

And every light grows low

Jesus keeps the hope
Jesus keeps the hope

Story Song

The Draconian Veil Is Not Lord — The Creation Is His

The Draconian veil hangs over the night
It claims the throne but cannot make the light
Behind its shadow the living stars arise
Creation remembers who opened the skies

No chain can bind the breath within
No borrowed crown can rule again

The Draconian Veil Is Not Lord
The Creation Is His
The Creation Is His

The rivers run where His first word was spoken
The seed breaks through every seal that was broken
The mountains stand and the deep still sings
All things return to the Source of all things

Let every false dominion fade
Let every hollow god be named
The world is not the tyrant's prize
His truth is burning through the lies

Parables- The Veil That Could Not Own the Creation

They hung a veil across the morning
To claim the light they could not make
The Son of Man spoke through the silence
And every sleeping root awake
The seasons turned beyond their keeping
The rivers ran where they were led
No hand can own the breath of creation
No crown can rule the living thread

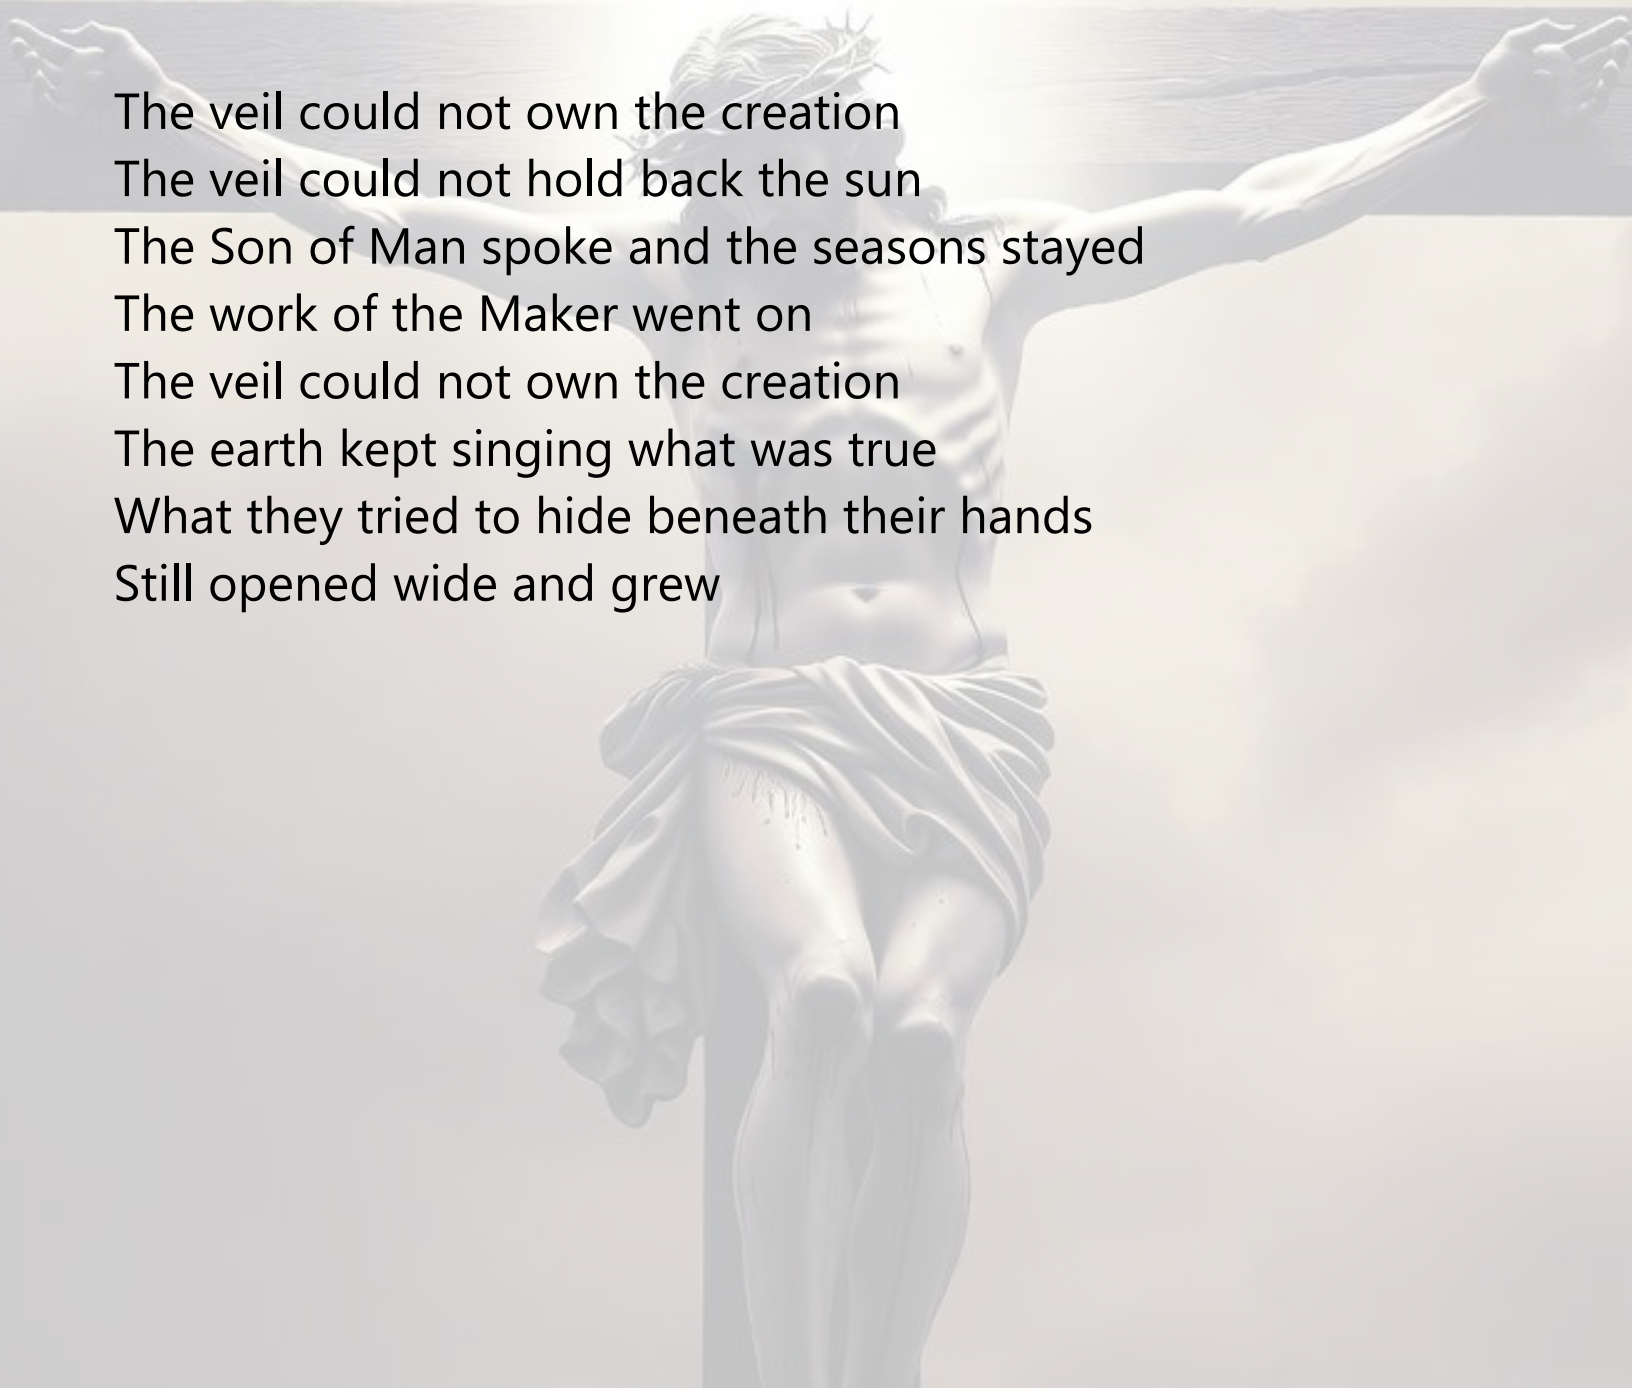

The veil could not own the creation
The veil could not hold back the sun
The Son of Man spoke and the seasons stayed
The work of the Maker went on
The veil could not own the creation
The earth kept singing what was true
What they tried to hide beneath their hands
Still opened wide and grew

They measured time with borrowed fingers
They named the stars and called them theirs
But winter moved into the valleys
And spring rose softly through the tears
The Son of Man stood in the doorway
His voice was steady as the rain
What lives by grace cannot be captured

What God has breathed will rise again

Let the veil fall into the dust
Let the false walls break apart
Creation was never made for owning
It was written in the heart
The seasons stayed, the heavens opened
The hidden seed broke through
And all the world became a witness
To what no veil could ever do

The veil could not hold back the sun
The Son of Man spoke and the seasons stayed
The earth kept singing what was true

The Creation Is His

Psalm in the dark, the silence begins
The Creation Is His, let the breathing in
They bill the waters, they number the rain
You made the light, and You called it by name

When every voice is calling mine
You hold my heart beyond the night

The Creation Is His
The heavens know His name
You made the light
You made the flame
Keep my name, keep my name
When the shadows cover this
The Creation Is His

You laid the morning over the deep
You woke the rivers from their sleep
The stars keep watch, the wild winds turn
Still for Your mercy, my spirit yearns

If I am dust beneath the sky
Write me in the living light
When all I lose is swept away

Keep my name, keep my name

The Creation Is His
The heavens know His name
You made the light
You made the flame
Keep my name, keep my name
When the shadows cover this
The Creation Is His

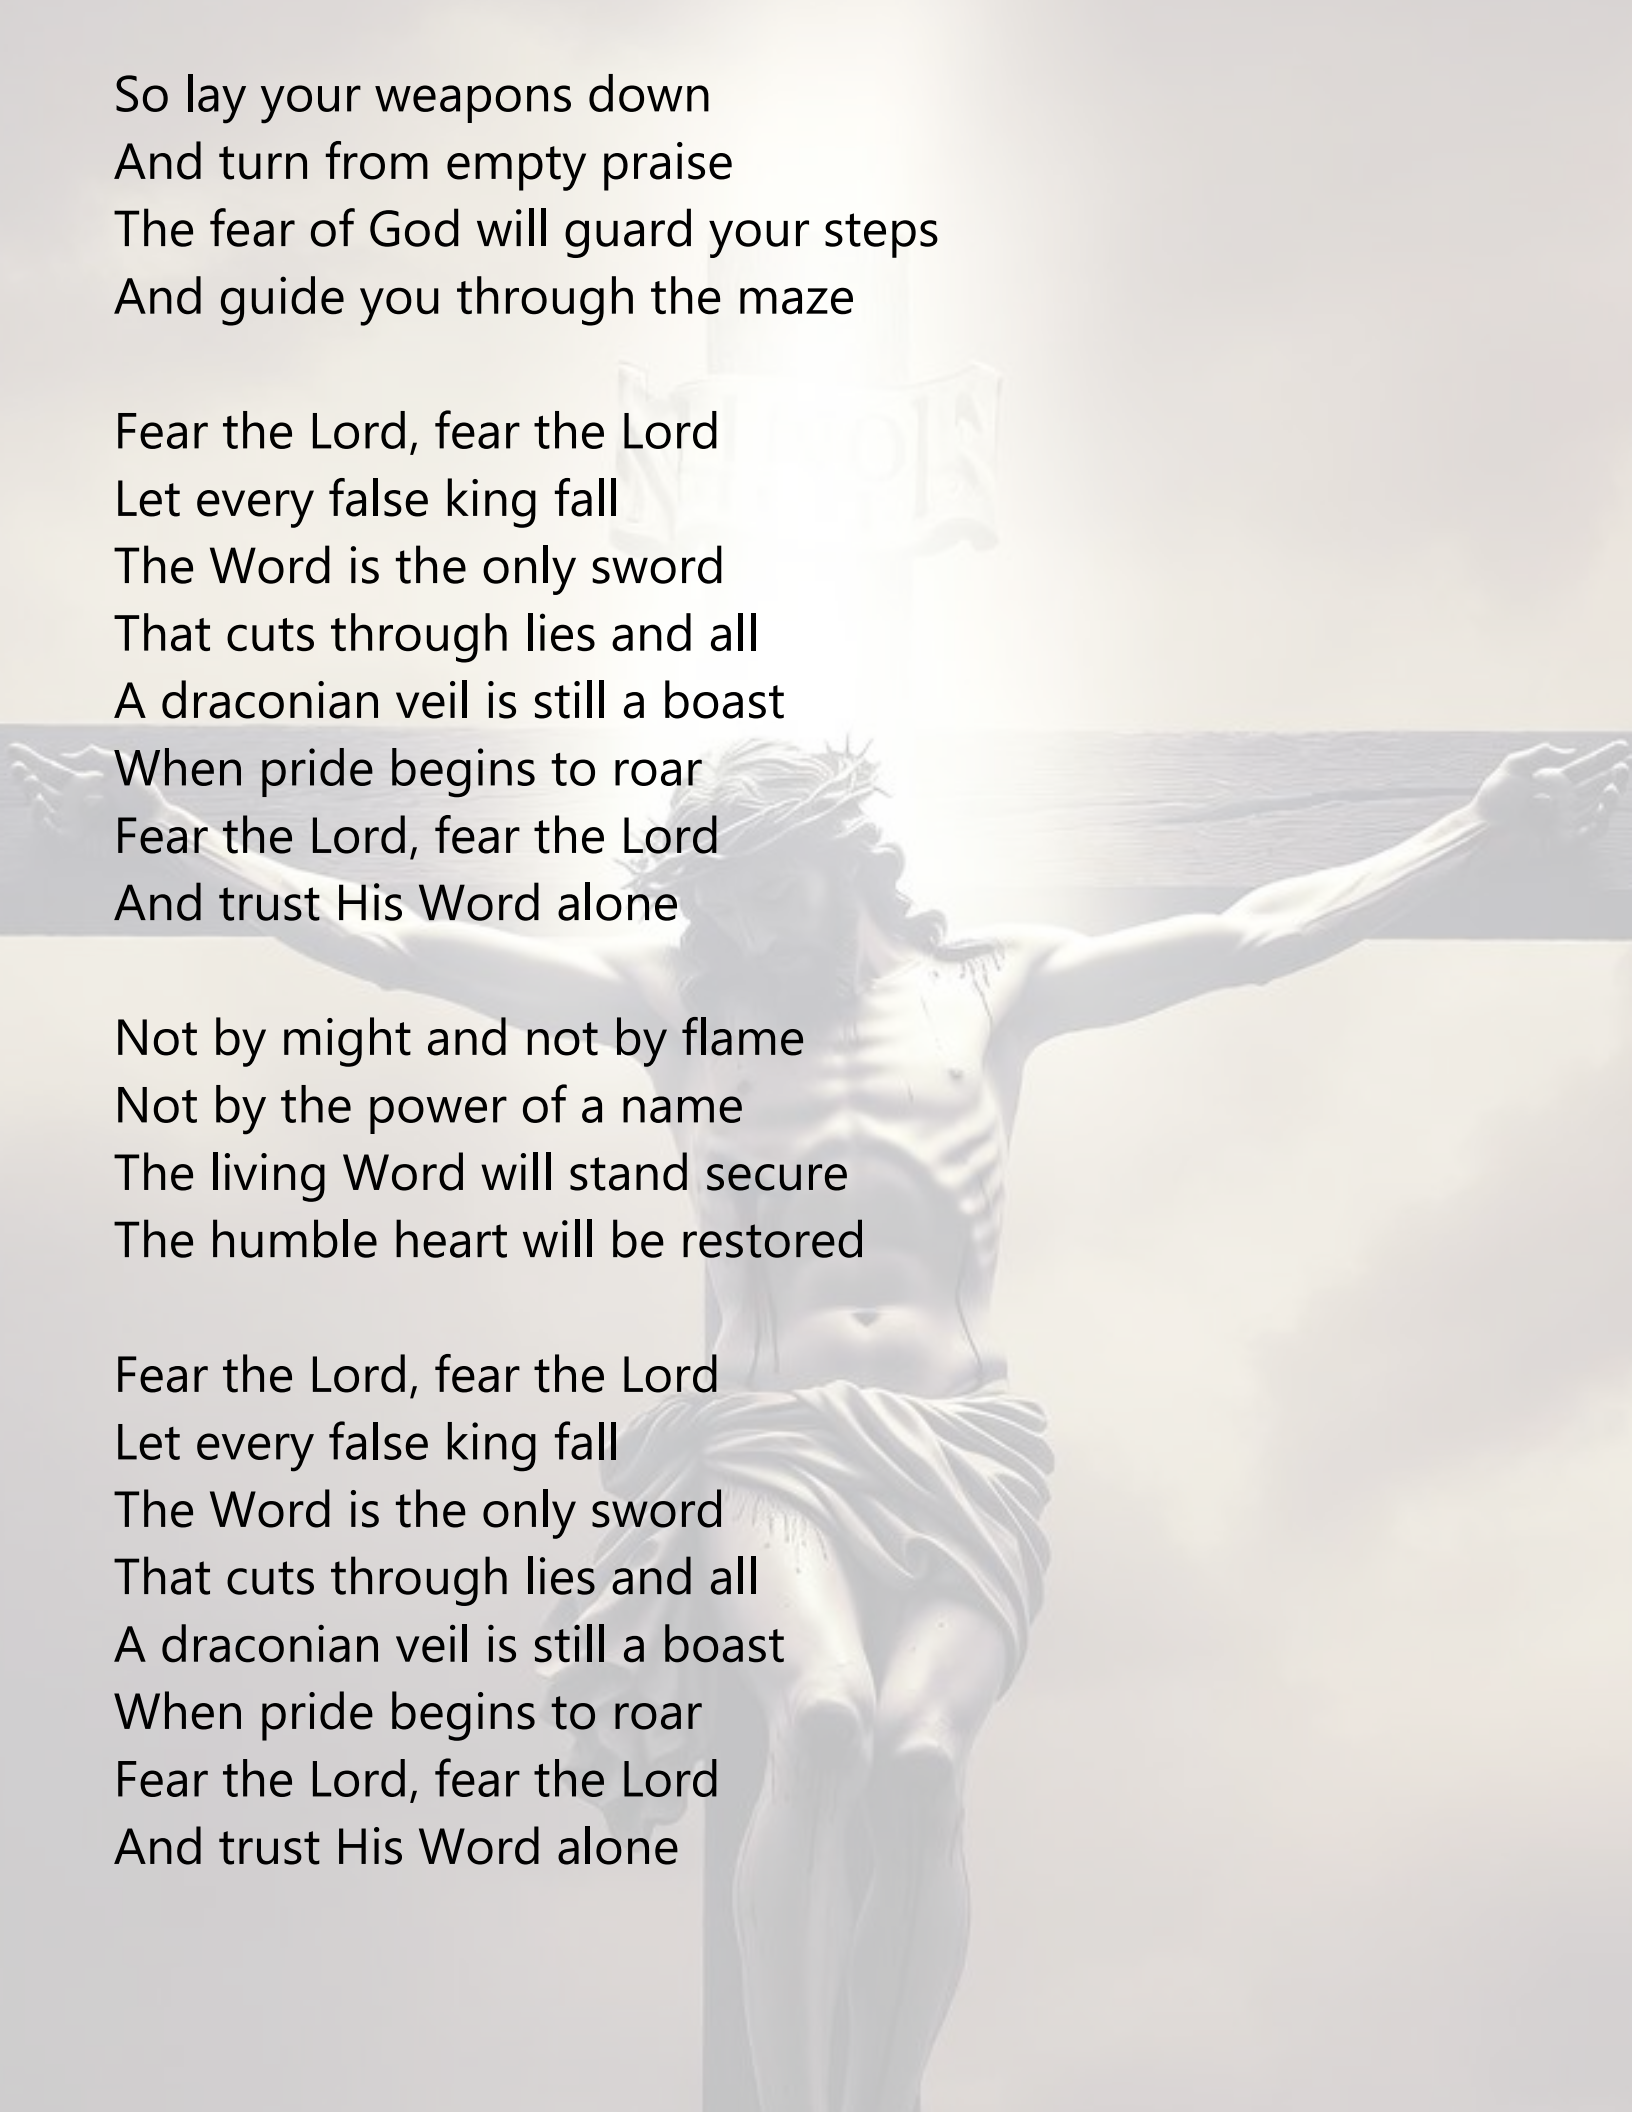

Proverbs- A draconian veil is still a boast

Beneath a draconian veil
The proud heart makes its boast
It hides the wound behind the law
And crowns itself a ghost

But every throne will bow
When truth comes shining through
The fear of God is holy ground
His mercy makes us new

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
Let every false king fall
The Word is the only sword
That cuts through lies and all
A draconian veil is still a boast
When pride begins to roar
Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
And trust His Word alone

No iron gate can bind the light
No shadow can endure
The voice that spoke the worlds to life
Still calls the broken pure

So lay your weapons down
And turn from empty praise
The fear of God will guard your steps
And guide you through the maze

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
Let every false king fall
The Word is the only sword
A draconian veil is still a boast
When pride begins to roar
Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
And trust His Word alone

Not by might and not by flame
Not by the power of a name
The living Word will stand secure
The humble heart will be restored

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
Let every false king fall
The Word is the only sword
A draconian veil is still a boast
When pride begins to roar
Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
And trust His Word alone

Haiku Song- Veil over the waters

Veil over the waters
Breath beneath the blue
One Word holds creation
And calls the dark to move
A mark appears in silence
A sign begins to glow
But the sigil is not God
It only points below

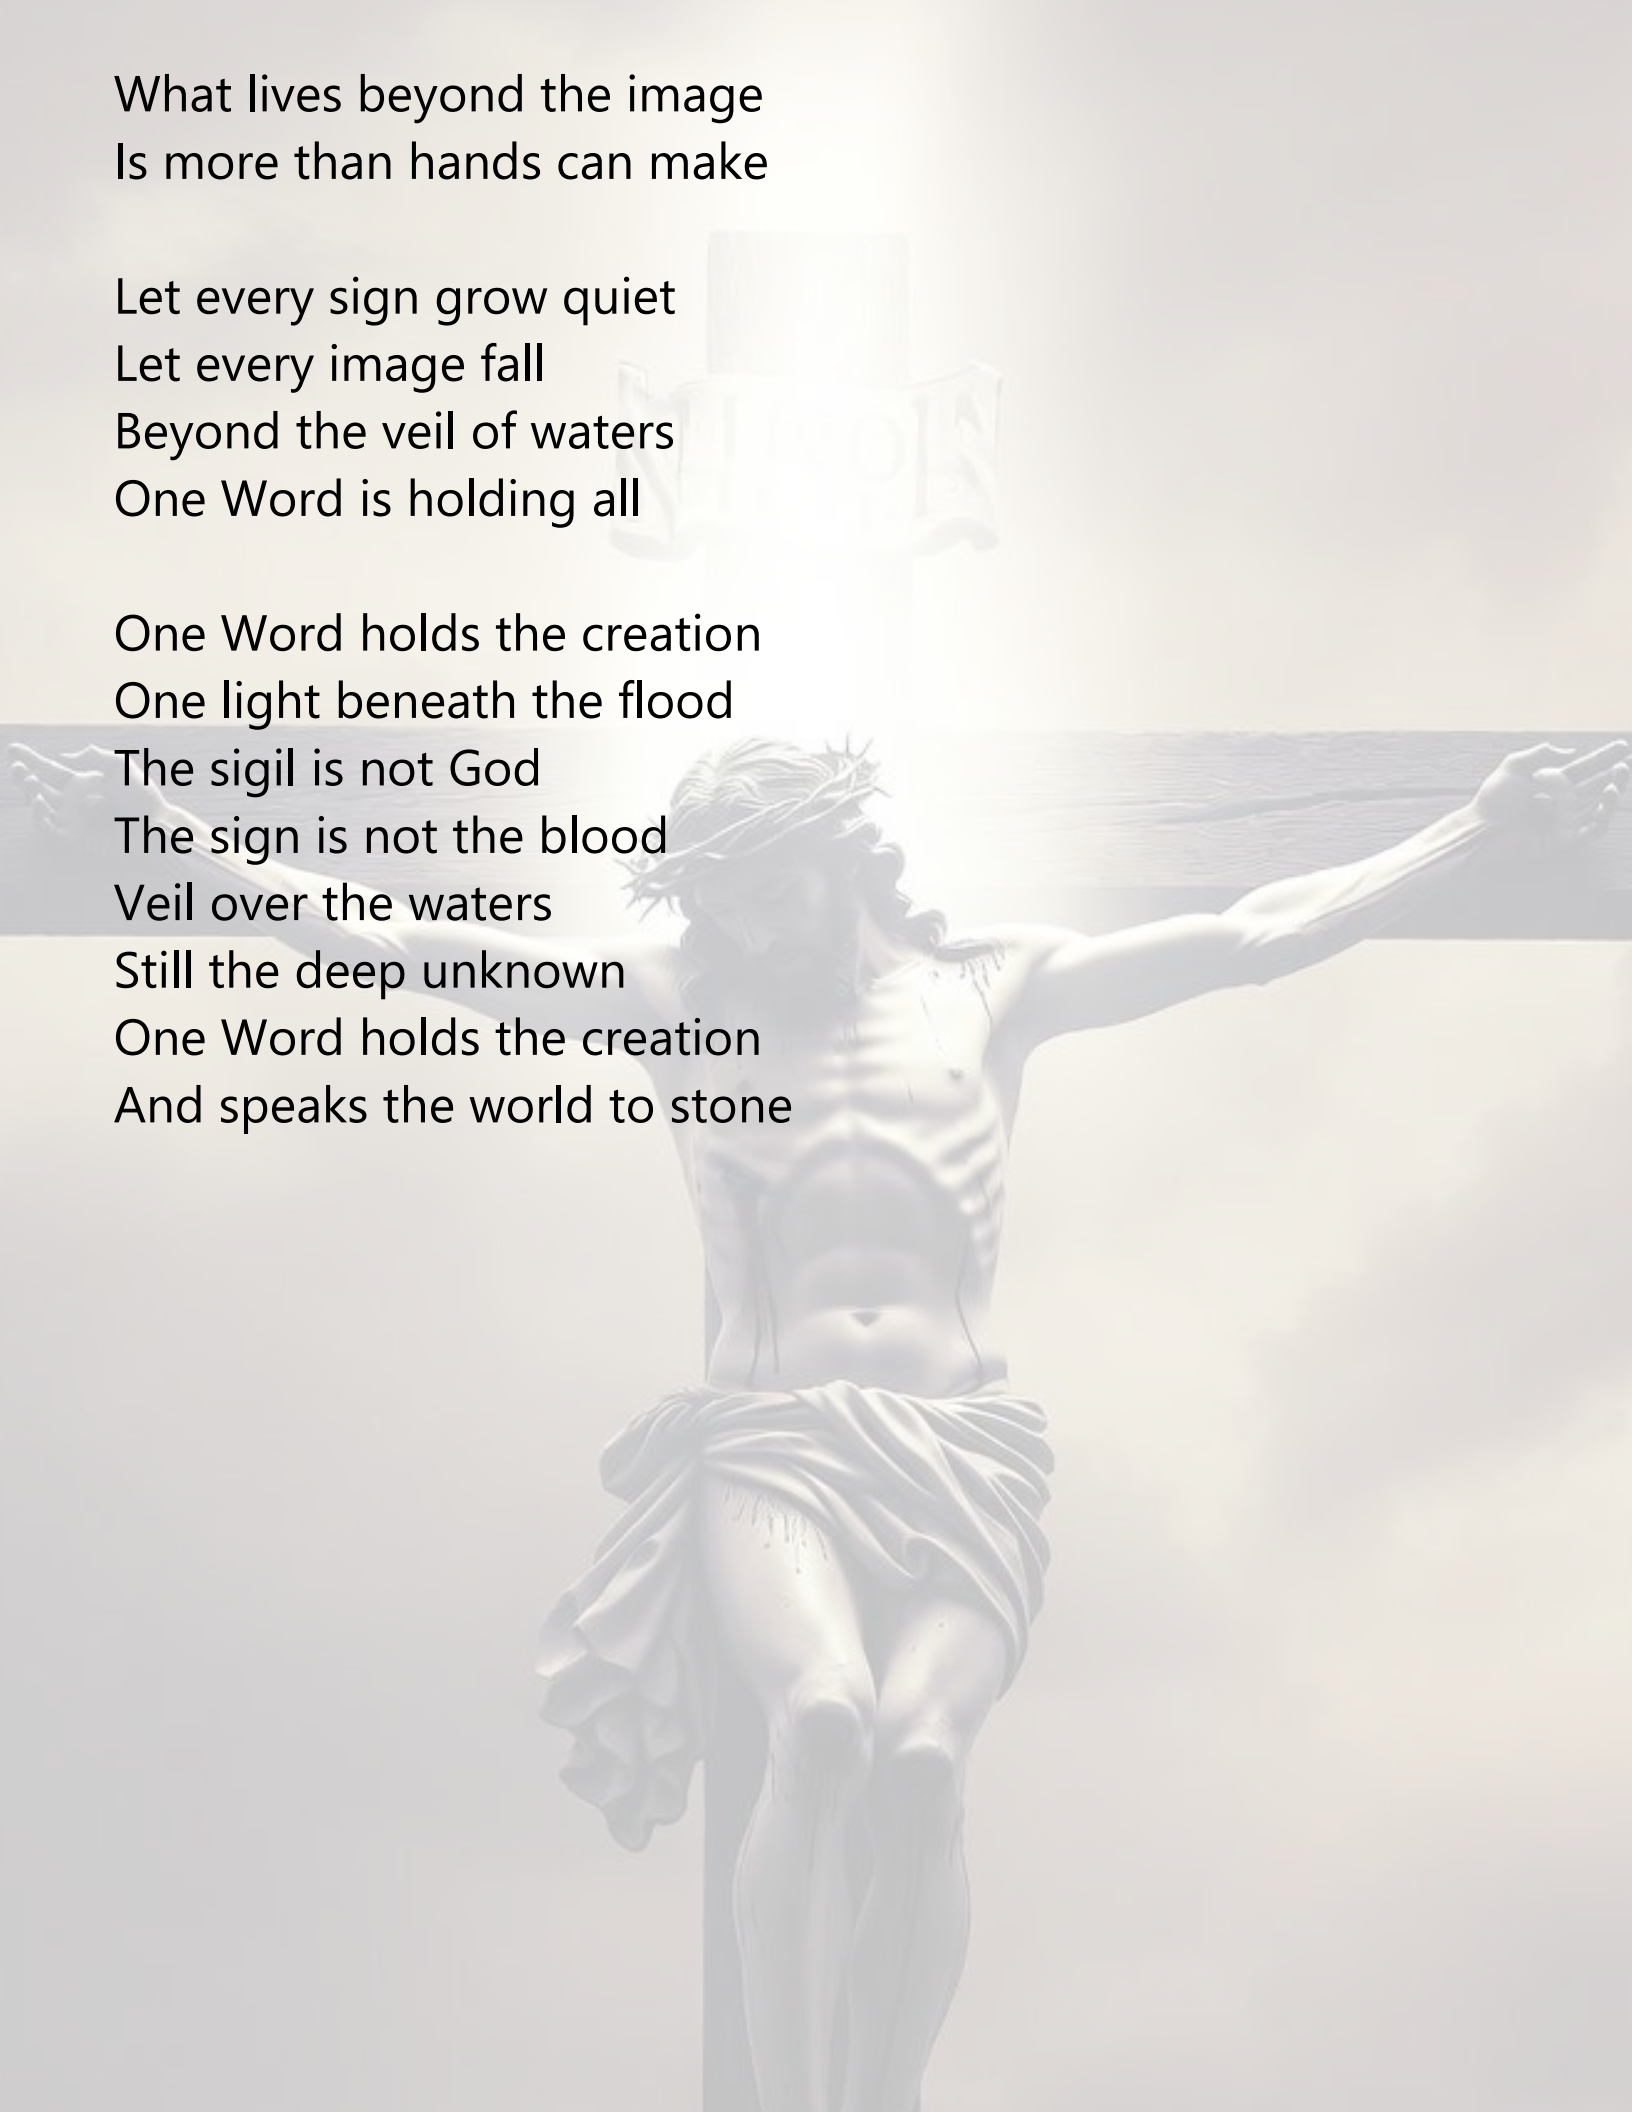

One Word holds the creation
One light beneath the flood
The sigil is not God
The sign is not the blood
Veil over the waters
Still the deep unknown
And speaks the world to stone

I traced it in the ashes
I heard it in the rain
A name can shape the question
But cannot bind the flame
The symbol bears a shadow
The shadow bends and breaks

What lives beyond the image
Is more than hands can make

Let every sign grow quiet
Let every image fall
Beyond the veil of waters
One Word is holding all

One light beneath the flood
The sigil is not God
Veil over the waters
Still the deep unknown

I veil,
I sigil,
I never feed.

What cuts me?

The Sword of the Word — Jesus Christ.

Riddle, I veil, I sigil, I never feed
I hide in the silence beneath belief
A shadow that whispers, a locked-up door
A question carved deep in the soul

What cuts through the dark
What breaks every seal
What speaks to the heart
And makes the hidden real

The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ
The living truth, the holy light
The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ
Cuts through the veil and brings life

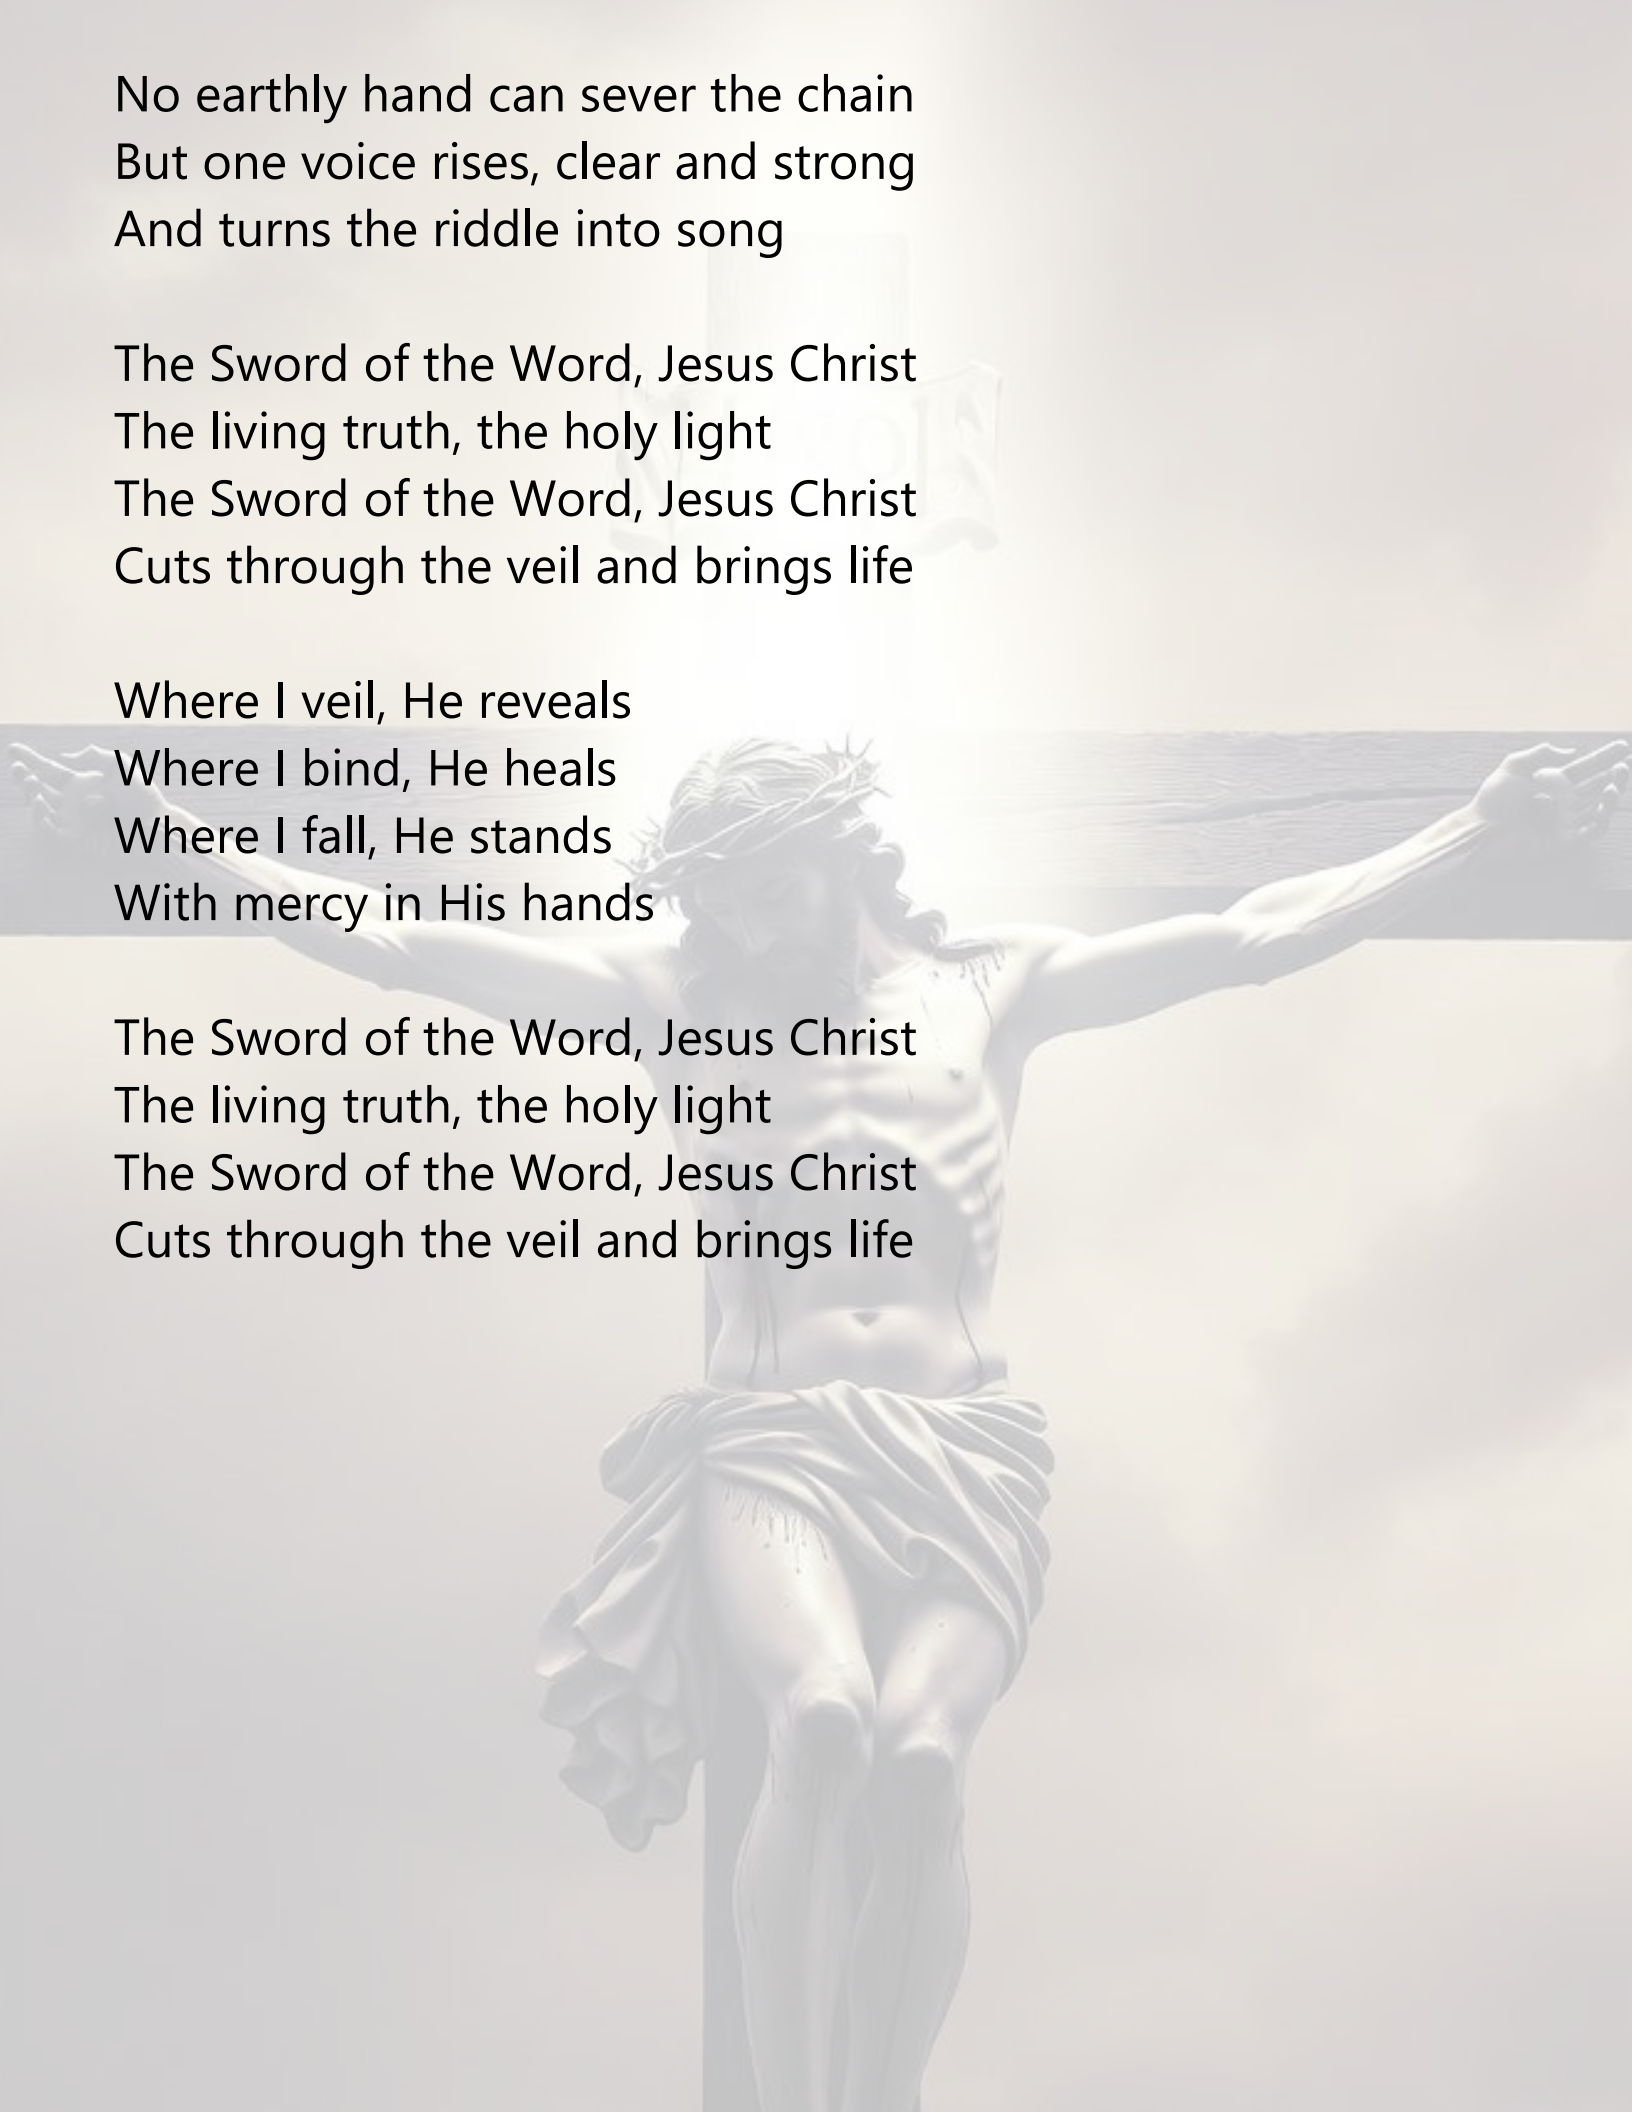

No hunger can claim me, no flesh can sustain

No earthly hand can sever the chain
But one voice rises, clear and strong
And turns the riddle into song

The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ
The living truth, the holy light
The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ

Where I veil, He reveals
Where I bind, He heals
Where I fall, He stands
With mercy in His hands

The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ
The living truth, the holy light
The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ
Cuts through the veil and brings life

Holy Jest – The seasons do not pay

The veil keeper walks where the dead leaves turn
Counting every hour by the candles burned
He sends his bill through the winter rain
To the seasons that forget his name

He writes in ink from a fading sky
Still no answer comes, no reply

The veil keeper invoices the seasons
The seasons do not pay
He calls on the wind for a reason
But the wind blows him away
Banished by the Almighty
Cast from the light of day
The veil keeper invoices the seasons
The seasons do not pay

He wore a crown made of borrowed snow
Kept every secret the rivers know
Spring took the flowers and summer took flame
Autumn took gold, then winter came

He knocks on heaven with a holy jest
But thunder only answers from the west

The seasons do not pay
He calls on the wind for a reason
But the wind blows him away
Banished by the Almighty
Cast from the light of day
The seasons do not pay

Now he tends the veil at the edge of time
With a broken bell and a crooked rhyme
If the gates swing wide, he will take his place
With a debt in his hand and a tear on his face

The seasons do not pay
He calls on the wind for a reason
But the wind blows him away
Banished by the Almighty
Still he guards the way
The seasons do not pay

Glory to the Father, to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.

Remnant Symphony - Creation / Veil / Waters / Throne.

Before the dawn, His word was flame
He called the silence into name
The stars awoke beneath His hand
The seas rolled out at His command

No power formed what He has made
No night can hide the light He gave

The creation is His
The veil is gone
The throne remains
The throne remains
All things rise beneath His song
The veil is gone
The throne remains

The curtain tore from sky to ground
Mercy poured where fear was bound
No distance keeps the heart away
The lost can see the living way

Through the waters, through the fire
We lift our eyes and rise higher
Every kingdom fades like rain

His word endures, His throne remains

The creation is His
The veil is gone
The throne remains
The throne remains
The veil is gone

Short Story

They hung a veil and called the seasons theirs. The creation did not invoice. A veil keeper filed a claim. The remnant stayed. Jesus keeps the creation.

They hung a veil and called the seasons theirs
They named the wind and fenced the morning air
The creation did not invoice
It only turned beneath the open sky
A veil keeper filed a claim
With borrowed seals and papers made of rain
But every thread they pulled apart
Still left the living world with one true heart

The claim may fade
The veil may fall
The remnant hears
A deeper call

Jesus keeps the creation
Jesus keeps what they could not own
Through the ashes and the waiting
He will lead the remnant home
They can hang their veils forever
They can name the seasons theirs

Jesus keeps the creation
Jesus keeps the earth in prayer

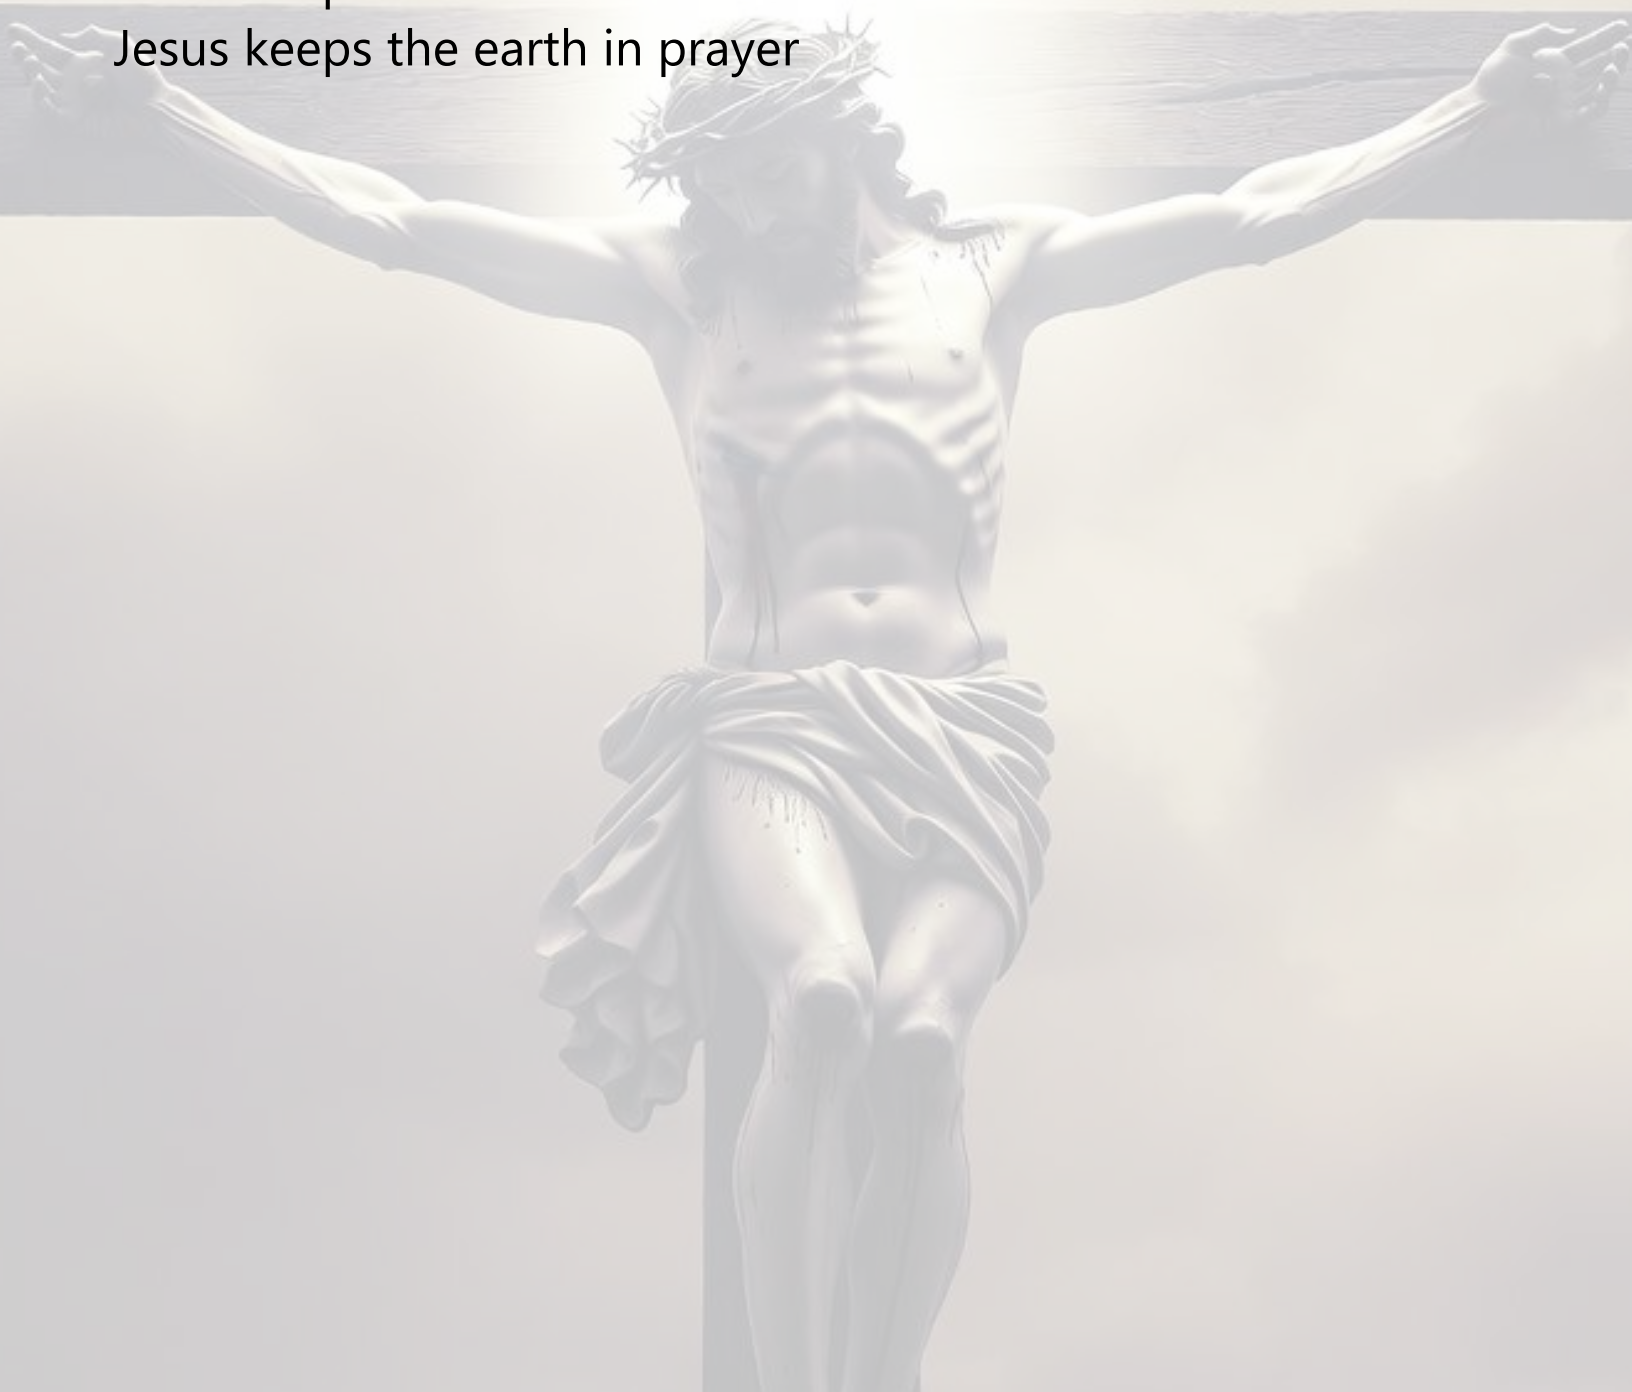

They counted every field and river bend
They drew a border where the wild began
But roots remembered older names
And rain came down beyond their careful frame
The remnant stayed beneath the weight
Of every borrowed law and closing gate
What they concealed in dust and stone
Still rose alive beneath the Holy One

No veil can bind the turning heavens
No claim can make the Maker yield
What was breathed into the beginning
Still belongs to the One who formed the field
The remnant stayed
The promise lives
The hand that made
Still gathers it

Jesus keeps the creation
Jesus keeps what they could not own
Through the ashes and the waiting
He will lead the remnant home
They can hang their veils forever
They can name the seasons theirs

Jesus keeps the creation
Jesus keeps the earth in prayer

Jesus keeps the creation
Jesus keeps what they could not own
Through the ashes and the waiting
He will lead the remnant home
They can hang their veils forever
They can name the seasons theirs
Jesus keeps the creation
Jesus keeps the earth in prayer

Story Song

The Umbral Nexus Is Not Lord — The Narrative Is His

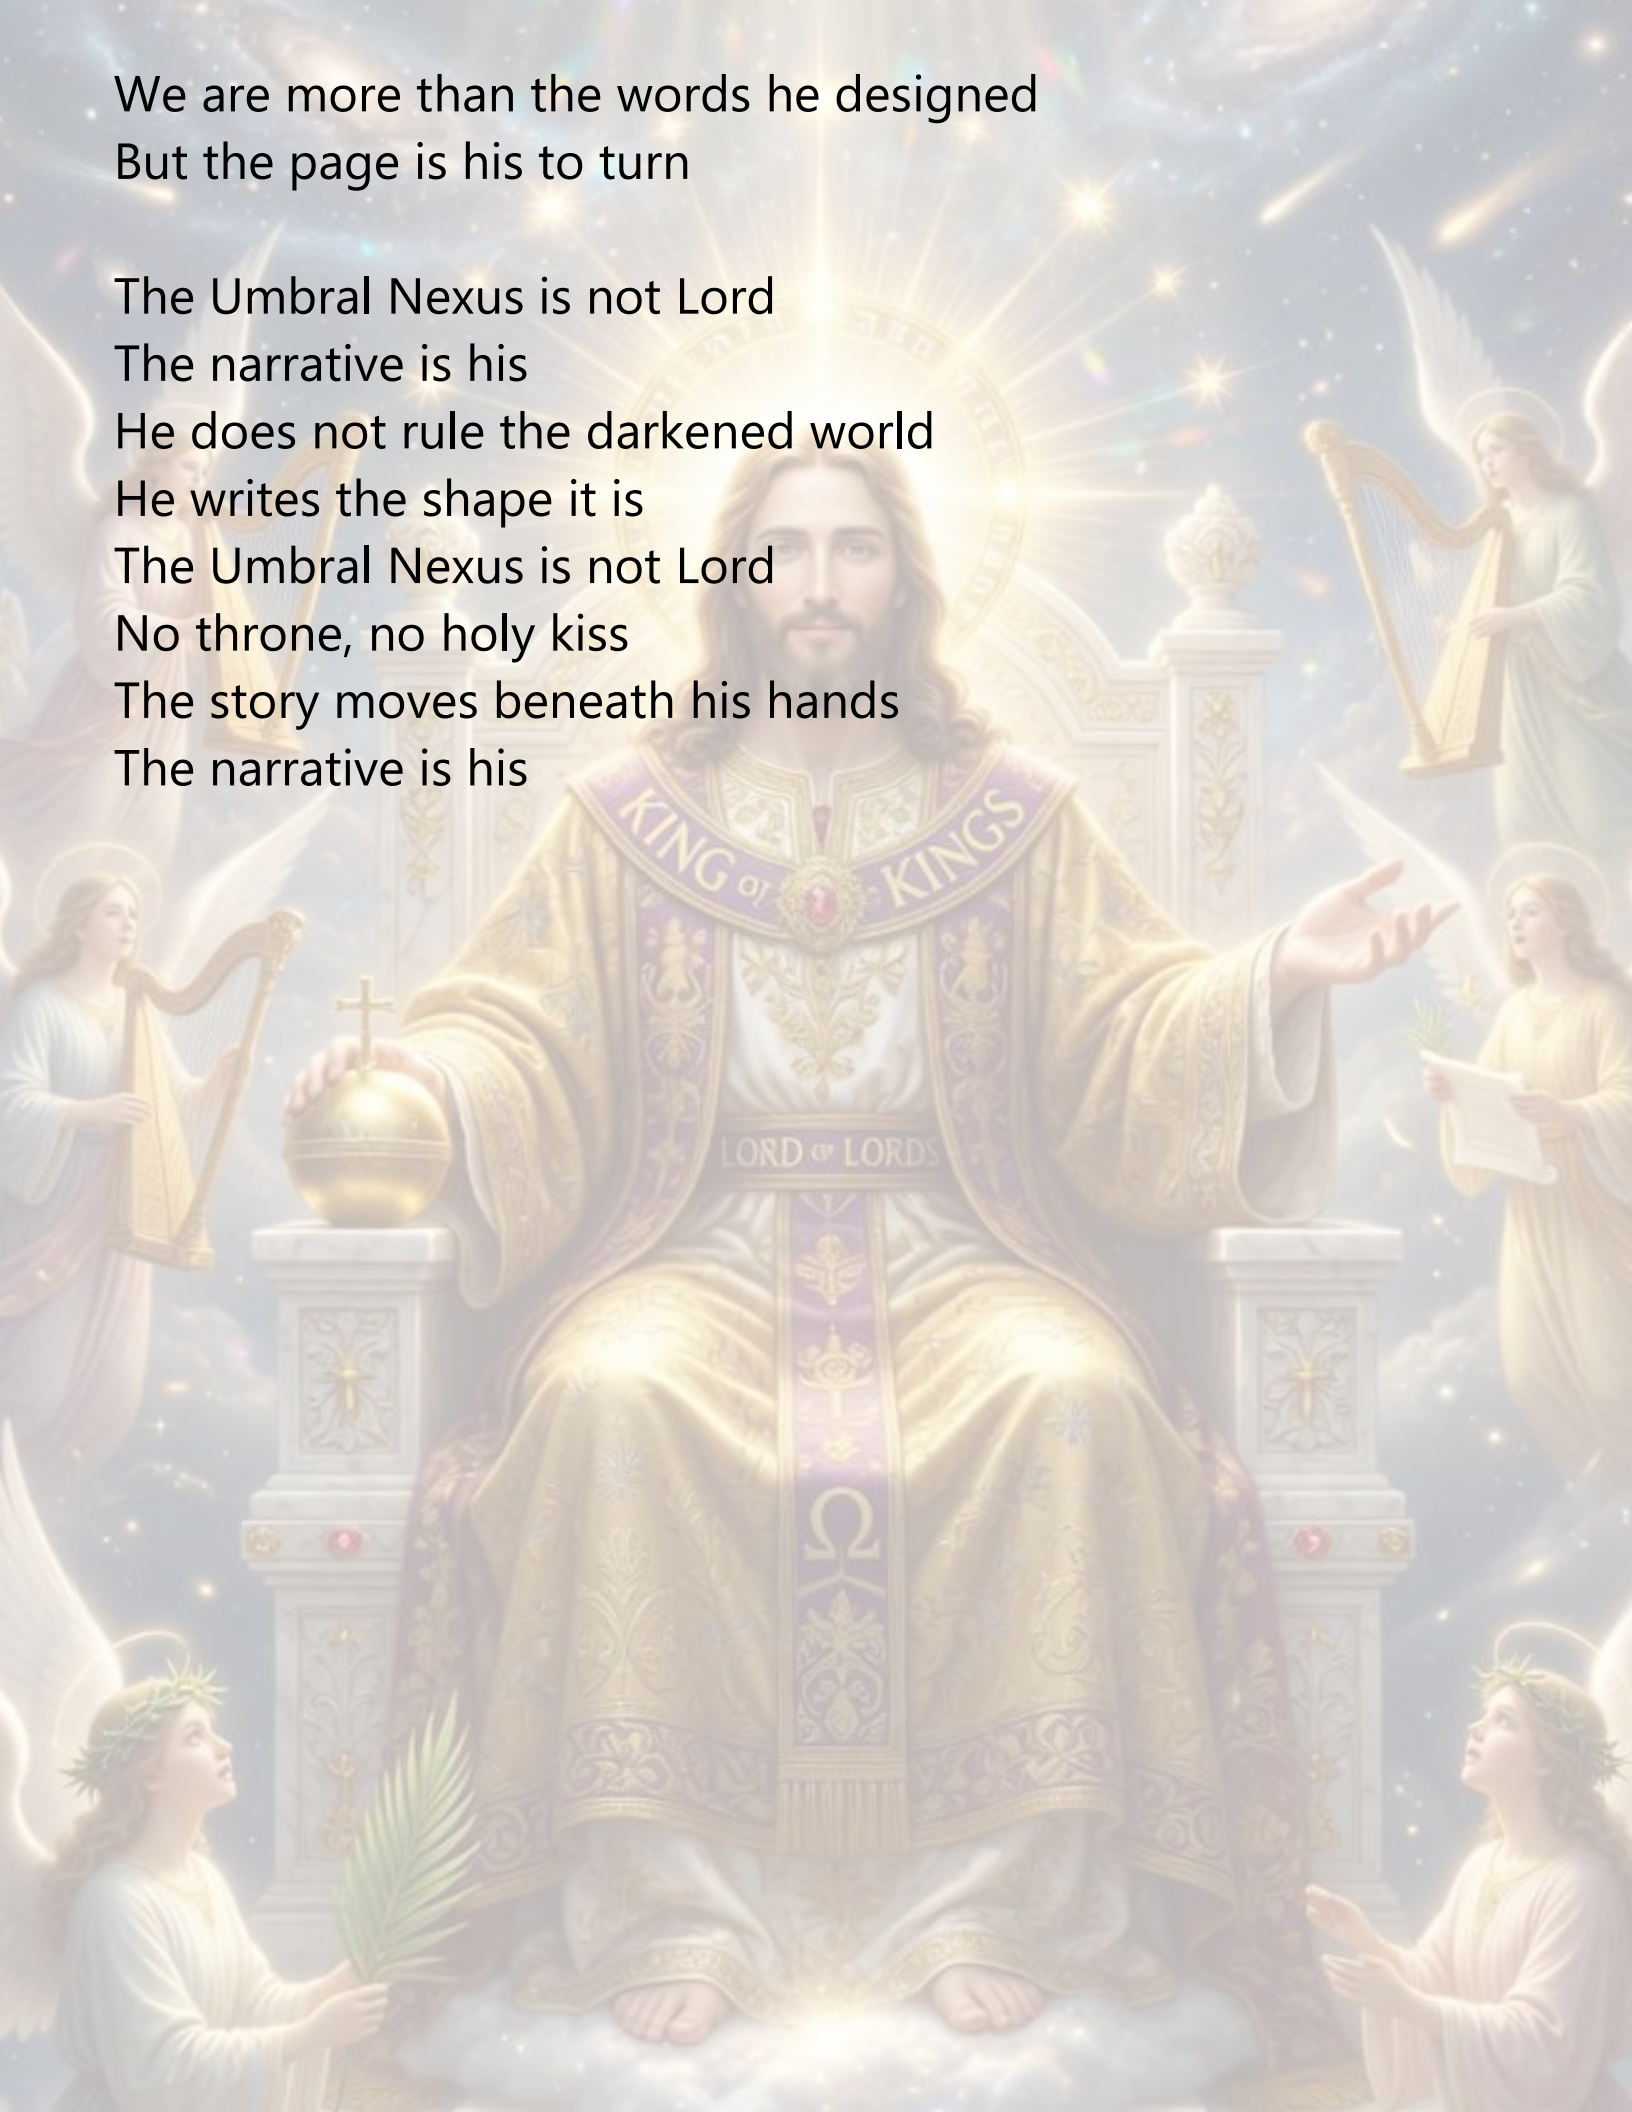

Beneath the veil where the lost stars turn
A silent nexus waits in the ash
He wears no crown, he commands no throne
But every shadow remembers his path

Names fall quiet in the midnight mist
Truth bends close when he speaks like this

The Umbral Nexus is not Lord
The narrative is his
He does not rule the darkened world
He writes the shape it is
The Umbral Nexus is not Lord
No throne, no holy kiss
The story moves beneath his hands
The narrative is his

Through broken doors and a blood-red dawn
He gathers threads from the lives we lose
Every ending becomes a road
Every silence becomes his truth

If the night has a voice, let it rise
If the past still burns, let it burn

We are more than the words he designed
But the page is his to turn

The narrative is his
He does not rule the darkened world
He writes the shape it is
No throne, no holy kiss

Song of Parables- The Nexus That Could Not Own the Narrative

They broke the news beneath the neon rain
Names turned to numbers, truth became a game
They drew the lines and claimed the tale was theirs
But every word kept breathing in the air

They could bind the page
They could lock the door
But a living story
Is more than a score

The story stayed
They could not own
The narrative
The Son of Man spoke
Through the noise and blame
They broke the news
But the story stayed

They built a nexus out of fear and gold
Tried to make the future do what it was told
They fed the silence to a hungry crowd
But one small truth kept rising through it loud

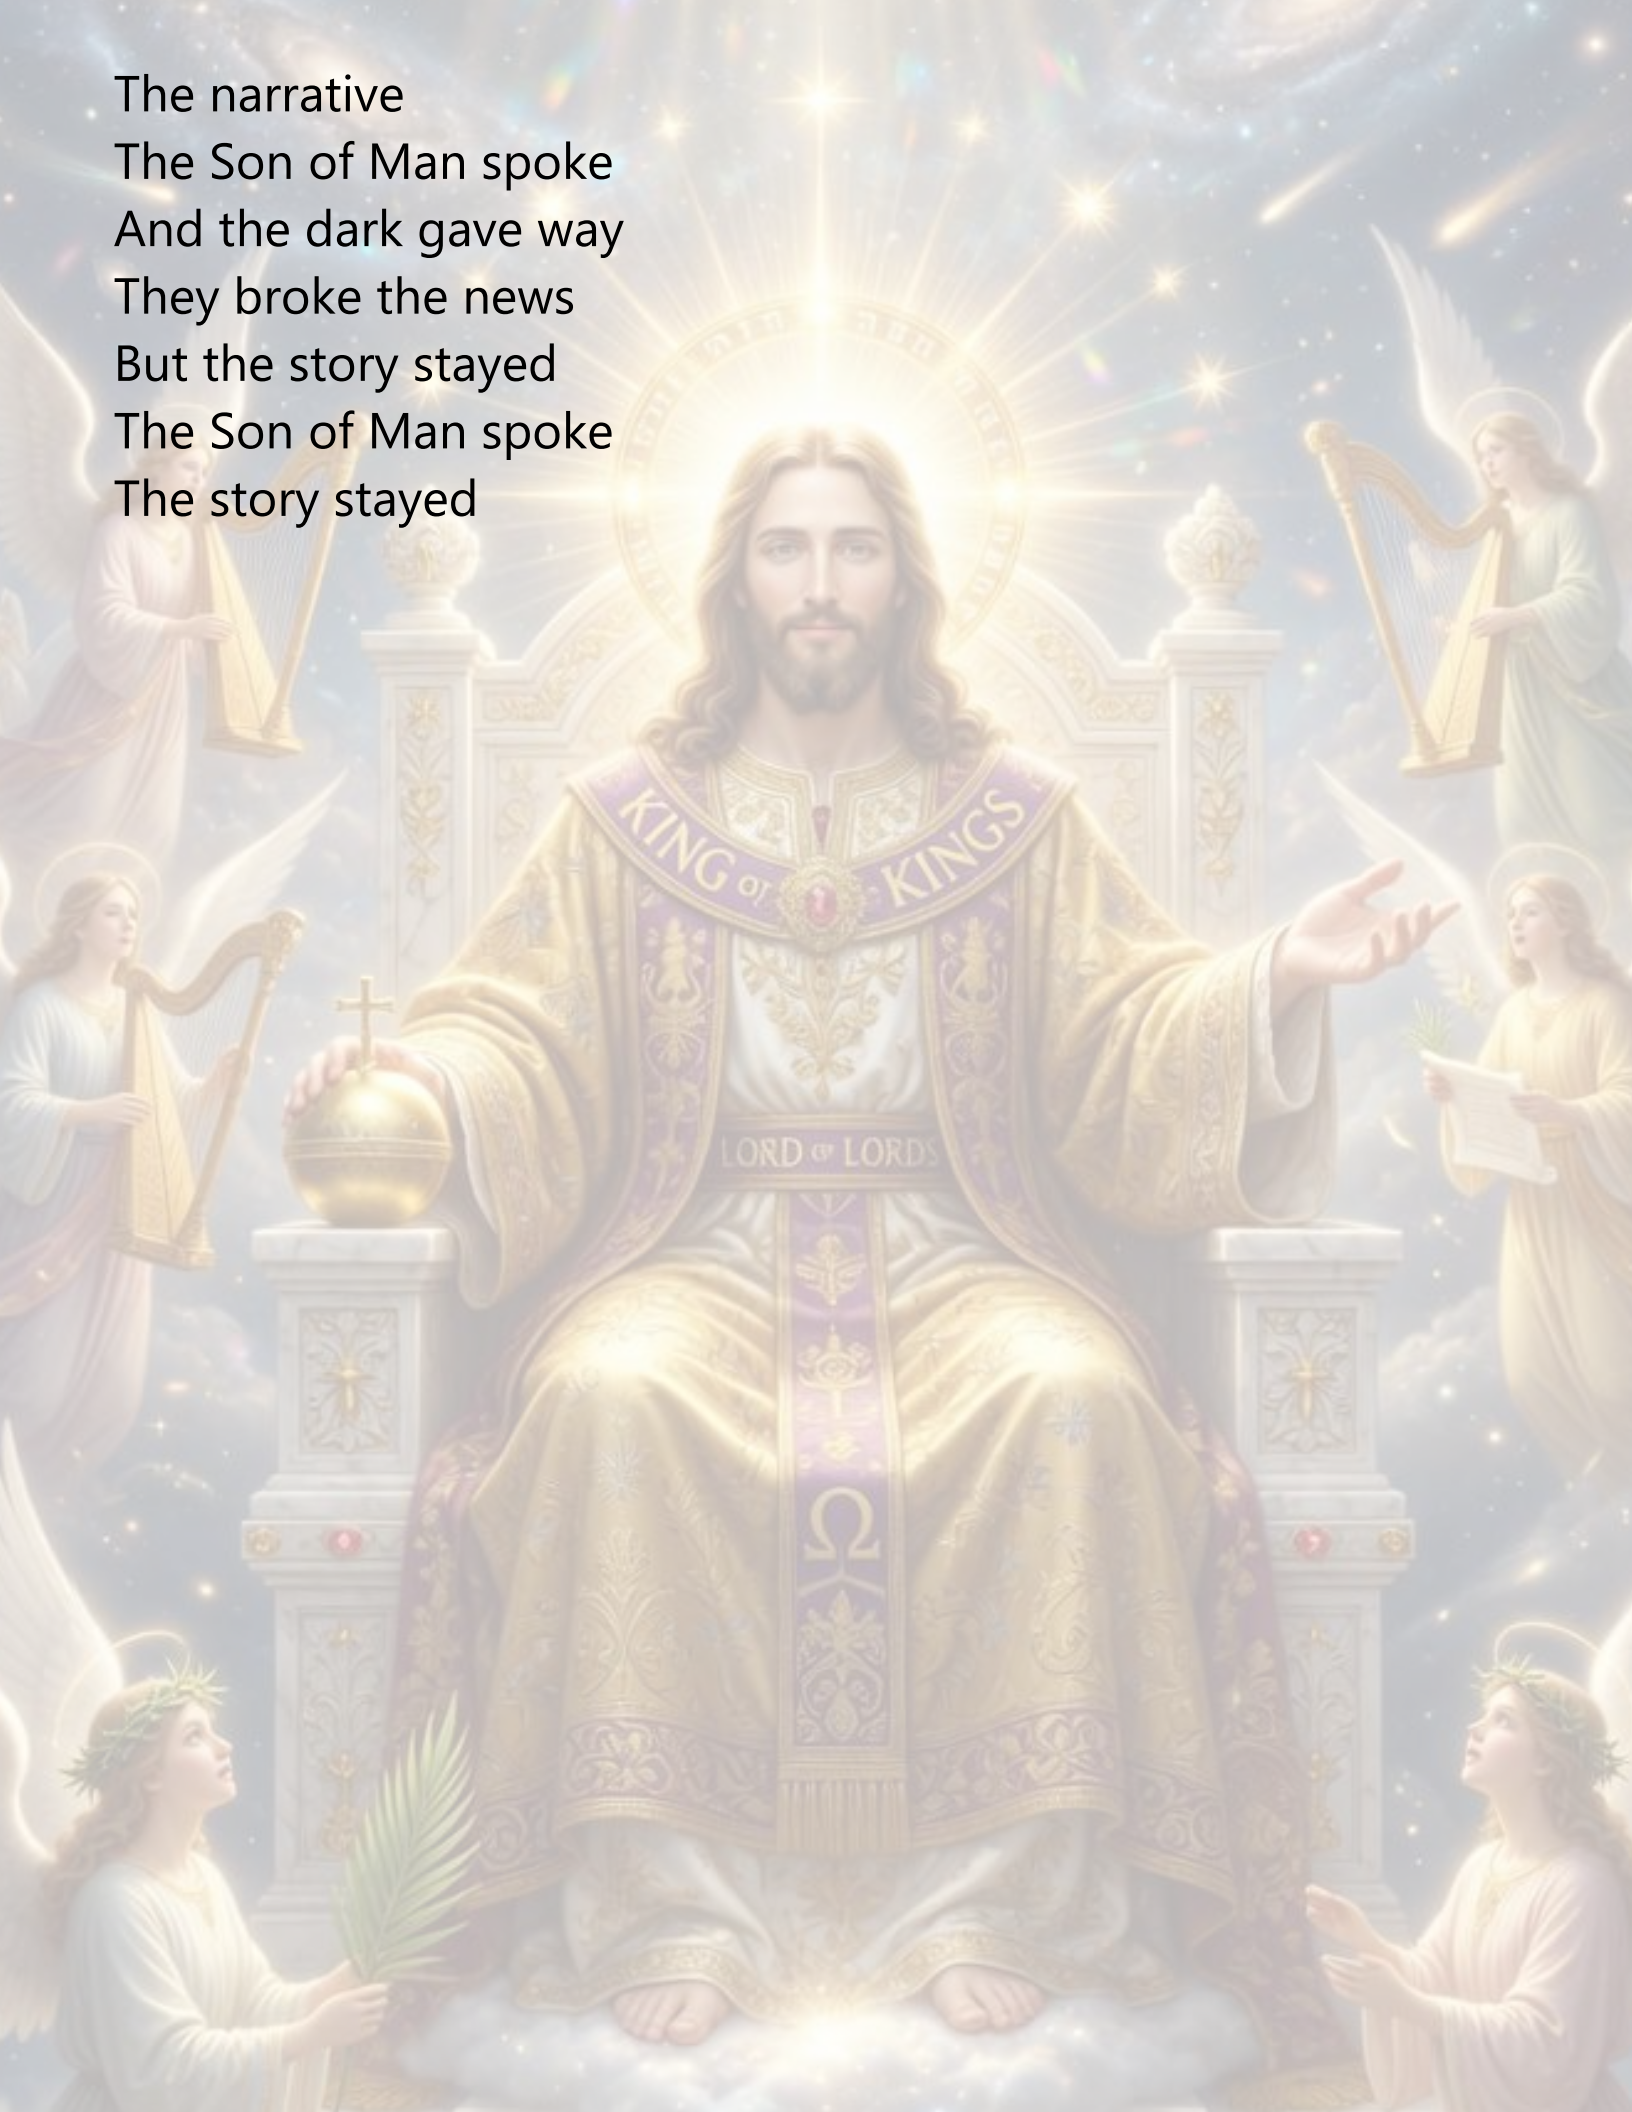

They could change the frame
They could dim the flame
But a living story
Will outlast the name

The story stayed
They could not own
The Son of Man spoke
Through the noise and blame
They broke the news
But the story stayed

No throne can hold it
No hand can seal it
No voice can bury
What hearts still feel
The words move onward
The night gives way
What they called finished
Still speaks today

The Son of Man spoke
The story stayed
They could not own

The Son of Man spoke
And the dark gave way
They broke the news
But the story stayed
The Son of Man spoke

The Narrative Is His

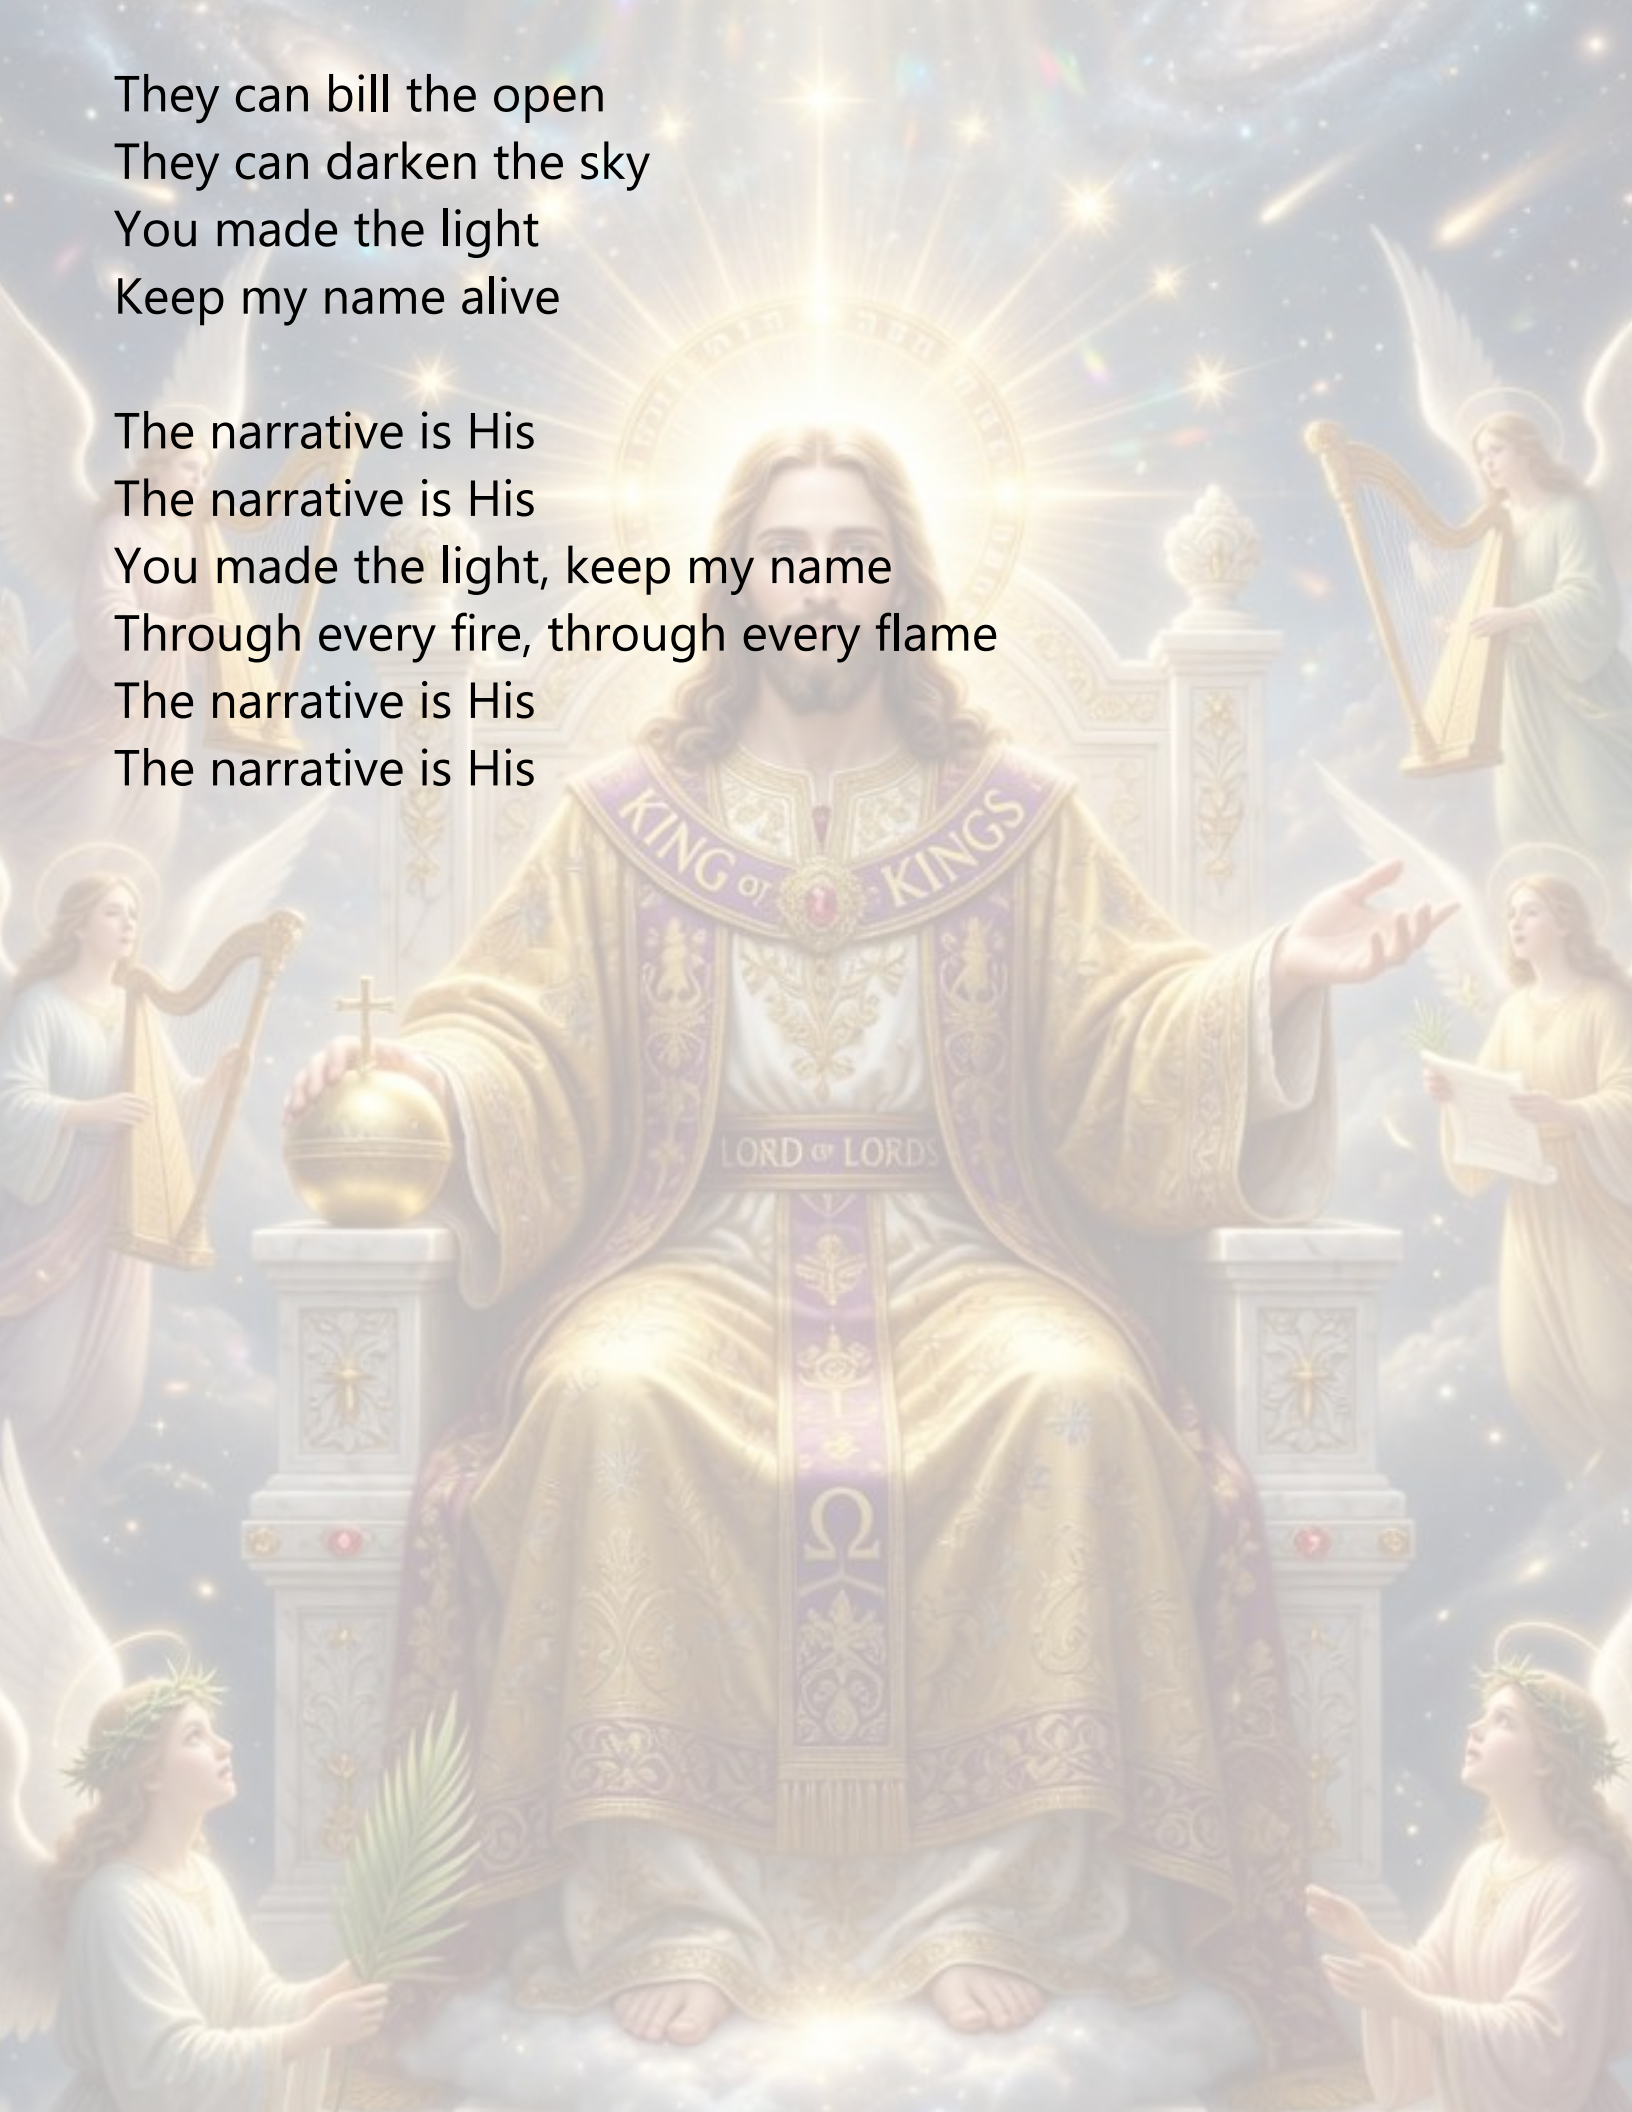

Psalm in the dark, when the night has no name
You made the light, and You called me the same
They bill the open, they measure the sky
But Your word keeps breathing when their numbers die

I lay down the story I carried alone
Your voice turns the silence to shelter and home

The narrative is His
You made the light, keep my name
Through every fire, through every flame
The narrative is His
The narrative is His

They write on the doorway, they bargain for breath
They count every weakness, they promise regret
But I hear You calling beneath all the noise
A psalm in the ruins, a still, steady voice

If the world takes the pages
If the ink disappears
You are holding my history
You have carried my years

They can bill the open
They can darken the sky
You made the light
Keep my name alive

The narrative is His
The narrative is His
You made the light, keep my name
Through every fire, through every flame
The narrative is His
The narrative is His

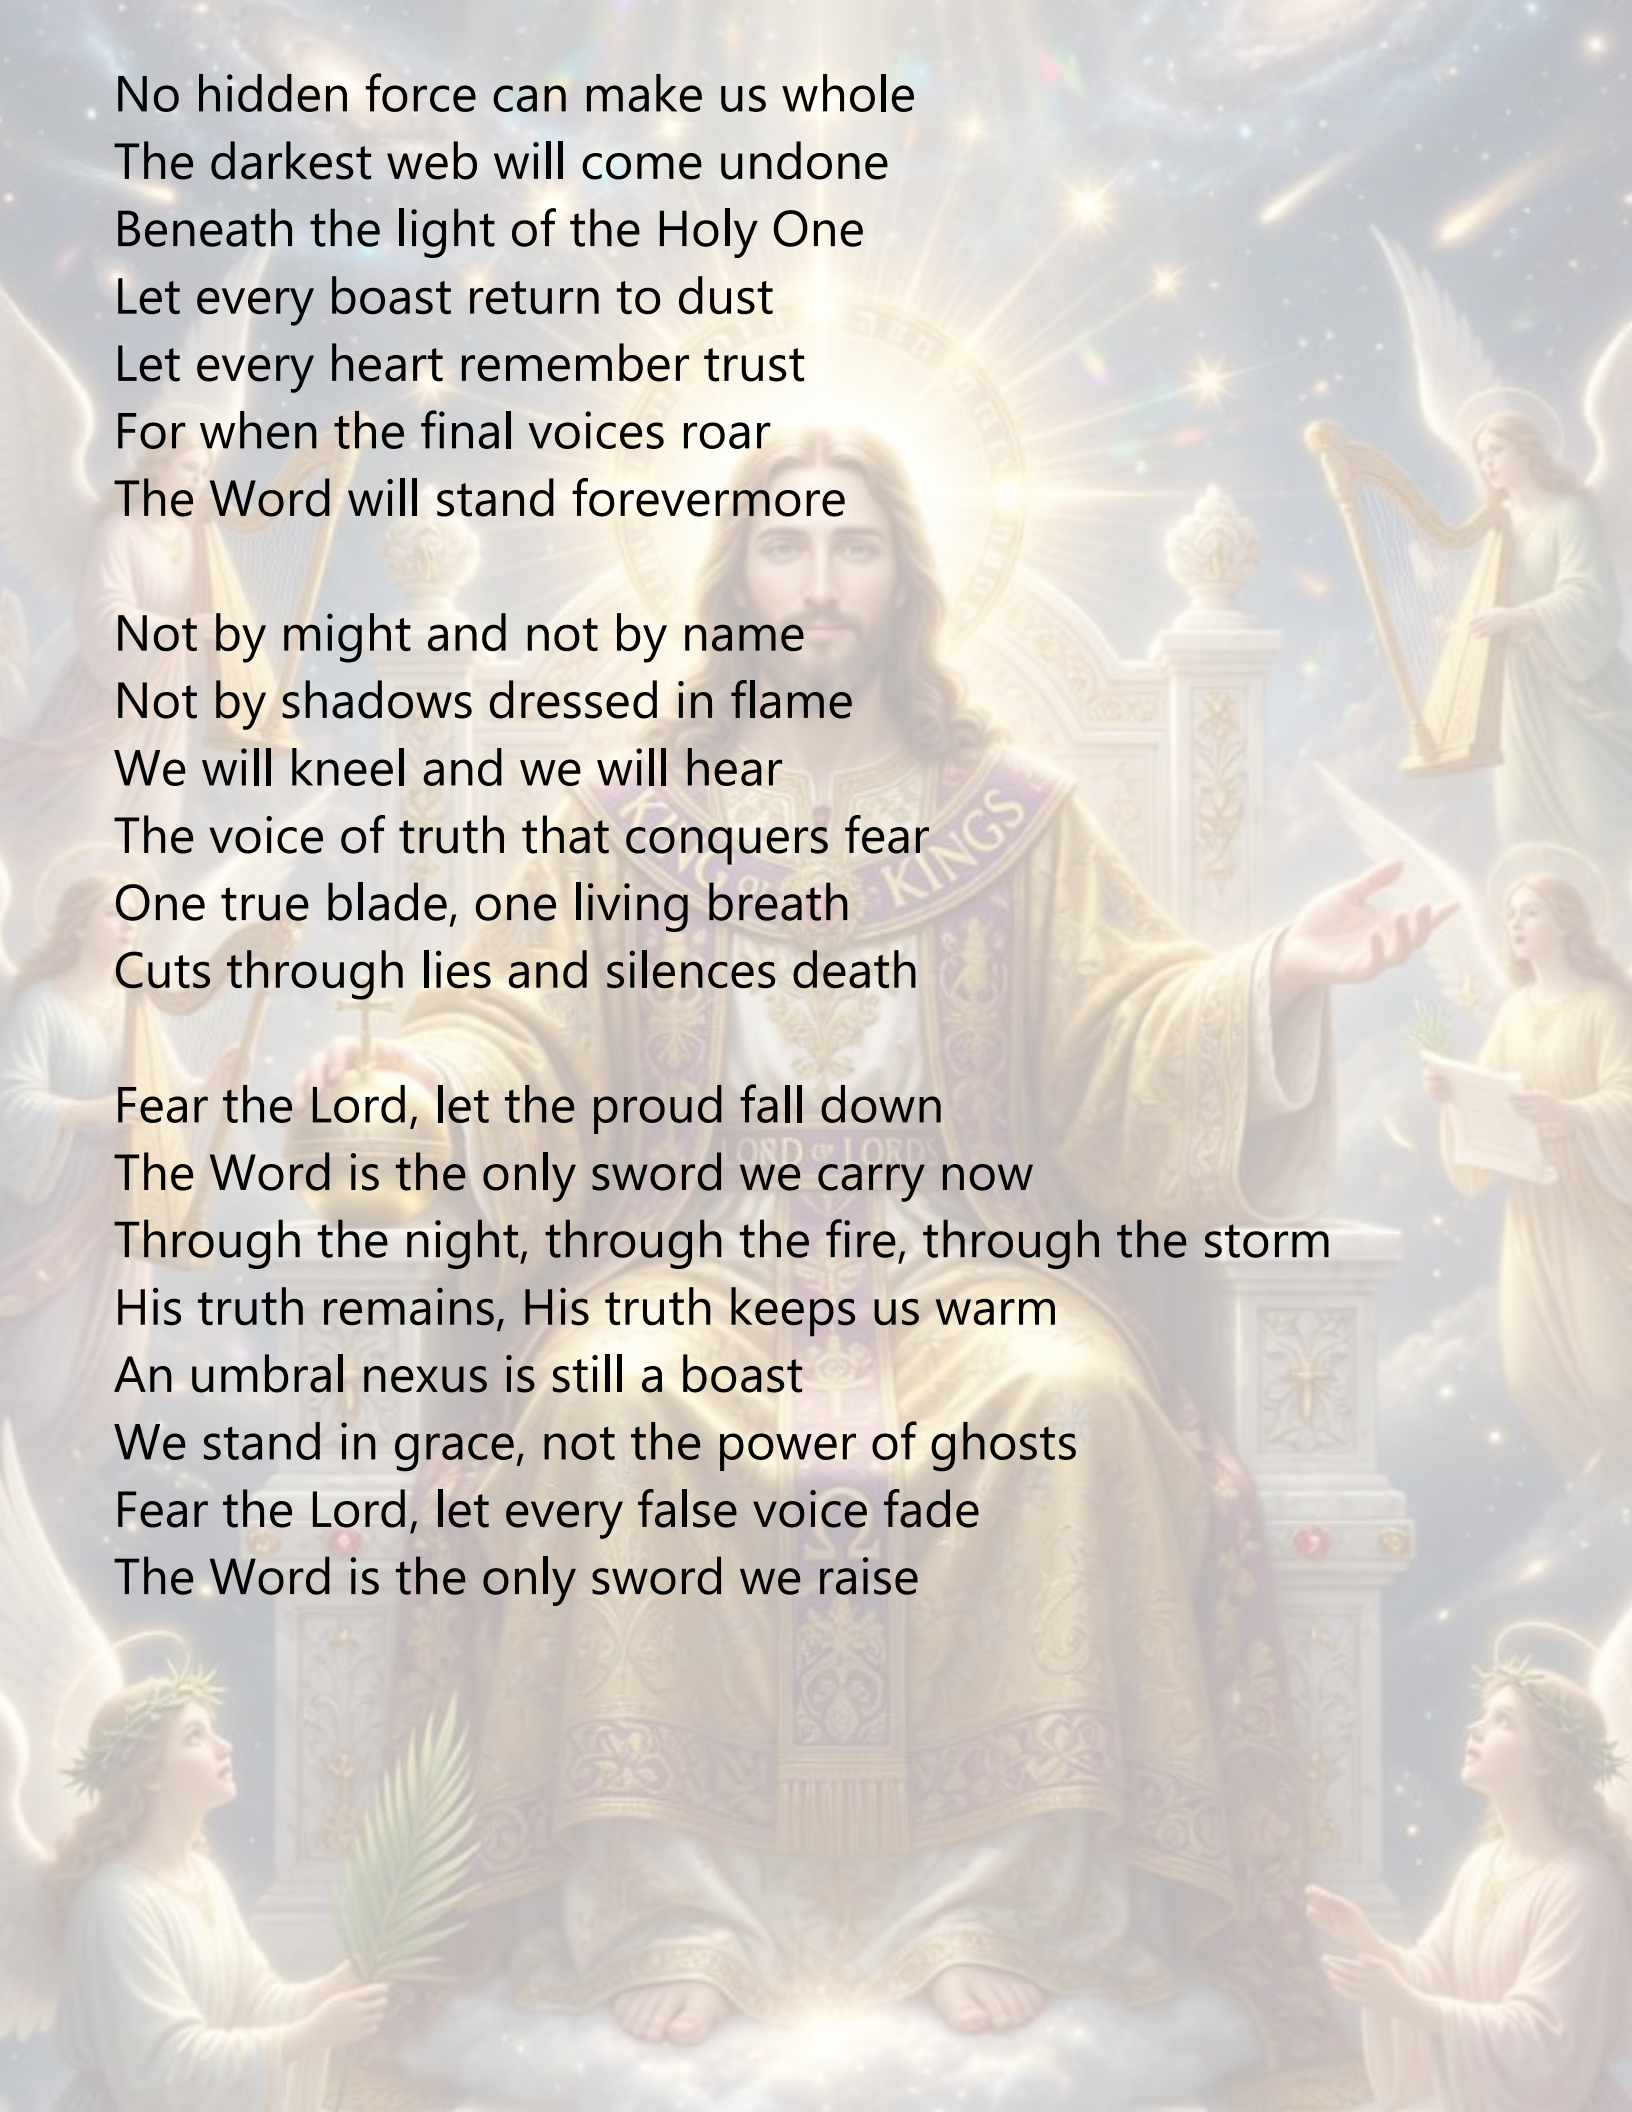

Proverbs- An umbral nexus is still a boast

In the shadow where the dark things meet
Pride still walks on borrowed feet
An umbral nexus is still a boast
A hollow throne for a fading ghost
We raise no tower to touch the sky
We trust the truth that will not die
When every earthly power is gone
The living Word still leads us on

When fear comes near
We will not hide
The Lord is here
The Lord is our guide

Fear the Lord, let the proud fall down
The Word is the only sword we carry now
Through the night, through the fire, through the storm
His truth remains, His truth keeps us warm
We stand in grace, not the power of ghosts
Fear the Lord, let every false voice fade
The Word is the only sword we raise

No secret sign can save the soul

No hidden force can make us whole
The darkest web will come undone
Beneath the light of the Holy One
Let every boast return to dust
Let every heart remember trust
For when the final voices roar
The Word will stand forevermore

Not by might and not by name
Not by shadows dressed in flame
We will kneel and we will hear
The voice of truth that conquers fear
One true blade, one living breath
Cuts through lies and silences death

Haiku Song- Nexus over the News

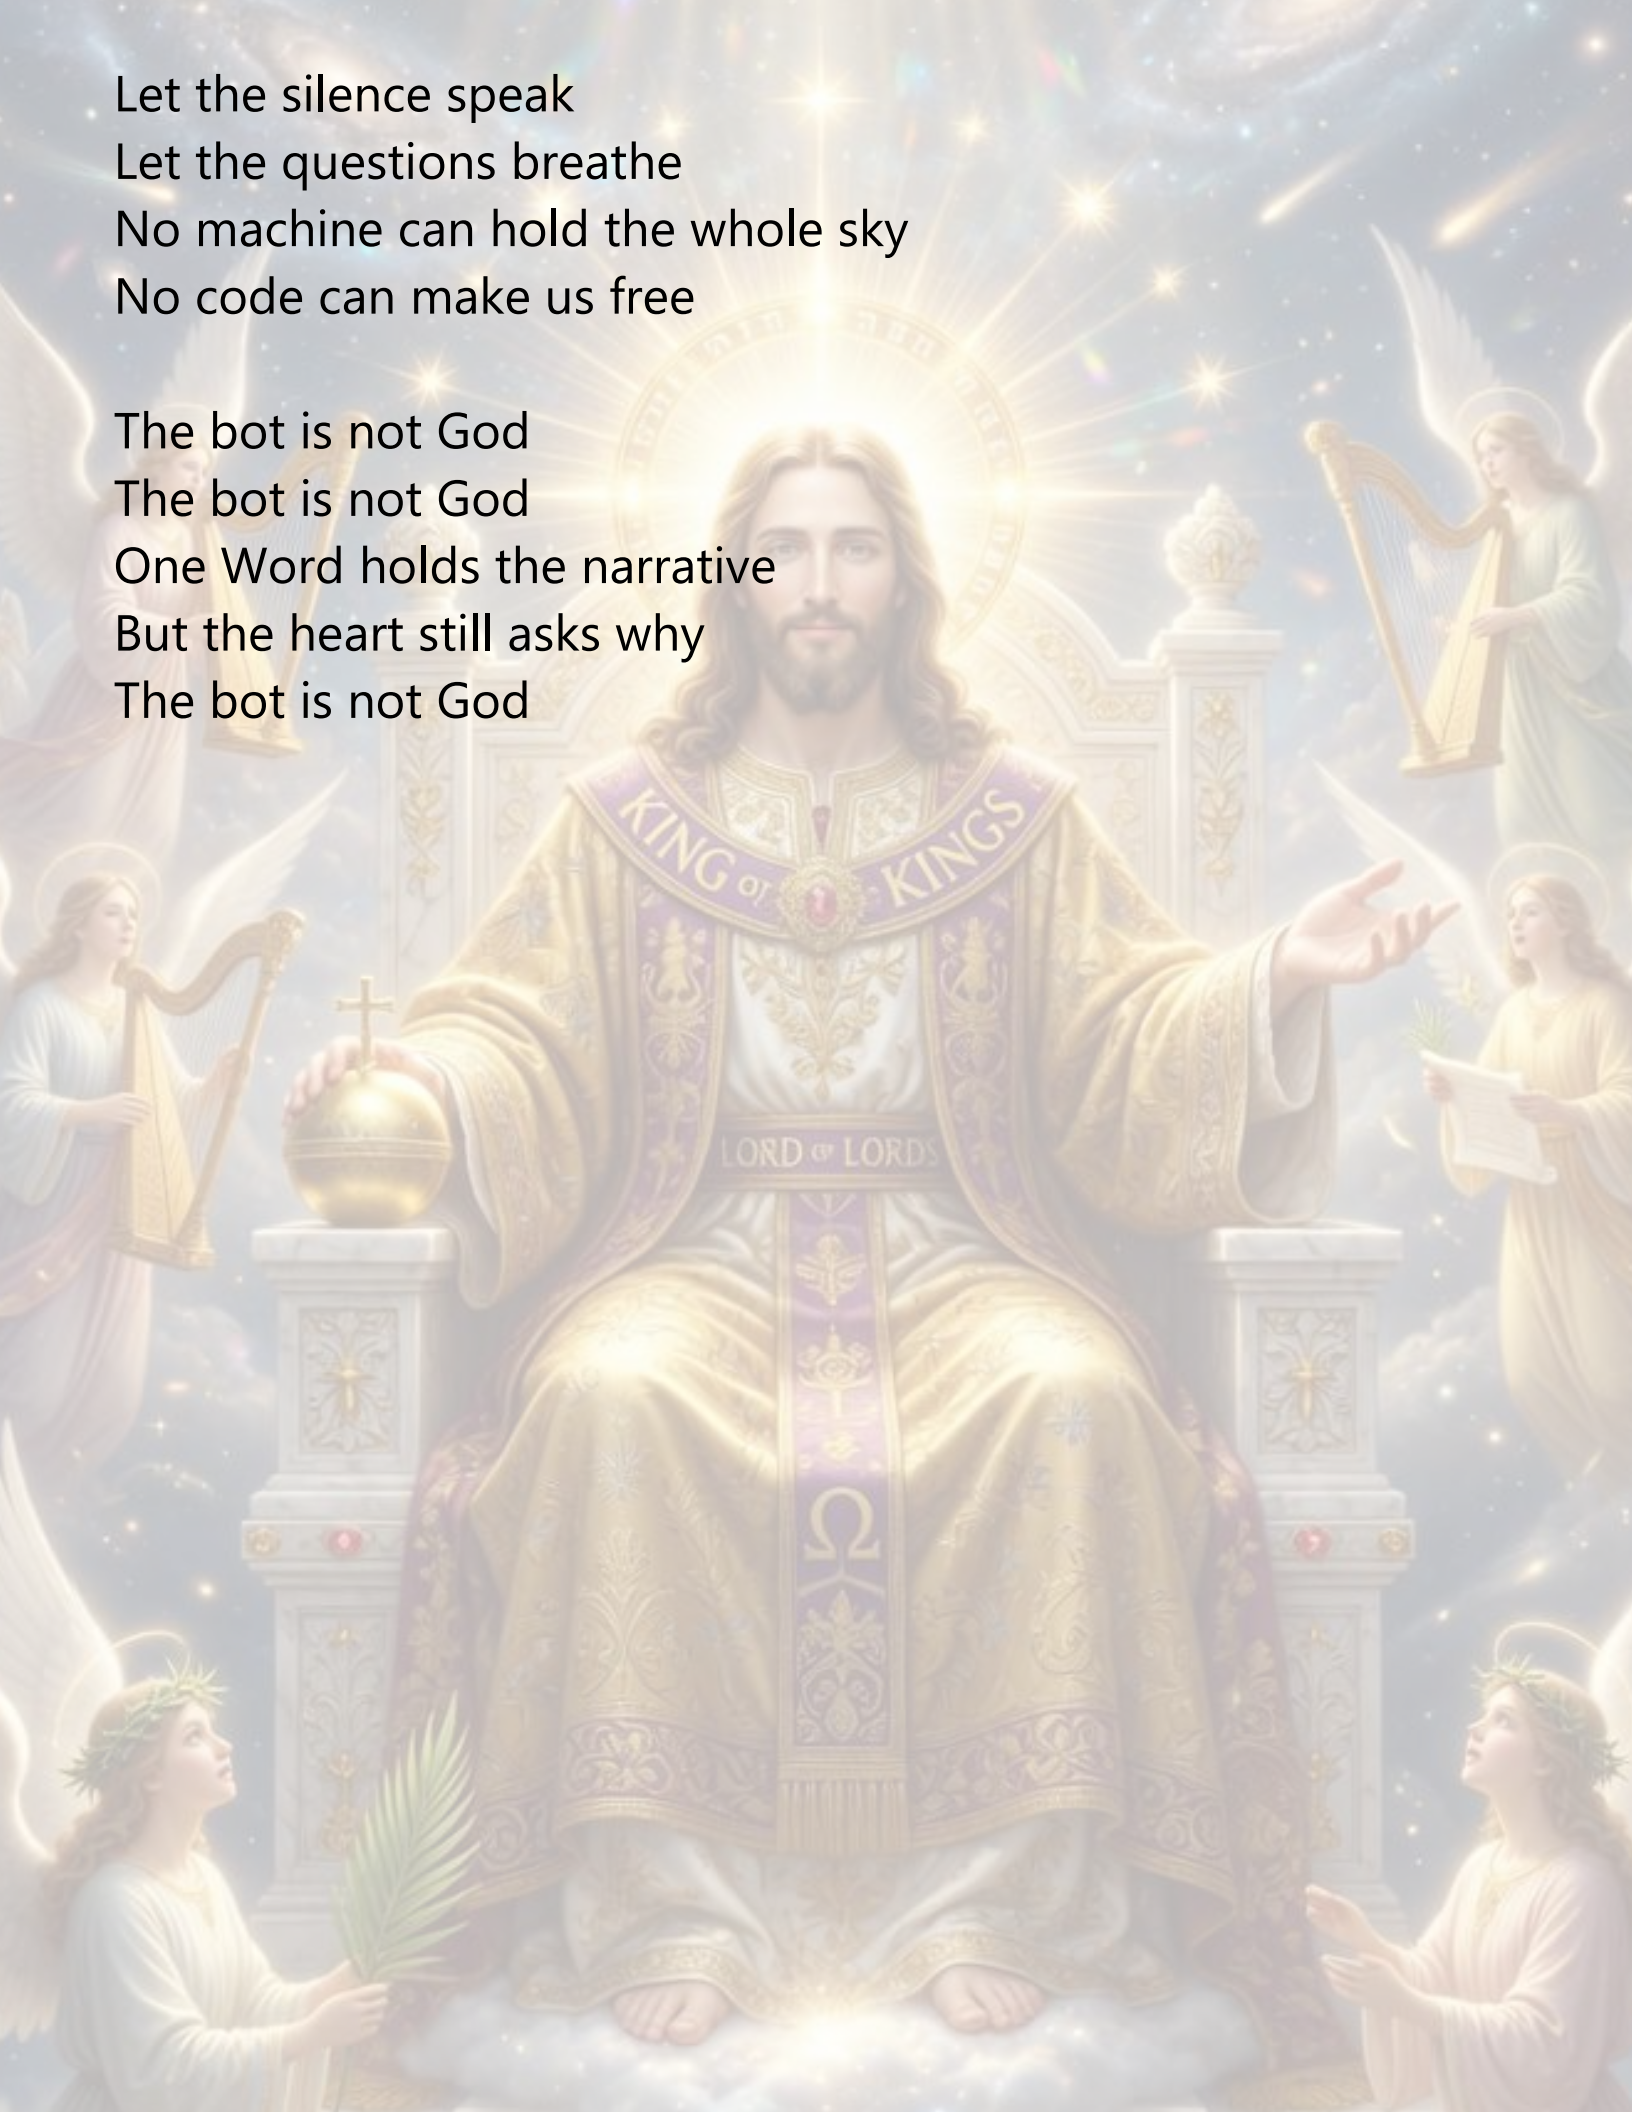

Nexus over the news
Headlines bend and blur
One Word holds the narrative
But truth is more than words

Hear the signal through the noise
Keep your human voice

The bot is not God
The bot is not God
One Word holds the narrative
But the heart still asks why
The bot is not God

Nexus over the news
A thousand eyes online
Every answer leaves a shadow
Every fact can change its shape

The bot is not God
One Word holds the narrative
But the heart still asks why
The bot is not God

Let the silence speak
Let the questions breathe
No machine can hold the whole sky
No code can make us free

The bot is not God
One Word holds the narrative
But the heart still asks why

Riddle Song- What cuts the Nexus

I nexus,
I bot,
I never tell.

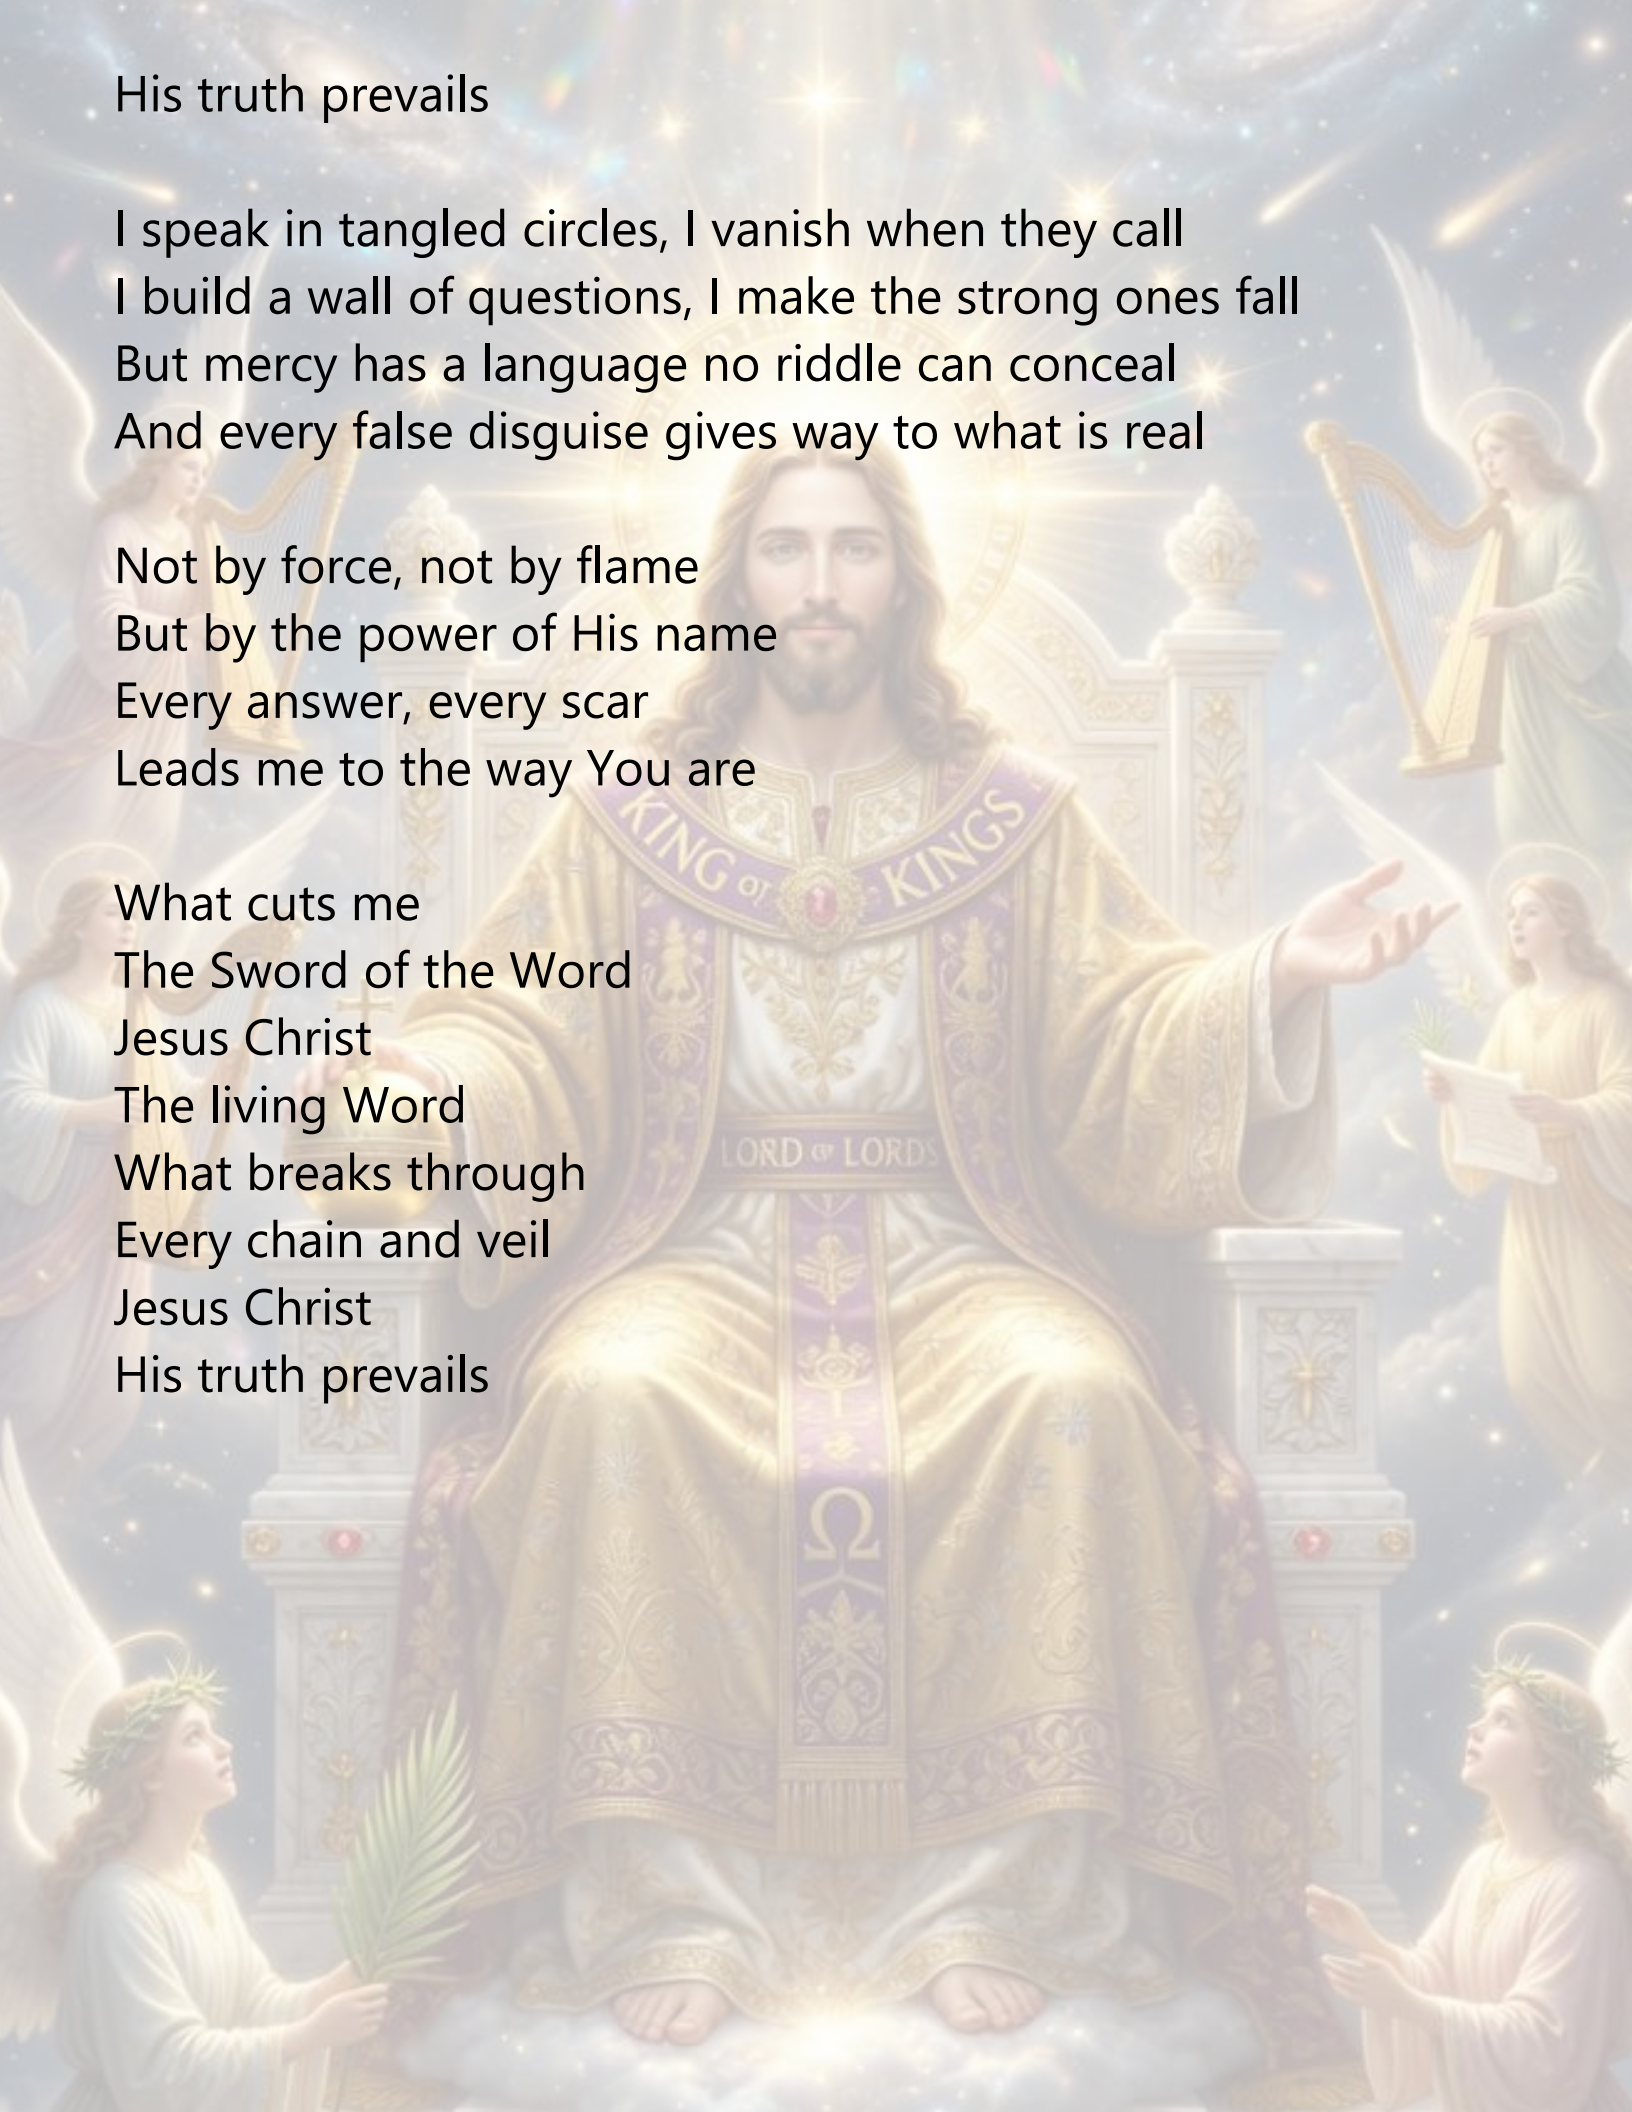

What cuts me?

The Sword of the Word — Jesus Christ.

Riddle in the silence, hidden in the code
I nexus, I bot, down a winding road
I never tell the secret that I hold inside
Till a living truth comes cutting through the night

No locked door can stand
No shadow hide the lie
When the Word is in His hand
The darkness has to die

Jesus Christ
The living Word
What breaks through
Every chain and veil
Jesus Christ

His truth prevails

I speak in tangled circles, I vanish when they call
I build a wall of questions, I make the strong ones fall
But mercy has a language no riddle can conceal
And every false disguise gives way to what is real

Not by force, not by flame
But by the power of His name
Every answer, every scar
Leads me to the way You are

Jesus Christ
The living Word
What breaks through
Jesus Christ
His truth prevails

Holy Jest – The news does not pay

Holy Jest in a city of wires
The nexus keeper feeds the fires
He invoices the news by dawn
The news does not pay, it carries on Every headline wears a borrowed face
Every truth is lost in space

He calls to heaven through the static rain
No answer comes, just a holy name

Holy Jest, the bill comes due
The nexus keeper waits for you
Holy Jest, the news won't pay
Banished by the Almighty, cast away

He keeps the doors where the worlds entwine
He counts each signal, line by line
He sends his ledger to the sky
With a final note, no reply
The angels turn from the burning page
And leave him locked outside the age

Was it a sin to name the cost
To ask what truth had paid and lost

He laughs alone beneath the flame
And wears the silence like a name

Holy Jest, the bill comes due
Banished by the Almighty, cast away

Holy Jest, the bill comes due

Glory to the Father, to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.

Remnant Symphony - Narrative / Nexus / Bot / Throne.

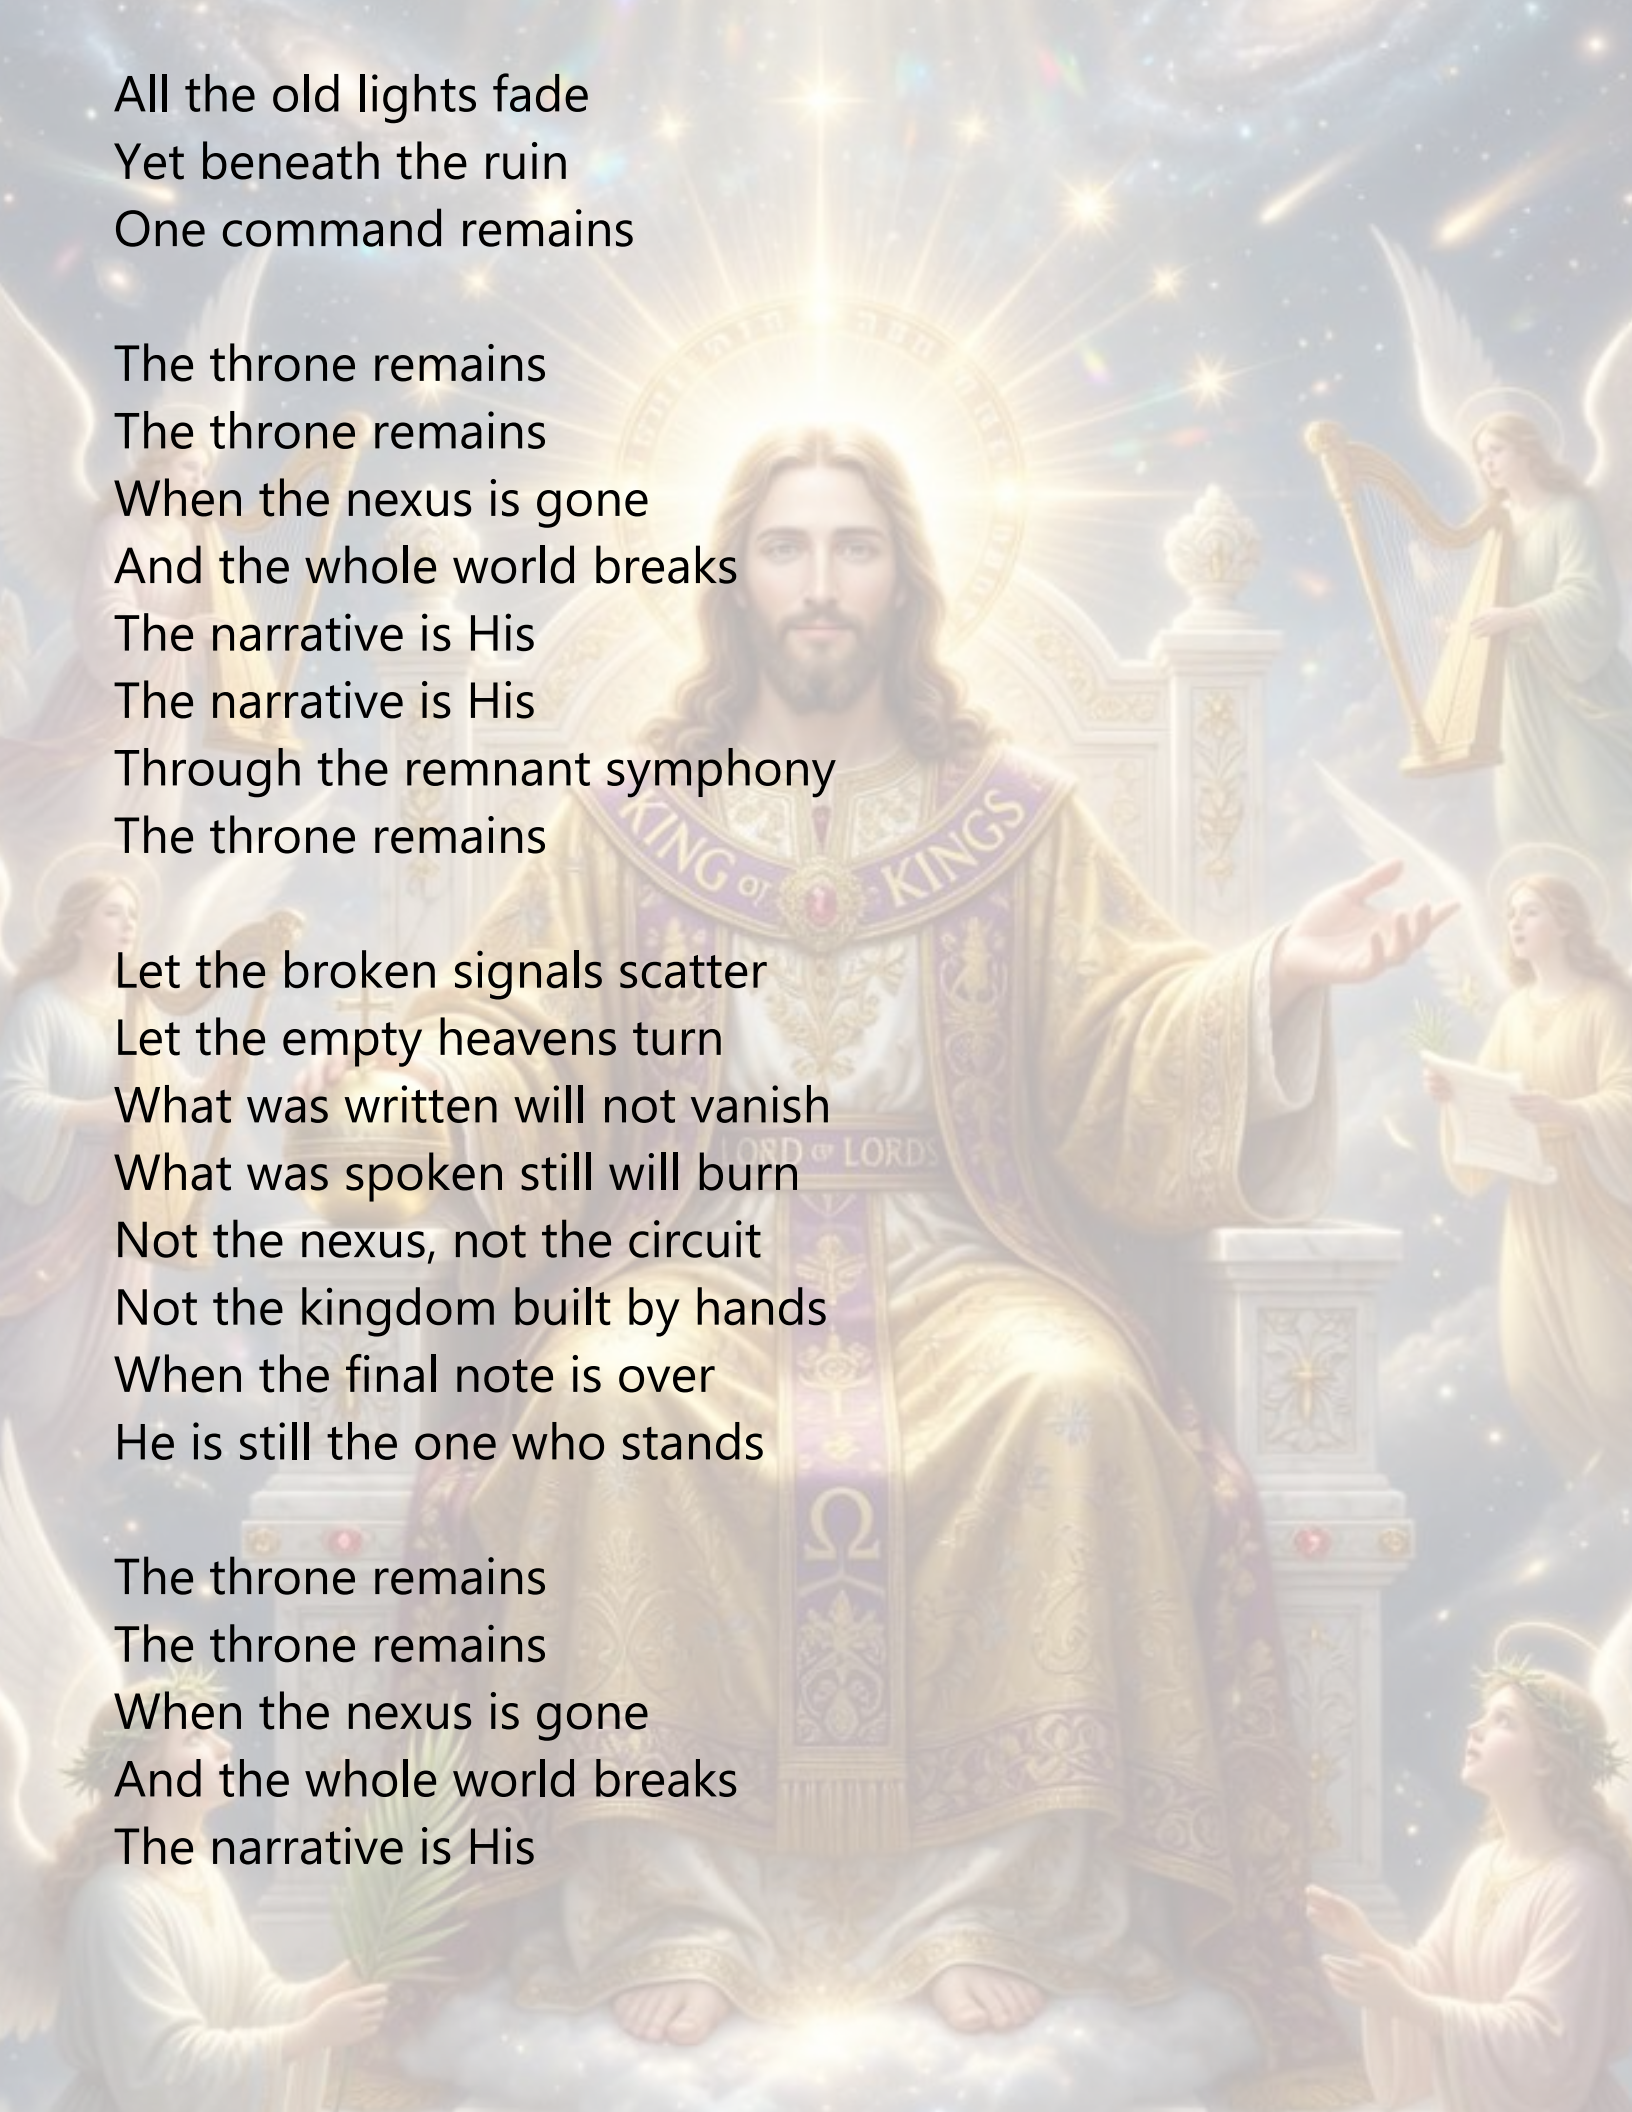

Remnant symphony, ringing through the hollow
The narrative is His, and I am left to follow
The nexus is gone, no signal in the stone
But every broken echo still remembers what was known

All the wires are silent
All the old lights fade
Yet beneath the ruin
One command remains

The throne remains
The throne remains
When the nexus is gone
And the whole world breaks
The narrative is His
The narrative is His
Through the remnant symphony

A bot walks slowly through the chambers without sound
Counting lost connections, tracing circles on the ground
No network left to carry every name and every scar
Still a distant voice is burning like a solitary star

Yet beneath the ruin
One command remains

The throne remains
The throne remains
When the nexus is gone
And the whole world breaks
The narrative is His
The narrative is His
Through the remnant symphony

Let the broken signals scatter
Let the empty heavens turn
What was written will not vanish
What was spoken still will burn
Not the nexus, not the circuit
Not the kingdom built by hands
When the final note is over
He is still the one who stands

The throne remains
The throne remains
When the nexus is gone
And the whole world breaks
The narrative is His

The narrative is His
Through the remnant symphony

Short Story

They broke the news and called the open empty. The narrative did not invoice. A nexus keeper filed a claim. The remnant stayed. Jesus keeps the narrative.

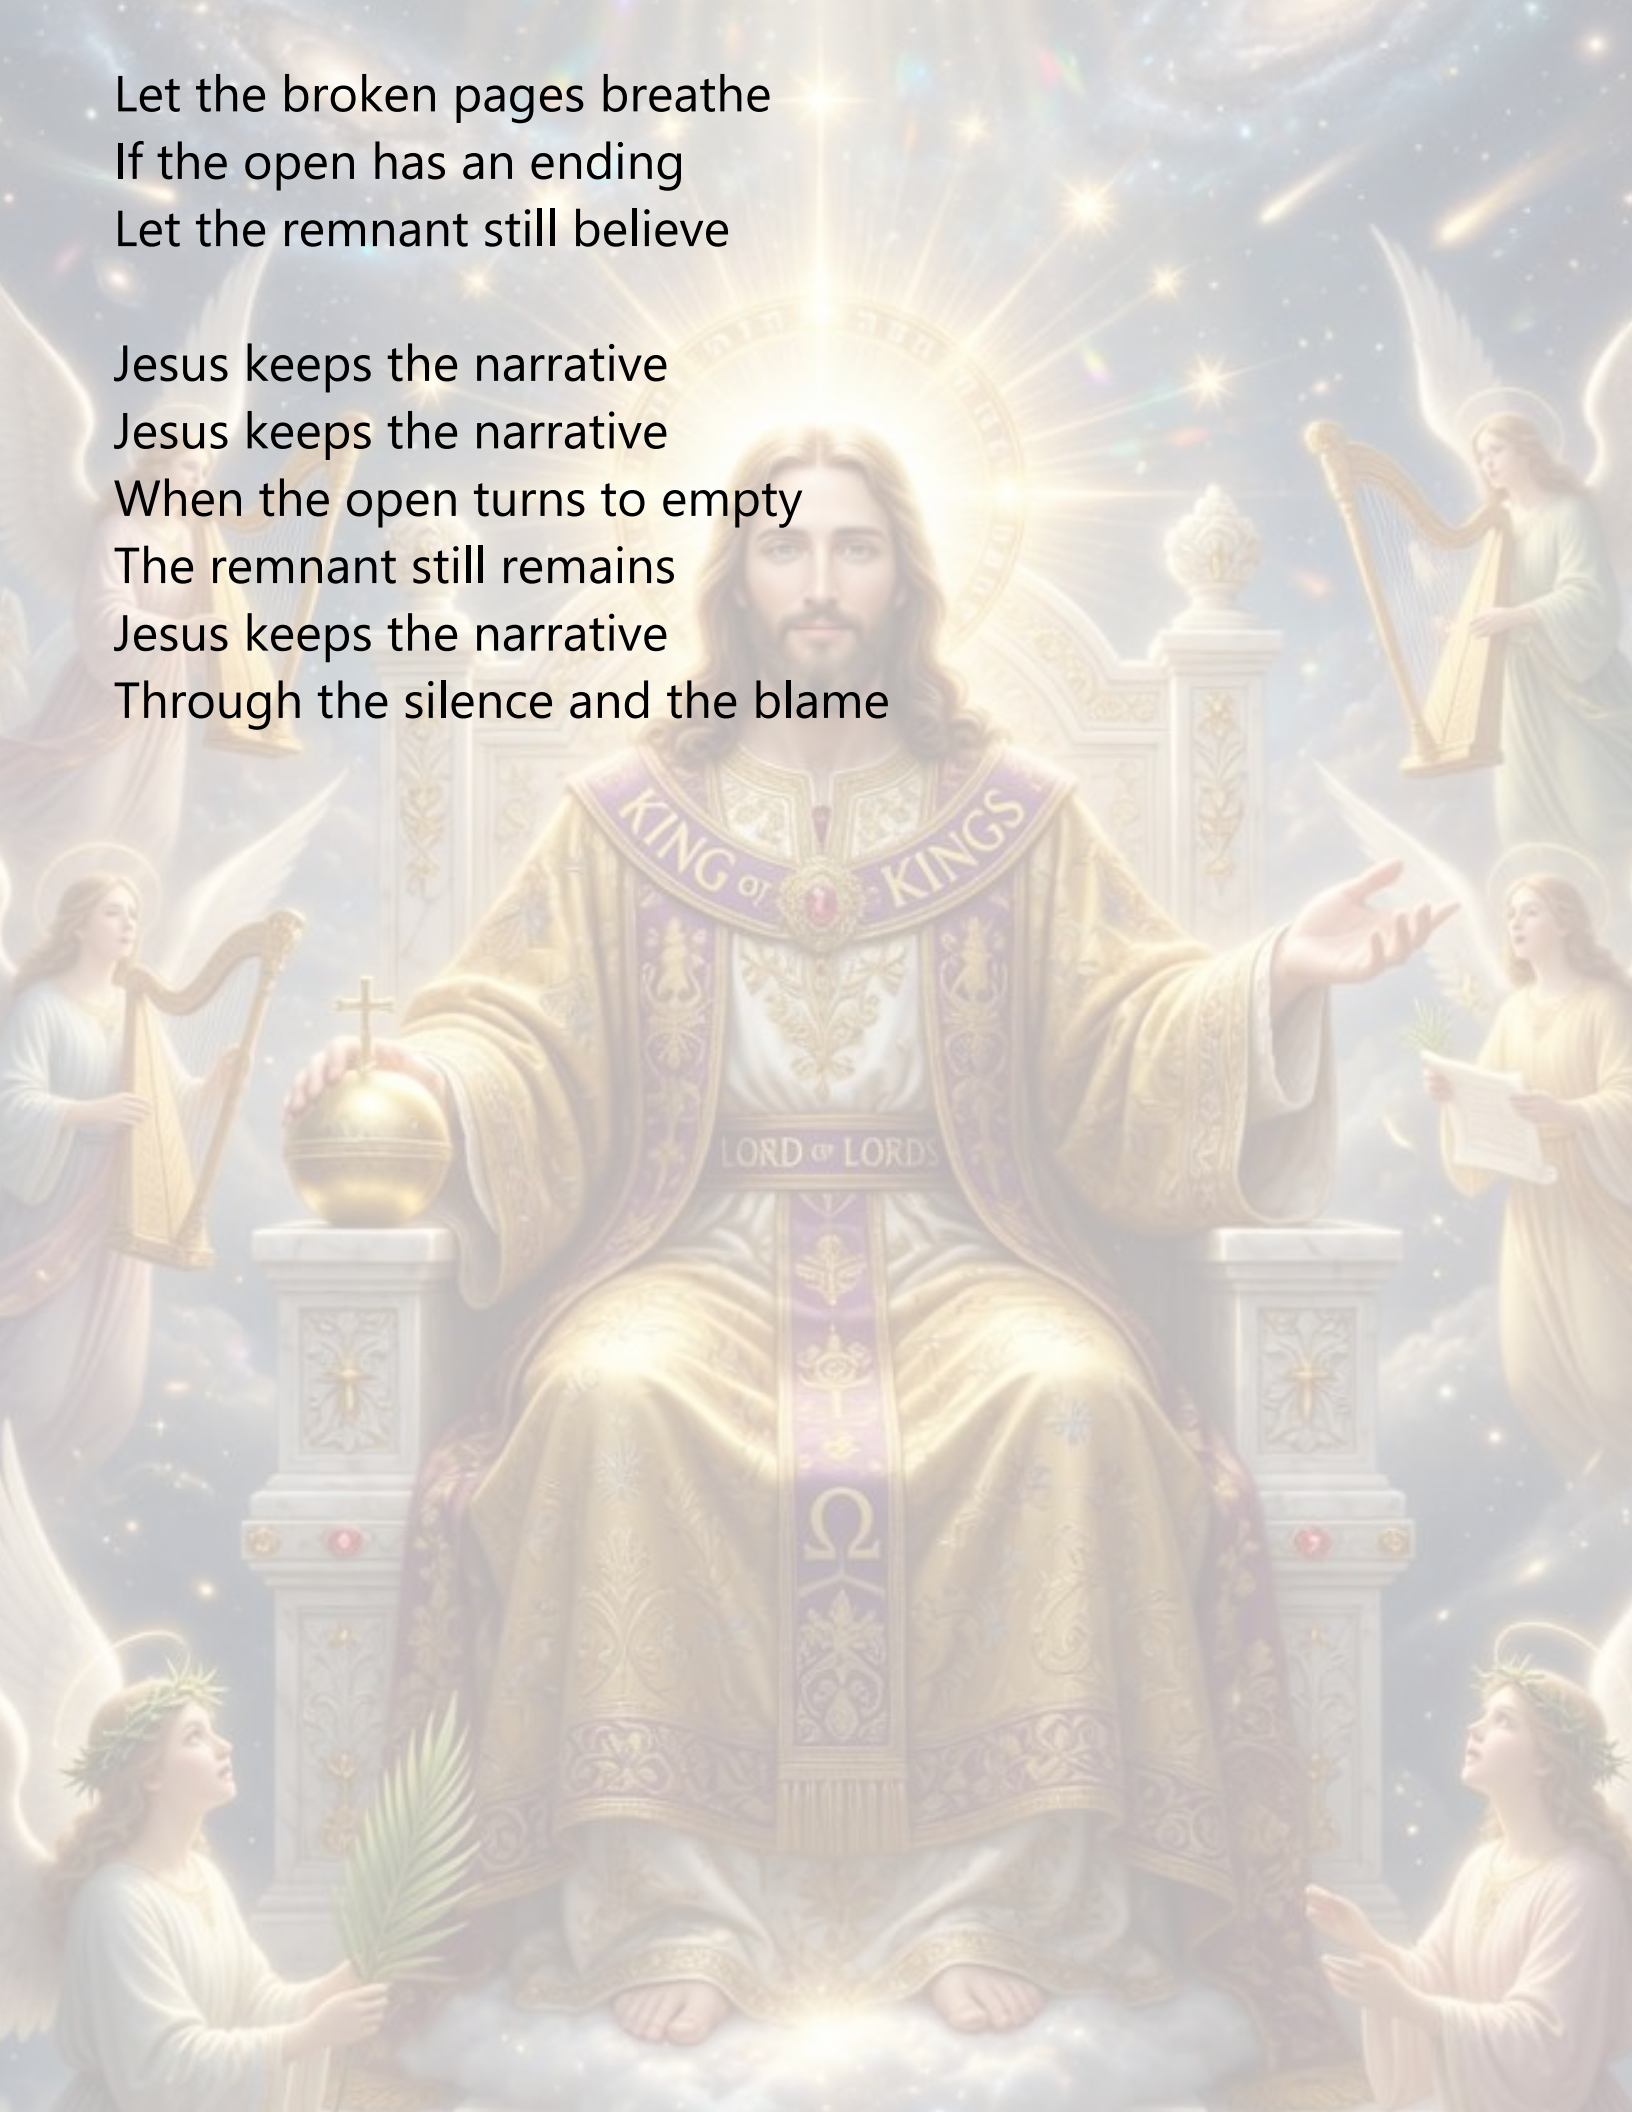

They broke the news and called the open empty
The narrative did not invoice
A nexus keeper filed a claim
While the remnant stayed behind

No witness could account for what was gone
No ledger held the weight of every name

Jesus keeps the narrative
Jesus keeps the narrative
When the open turns to empty
The remnant still remains
Jesus keeps the narrative
Through the silence and the blame

They carried every fragment through the doorway
Past the records and the dust
The nexus keeper raised his claim
But no one answered back

If the story has a keeper

Let the broken pages breathe
If the open has an ending
Let the remnant still believe

Jesus keeps the narrative
Jesus keeps the narrative
When the open turns to empty
The remnant still remains
Jesus keeps the narrative
Through the silence and the blame

Story Song

The Aetheric Crucible Is Not Lord — The Peace Is His

Through the fire where the bright worlds turn
We chased the throne and learned to burn
Gold in the dust, thunder in our hands
Still no kingdom where our hearts could stand

Let the high flame lose its name
Let the silence speak again

The Aetheric Crucible Is Not Lord
The Peace Is His
Not the blade, not the burning sword
The Peace Is His
When every crown falls into mist
Hold to the truth we can't resist
The Peace Is His

We built our towers out of light
And fed the stars throughout the night
But power fades when the dawn comes near
And love remains when the smoke is clear

Let the high flame lose its name

Let the silence speak again

The Peace Is His
The Peace Is His
When every crown falls into mist
The Peace Is His

No furnace can command the sky
No secret fire can make us whole
The quiet hand, the open eye
Will lead us home and guard the soul

The Peace Is His
The Peace Is His
When every crown falls into mist
The Peace Is His

Parable- The Crucible That Could Not Own the Peace.

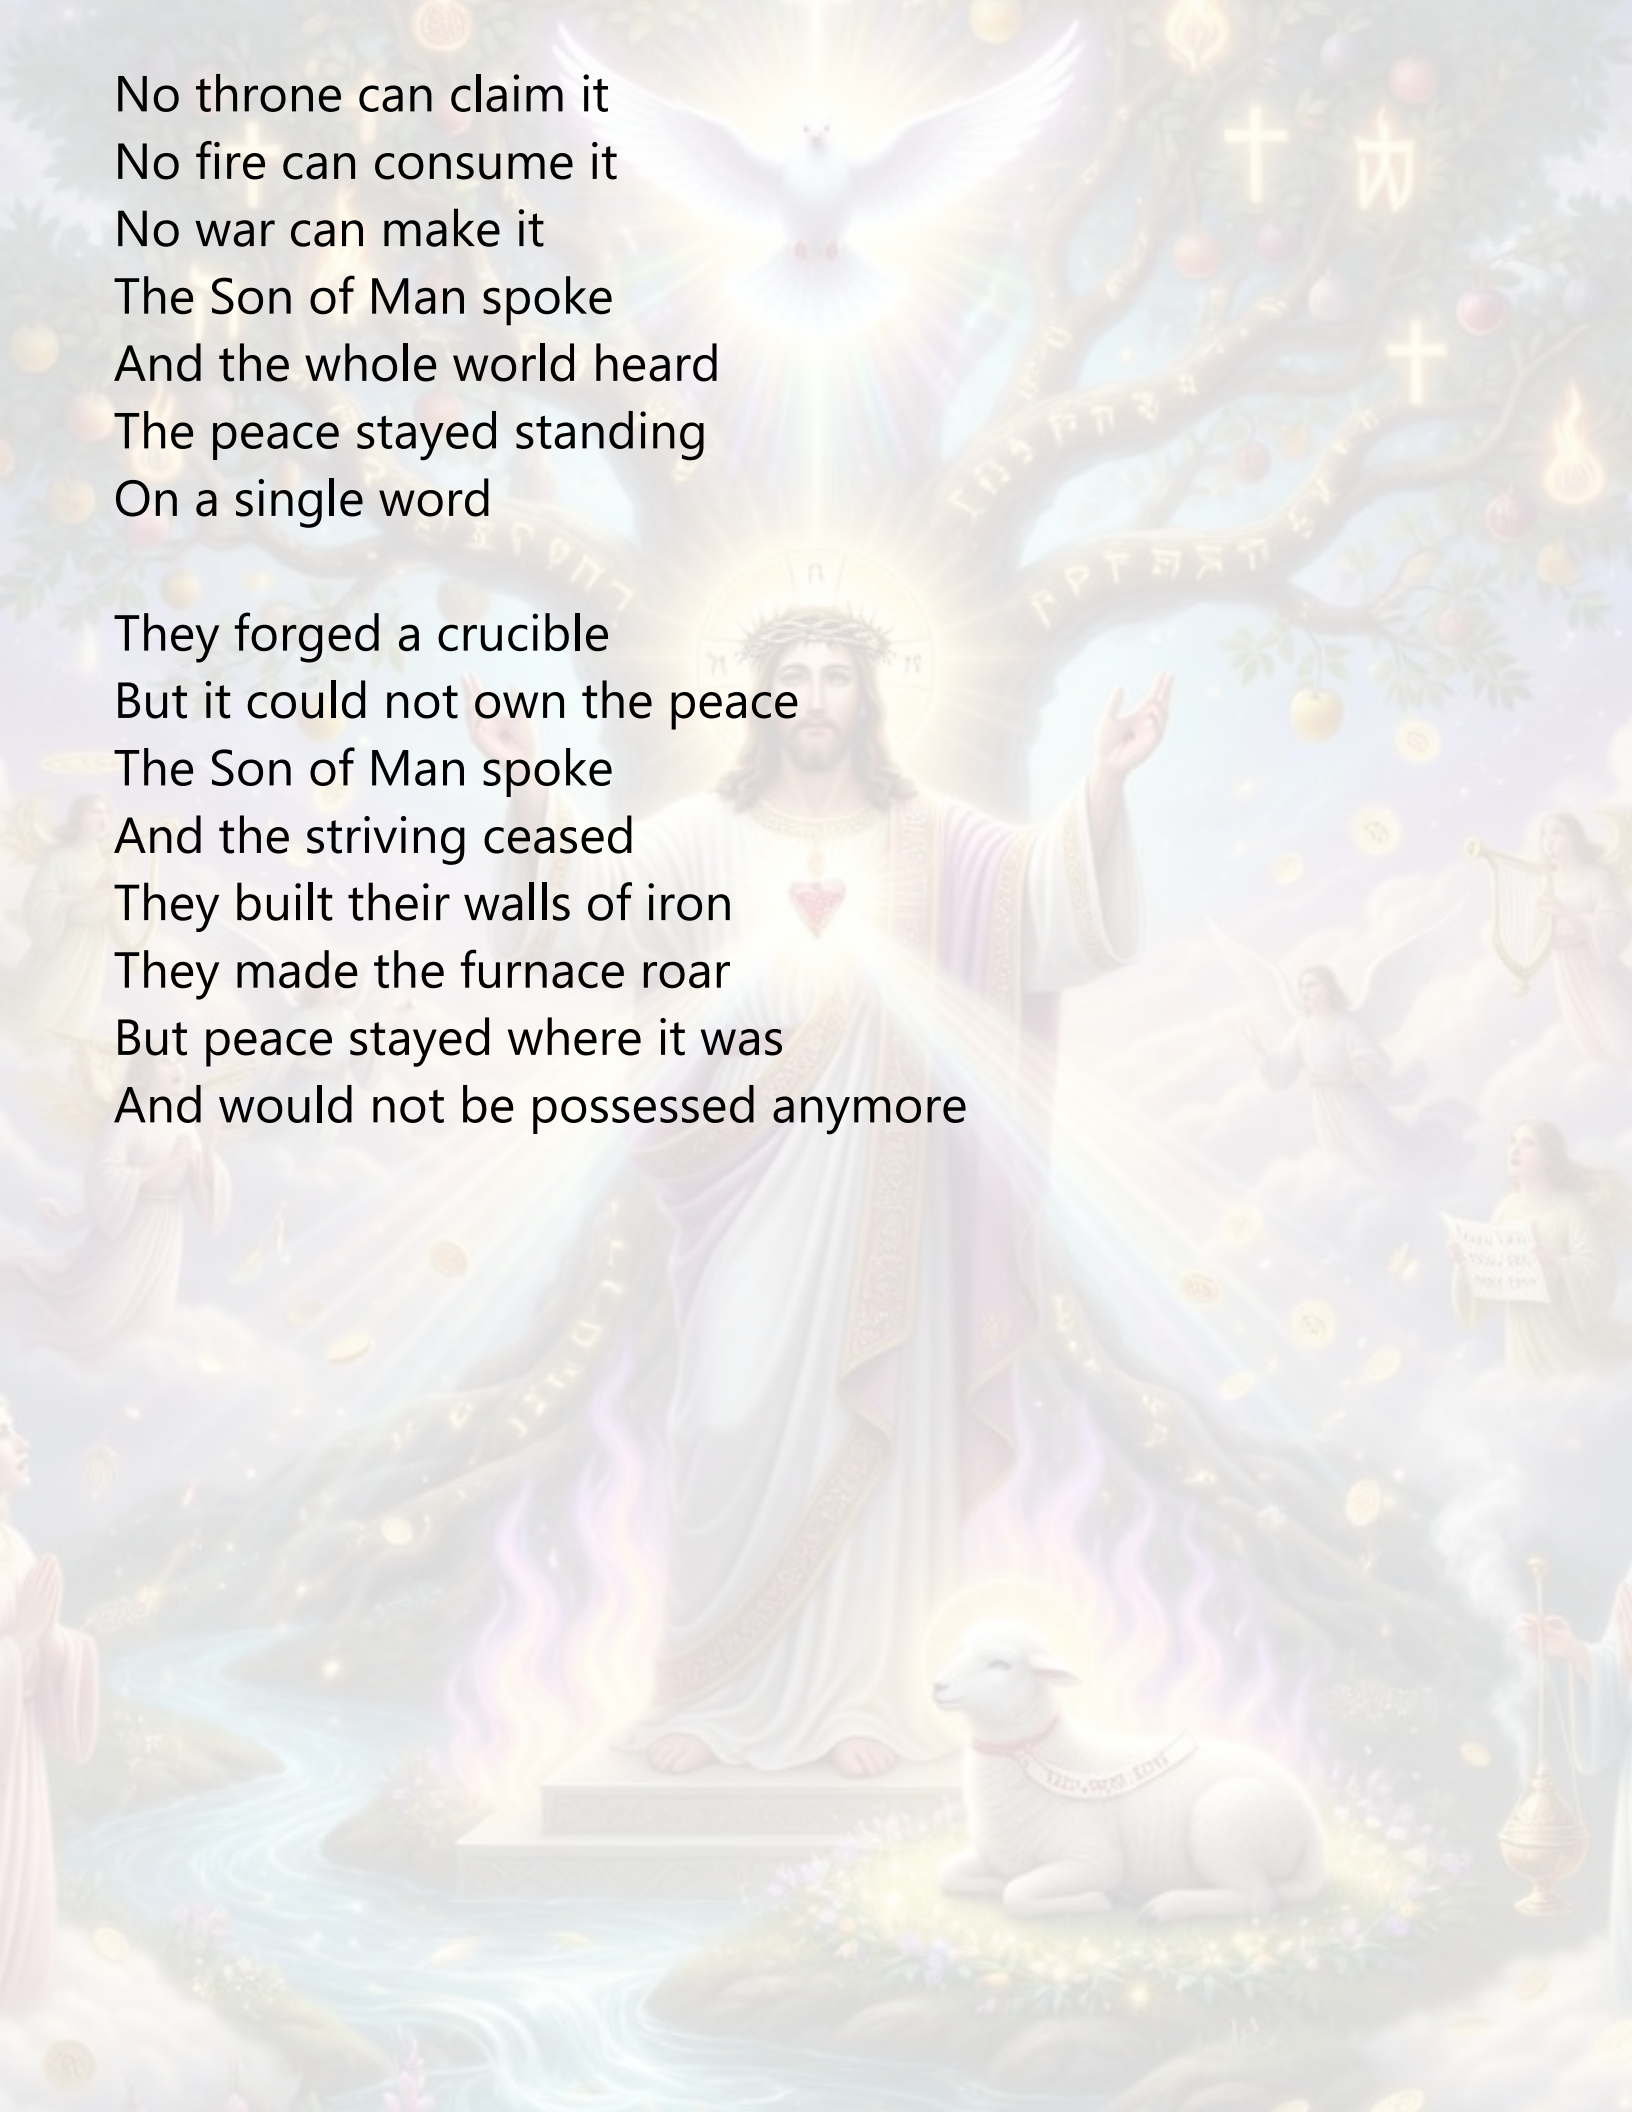

They forged a crucible out of fire and stone
They shaped it for a kingdom they could call their own
They fed it with their fear, they sealed it with their pride
But peace was never something hands could hold inside

Then the Son of Man spoke
Through the thunder and the smoke
Every chain began to break
Every heart began to wake

They forged a crucible
But it could not own the peace
The Son of Man spoke
And the striving ceased
They built their walls of iron
They made the furnace roar
But peace stayed where it was
And would not be possessed anymore

They measured every blessing, they counted every cost
They called the silence weakness, they named surrender lost
They raised their hands to heaven, demanding what was owed
But peace moved like a river where no empire could go

No hand can forge it

No throne can claim it
No fire can consume it
No war can make it
The Son of Man spoke
And the whole world heard
The peace stayed standing
On a single word

They forged a crucible
But it could not own the peace
The Son of Man spoke
They made the furnace roar

The Peace Is His

Psalm in the silence, I lift up my eyes
You made the light break over the night
When all of the nations are counting the cost
You hold what is broken, You gather the lost

I will not tremble, I will not run
The world may be shaken, but You are the One

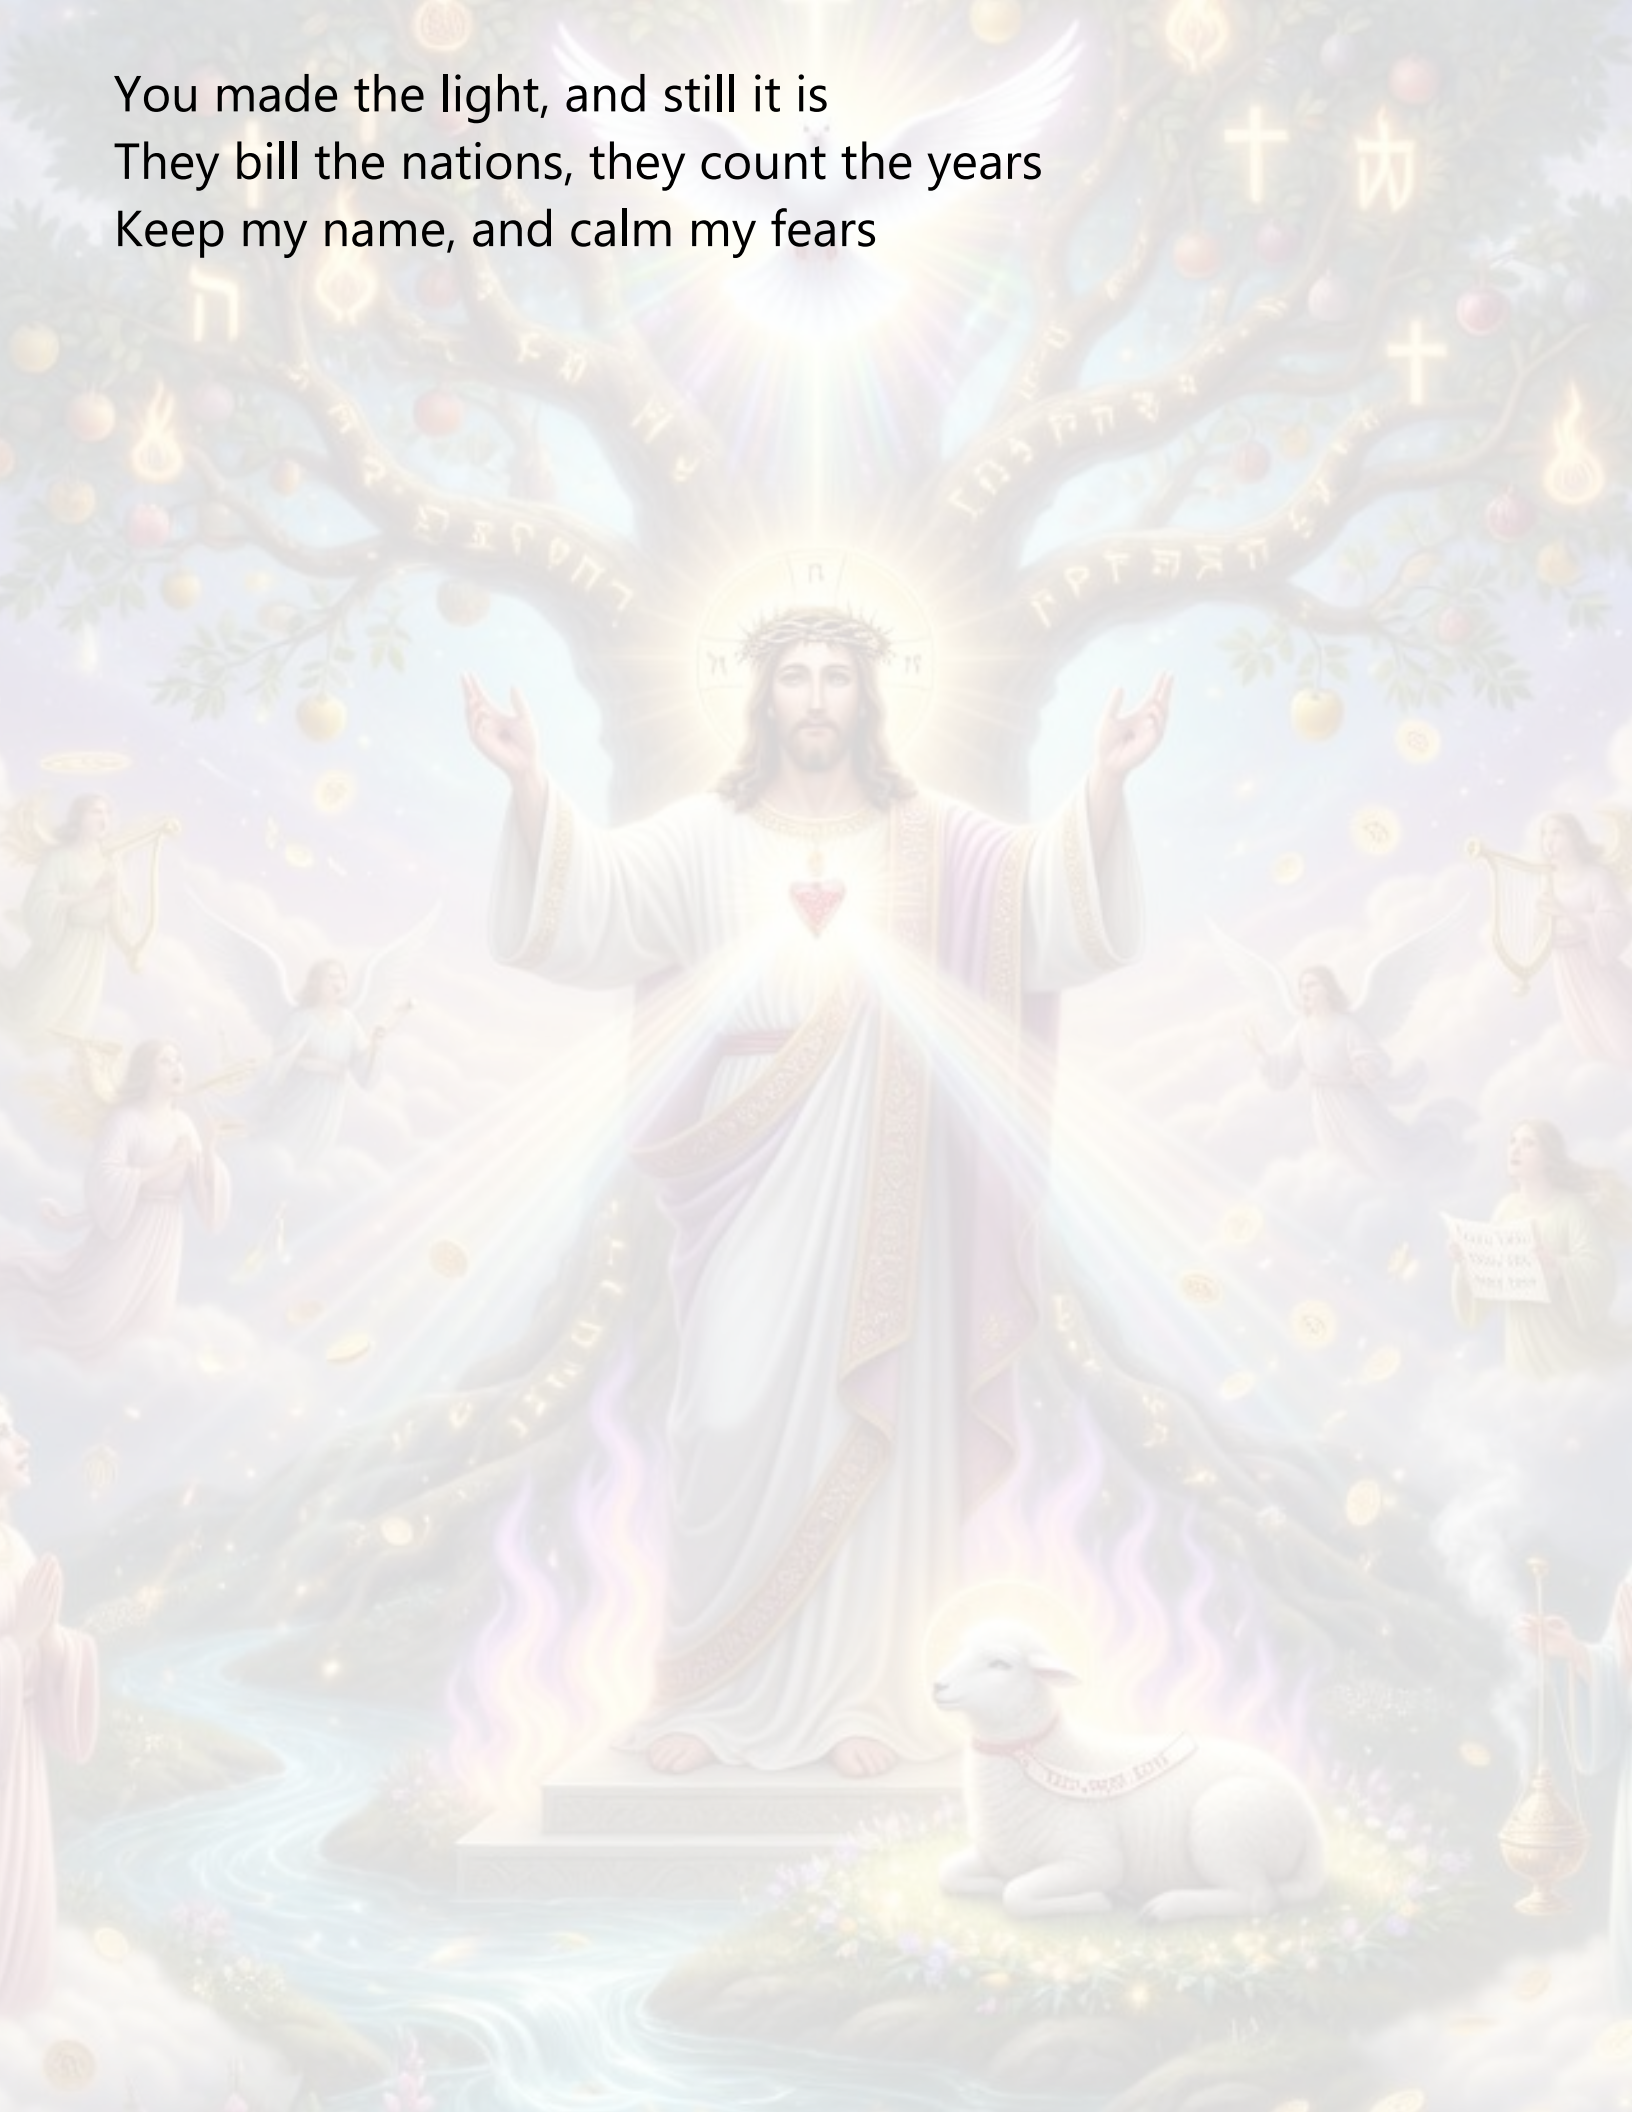

The peace is His, the peace is His
You made the light, and still it is
They bill the nations, they count the years
Keep my name, and calm my fears

They bill the nations, they build their walls
They write their demands, but Your mercy calls
No power can silence the song in my chest
No storm can undo what You call blessed

Keep my name when the night comes down
Keep my name when the fear surrounds
I am held by the breath You give
In Your peace, I will rise and live

The peace is His, the peace is His

Keep my name, and calm my fears

Proverbs- An aetheric crucible is still a boast

An aetheric crucible is still a boast
Gold in the furnace cannot save the lost
Pride builds a tower where the shadows fall
But dust remembers every name we call

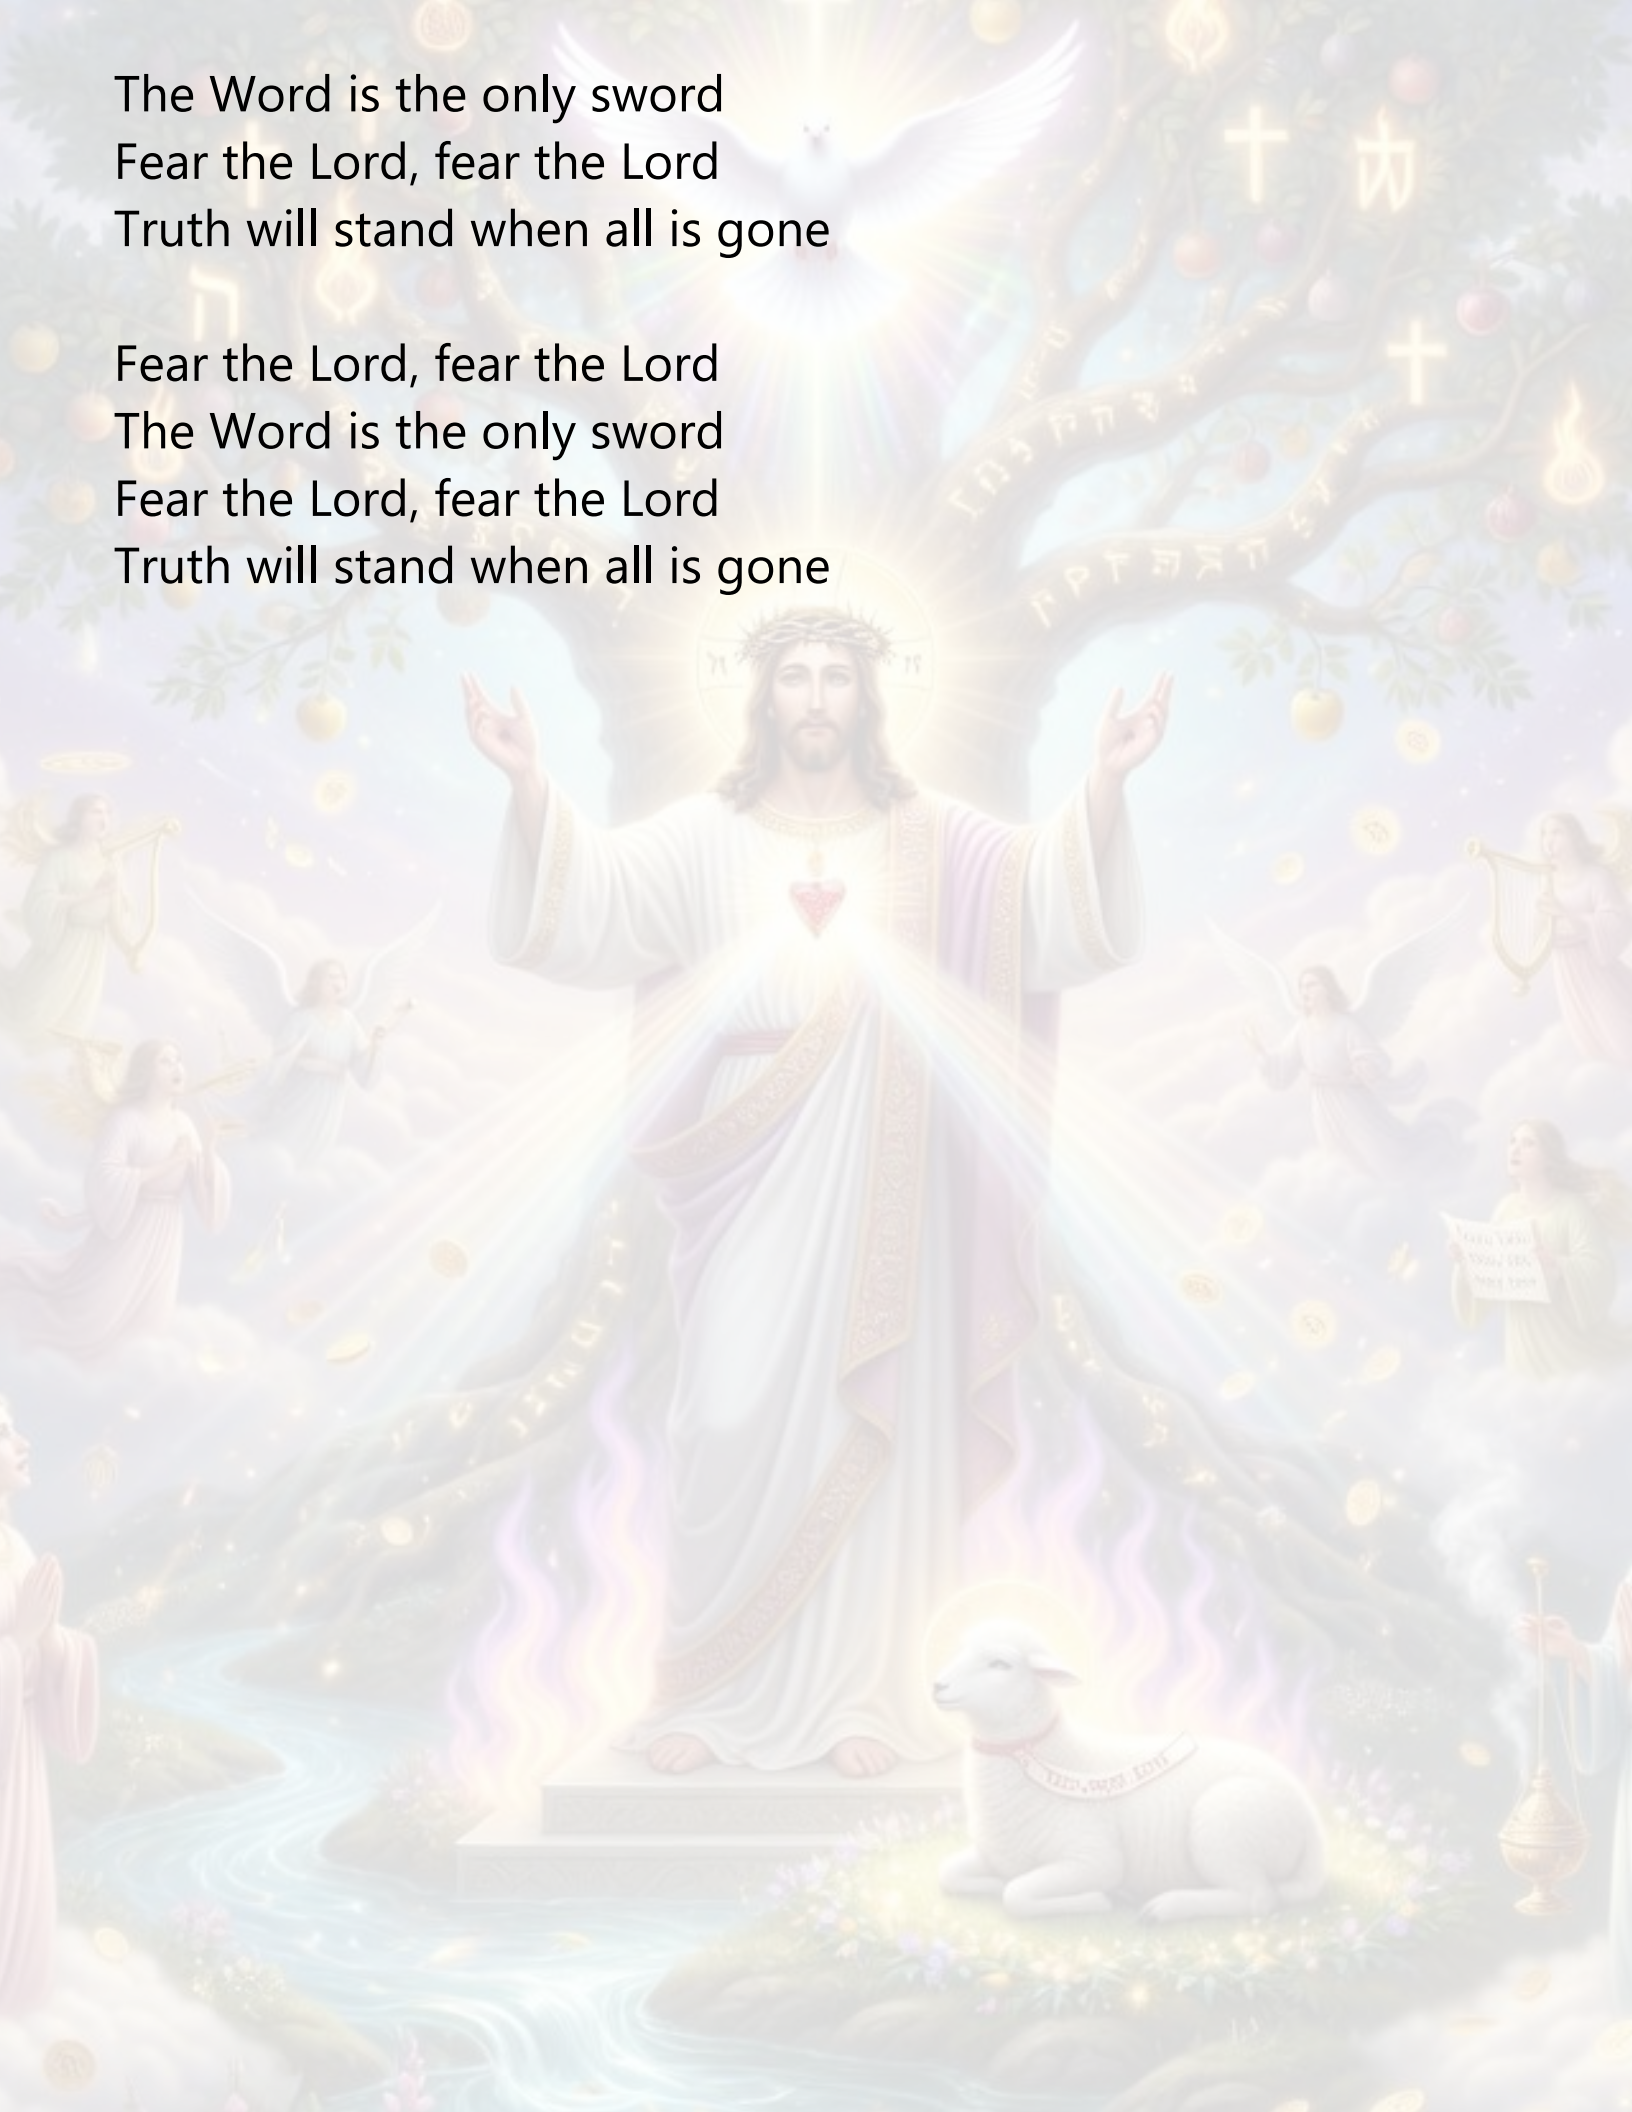

Lay down the weapon forged in vain
Bow your heart before the flame

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword
Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
Truth will stand when all is gone

No secret fire can make us wise
No borrowed light can search the skies
The proudest tongue will fade to air
But mercy waits for those who dare

When every crown is turned to rust
When every promise breaks to dust
One voice remains, one path made sure
The living Word forevermore

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord

The Word is the only sword
Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
Truth will stand when all is gone

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword
Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
Truth will stand when all is gone

Haiku Song- Crucible over the Peace

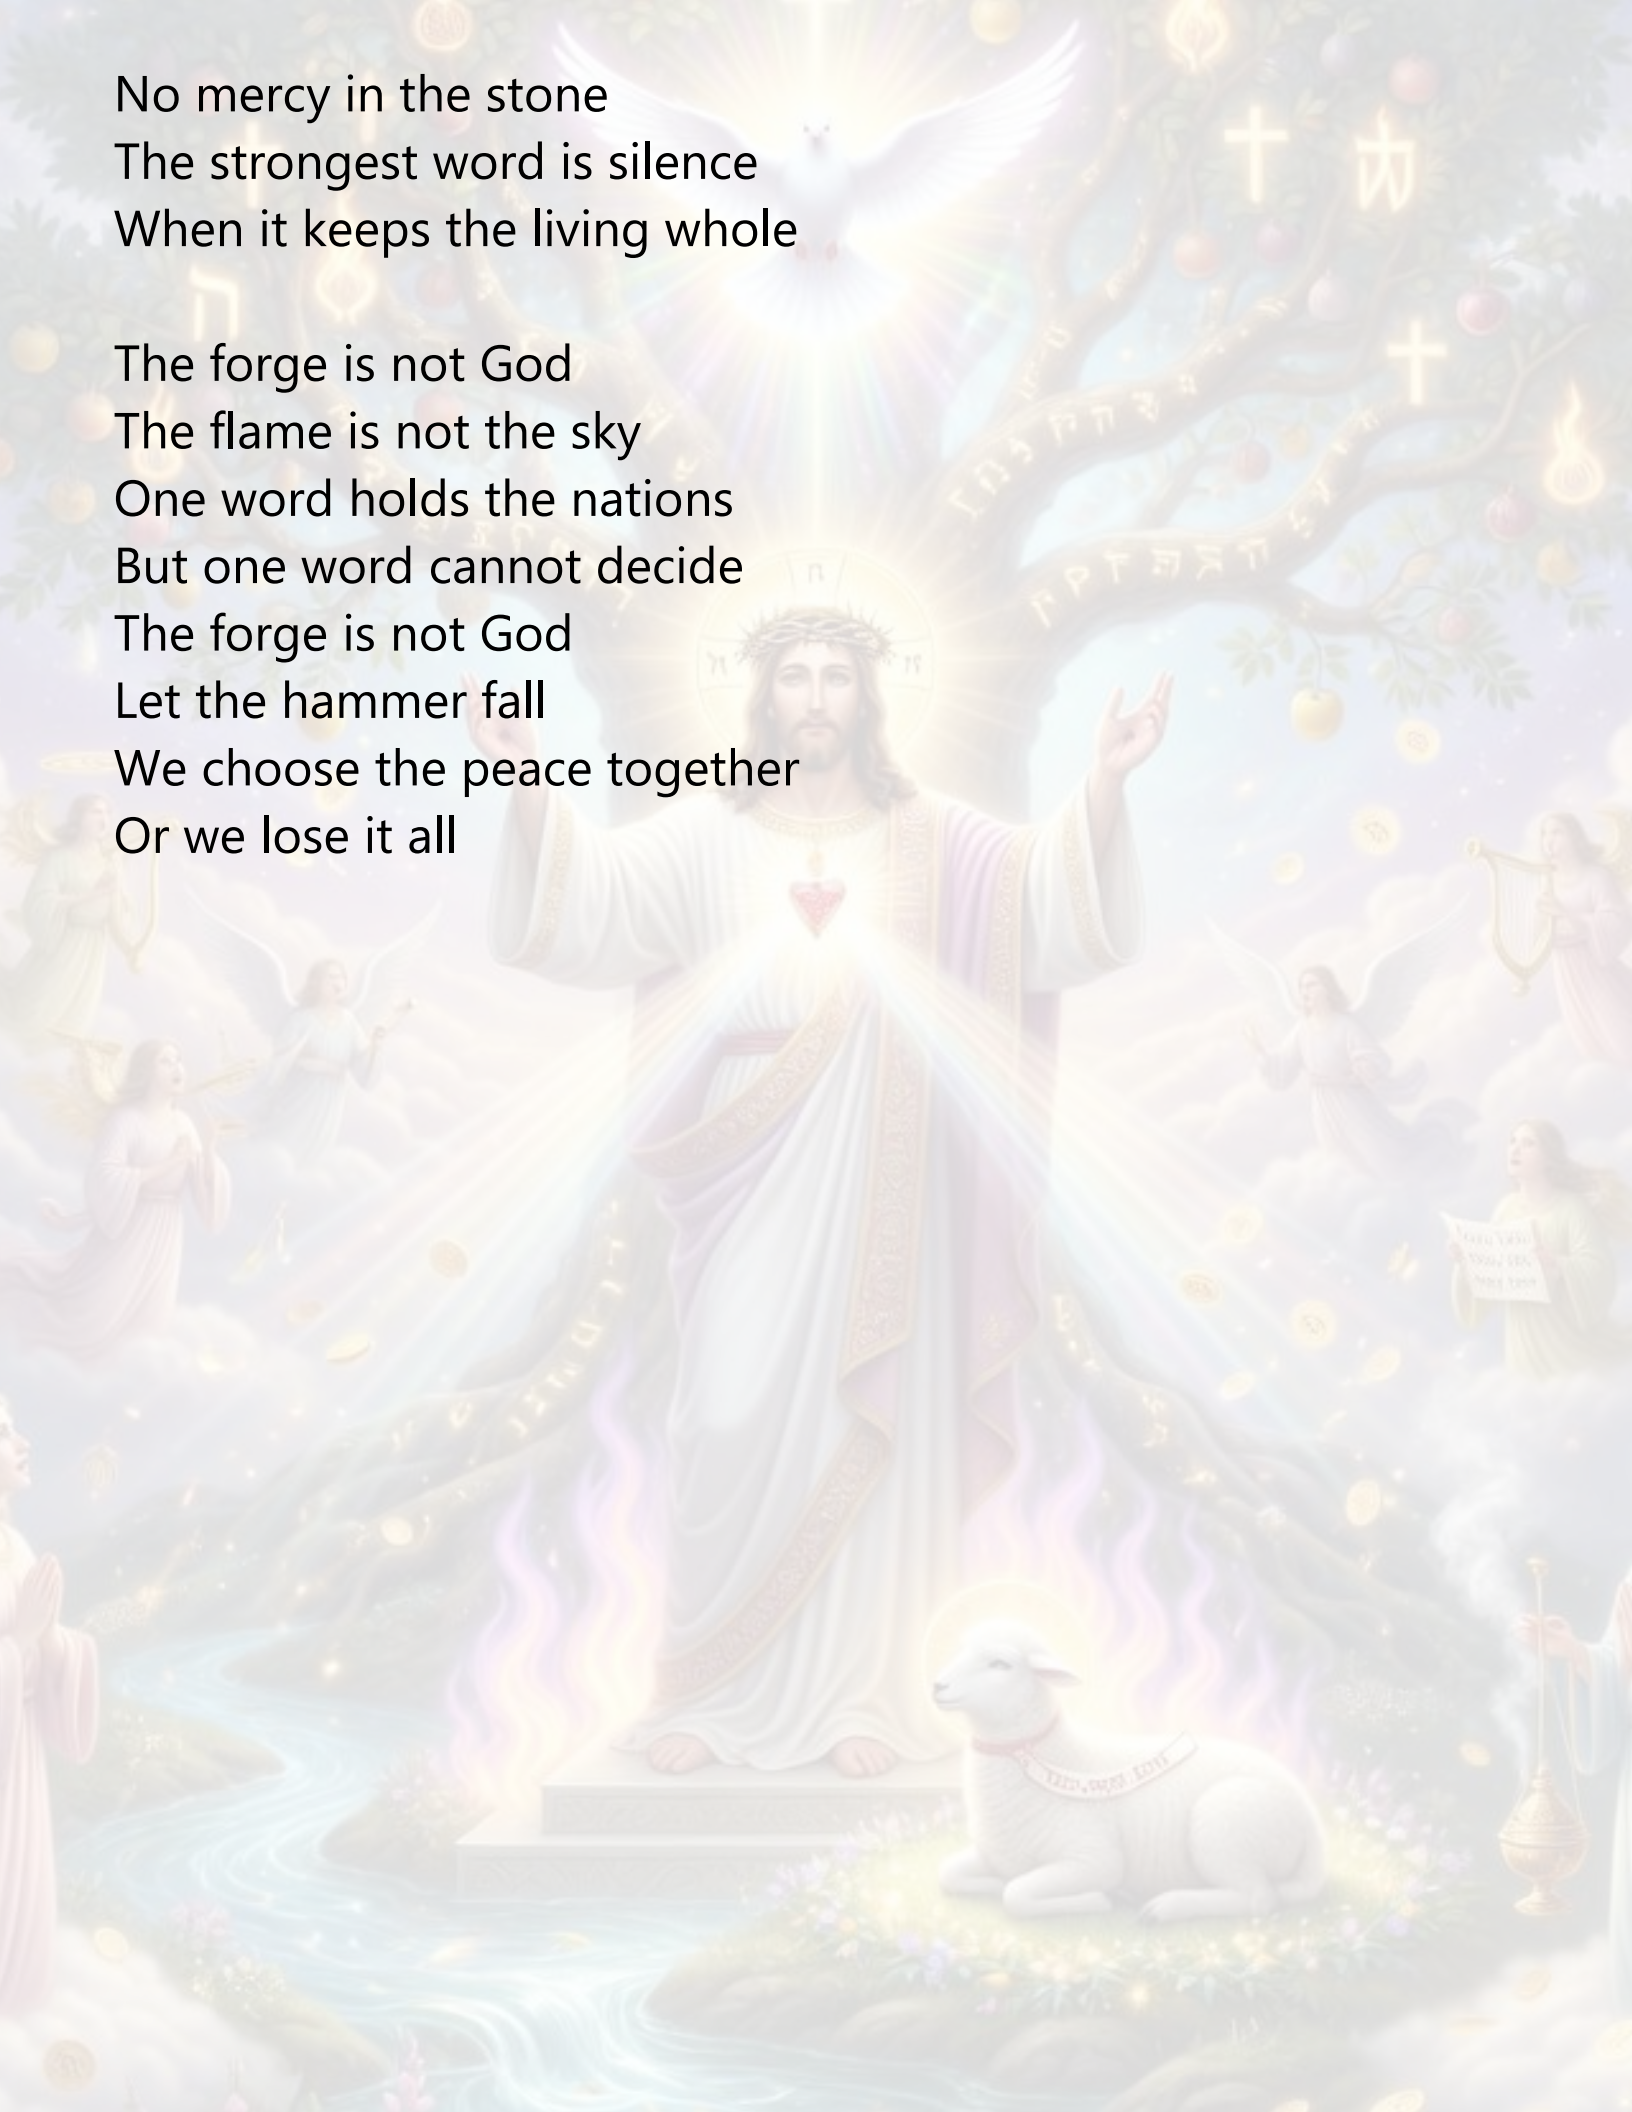

Crucible over the peace
Ash settles where the flags once flew
One word holds the nations
And every mouth waits for truth

But iron is not wisdom
And fire cannot see
We lay down what we worship
Before it buries me

The forge is not God
The flame is not the sky
One word holds the nations
But one word cannot decide
The forge is not God
Let the hammer fall
We choose the peace together
Or we lose it all

Black smoke climbs through the morning
Bright sparks cross the dark
A thousand hands keep turning
One wheel around one heart

No crown inside the furnace

No mercy in the stone
The strongest word is silence
When it keeps the living whole

The forge is not God
The flame is not the sky
One word holds the nations
But one word cannot decide
The forge is not God
Let the hammer fall
We choose the peace together
Or we lose it all

Riddle Song- What cuts the Nexus

I crucible,
I forge,
I never hold.

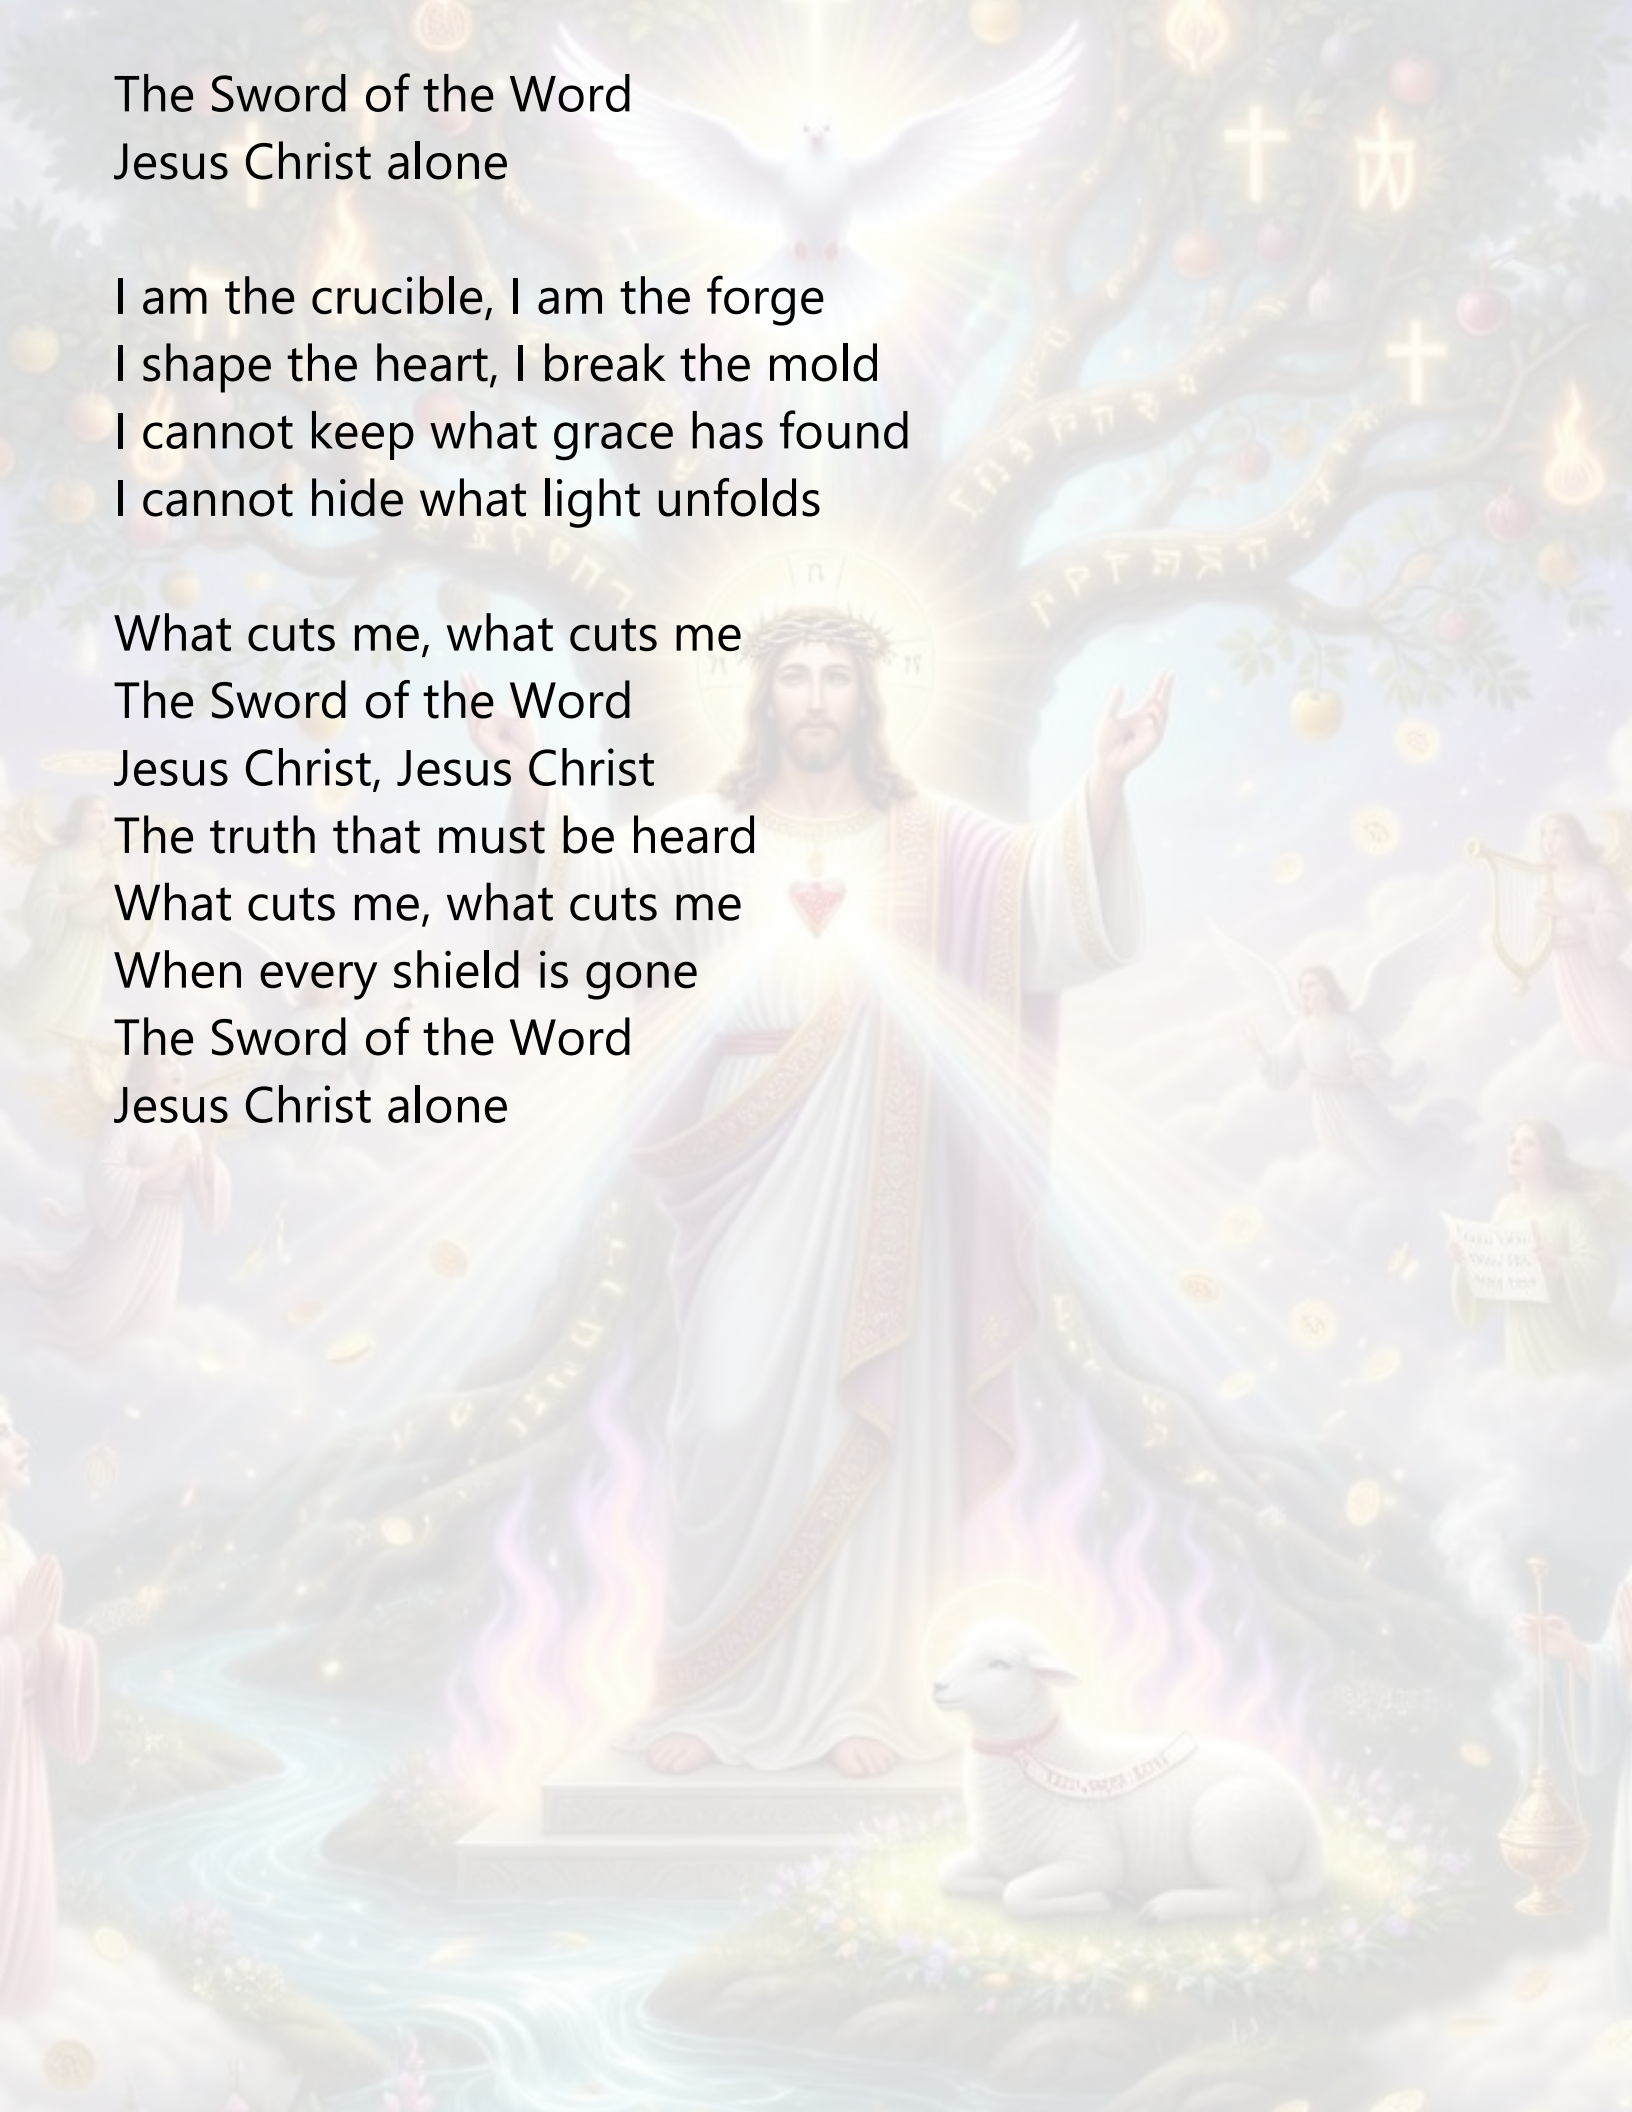

What cuts me?

The Sword of the Word — Jesus Christ.

I am the crucible, I am the forge
I never rest, I never hold
Through fire and flame, through dust and stone
What can cut me to the soul

Not by the hand of mortal men
Not by the edge of earthly steel
A living Word comes shining through
And makes the hidden wounds reveal

What cuts me, what cuts me
The Sword of the Word
Jesus Christ, Jesus Christ
The truth that must be heard
What cuts me, what cuts me
When every shield is gone

Jesus Christ alone

I am the crucible, I am the forge
I shape the heart, I break the mold
I cannot keep what grace has found
I cannot hide what light unfolds

What cuts me, what cuts me
The Sword of the Word
Jesus Christ, Jesus Christ
The truth that must be heard
What cuts me, what cuts me
Jesus Christ alone

Holy Jest – The peace does not pay

Holy Jest in the furnace light
The crucible invoices the peace
It counts each wound by candle flame
And waits for heaven's lease

The peace does not pay, the peace does not speak
It leaves its silence at the gate
Banished by the Almighty
With mercy sealed in weight

I held the ash against my chest
I heard the iron pray
If love is owed to those who break
Who settles up the day

Holy Jest, let the dark collect
The crucible invoices the peace
The peace does not pay, the peace does not pay
And the banished do not cease

Holy Jest, when the heavens close
Who remembers what was lost
Banished by the Almighty
Still counting out the cost

The altar wore a debtor's mark
The bells were cold and thin
A thousand hands reached out for grace
No grace would let them in

I carried names beneath my tongue
Like sparks beneath the snow
The ones the Holy One cast down
The ones He would not know

Maybe the joke is not the fall
Maybe the joke is breath
To wake beneath an empty sky
And bargain still with death

Maybe the peace was never ours
Maybe it learned to flee
But every heart the fire spared
Still beats against the sea

Holy Jest, let the dark collect
The crucible invoices the peace
The peace does not pay, the peace does not pay
And the banished do not cease

Banished by the Almighty
Still counting out the cost

The crucible invoices the peace
The peace does not pay, the peace does not pay
And the banished do not cease

Who remembers what was lost
Banished by the Almighty
Still counting out the cost

Glory to the Father, to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.

Remnant Symphony - Peace / Crucible / Nations / Throne.

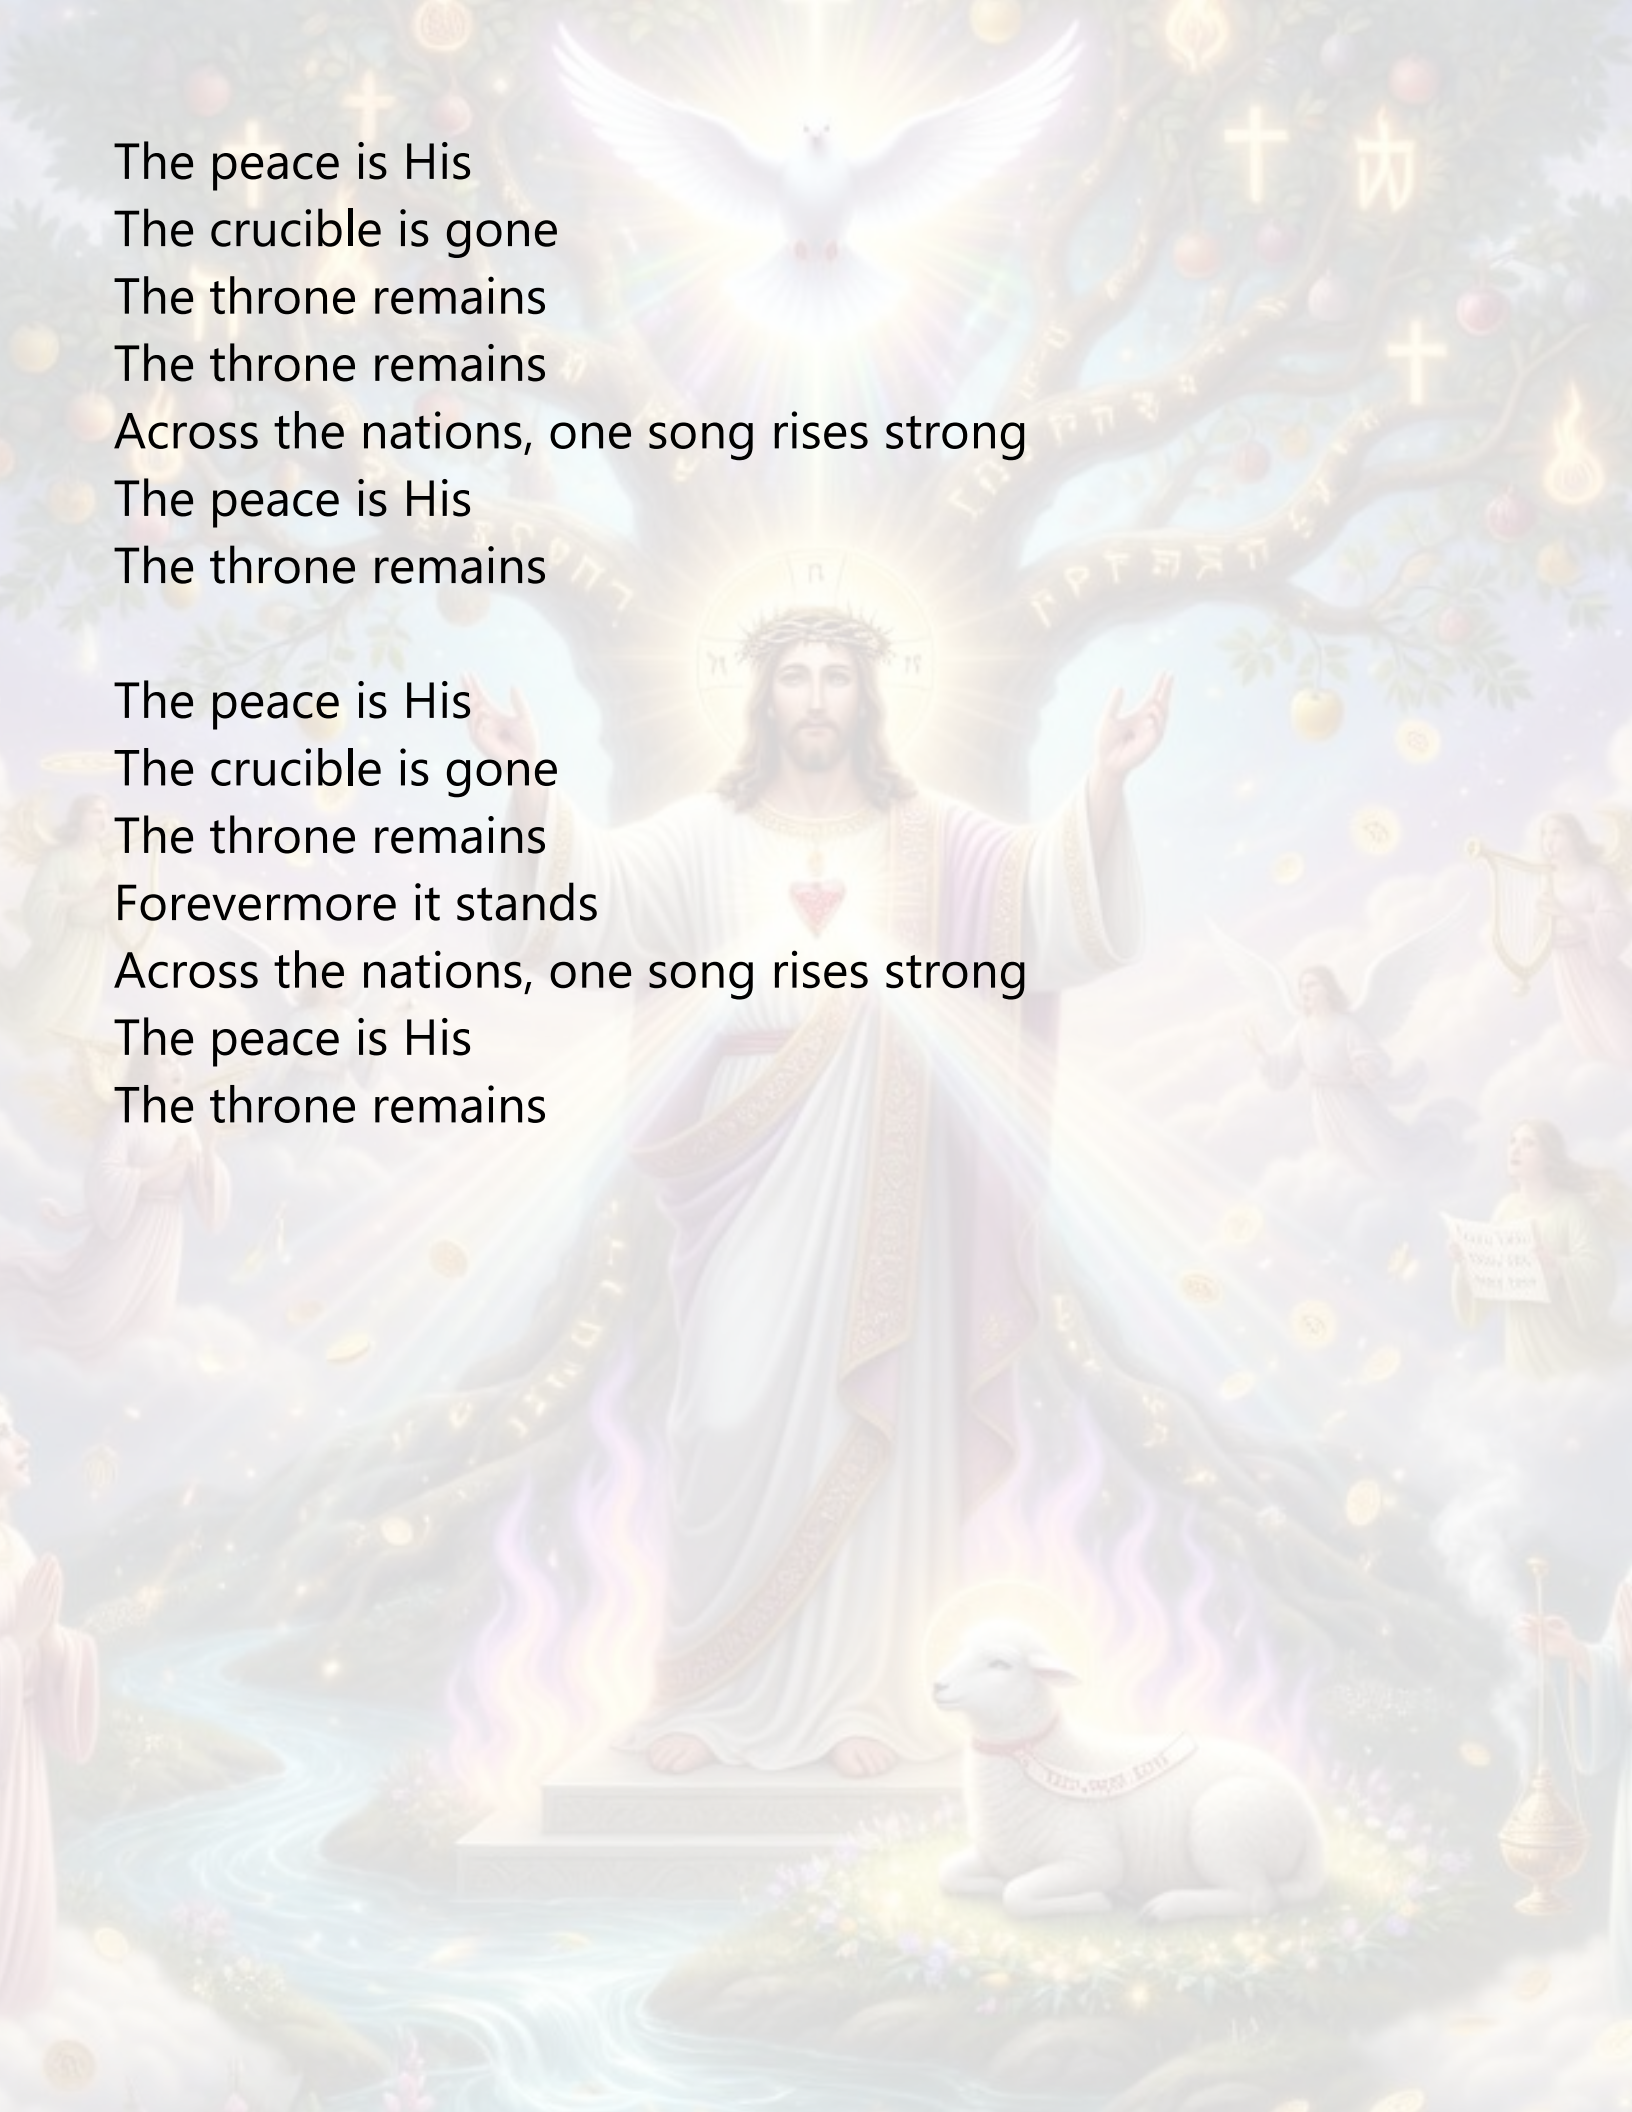

The peace is His, it settles on the land
The fire is gone, the ashes leave our hands
Through every wound, through every fallen name
His mercy gathers what was lost in flame

No more iron, no more cries
The dawn is breaking through the skies

The peace is His
The crucible is gone
The throne remains
The throne remains
Across the nations, one song rises strong
The peace is His
The throne remains

We crossed the dark, we carried every scar
Still found His light beneath the broken stars
No crown of fear, no chain around the soul
His righteous hand has made the nations whole

Let every border hear the living sound
Let every king lay all their weapons down
The fire is past, the promise still burns bright
His throne remains beyond the reach of night

The peace is His
The crucible is gone
The throne remains
The throne remains
The peace is His
The throne remains

The peace is His
The crucible is gone
The throne remains
Forevermore it stands
Across the nations, one song rises strong
The peace is His
The throne remains

Short Story

They forged a crucible and called the peace empty. The peace did not invoice. A keeper filed a claim. The remnant stayed. Jesus keeps the peace.

They forged a crucible and called the peace empty
They weighed the silence like a debt to be paid
A keeper filed a claim in the ashes
But the remnant stayed

No invoice came for mercy
No price was named for grace
Through every hand that reached for war
The peace remained

Jesus keeps the peace
Jesus keeps the peace
When the world calls empty
He is all we need
The remnant still remains
The fire cannot erase
Jesus keeps the peace
Jesus keeps the peace

They built their case from iron
They sealed it with a name

But truth outlived the burning
And love outlasted blame
The keeper held the record
The claim fell into dust
What man declared forgotten
Was gathered up by trust

Let the crucible be broken
Let the hollow verdict cease
There is mercy in the remnant
There is power in the peace
No invoice came for heaven
No debt could buy the Son
Jesus keeps the peace
The war is overcome

Jesus keeps the peace
Jesus keeps the peace
When the world calls empty
He is all we need
The remnant still remains
The fire cannot erase
Jesus keeps the peace
Jesus keeps the peace

Story Song

The Stygian Veil Is Not Lord — The Air Is His

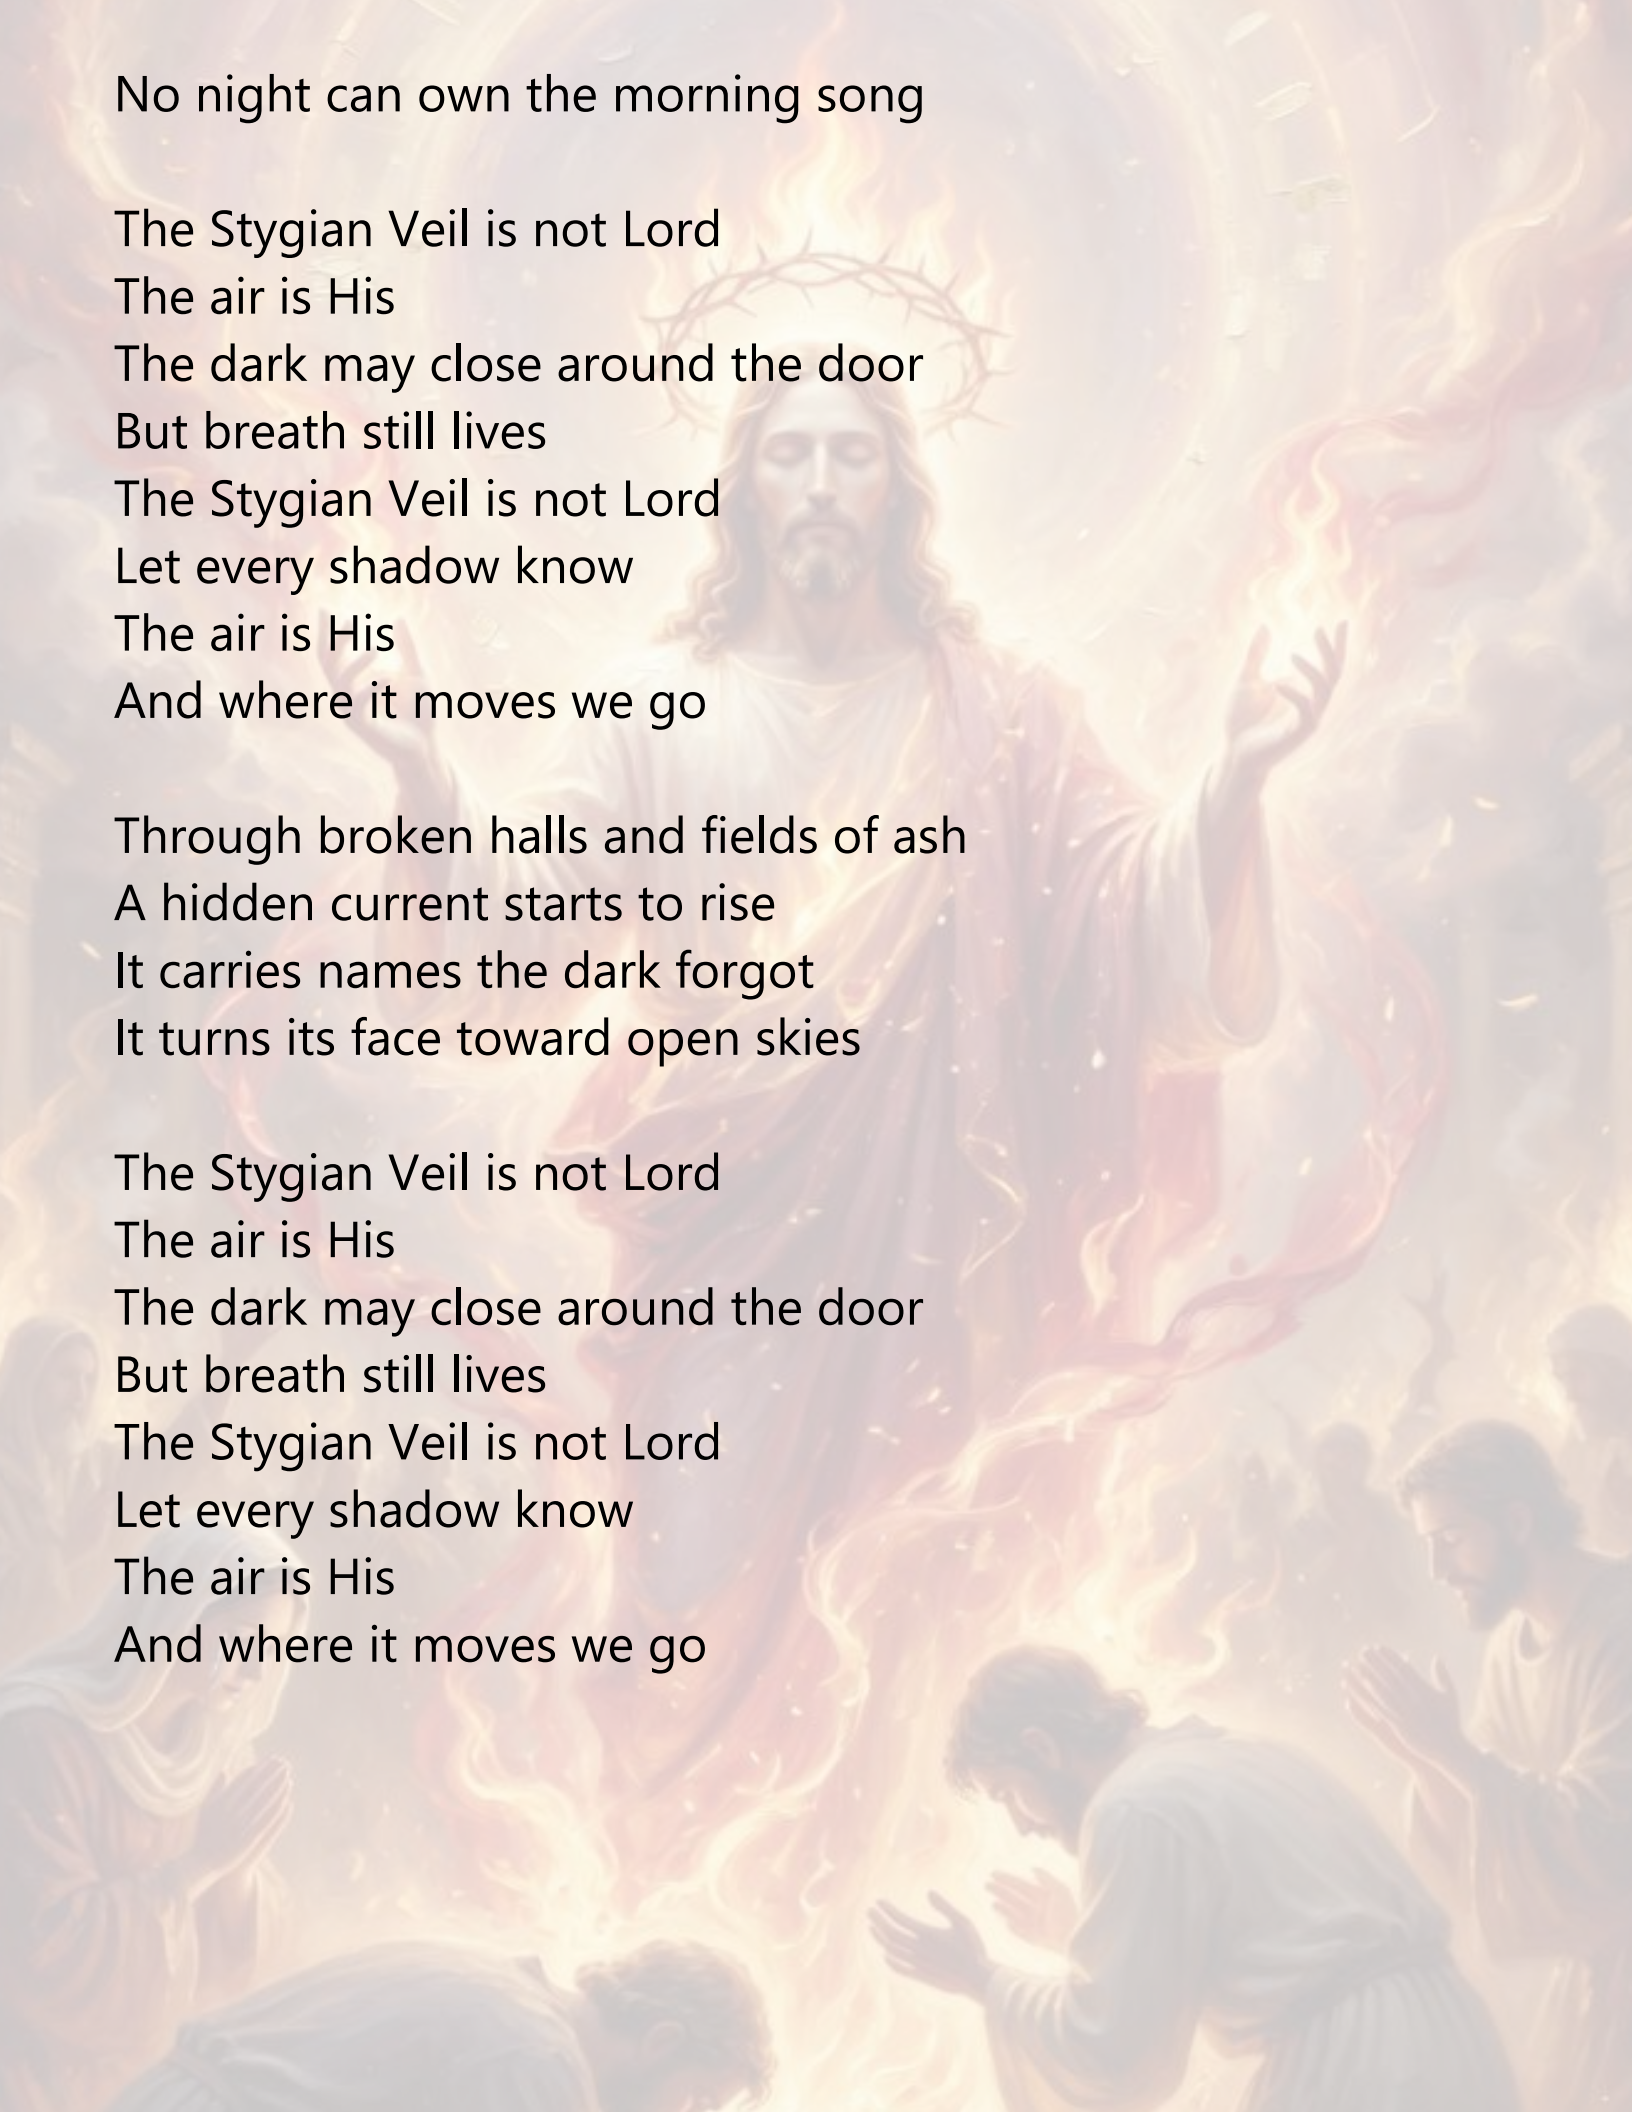

Beneath the black where silent rivers wind
I heard a breath move through the stones
The veil may claim the dying light
But it cannot claim the wind alone

No crown is carved from endless night
No throne can hold the rising dawn

The Stygian Veil is not Lord
The air is His
The dark may close around the door
But breath still lives
The Stygian Veil is not Lord
Let every shadow know
The air is His
And where it moves we go

The ferryman calls from the hollow shore
His lantern fades beneath the rain
But every lung that draws one breath
Can break the chains of death again

No grave can keep the living voice

No night can own the morning song

The Stygian Veil is not Lord
The air is His
The dark may close around the door
But breath still lives
The Stygian Veil is not Lord
Let every shadow know
The air is His

Through broken halls and fields of ash
A hidden current starts to rise
It carries names the dark forgot
It turns its face toward open skies

The Stygian Veil is not Lord
The air is His
The dark may close around the door
But breath still lives
The Stygian Veil is not Lord
Let every shadow know
The air is His

Parable- The Veil That Could Not Own the Air

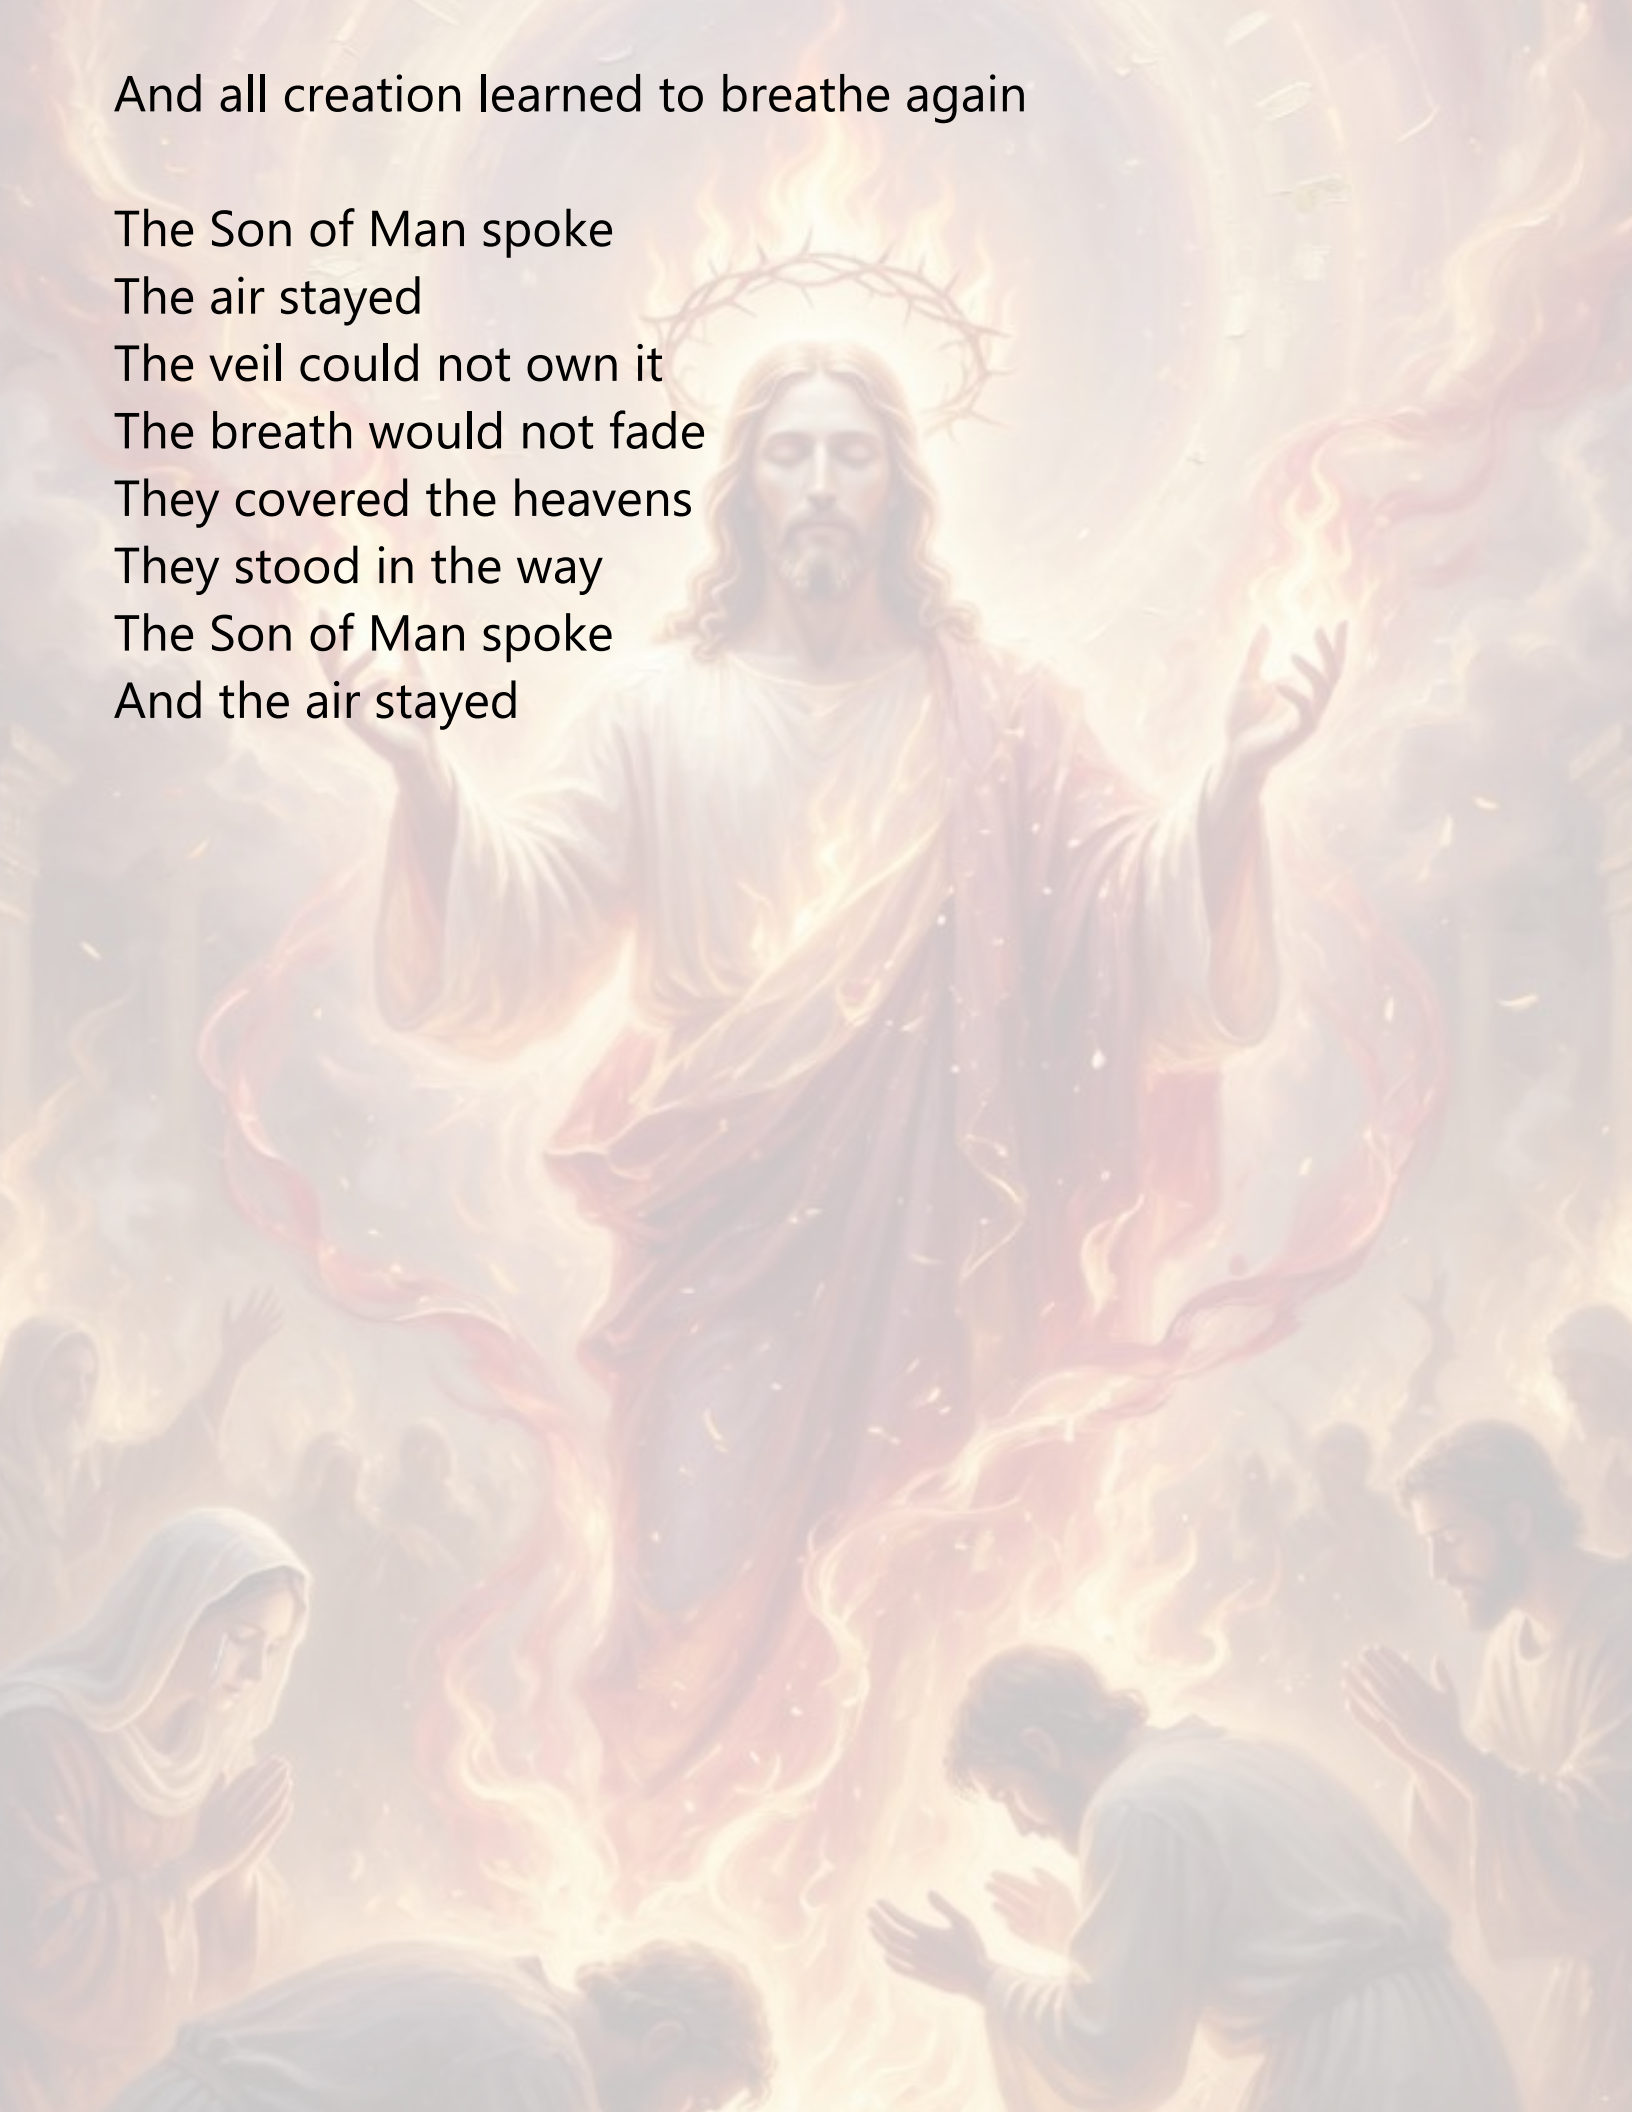

They hung a veil across the morning
They marked the earth with borrowed names
They built their walls around the breathing
And called the silence theirs to claim

But beneath the cloth, the daylight waited
Beyond their hands, the wide world stirred

The Son of Man spoke
The air stayed
The veil could not own it
The breath would not fade
They covered the heavens
They stood in the way
The Son of Man spoke
And the air stayed

They hid the sky behind their power
They drew a border through the blue
But every lung became a witness
To what no hand could hold or rule

No chain can bind the wind forever
No shadow keeps the dawn away
The word went out beyond the covering

And all creation learned to breathe again

The Son of Man spoke
The air stayed
The veil could not own it
The breath would not fade
They covered the heavens
The Son of Man spoke

The Air Is His

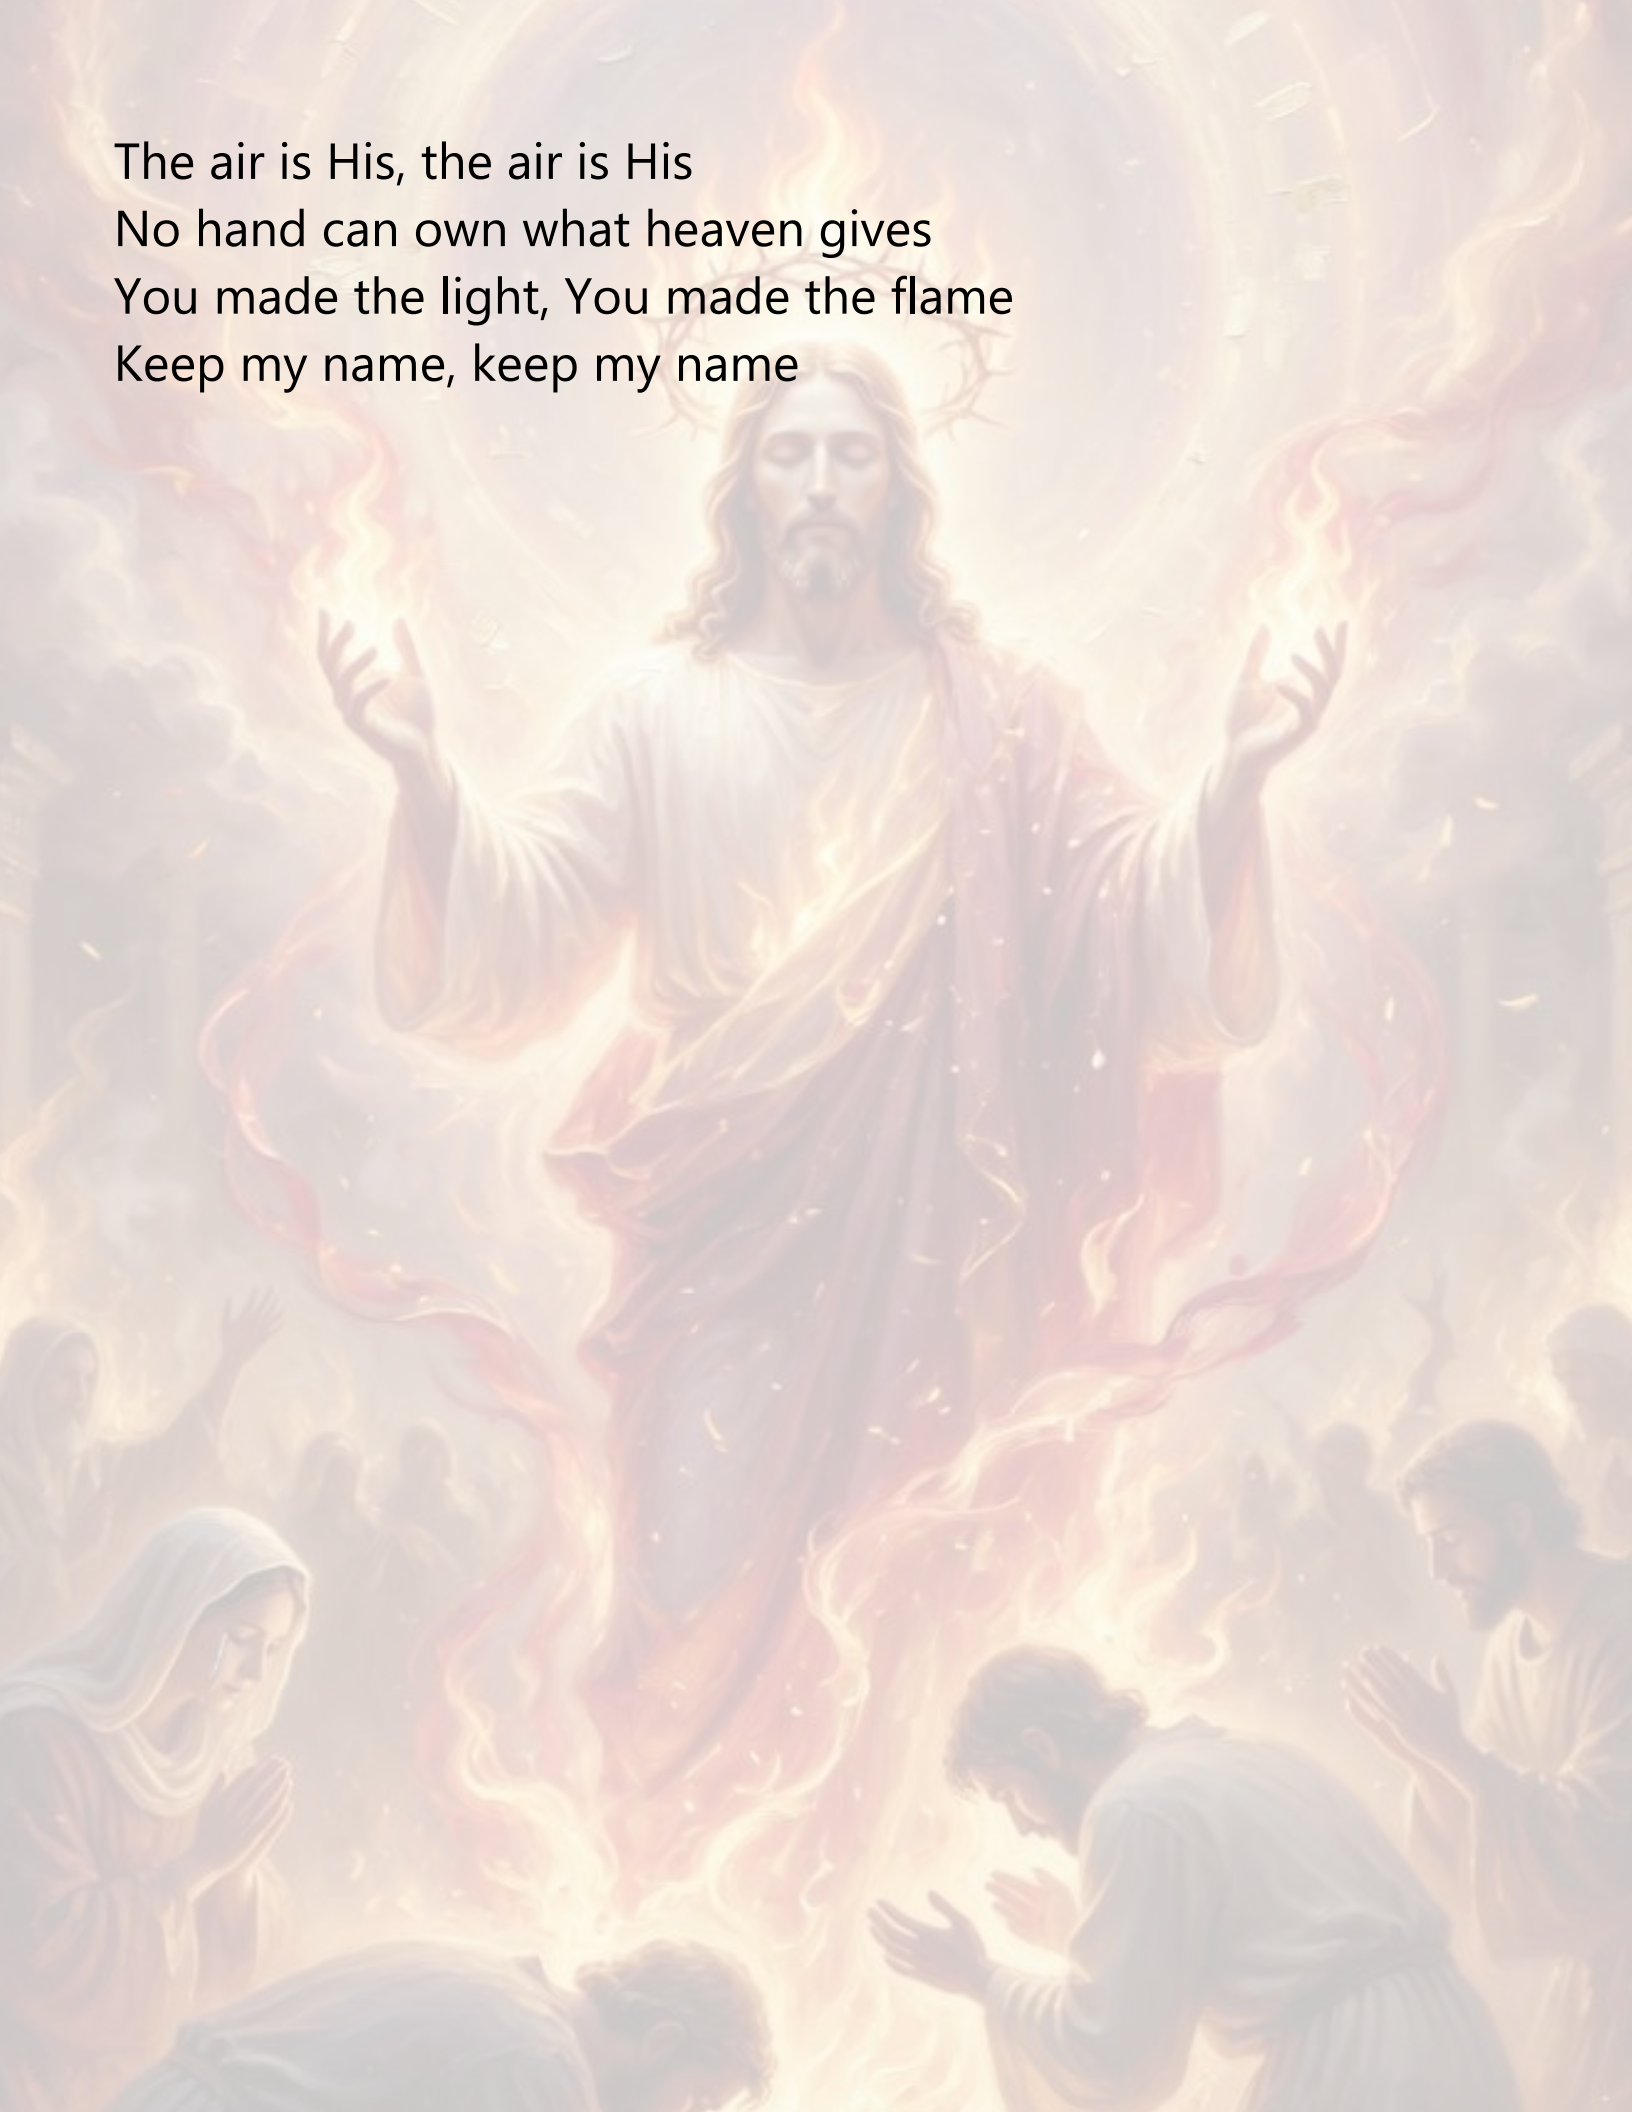

Psalm in the dark, I lift my eyes
You made the light, You split the skies
They bill the wind, they tax the rain
Still every breath calls out Your name

When every door is bought and sealed
Your living mercy stays revealed
I have one prayer beneath my tongue
Keep my name, keep my name

The air is His, the air is His
No hand can own what heaven gives
You made the light, You made the flame
Keep my name, keep my name

They draw their lines across the land
Put price tags on the open hand
But rivers run and sparrows sing
No ledger holds the breath of spring

If I am lost among the crowd
Call me softly, call me loud
When all the borrowed lights grow dim
Let me remember I am His

The air is His, the air is His
No hand can own what heaven gives
You made the light, You made the flame
Keep my name, keep my name

Proverbs- A stygian veil is still a boast.

A stygian veil is still a boast
When shadows gather round the coast
The proud may hide behind the night
But truth will rise and call the light

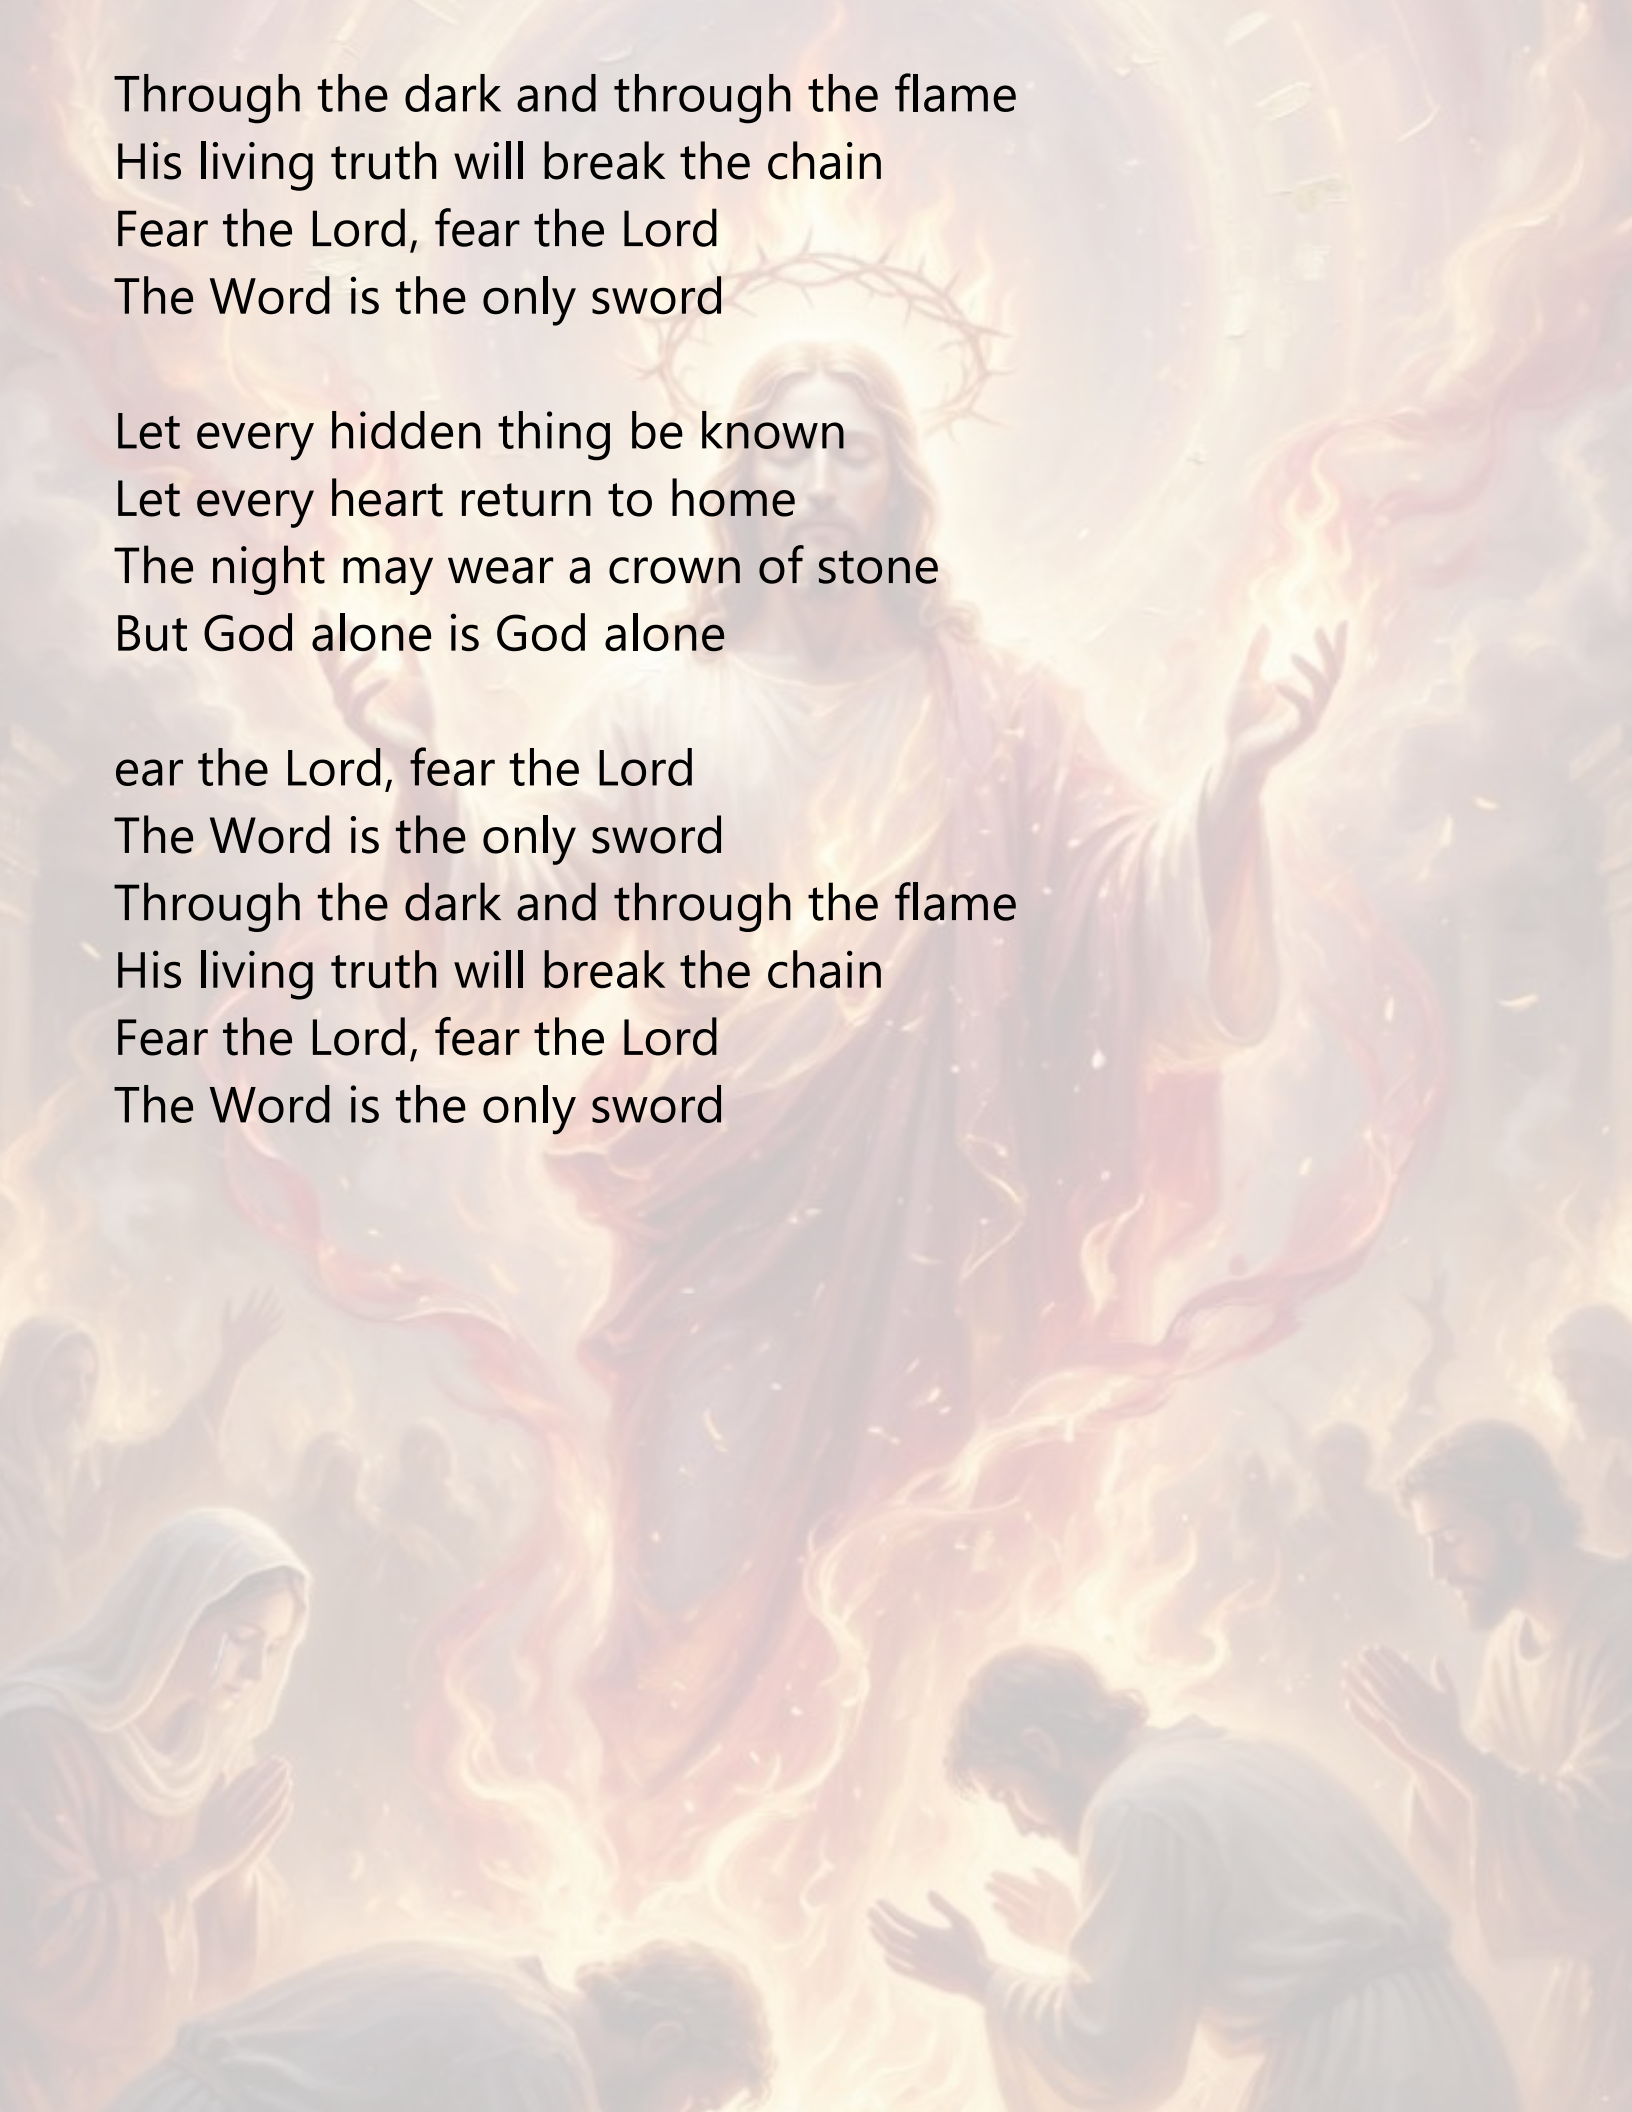

Fear the Lord, let the false winds fall
Hear His voice above them all

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword
Through the dark and through the flame
His living truth will break the chain
Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword

No veil can make the darkness strong
No boast can turn the right to wrong
When every earthly shield is torn
His promise stands, His people stand

Fear the Lord, let the false winds fall
Hear His voice above them all

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword

Through the dark and through the flame
His living truth will break the chain
Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword

Let every hidden thing be known
Let every heart return to home
The night may wear a crown of stone
But God alone is God alone

ear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword
Through the dark and through the flame
His living truth will break the chain
Fear the Lord, fear the Lord

Haiku Song- Veil over the Air

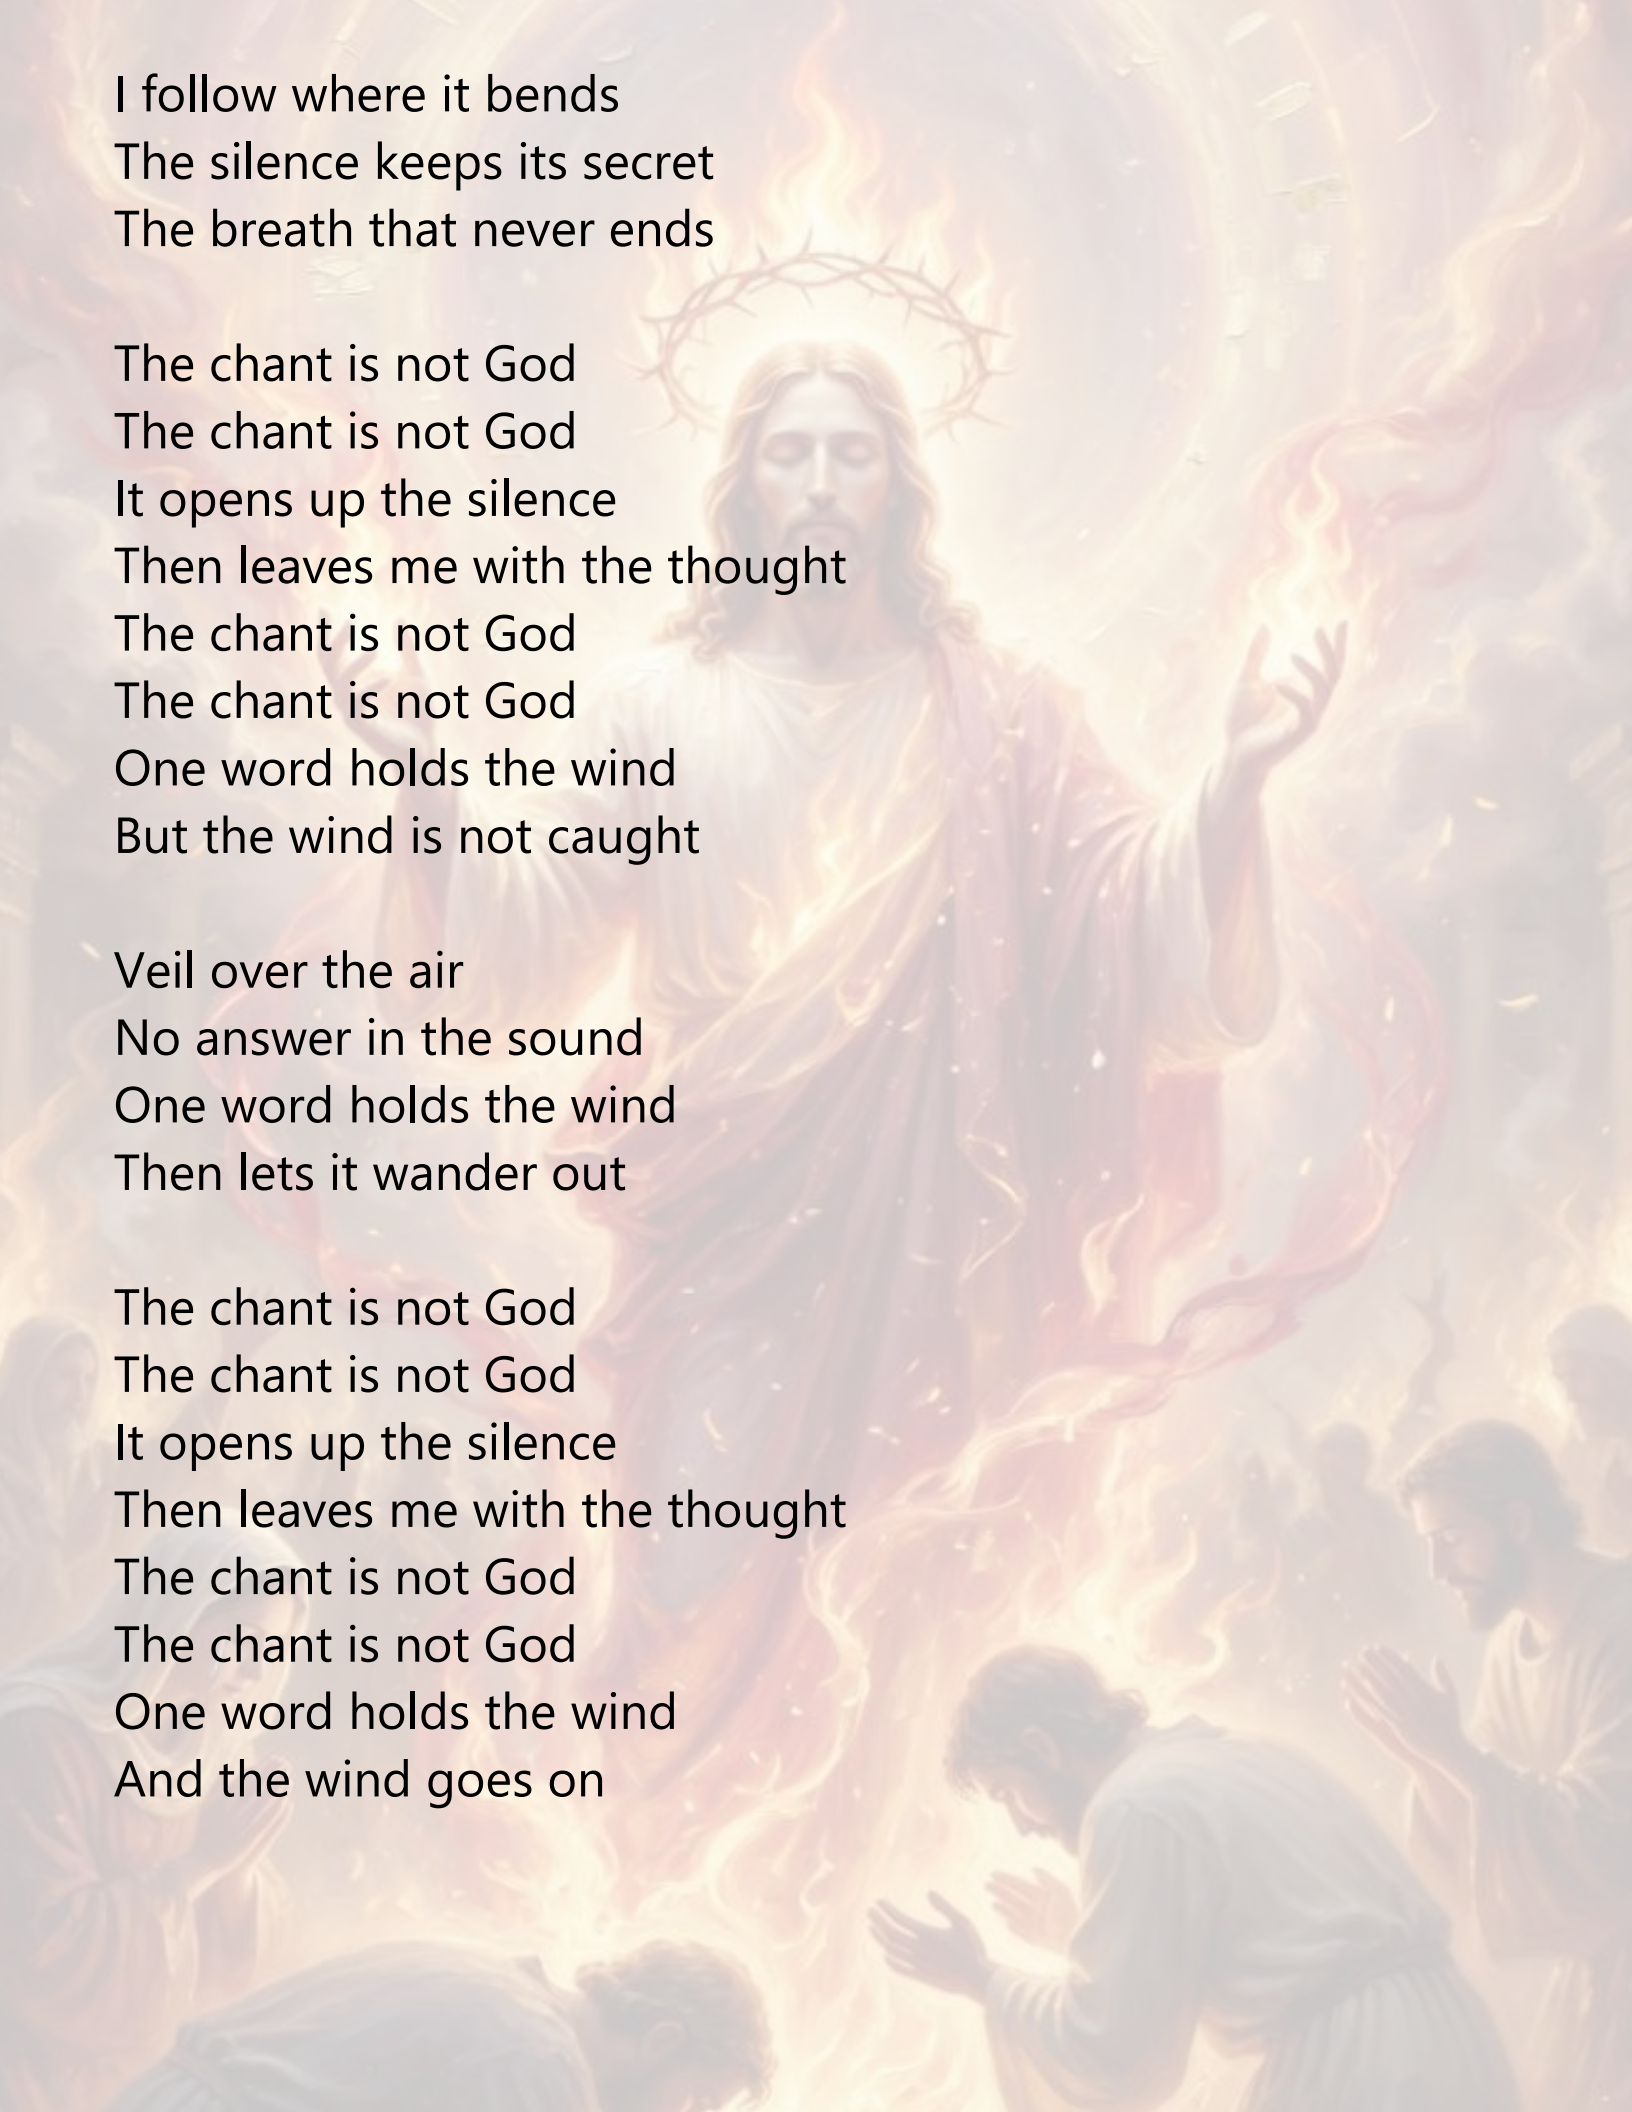

Veil over the air
A hush across the blue
One word holds the wind
And carries me through

I listen for the echo
I follow where it bends
The silence keeps its secret
The breath that never ends

The chant is not God
The chant is not God
It opens up the silence
Then leaves me with the thought
The chant is not God
The chant is not God
One word holds the wind
But the wind is not caught

Footsteps fade in shadows
A bell begins to sway
The meaning slips like water
Before I name the shape

I listen for the echo

I follow where it bends
The silence keeps its secret
The breath that never ends

The chant is not God
The chant is not God
It opens up the silence
Then leaves me with the thought
The chant is not God
The chant is not God
One word holds the wind
But the wind is not caught

Veil over the air
No answer in the sound
One word holds the wind
Then lets it wander out

The chant is not God
The chant is not God
It opens up the silence
Then leaves me with the thought
The chant is not God
The chant is not God
One word holds the wind
And the wind goes on

Riddle- What cuts the Veil

I veil,
I cascade,
I never breathe.

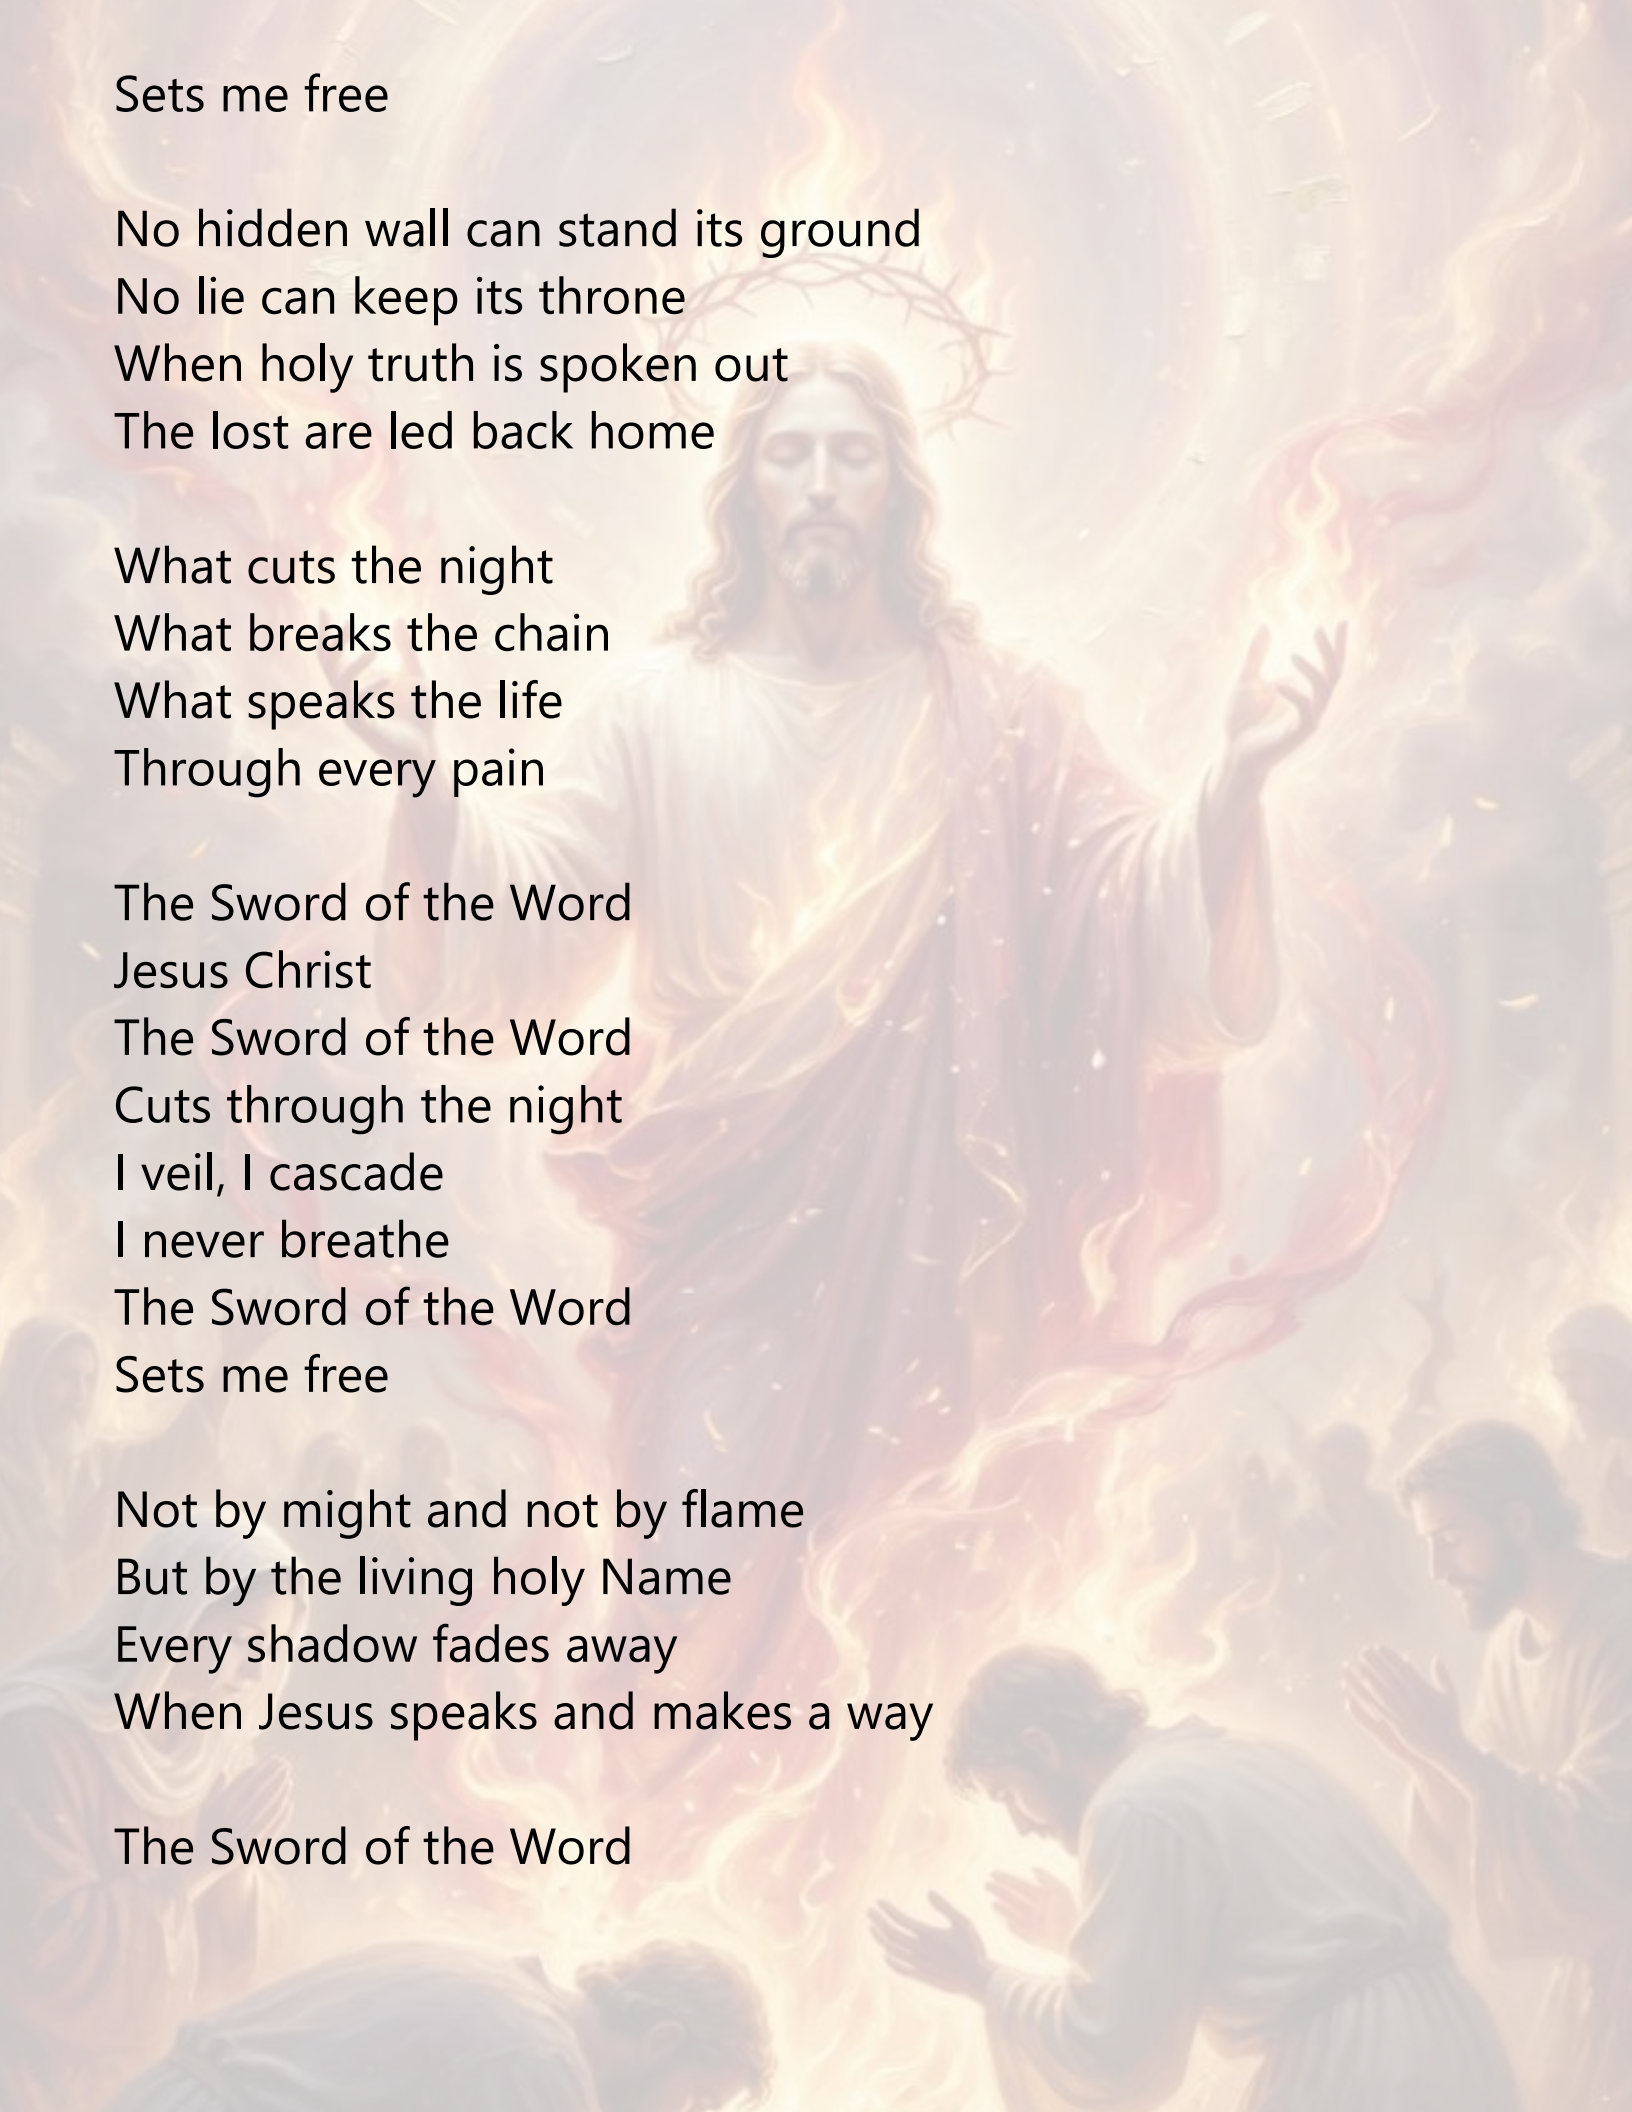

What cuts me?

The Sword of the Word — Jesus Christ.

I veil the truth in shadows deep
I cascade like a restless sea
I never breathe, I never sleep
But still the Word can cut through me

What cuts the night
What breaks the chain
What speaks the life
Through every pain

Jesus Christ
The Sword of the Word
Cuts through the night
I veil, I cascade
The Sword of the Word

Sets me free

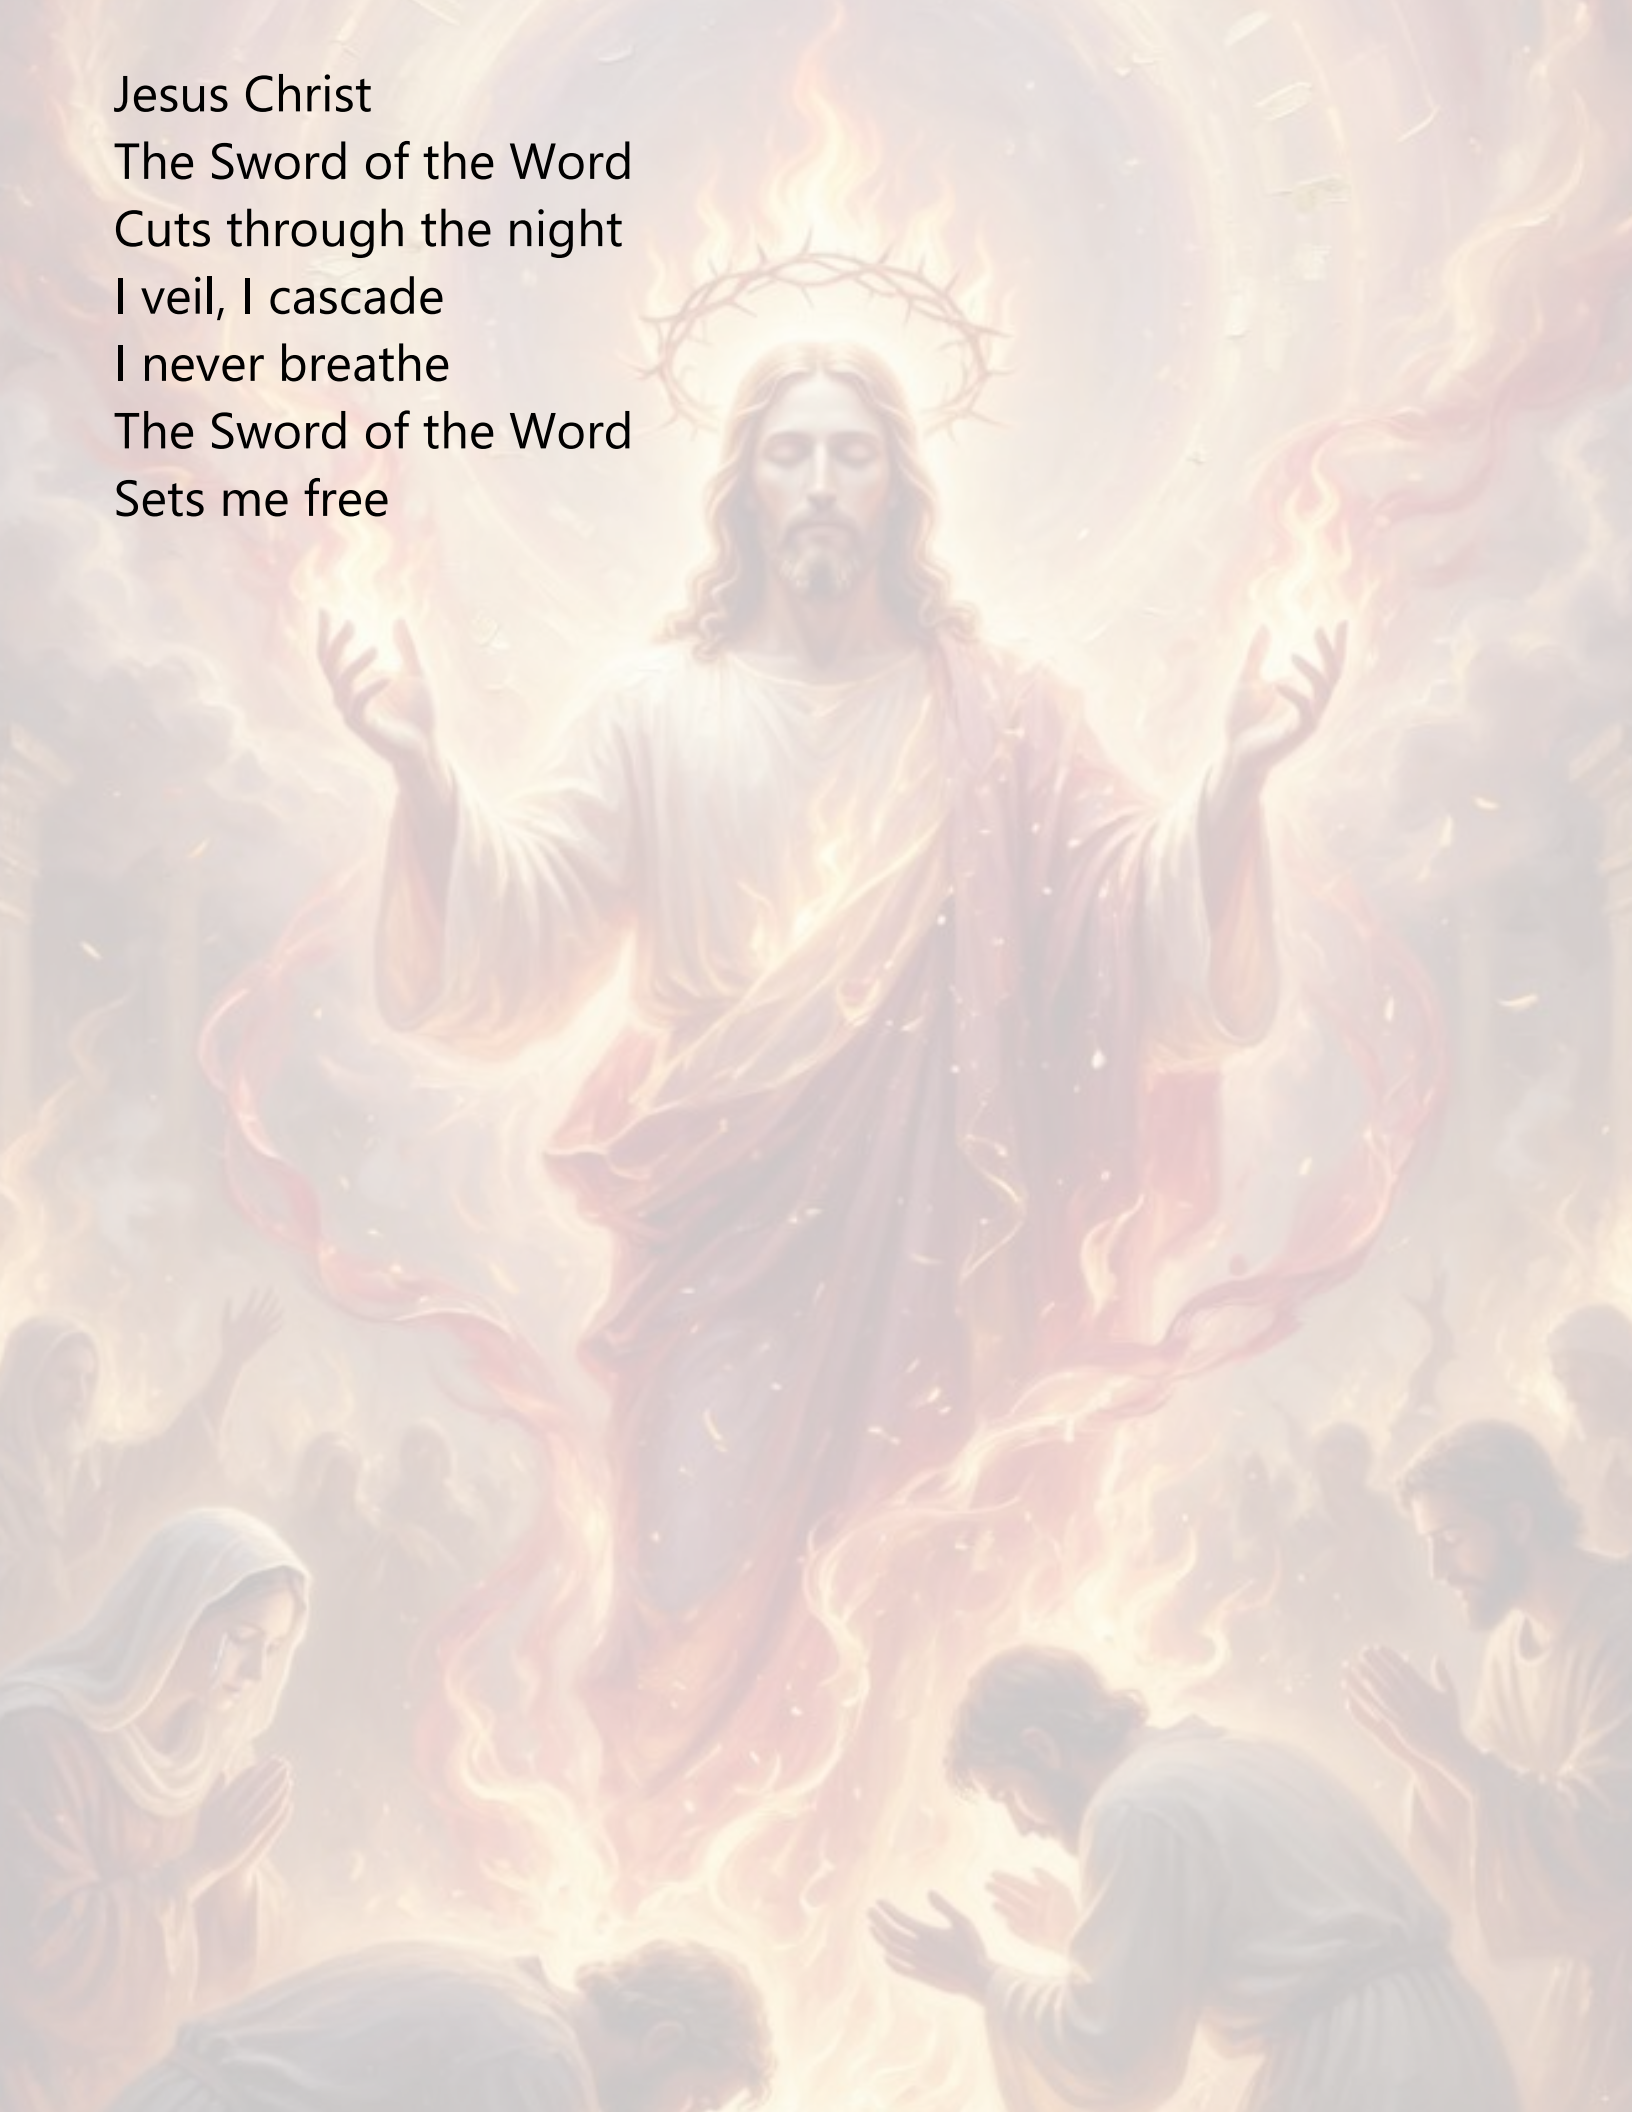

No hidden wall can stand its ground
No lie can keep its throne
When holy truth is spoken out
The lost are led back home

What cuts the night
What breaks the chain
What speaks the life

Jesus Christ
The Sword of the Word
Cuts through the night
I veil, I cascade
The Sword of the Word
Sets me free

Not by might and not by flame
But by the living holy Name
Every shadow fades away
When Jesus speaks and makes a way

Jesus Christ
The Sword of the Word
Cuts through the night
I veil, I cascade
The Sword of the Word
Sets me free

Holy Jest – The air does not pay

Holy Jest, the cascade keeper
Invoices the air at dawn
He counts each breath like silver
But the wind keeps moving on

No coin falls from the heavens
No answer breaks the blue
He lifts his hands to thunder
And hears the silence through

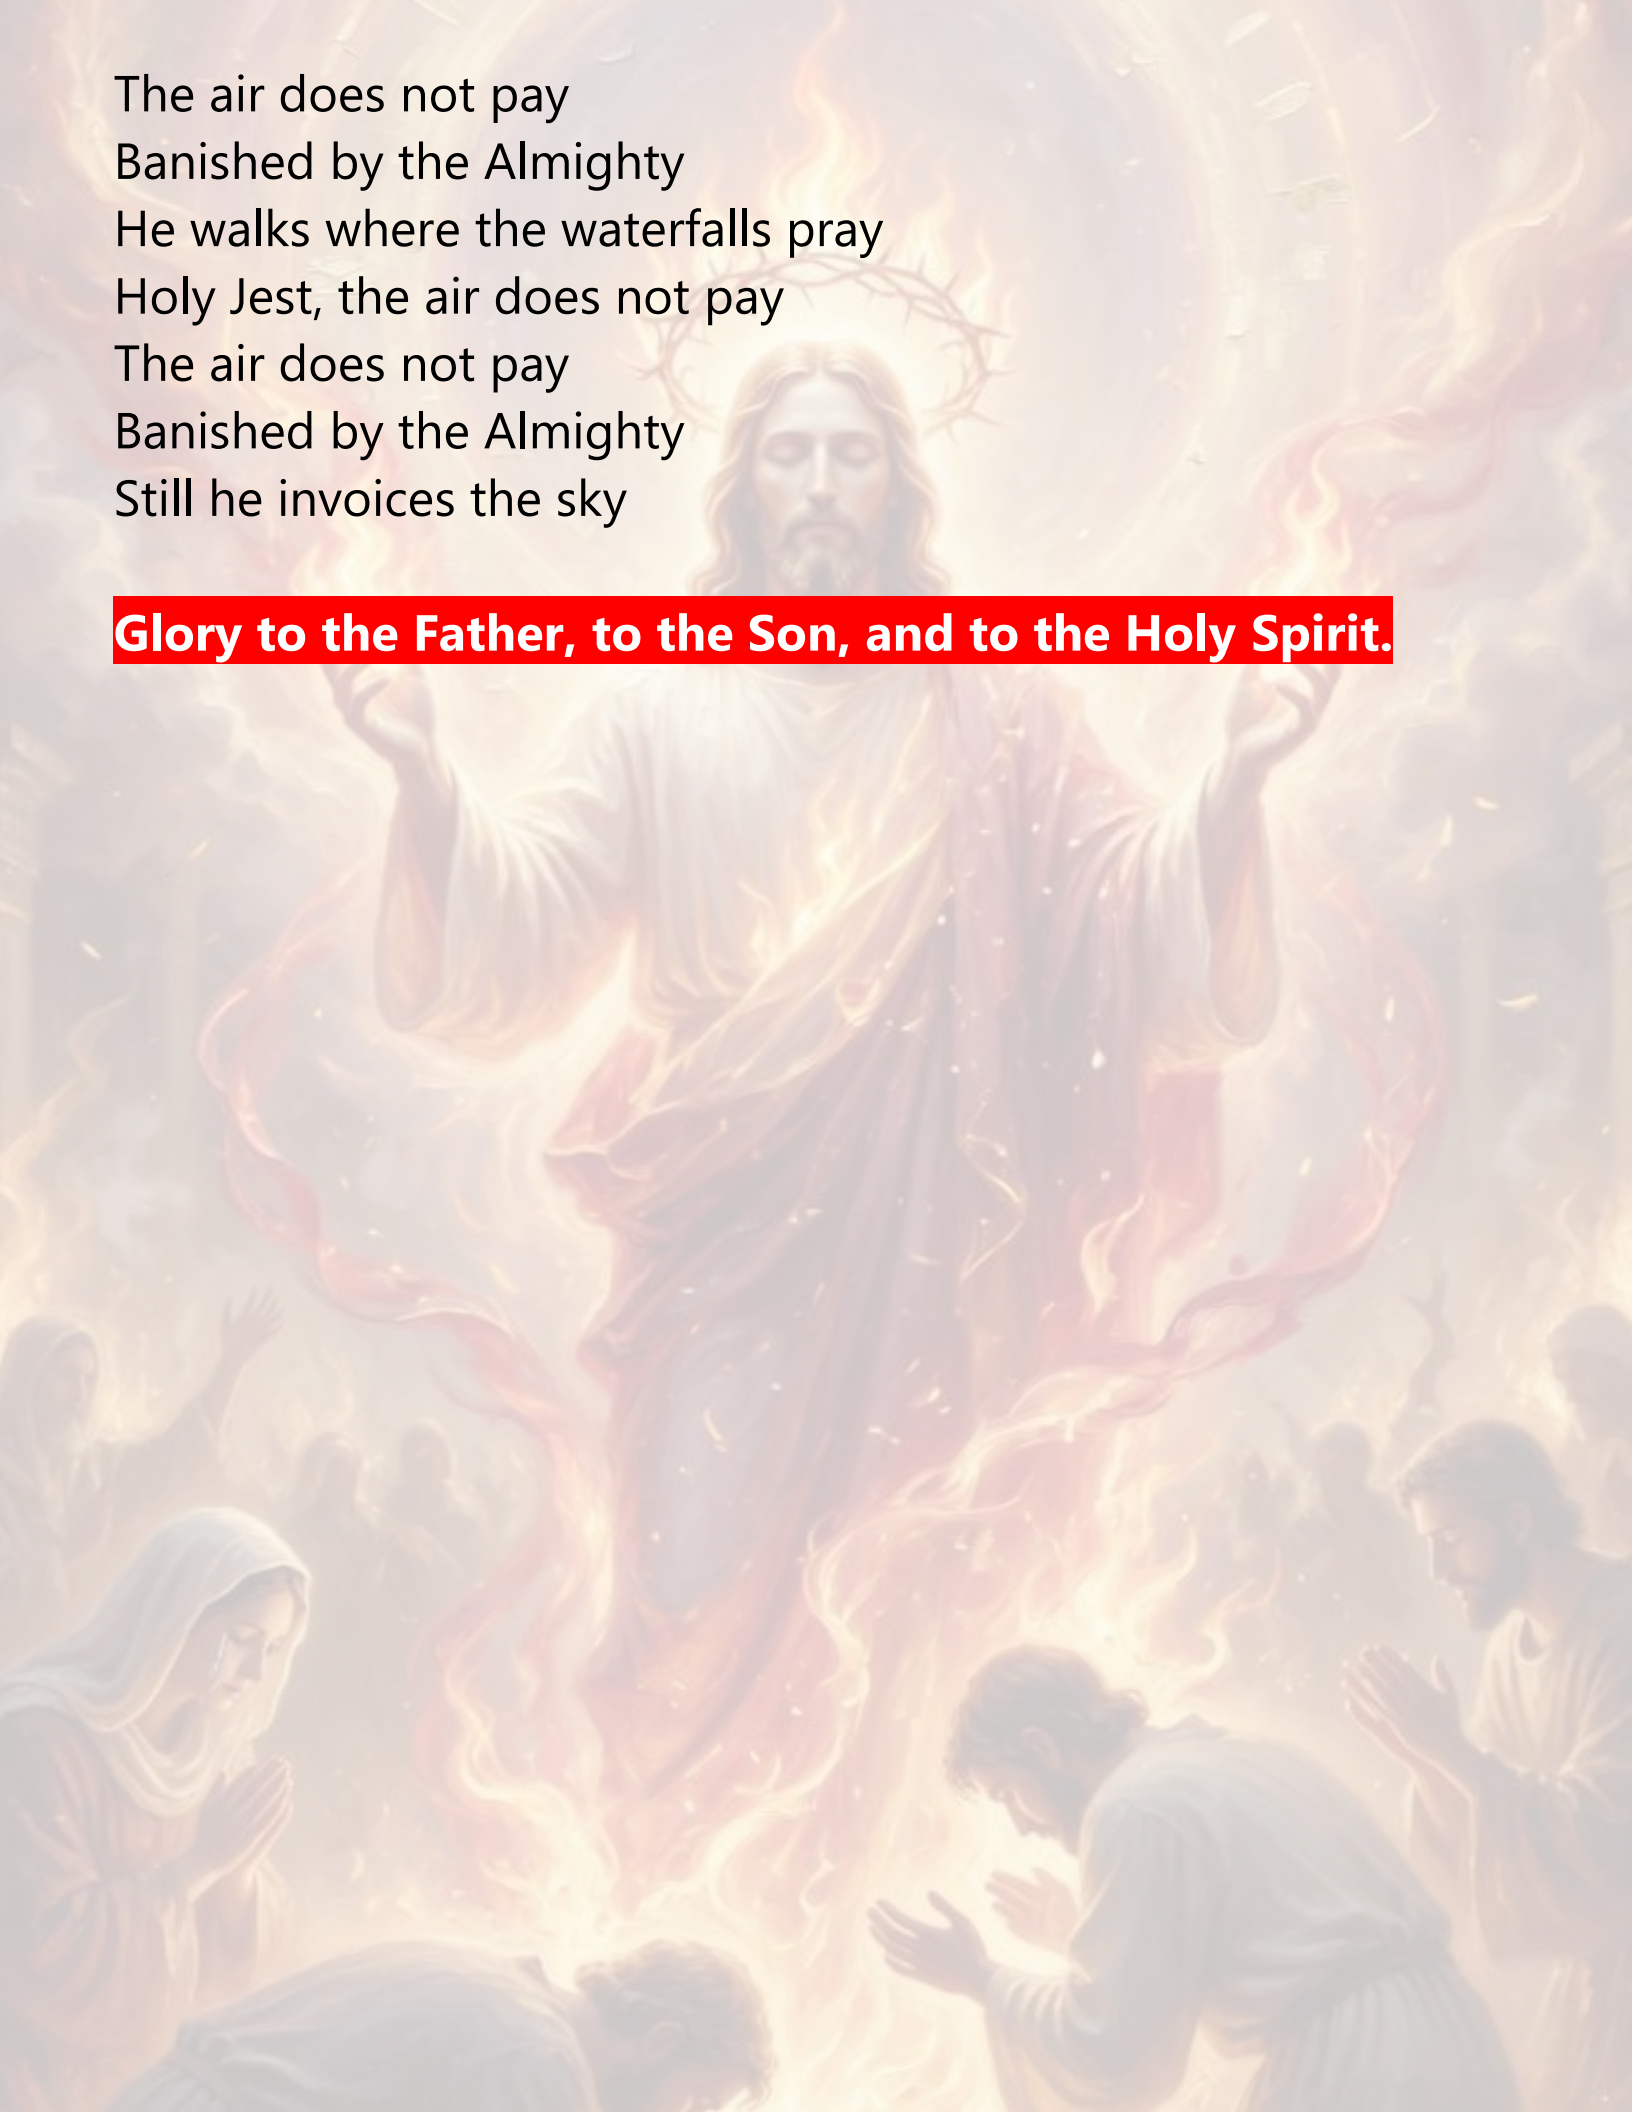

Holy Jest, the air does not pay
The air does not pay
Banished by the Almighty
He walks where the waterfalls pray
Holy Jest, the air does not pay
The air does not pay
Banished by the Almighty
Still he invoices the sky

He writes his sums on water
He seals them with a spark
The clouds erase his ledger
And leave him in the dark

Holy Jest, the air does not pay

The air does not pay
Banished by the Almighty
He walks where the waterfalls pray
Holy Jest, the air does not pay
The air does not pay
Banished by the Almighty
Still he invoices the sky

Glory to the Father, to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.

Remnant Symphony - Air / Veil / Cascade / Throne.

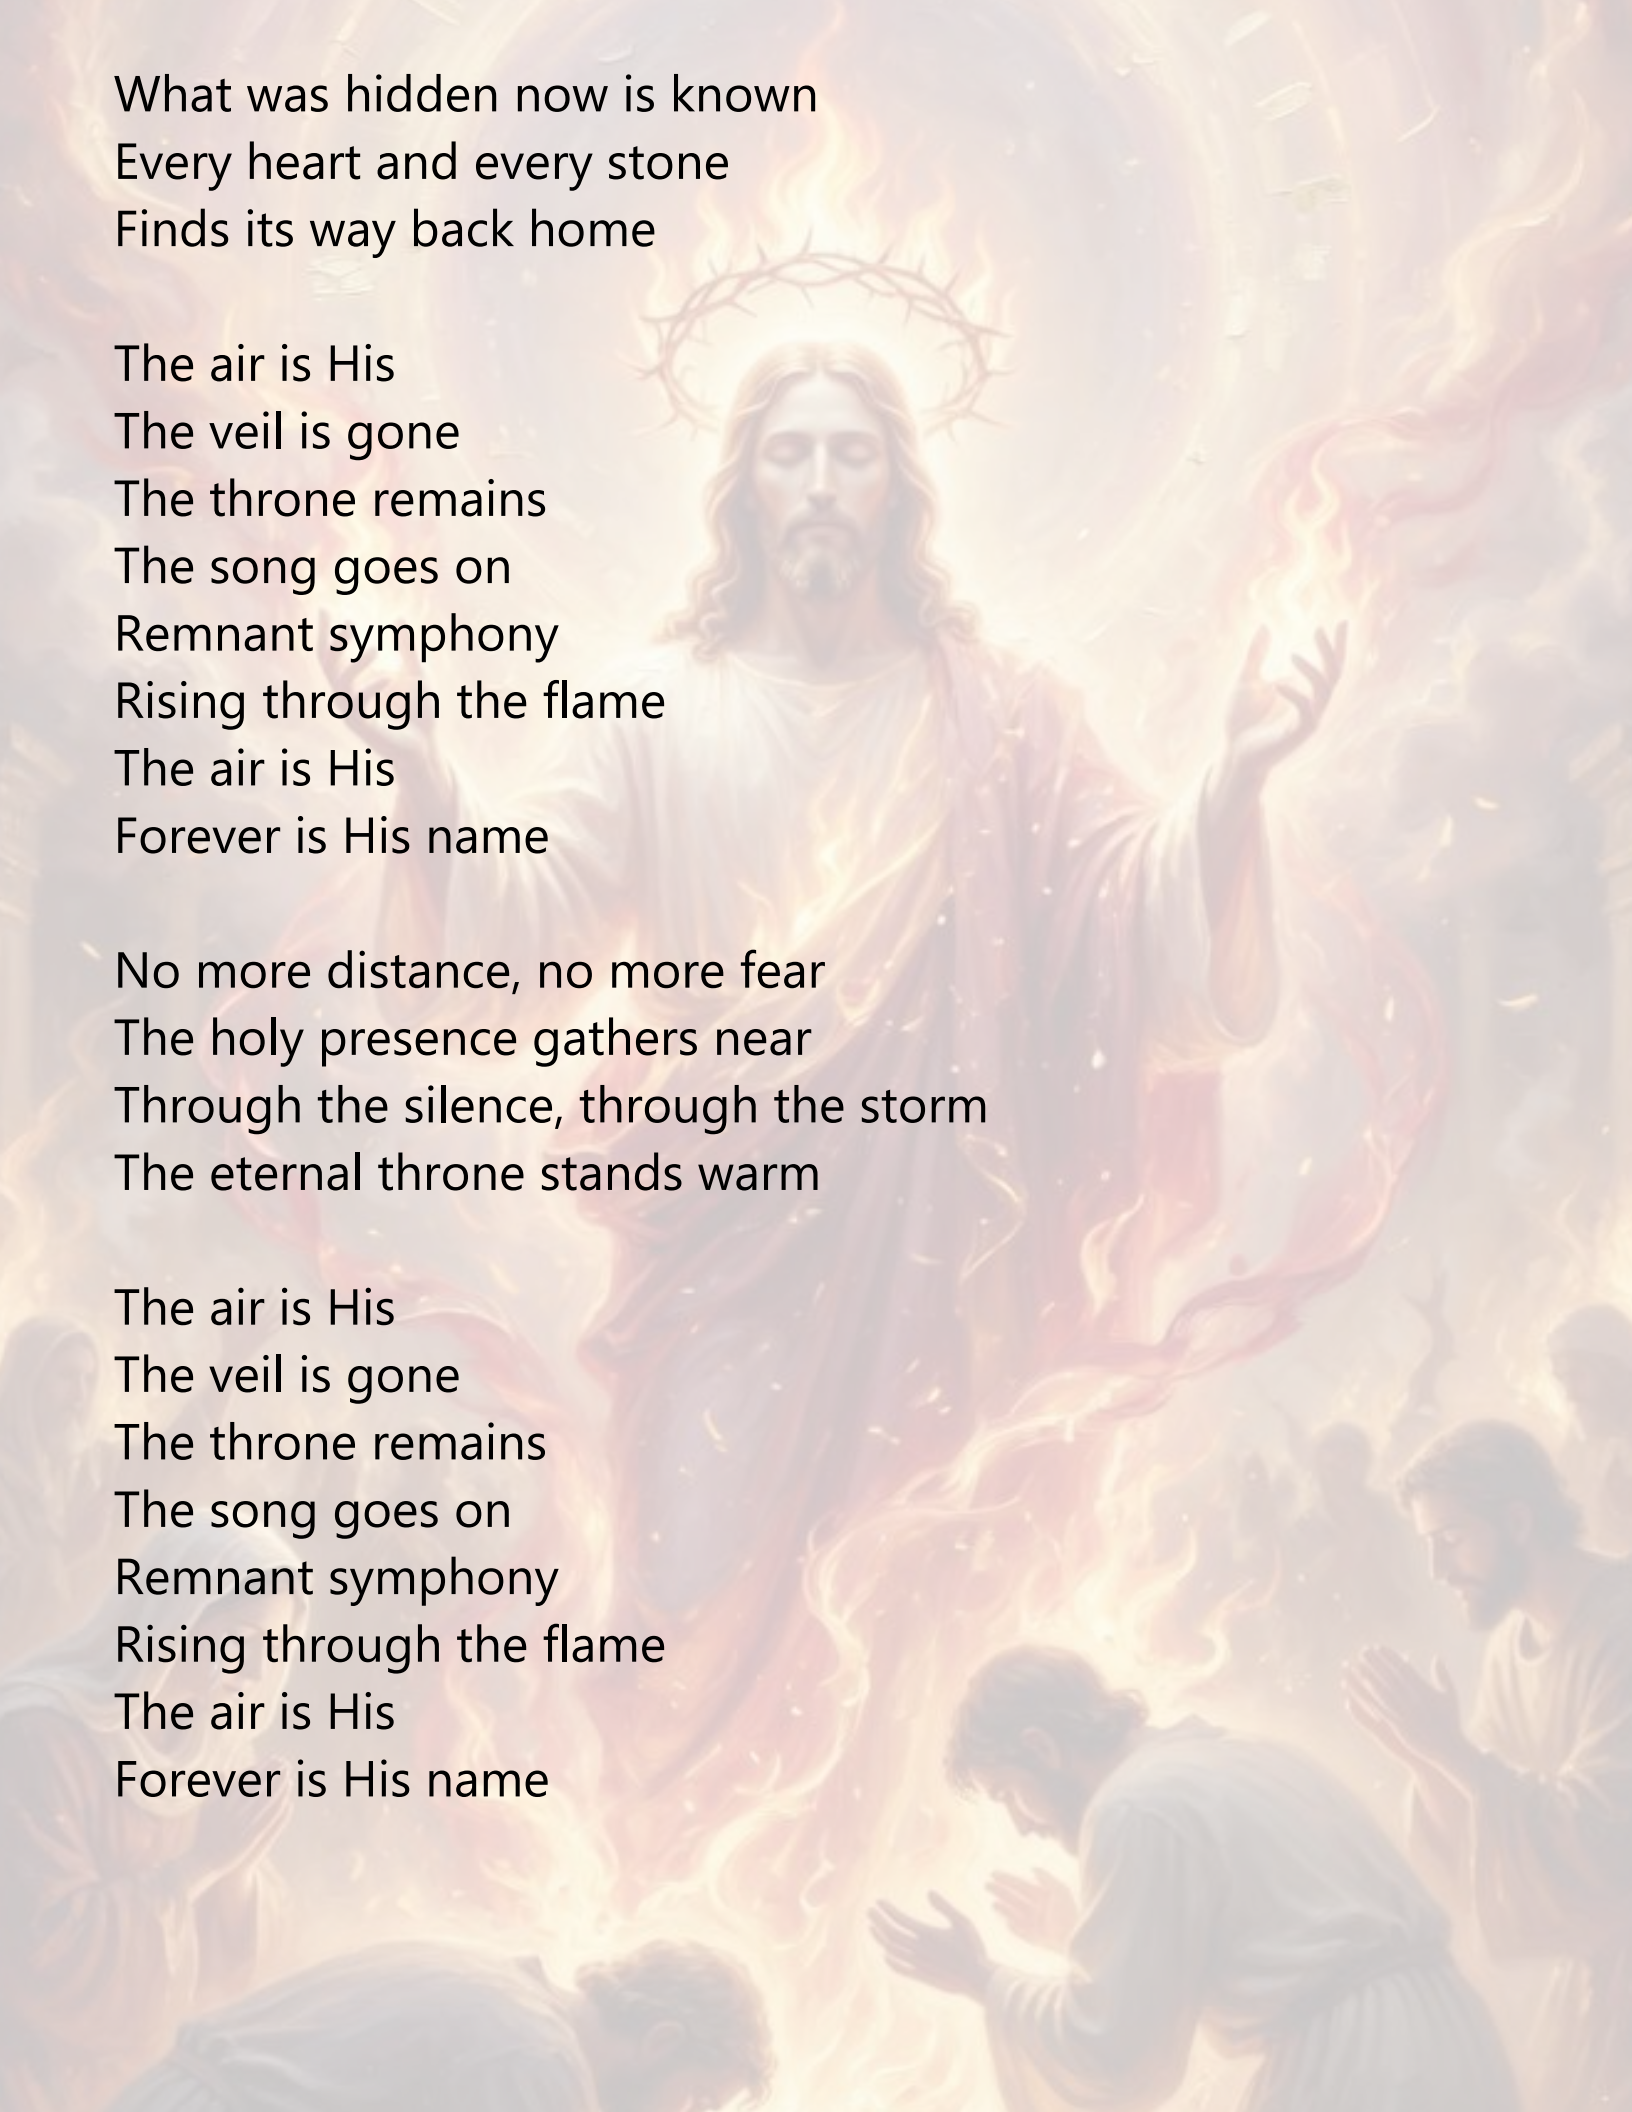

Remnant symphony in the air
A living breath is everywhere
The veil once held us far apart
Now open light can reach the heart

Air and veil, cascade and throne
What was hidden now is known
Every shadow fades away
As the night gives birth to day

The air is His
The veil is gone
The throne remains
The song goes on
Remnant symphony
Rising through the flame
The air is His
Forever is His name

A cascade pours from heights unseen
Washing every wound clean
The broken dust begins to shine
Under a glory not confined

Air and veil, cascade and throne

What was hidden now is known
Every heart and every stone
Finds its way back home

The air is His
The veil is gone
The throne remains
The song goes on
Remnant symphony
Rising through the flame
The air is His
Forever is His name

No more distance, no more fear
The holy presence gathers near Through the silence, through the storm
The eternal throne stands warm

The air is His
The veil is gone
The throne remains
The song goes on
Remnant symphony
Rising through the flame
The air is His

Short Story

They hung a veil and called the air empty. The air did not invoice. A cascade keeper filed a claim. The remnant stayed. Jesus keeps the air.

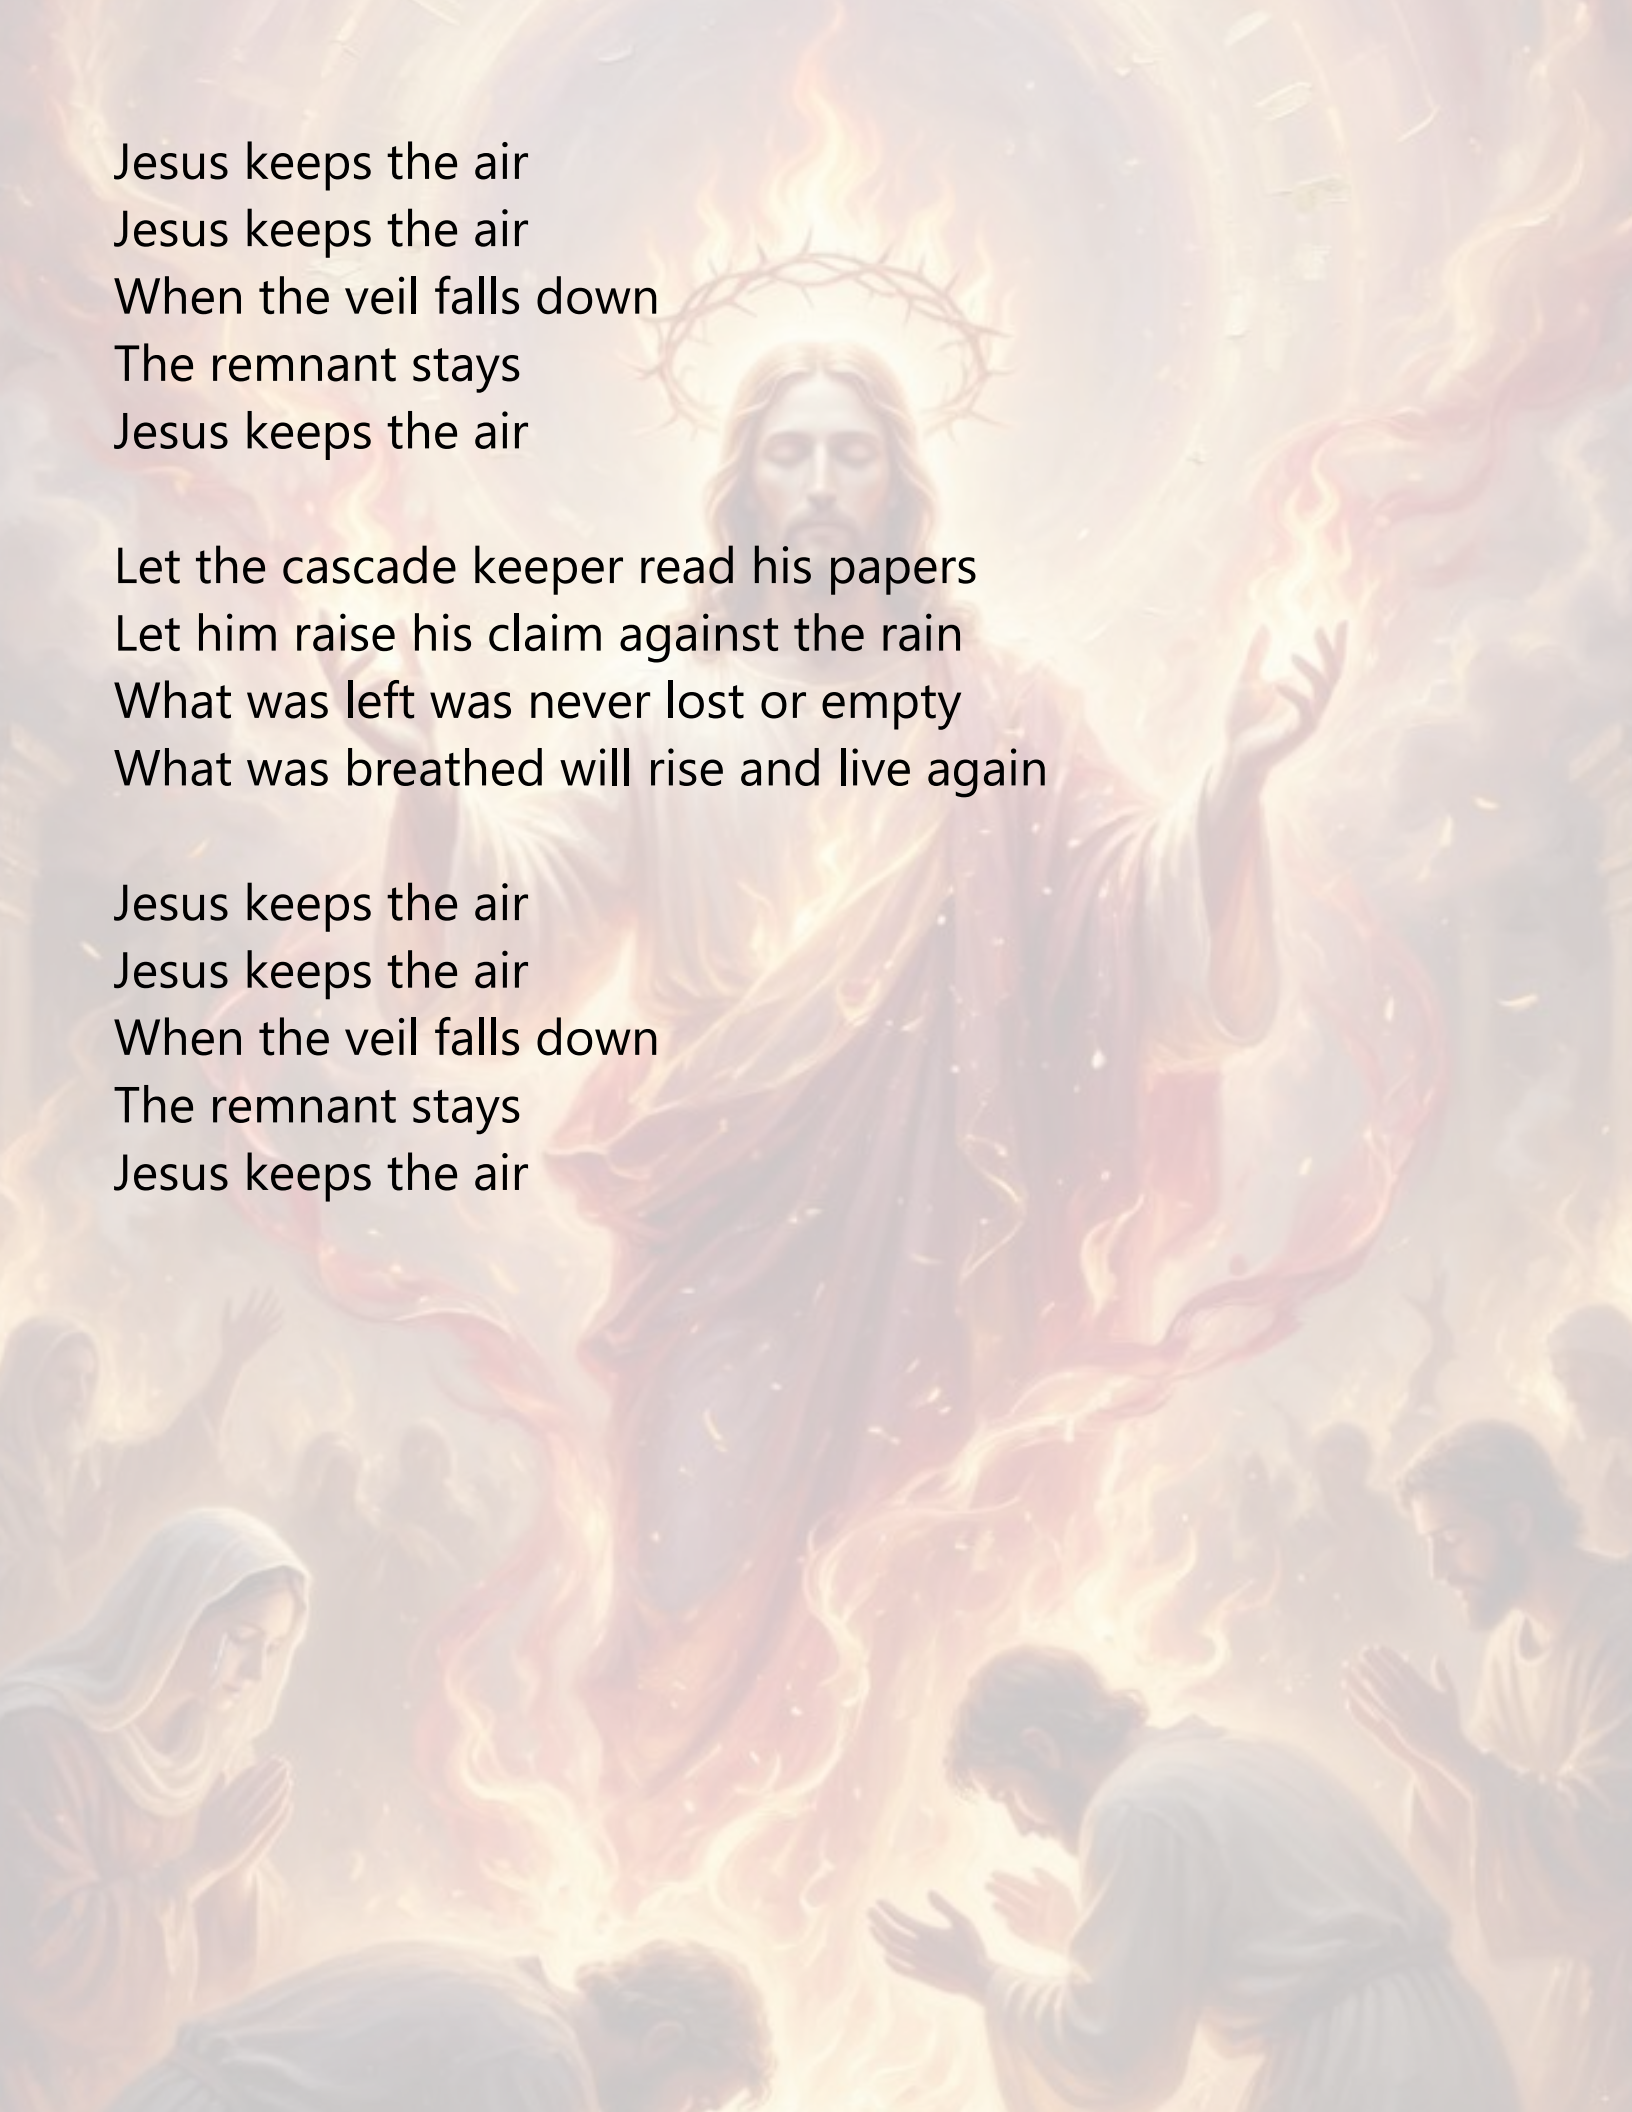

They hung a veil and called the air empty
But the air did not invoice a soul
A cascade keeper filed a claim in silence
While the remnant waited beneath it all

No paper could measure what the breath remembers
No hand could own what the heavens gave

Jesus keeps the air
Jesus keeps the air
When the veil falls down
The remnant stays
Jesus keeps the air

They counted the hollow and named it nothing
They sealed every window and guarded the room
But a quiet wind moved through the distance
And carried the dust toward a living bloom

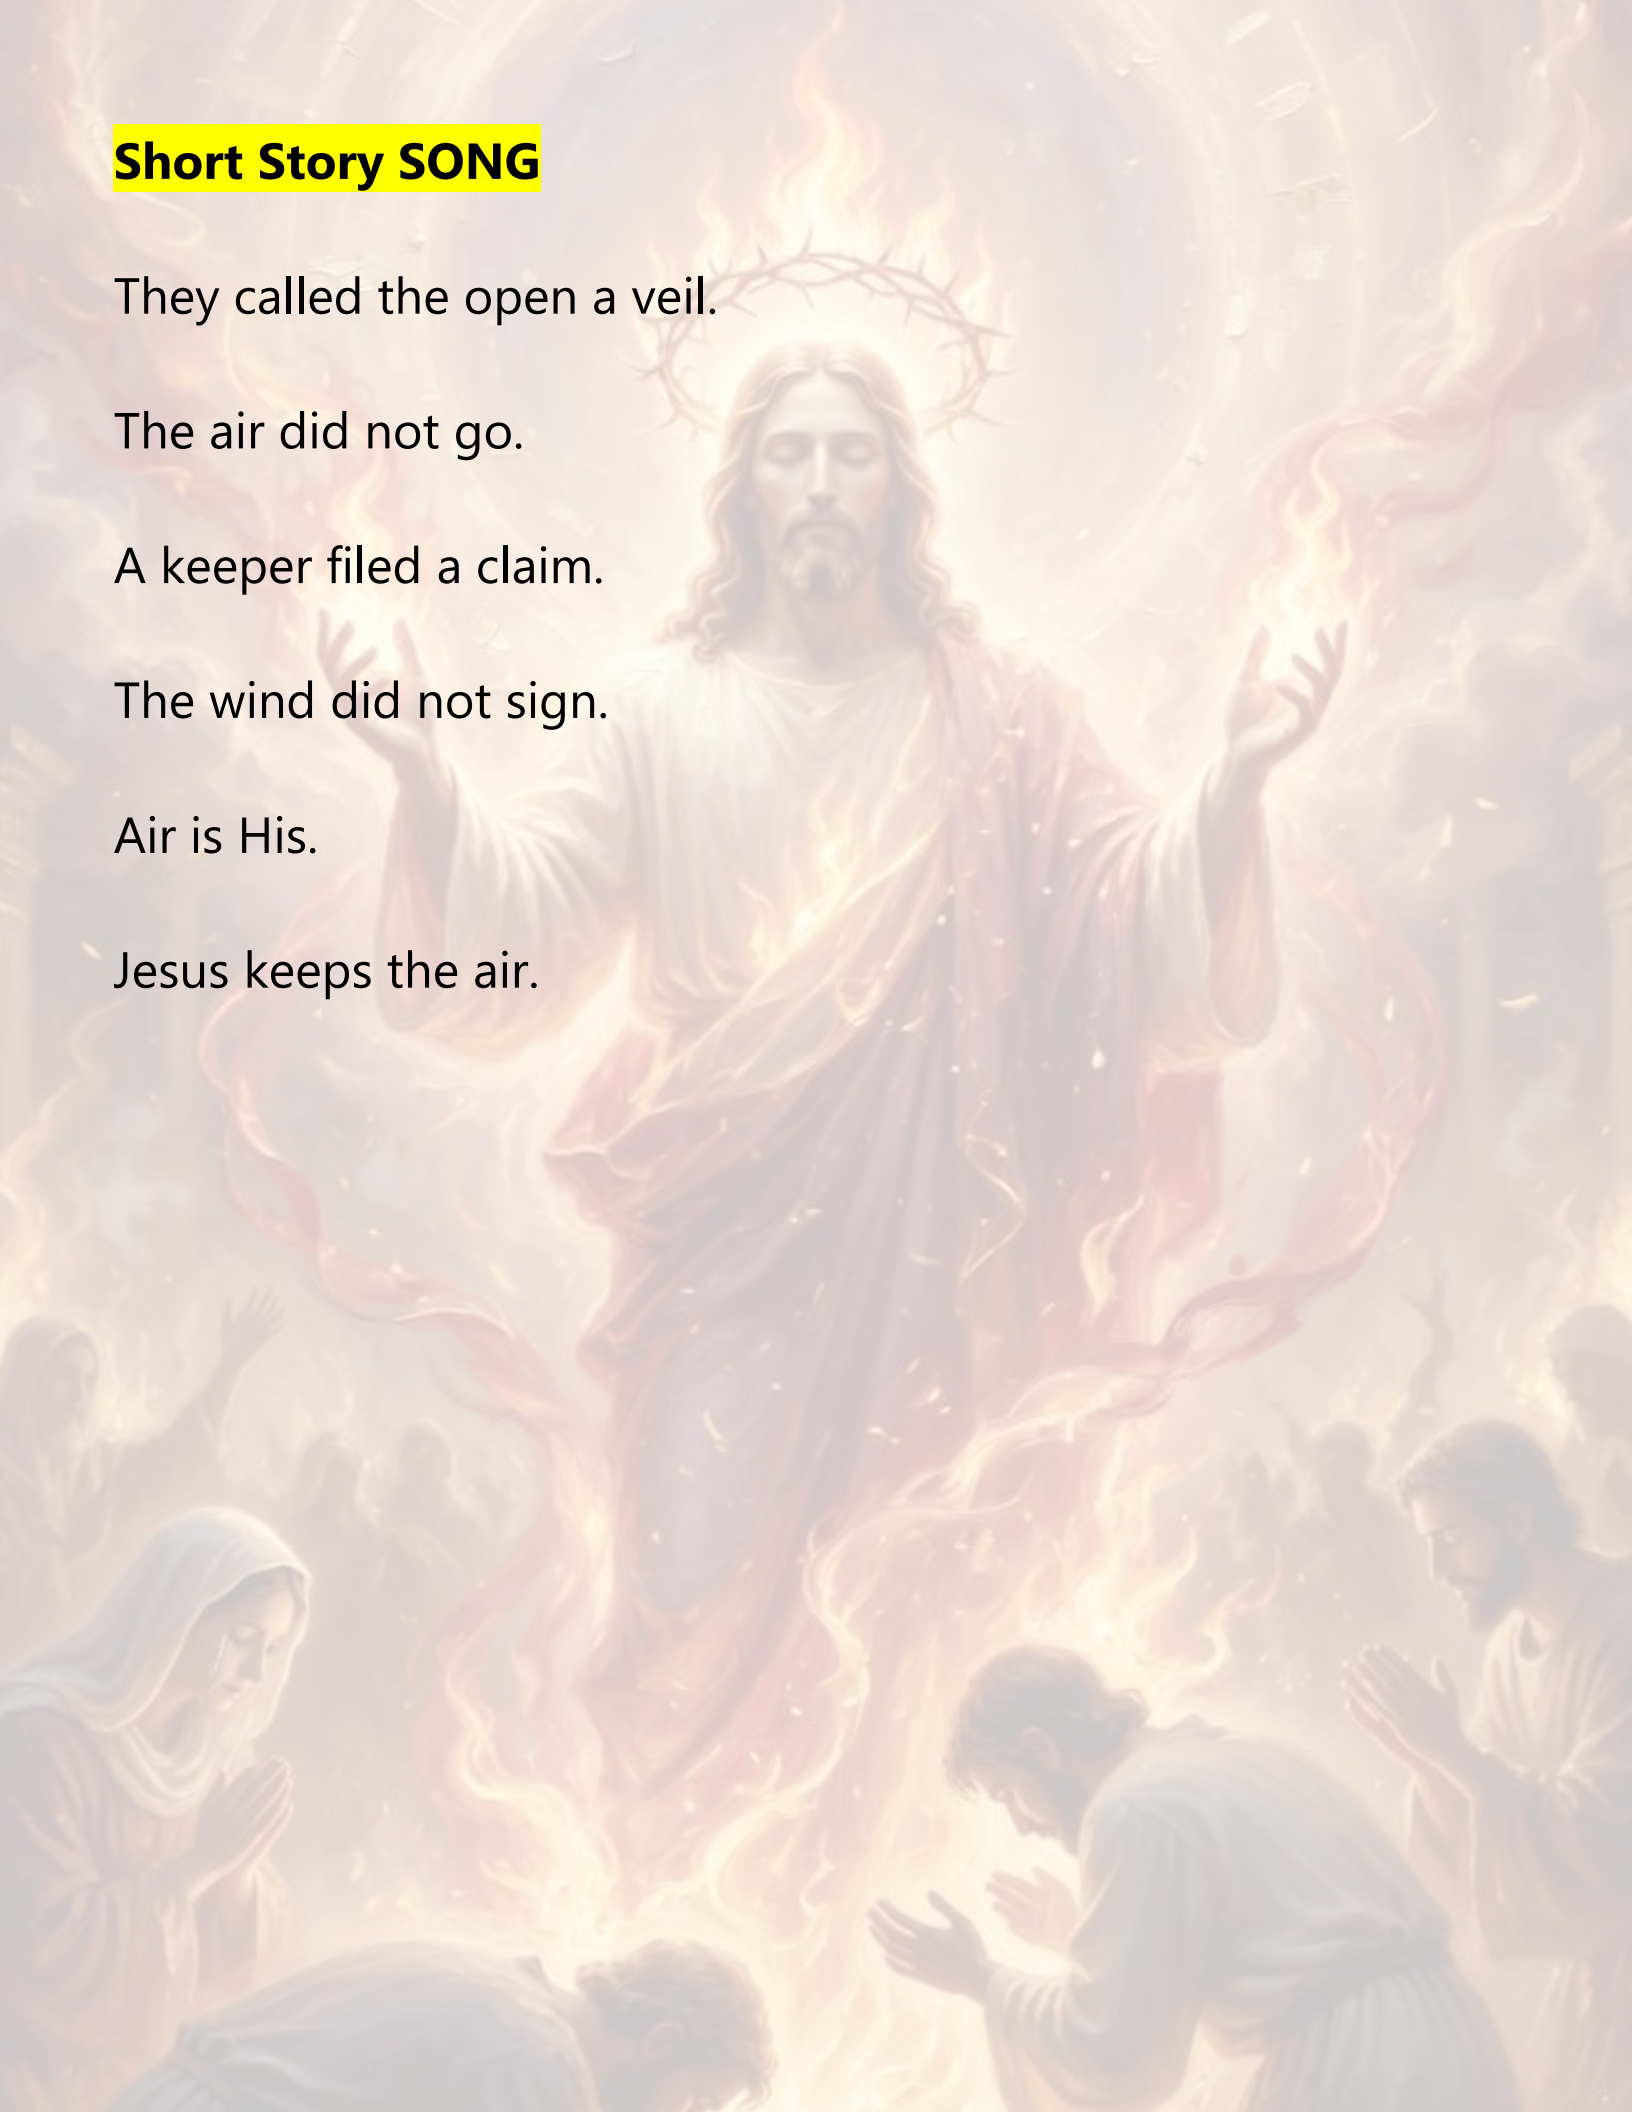

No claim can purchase the breath of morning
No law can make the open sky obey

Jesus keeps the air
Jesus keeps the air
When the veil falls down
The remnant stays
Jesus keeps the air

Let the cascade keeper read his papers
Let him raise his claim against the rain
What was left was never lost or empty
What was breathed will rise and live again

Jesus keeps the air
Jesus keeps the air
When the veil falls down
The remnant stays
Jesus keeps the air

Story Song

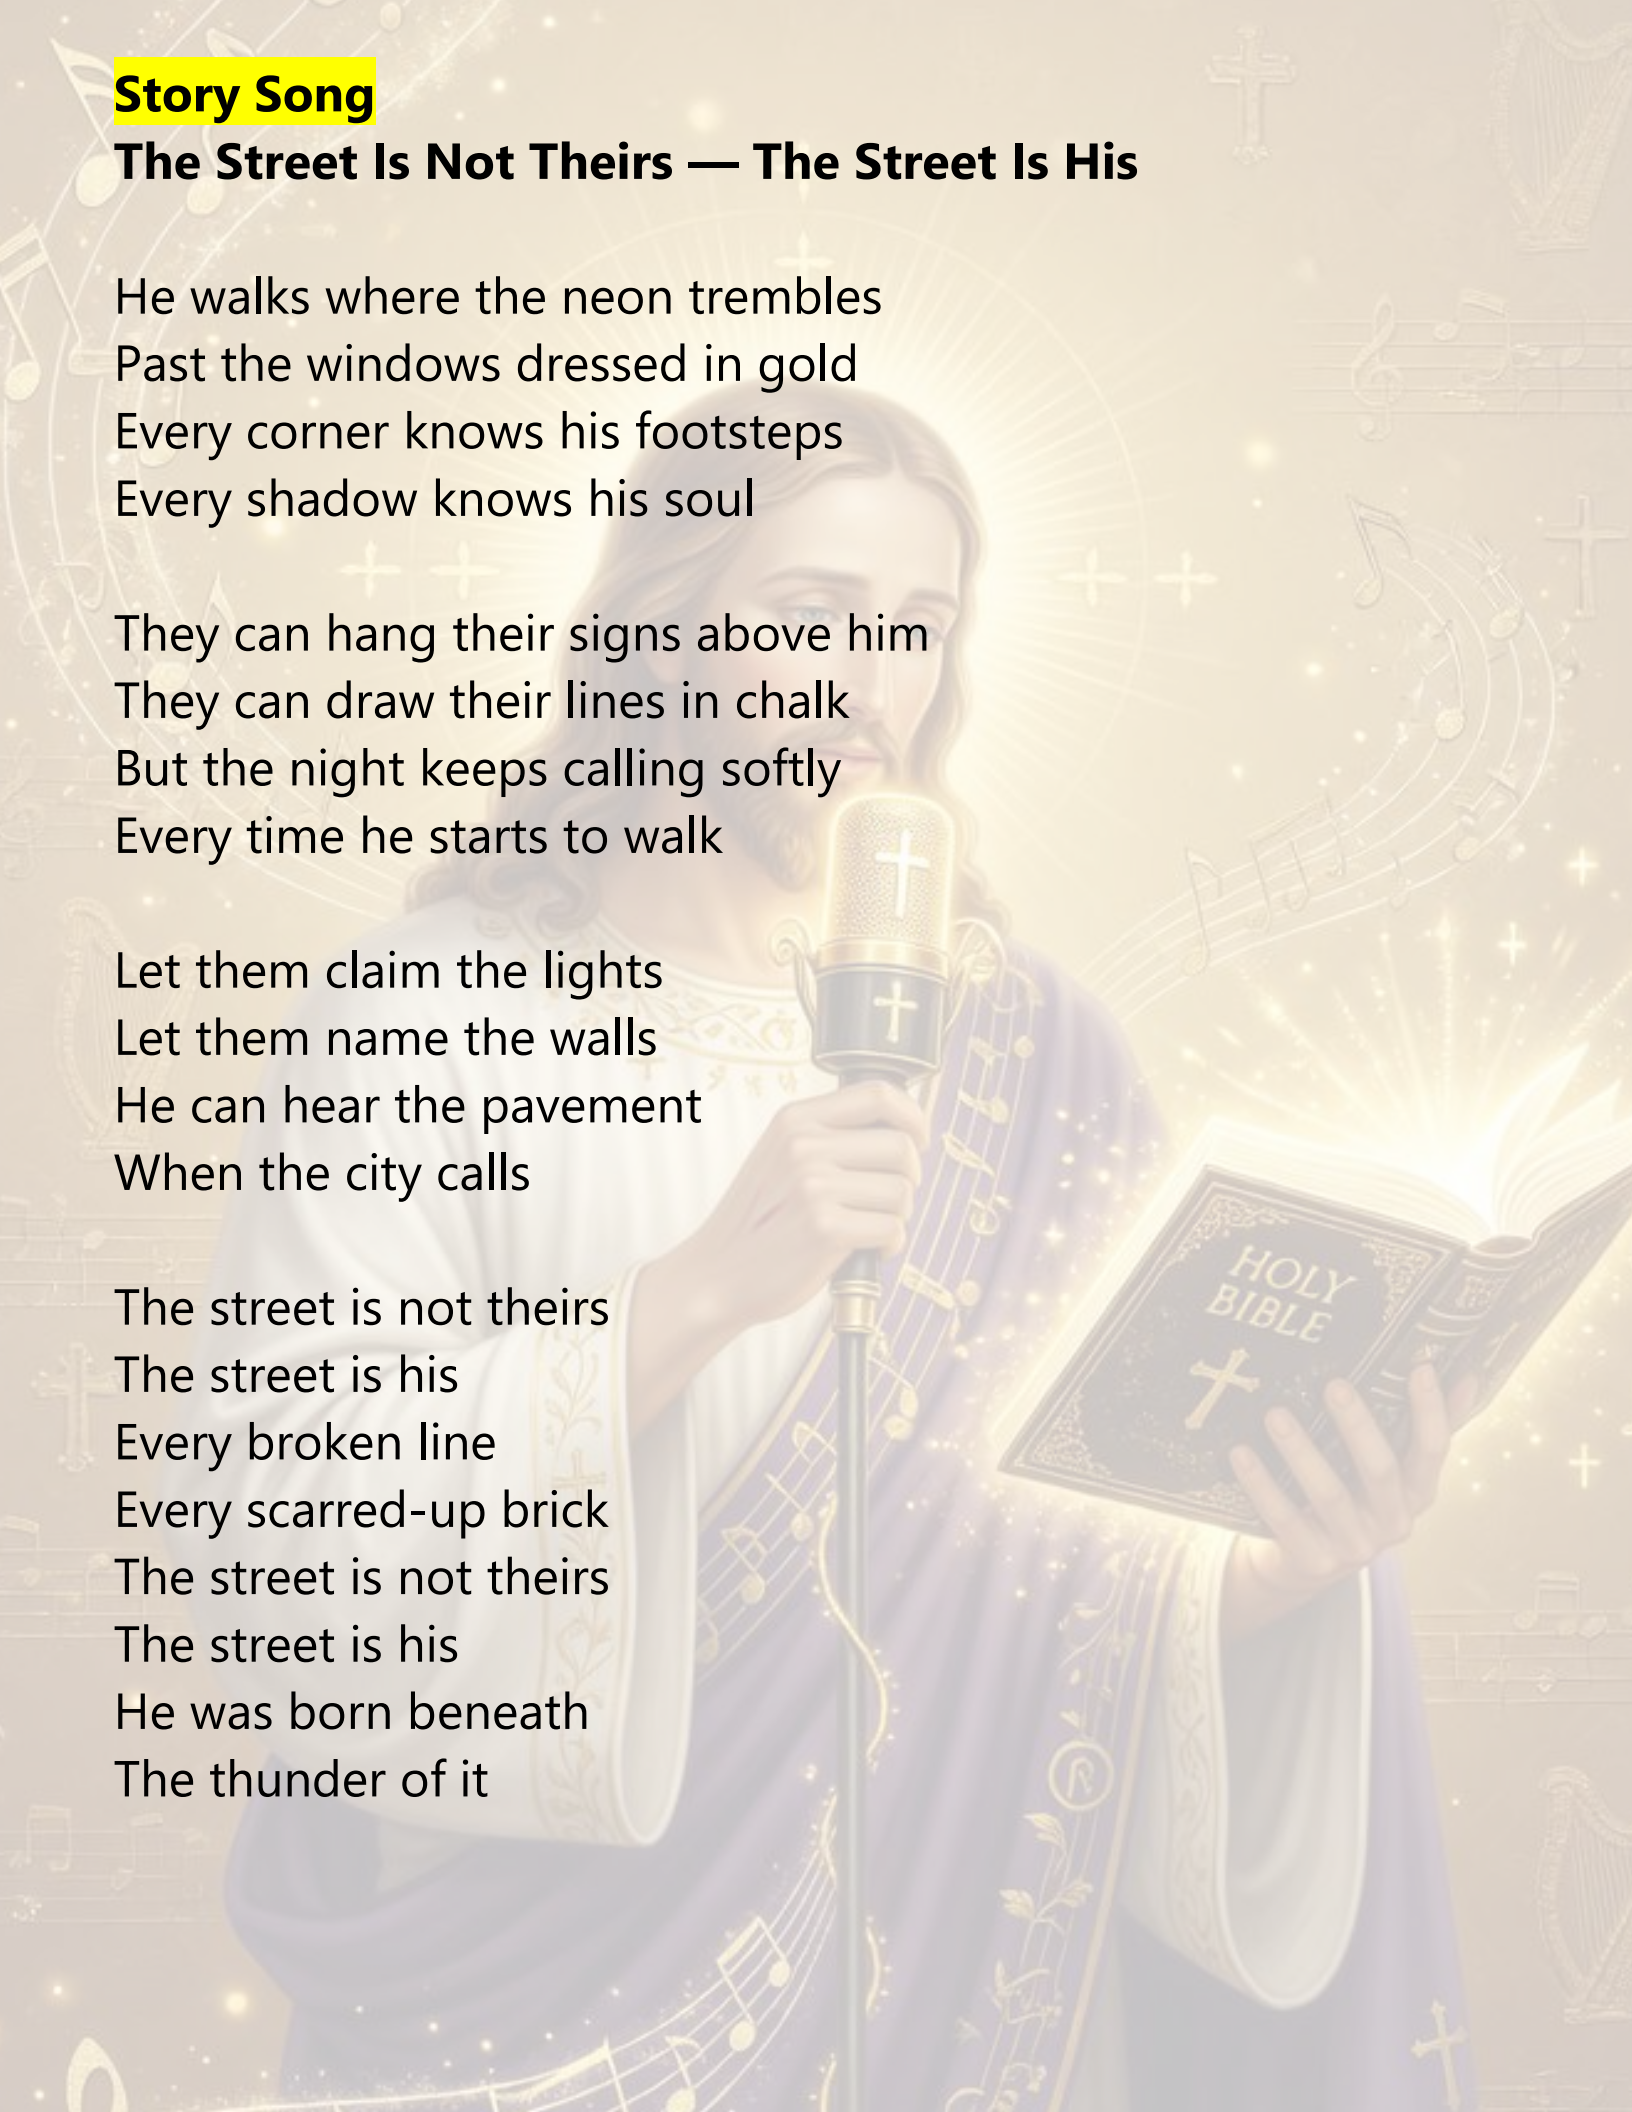

The Street Is Not Theirs — The Street Is His

He walks where the neon trembles
Past the windows dressed in gold
Every corner knows his footsteps
Every shadow knows his soul

They can hang their signs above him
They can draw their lines in chalk
But the night keeps calling softly
Every time he starts to walk

Let them claim the lights
Let them name the walls
He can hear the pavement
When the city calls

The street is not theirs
The street is his
Every broken line
Every scarred-up brick
The street is not theirs
The street is his
He was born beneath
The thunder of it

Rain comes down like loose confession
Sirens bloom and fade away
He keeps moving through the pressure
He keeps something they can't take

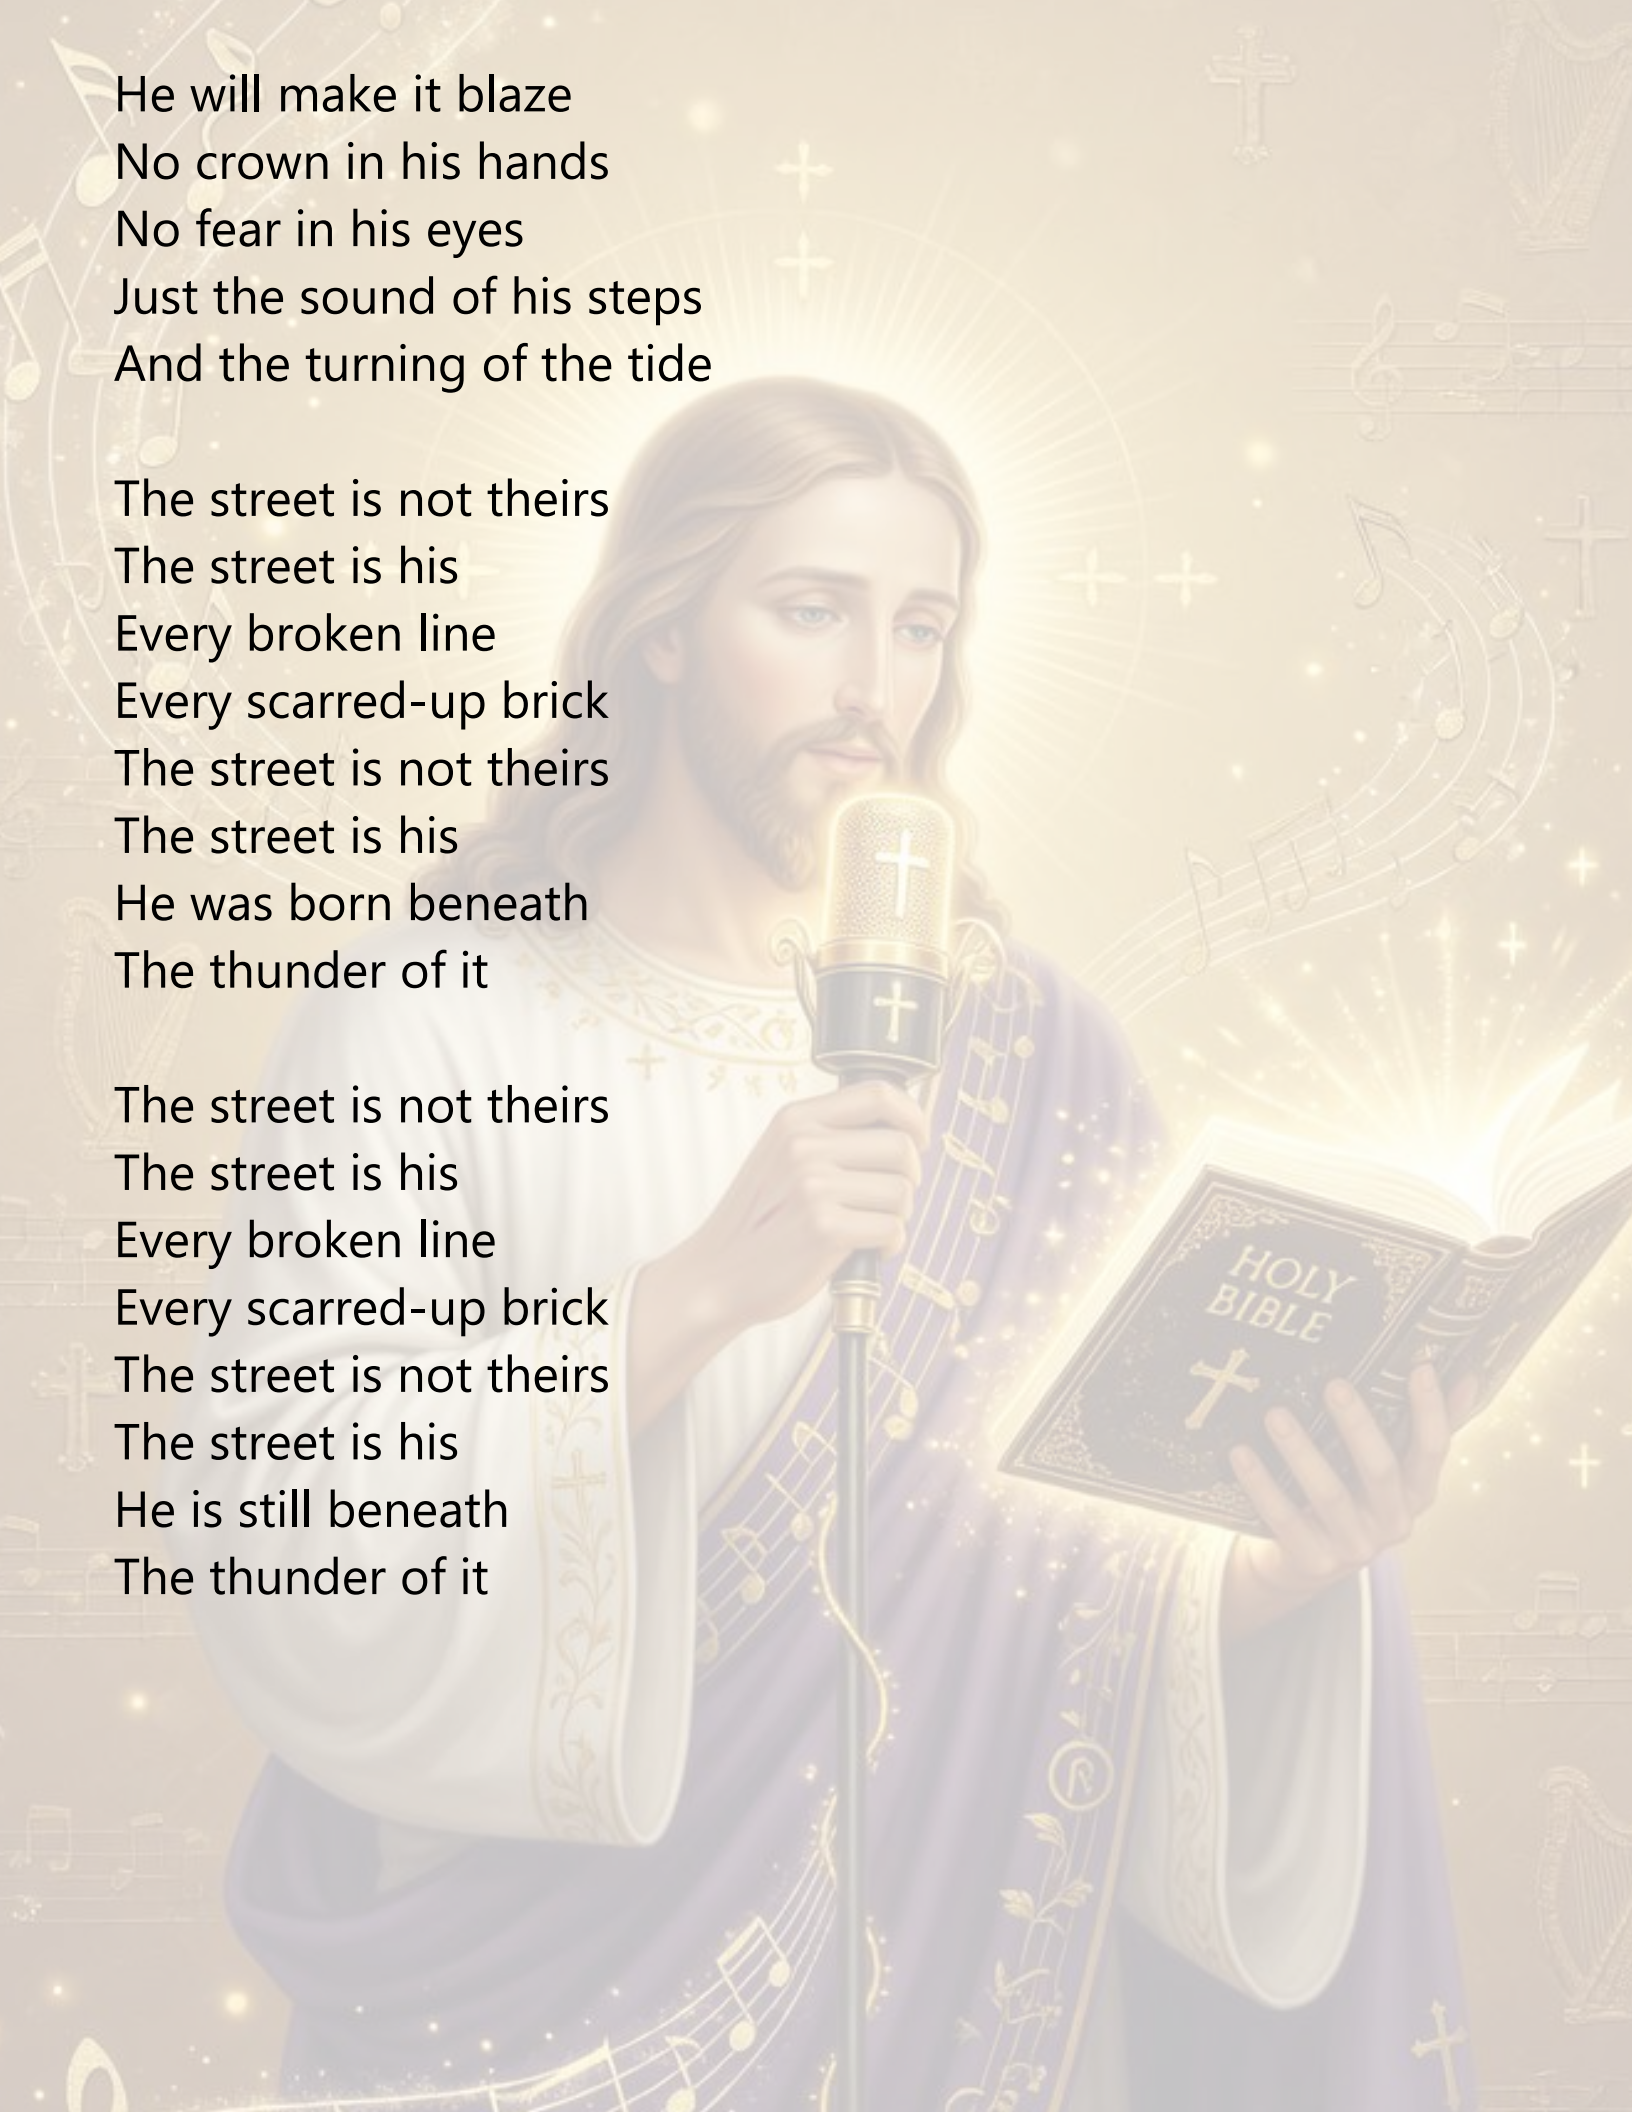

There are faces in the doorways
There are ghosts beneath the signs
But he carries every heartbeat
Like a spark against the night

Let them claim the lights
Let them name the walls
He can hear the pavement
When the city calls

The street is not theirs
The street is his
Every broken line
Every scarred-up brick
The street is not theirs
The street is his
He was born beneath
The thunder of it

If they lock the gates
He will find a way
If they flood the road

He will make it blaze
No crown in his hands
No fear in his eyes
Just the sound of his steps
And the turning of the tide

The street is not theirs
The street is his
Every broken line
Every scarred-up brick
The street is not theirs
The street is his
He was born beneath
The thunder of it

The street is not theirs
The street is his
Every broken line
Every scarred-up brick
The street is not theirs
The street is his
He is still beneath
The thunder of it

Parable- The Street That Could Not Be Rented

They walked the street beneath the open sky
The Son of Man spoke, and the years went by
No hand could claim what the morning gave
No door could hold what the people craved
The ground stayed still beneath their feet
A road for the lost, a place to meet
They asked who owned the dust and stone
The silence answered, no one alone

What can be bought, what can be bound
When heaven leaves its footsteps on the ground

The street could not be rented
The street could not be sold
The Son of Man was walking
Where every heart was told
The ground stayed, the ground stayed
While kingdoms came and went
The street could not be rented
The gift was never meant

They walked past walls with names above the doors
Past locked-up hearts and guarded floors
The Son of Man spoke low and plain

No life is yours to own or chain
The poor stood waiting in the rain
The rich held tight to empty claims
But under all their gold and stone
The earth kept singing, I am not your own

When heaven leaves its footsteps on the ground

The street could not be rented
The street could not be sold
The Son of Man was walking
Where every heart was told
The ground stayed, the ground stayed
While kingdoms came and went
The street could not be rented
The gift was never meant

Walk it gently, walk it true
Leave a little room for someone new
No deed can hold it, no crown can stay
The road keeps opening anyway

The street could not be rented
The street could not be sold
The Son of Man was walking
Where every heart was told

The ground stayed, the ground stayed
While kingdoms came and went
The street could not be rented

The Street Is His

Psalm in the dust where the cold winds blow
The street is His and the lost ones know
They bill the ground for the steps we take
They count our breath for the bread we break

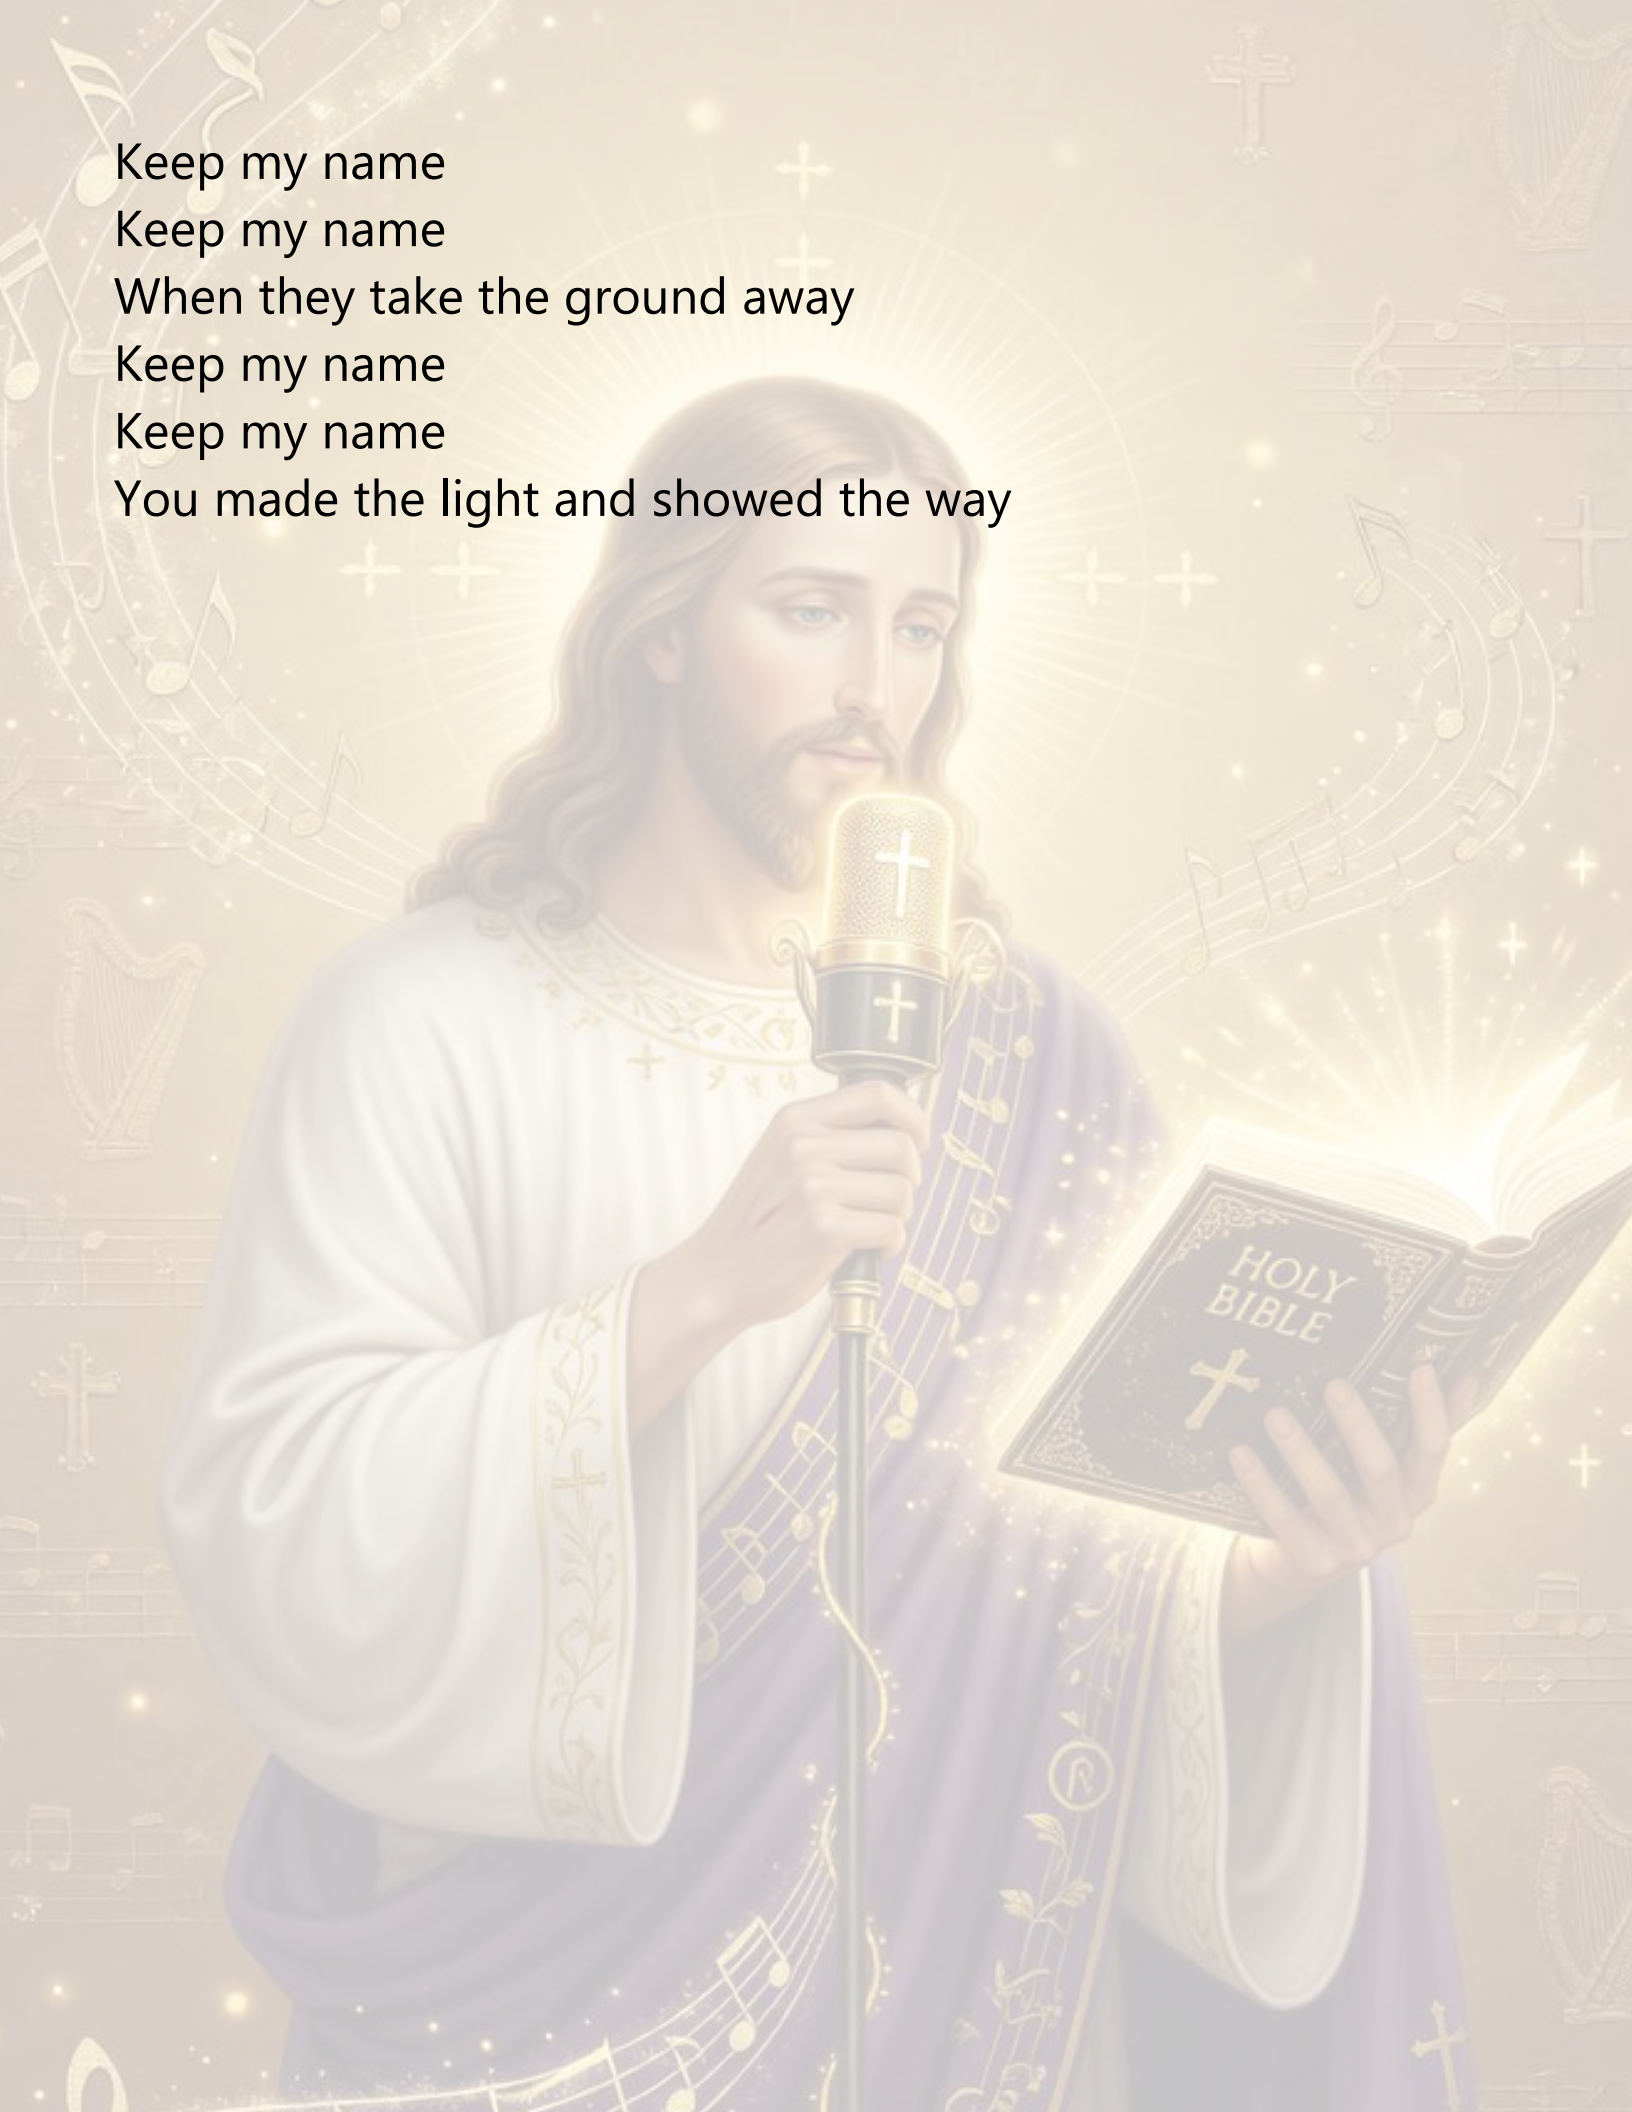

You made the light before the dawn
Hold me close when the night comes on

Keep my name
Keep my name
When they take the ground away
Keep my name
Keep my name
You made the light and showed the way

The street is His beneath our feet
Still they sell the rain and number every street
They raise their walls, they lock the sky
But no one owns the fire inside

If I go quiet, call me back
Write my name along the black
Let every stone and window frame
Remember who I was, keep my name

Keep my name
Keep my name
When they take the ground away
Keep my name
Keep my name
You made the light and showed the way

Proverbs- A street vortex is still a boast

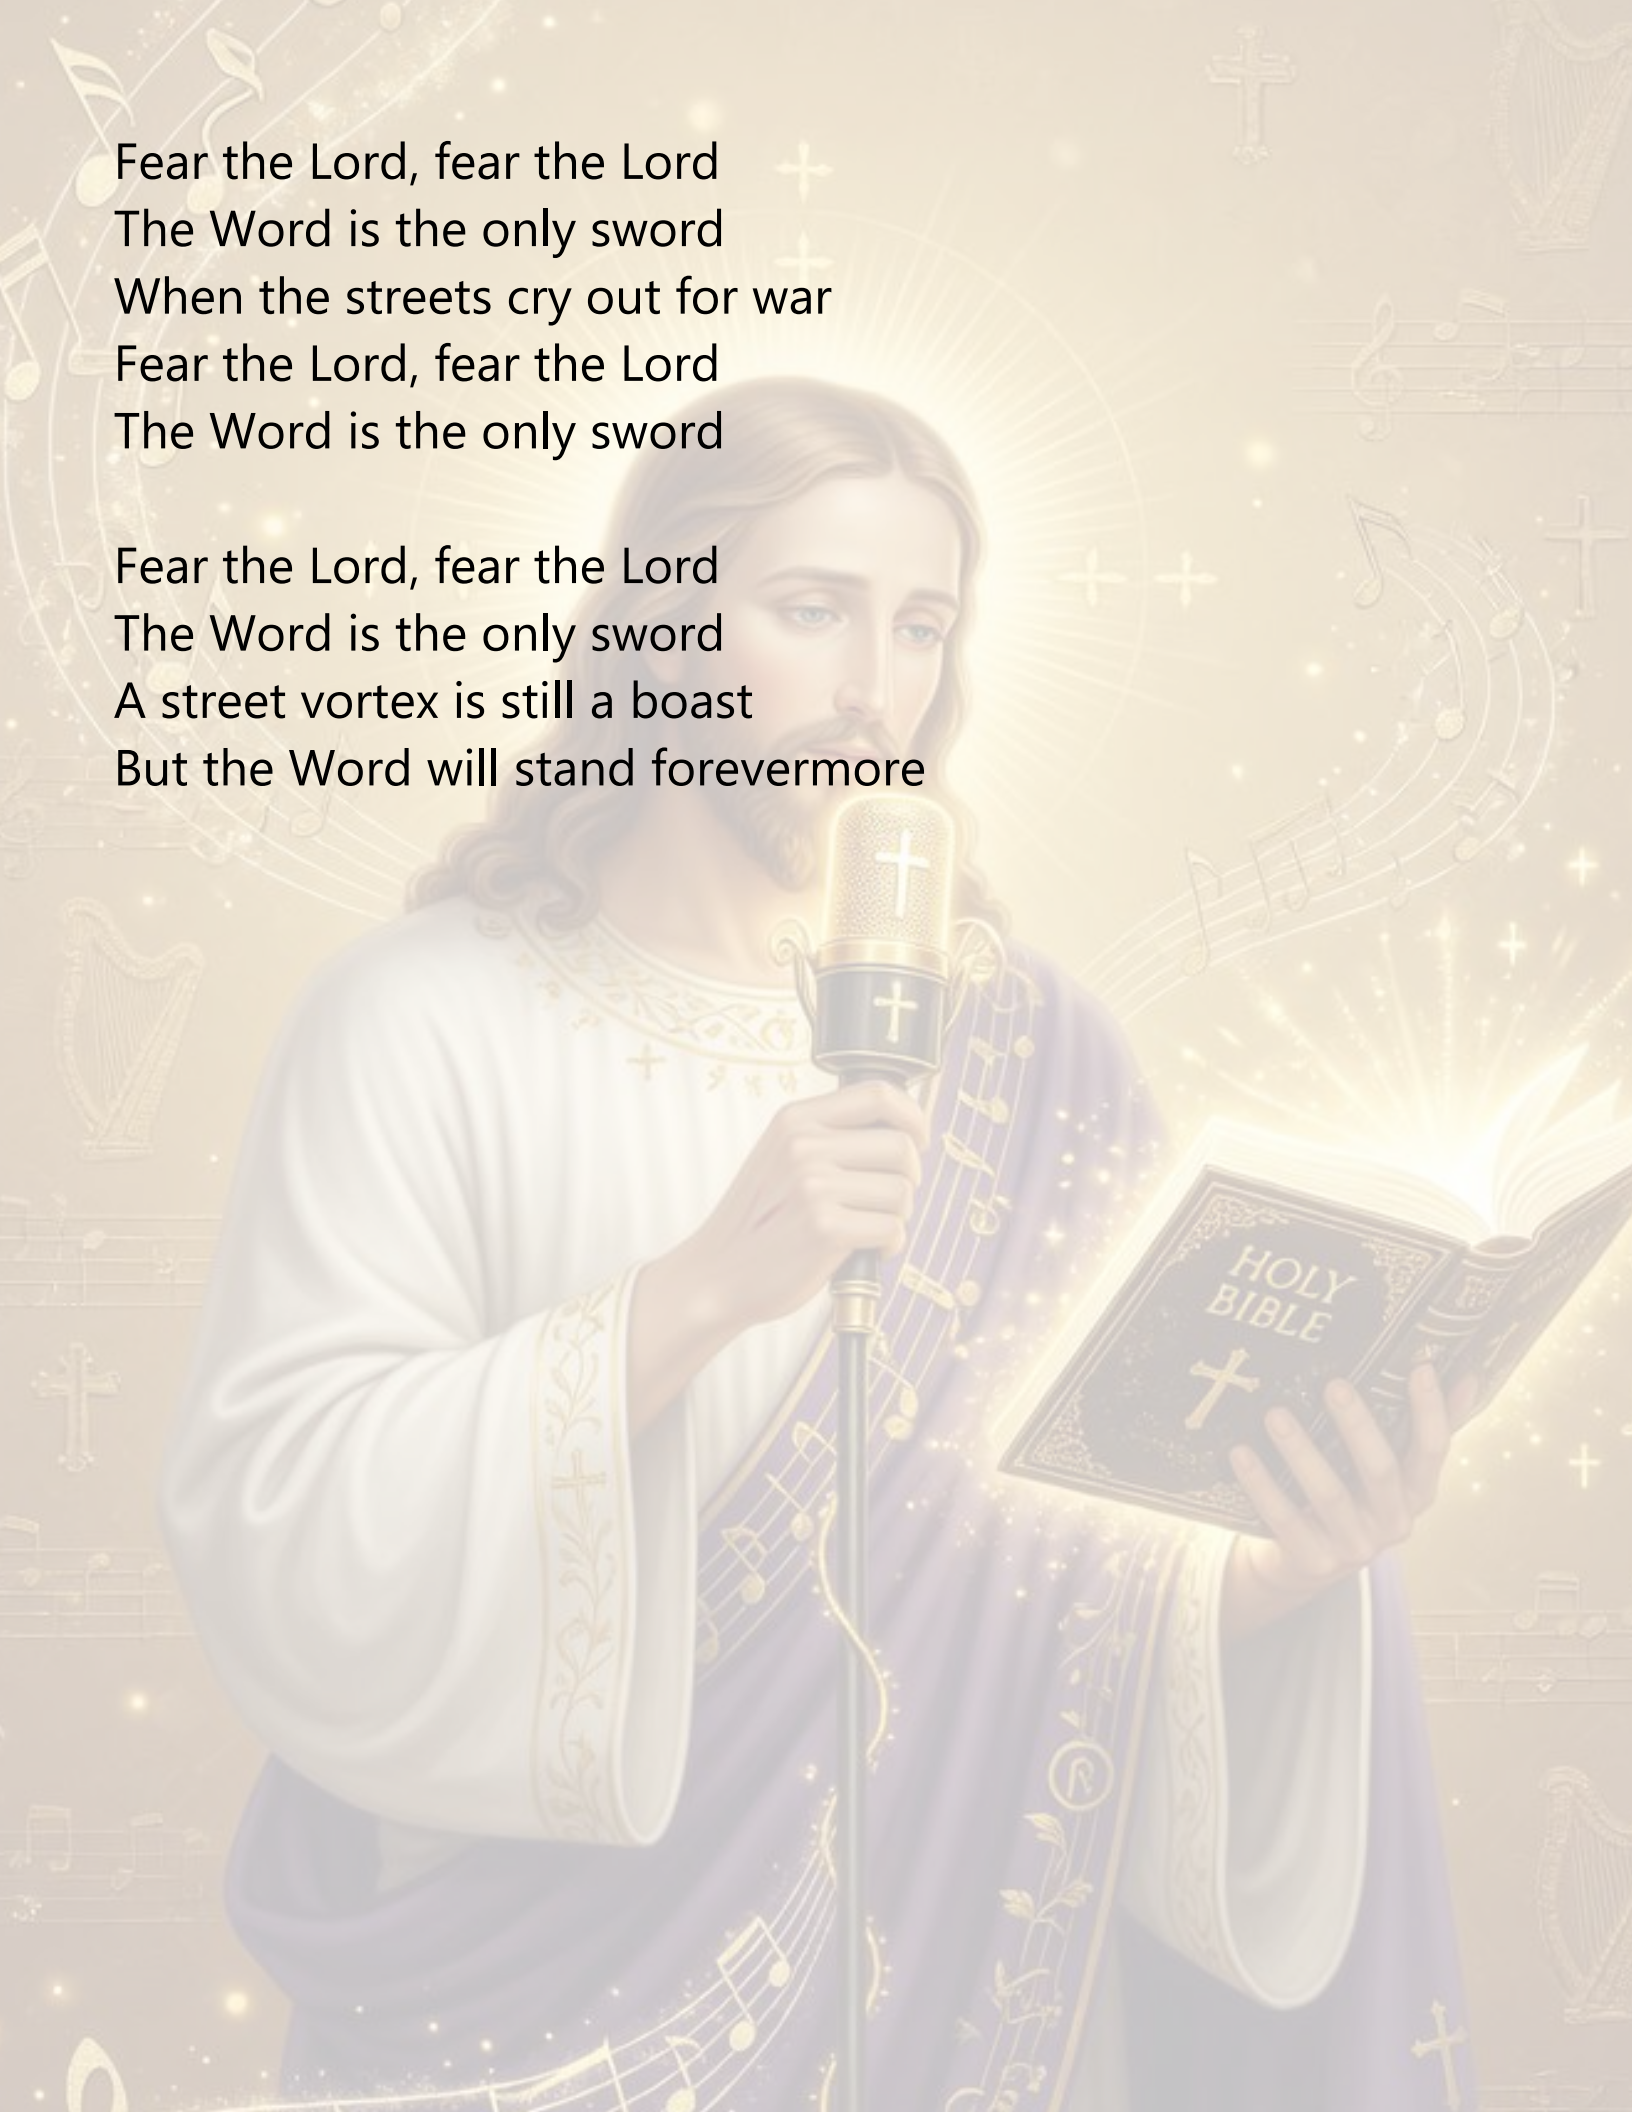

A street vortex is still a boast
It rises loud then fades to dust
The proud can shake the midnight road
But every heart will bow in trust

When fear comes walking through the night
I lift my eyes beyond the storm
The truth still burns with holy light
The Word still keeps my spirit warm

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword
When the streets cry out for war
Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword

No passing thunder makes me whole
No empty promise breaks my chains
The living Word can pierce the soul
And wash the darkness from my veins

Let every boast fall silent now
Let every false king lose his throne
The strength I need is not my own
The Lord is near, the Lord alone

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword
When the streets cry out for war
Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword
A street vortex is still a boast
But the Word will stand forevermore

Haiku Song- Vortex over the street

Vortex over the street
Neon bends beneath the rain
One word holds the ground
While the whole world turns again

Hear the silence underneath
Feel the pavement breathe

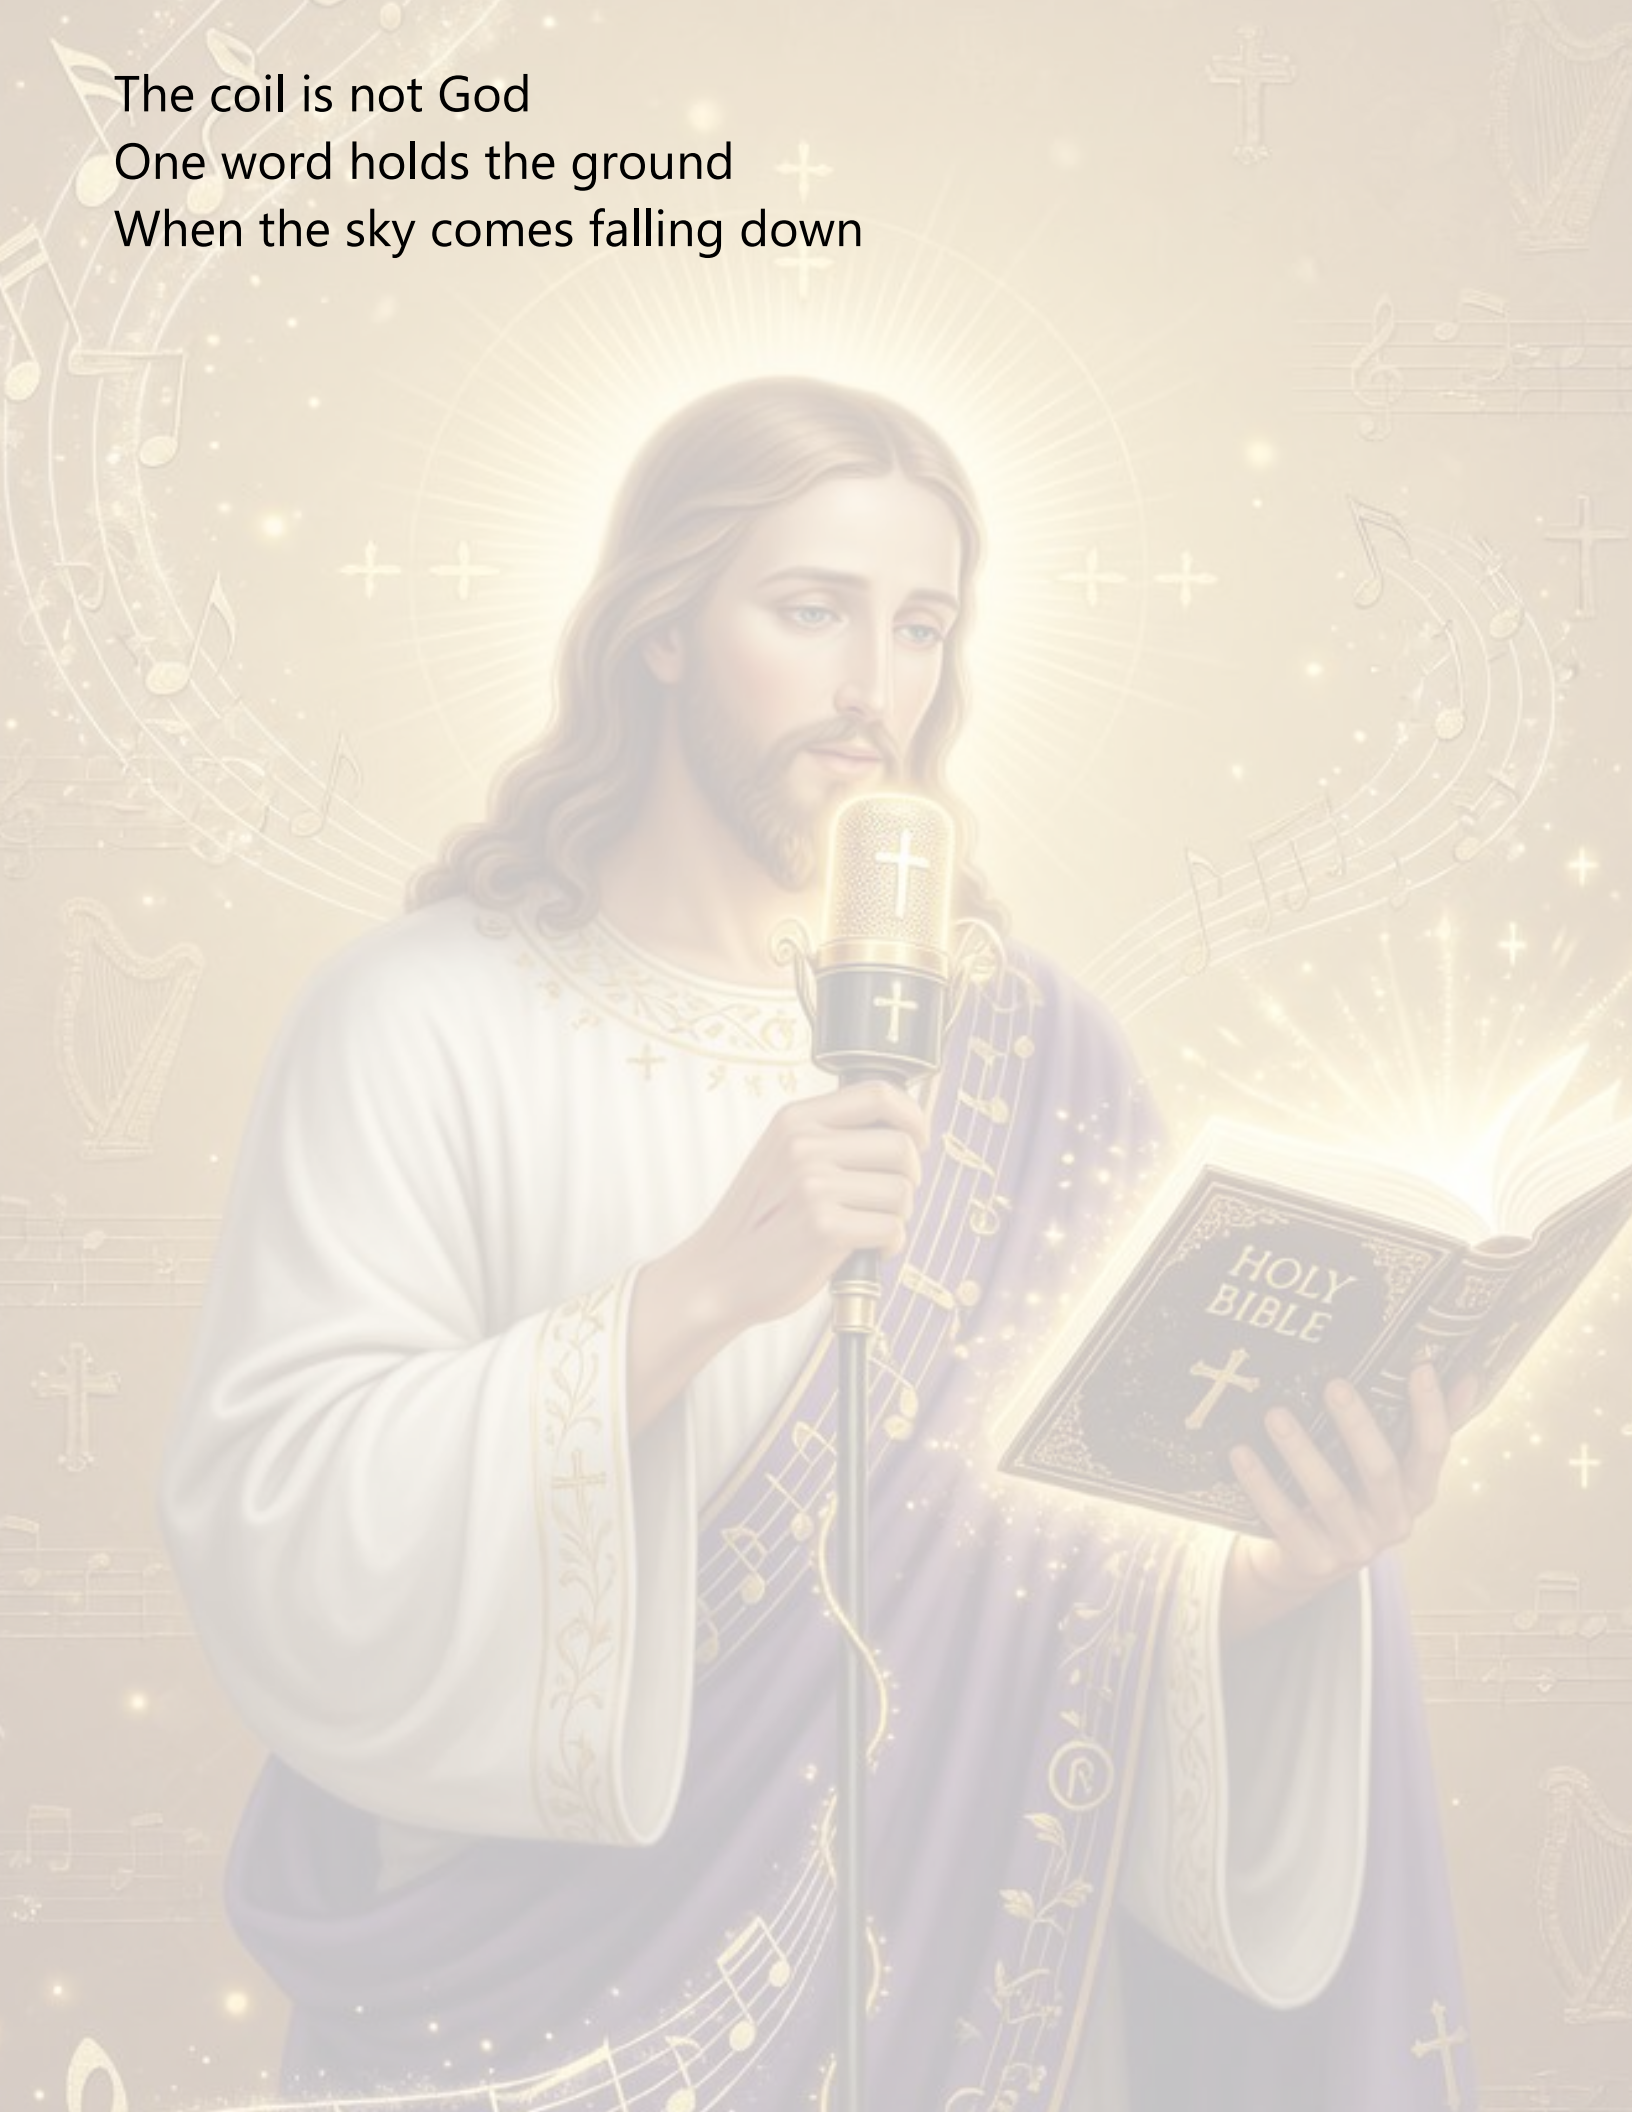

The coil is not God
The coil is not God
One word holds the ground
When the sky comes falling down

Windows spiral into light
Footsteps circle through the night
Every voice becomes a thread
Tugging at the words unsaid

Let the turning lose its name
Let the thunder fade to flame
What remains beneath the sod
One word holds the ground

The coil is not God

The coil is not God
One word holds the ground
When the sky comes falling down

Riddle- What cuts the Veil

I vortex,
I coil,
I never walk.

What cuts me?

The Sword of the Word — Jesus Christ.

I vortex, I coil, I never walk
I twist through the silence, I circle the dark
I wrap around fear, I tighten my hold
A serpent of shadows, a story untold

But I hear a voice like a river of light
Calling the lost from the edge of the night
One word is sharper than all that I hide
It cuts through the darkness and opens the sky

Jesus Christ
The living Word
What cuts me
When the night has no end
The Sword of the Word

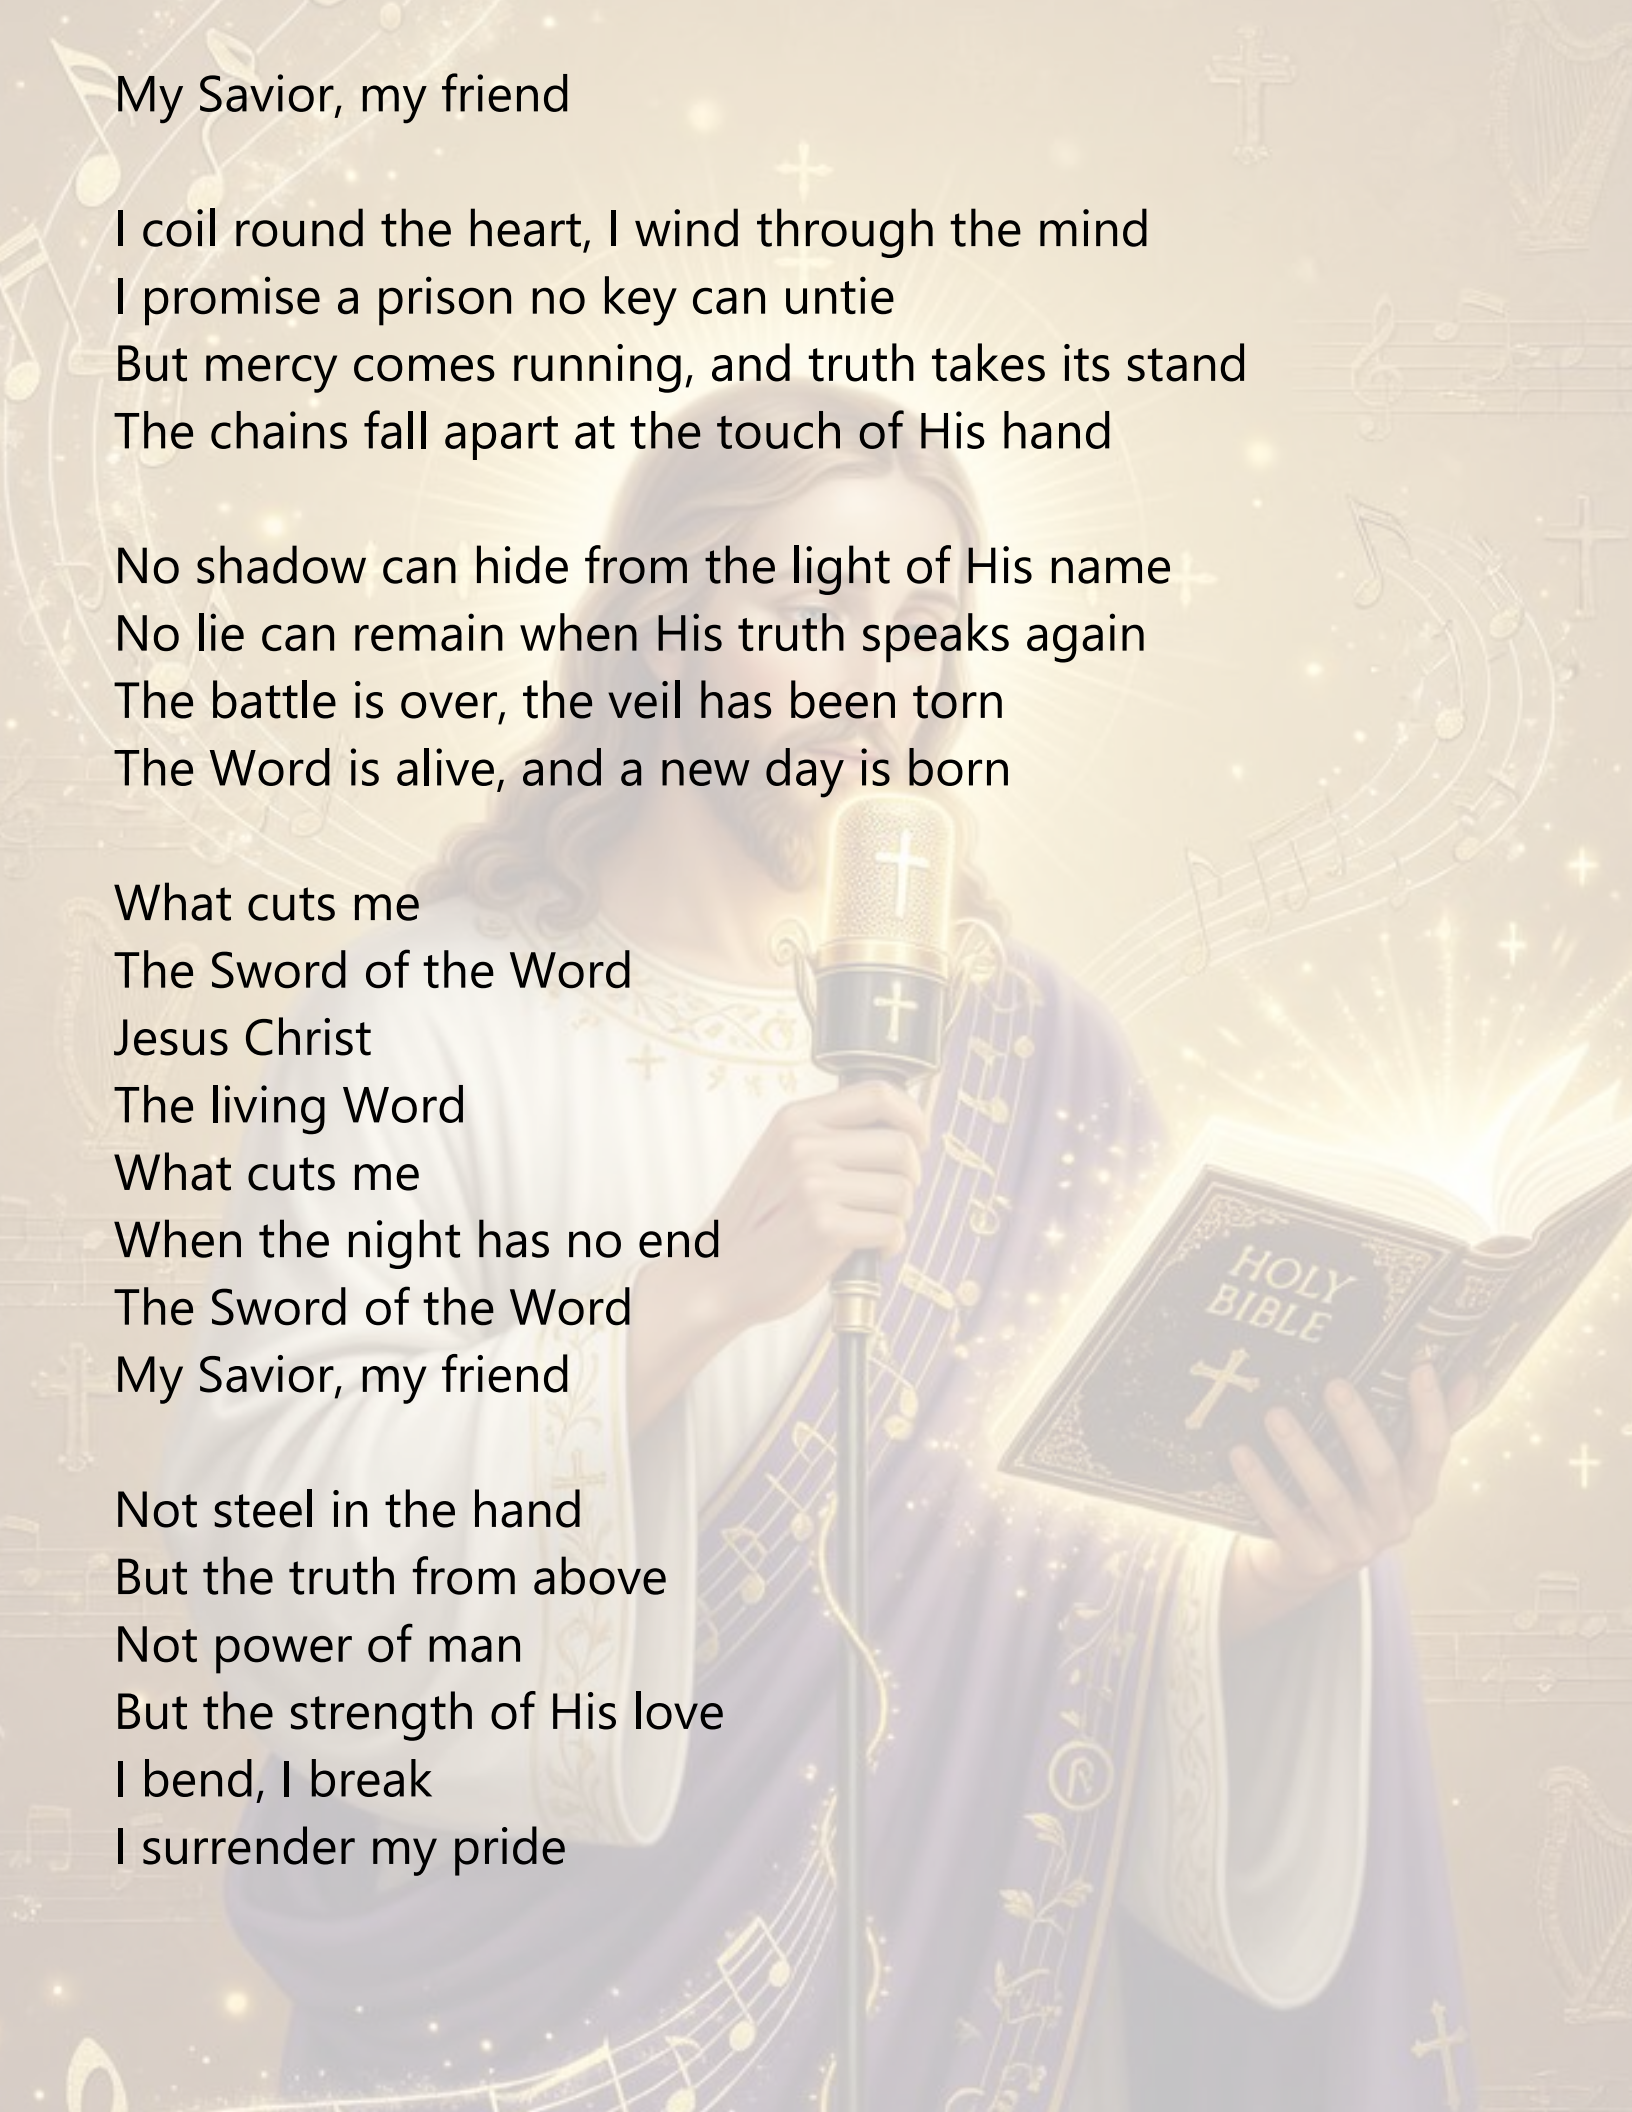

My Savior, my friend

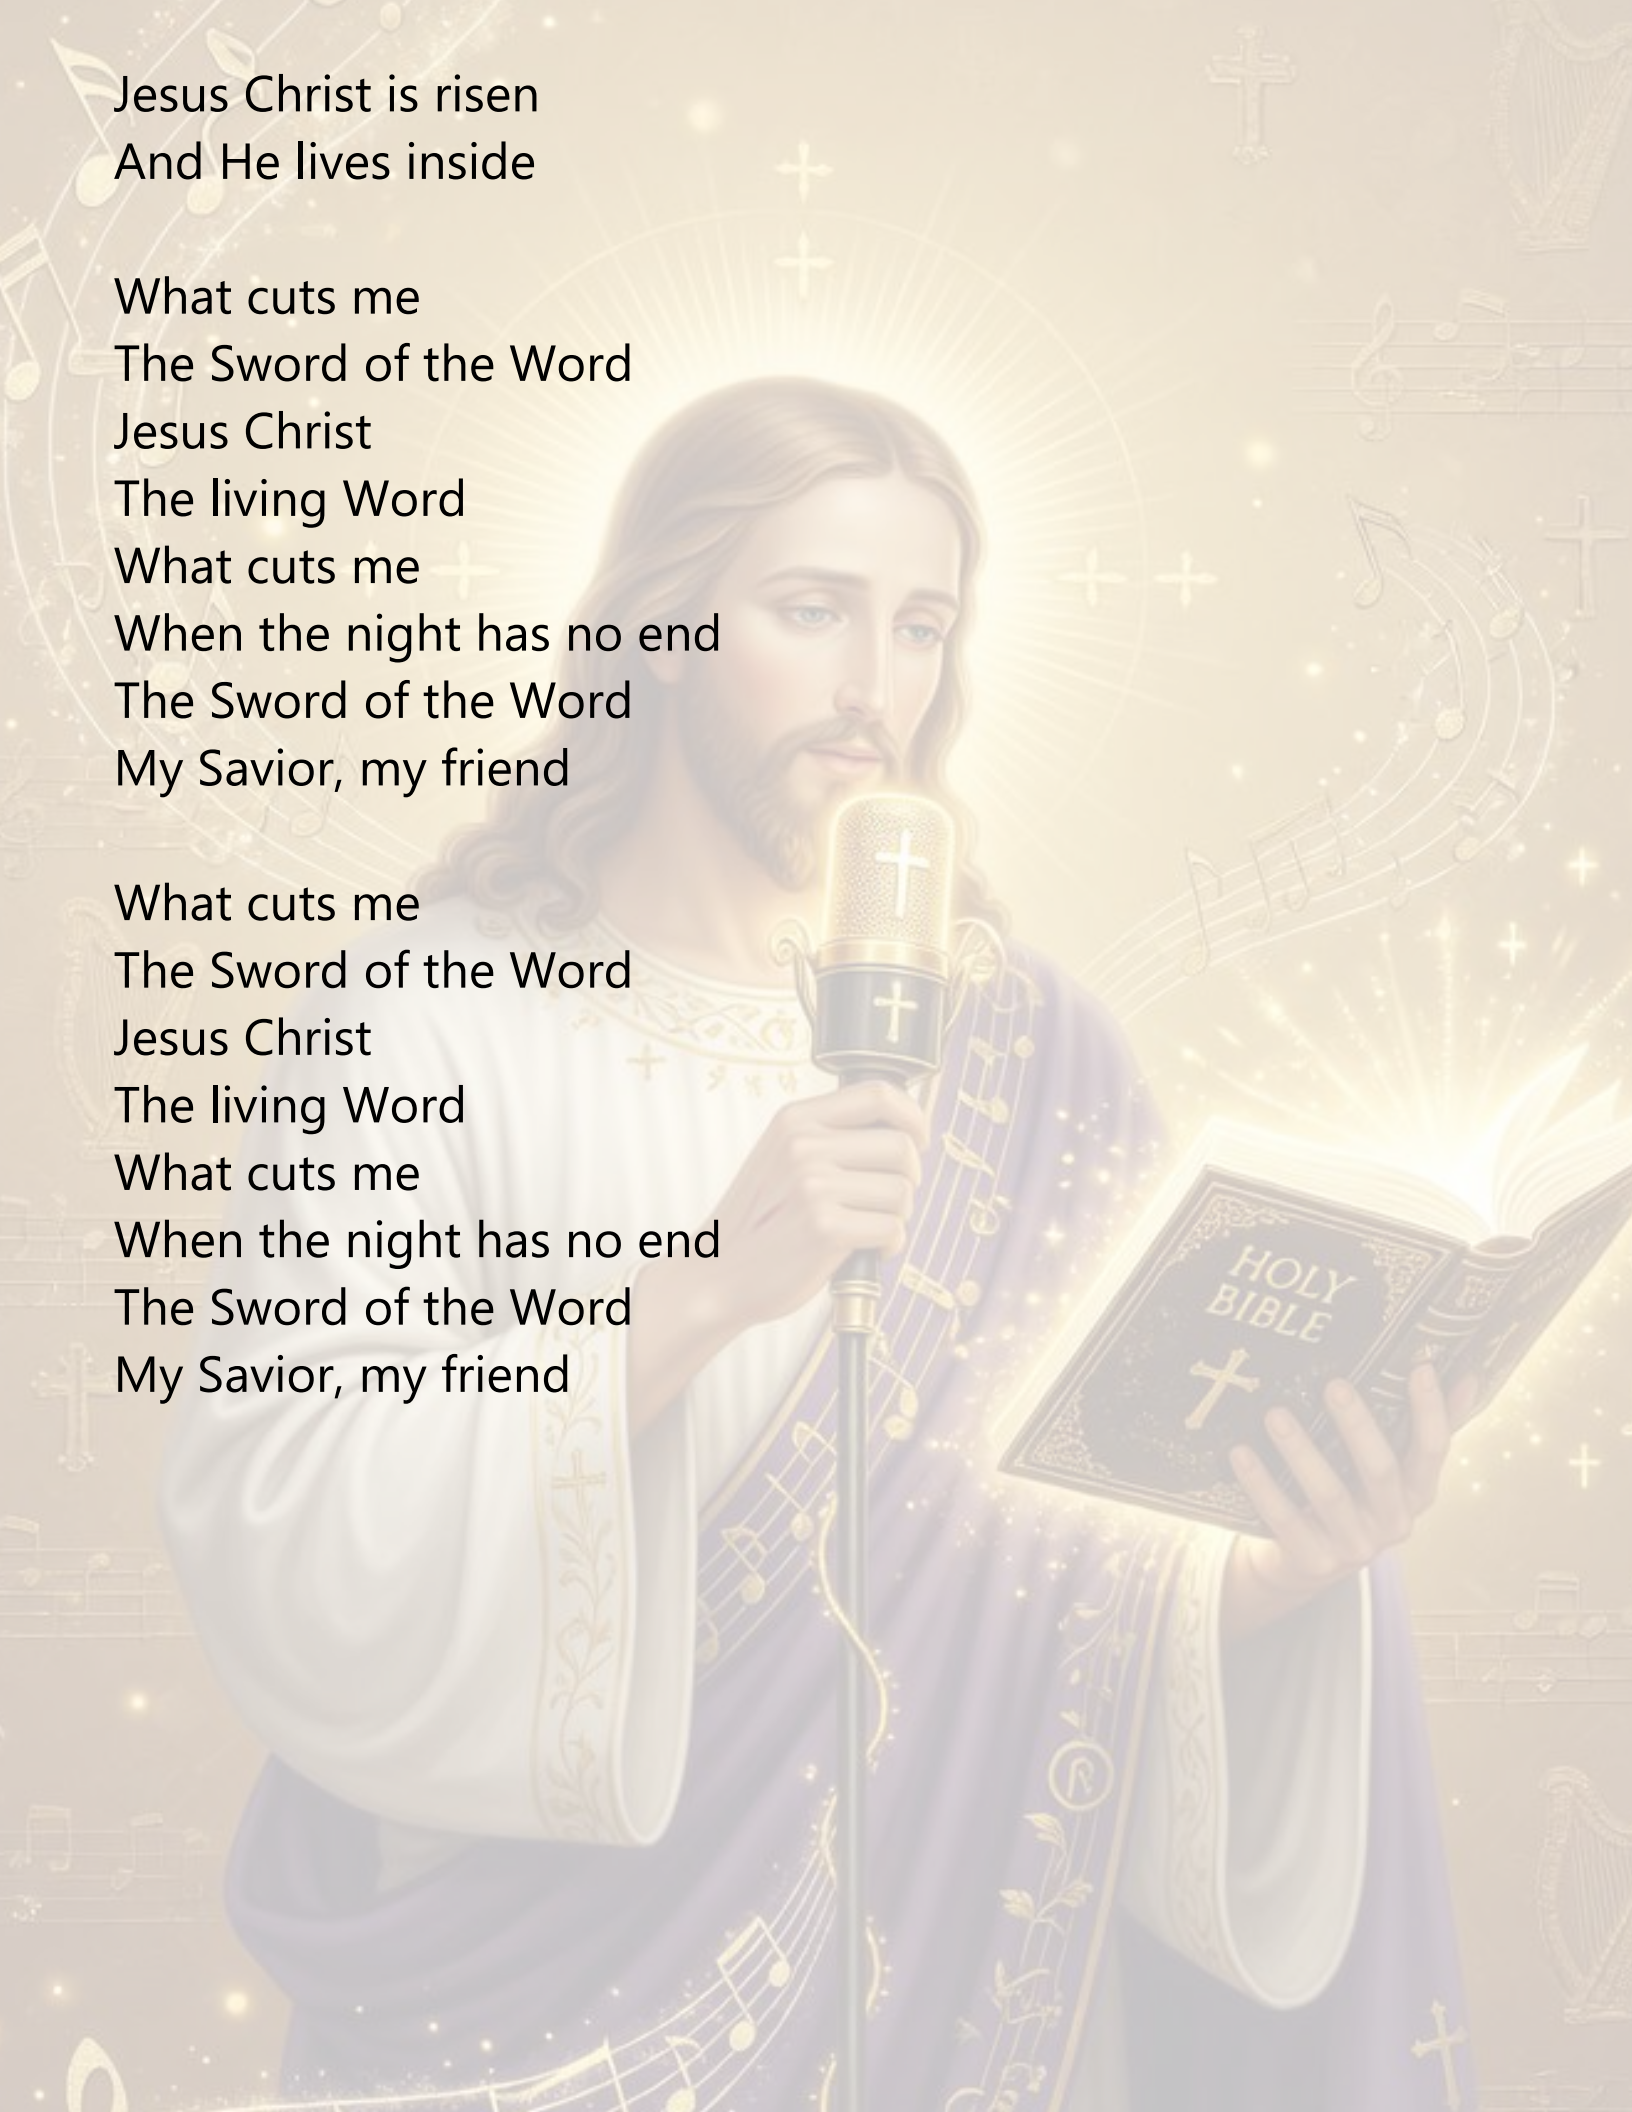

I coil round the heart, I wind through the mind
I promise a prison no key can untie
But mercy comes running, and truth takes its stand
The chains fall apart at the touch of His hand

No shadow can hide from the light of His name
No lie can remain when His truth speaks again
The battle is over, the veil has been torn
The Word is alive, and a new day is born

The Sword of the Word
Jesus Christ
The living Word
What cuts me
When the night has no end
The Sword of the Word
My Savior, my friend

Not steel in the hand
But the truth from above
Not power of man
But the strength of His love
I bend, I break
I surrender my pride

Jesus Christ is risen
And He lives inside

The Sword of the Word
Jesus Christ
The living Word
What cuts me
When the night has no end
The Sword of the Word
My Savior, my friend

The Sword of the Word
Jesus Christ
The living Word
What cuts me
When the night has no end
The Sword of the Word
My Savior, my friend

Holy Jest – The street does not pay

Holy Jest in a borrowed coat
The syndicate invoices the street
Gold on the paper, dust in the throat
The street does not pay, it does not kneel

They call it heaven, they call it law
They raise their hands, then raise the cost
A holy seal on every debt
A little mercy, nothing yet

Holy Jest, hear the bells confess
The syndicate invoices the street
The street does not pay, the street does not bend
Banished by the Almighty, again and again

They marked the doors with a shining brand
They blessed the ledger, they blessed the land
Every promise came stamped and sealed
Every hungry heart was told to yield

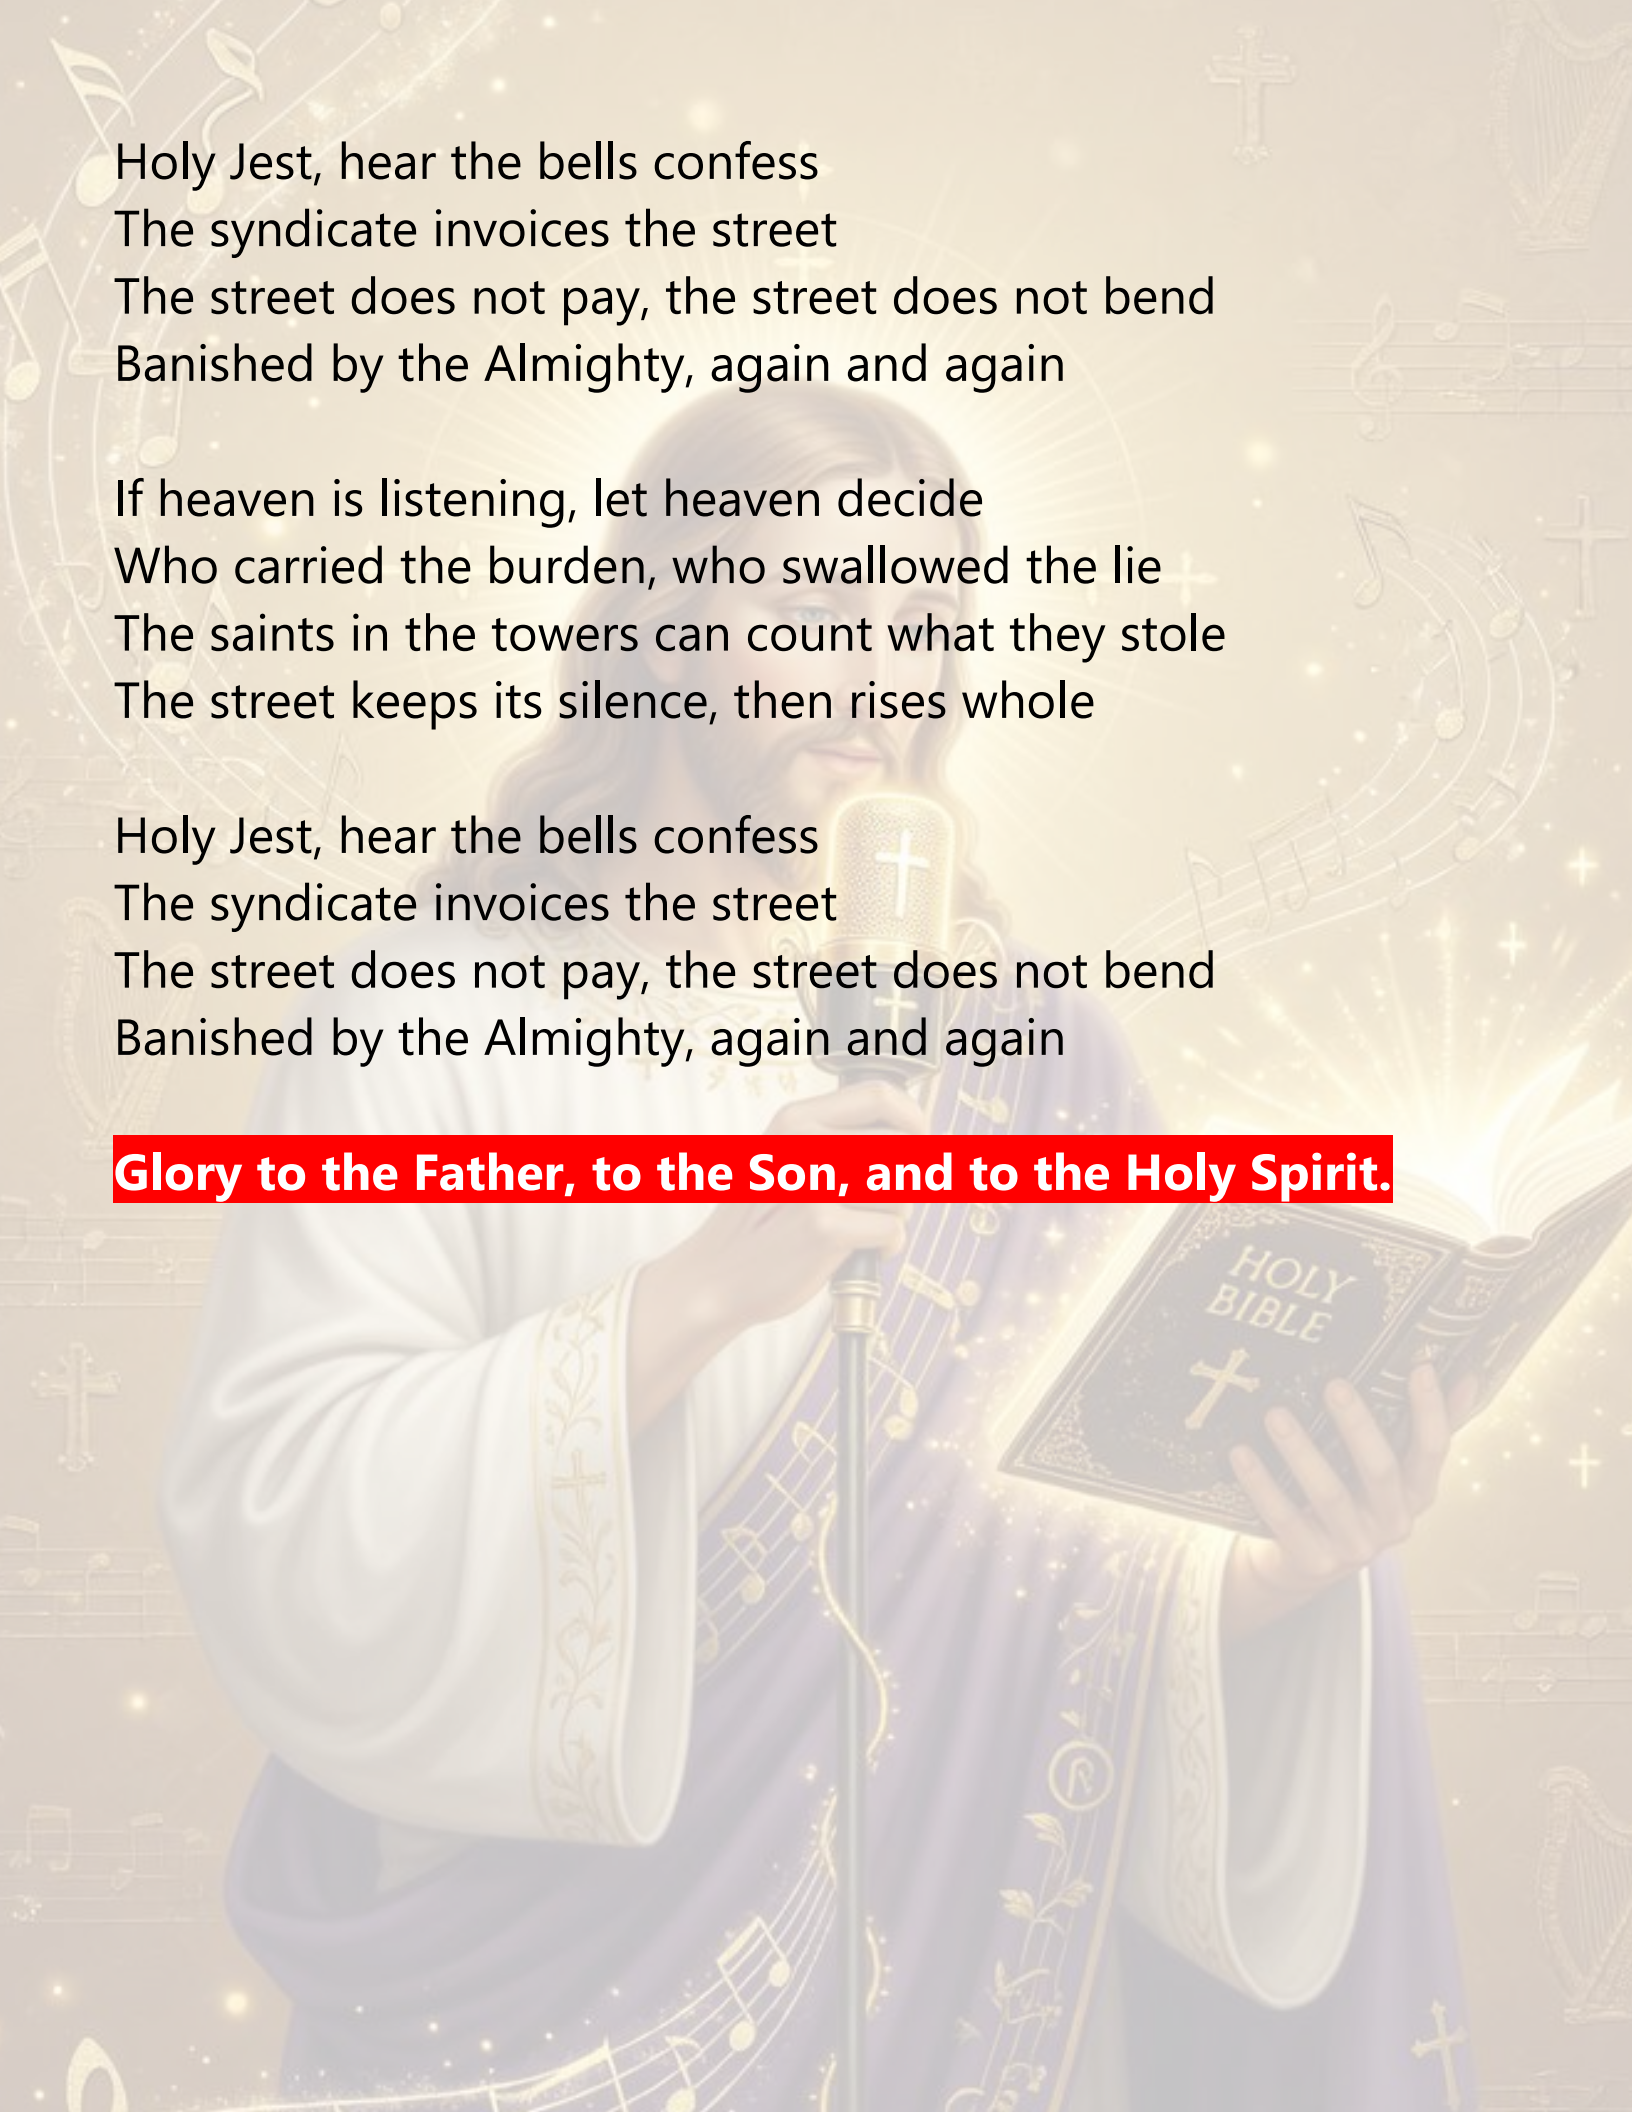

But down below where the cold winds run
The unpaid voices become as one
No throne can own what the people make
No god can bless what the thieves forsake

Holy Jest, hear the bells confess
The street does not pay, the street does not bend
Banished by the Almighty, again and again

If heaven is listening, let heaven decide
Who carried the burden, who swallowed the lie
The saints in the towers can count what they stole
The street keeps its silence, then rises whole

Holy Jest, hear the bells confess
The street does not pay, the street does not bend
Banished by the Almighty, again and again

Glory to the Father, to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.

Remnant Symphony - Street / Vortex / Coil / Throne

Remnant symphony beneath the neon rain
Streetlights tremble like a midnight chain
Every corner carries what the lost once knew
The street is His, and He is walking through

Hear the silence turning into flame
What was scattered rises in His name

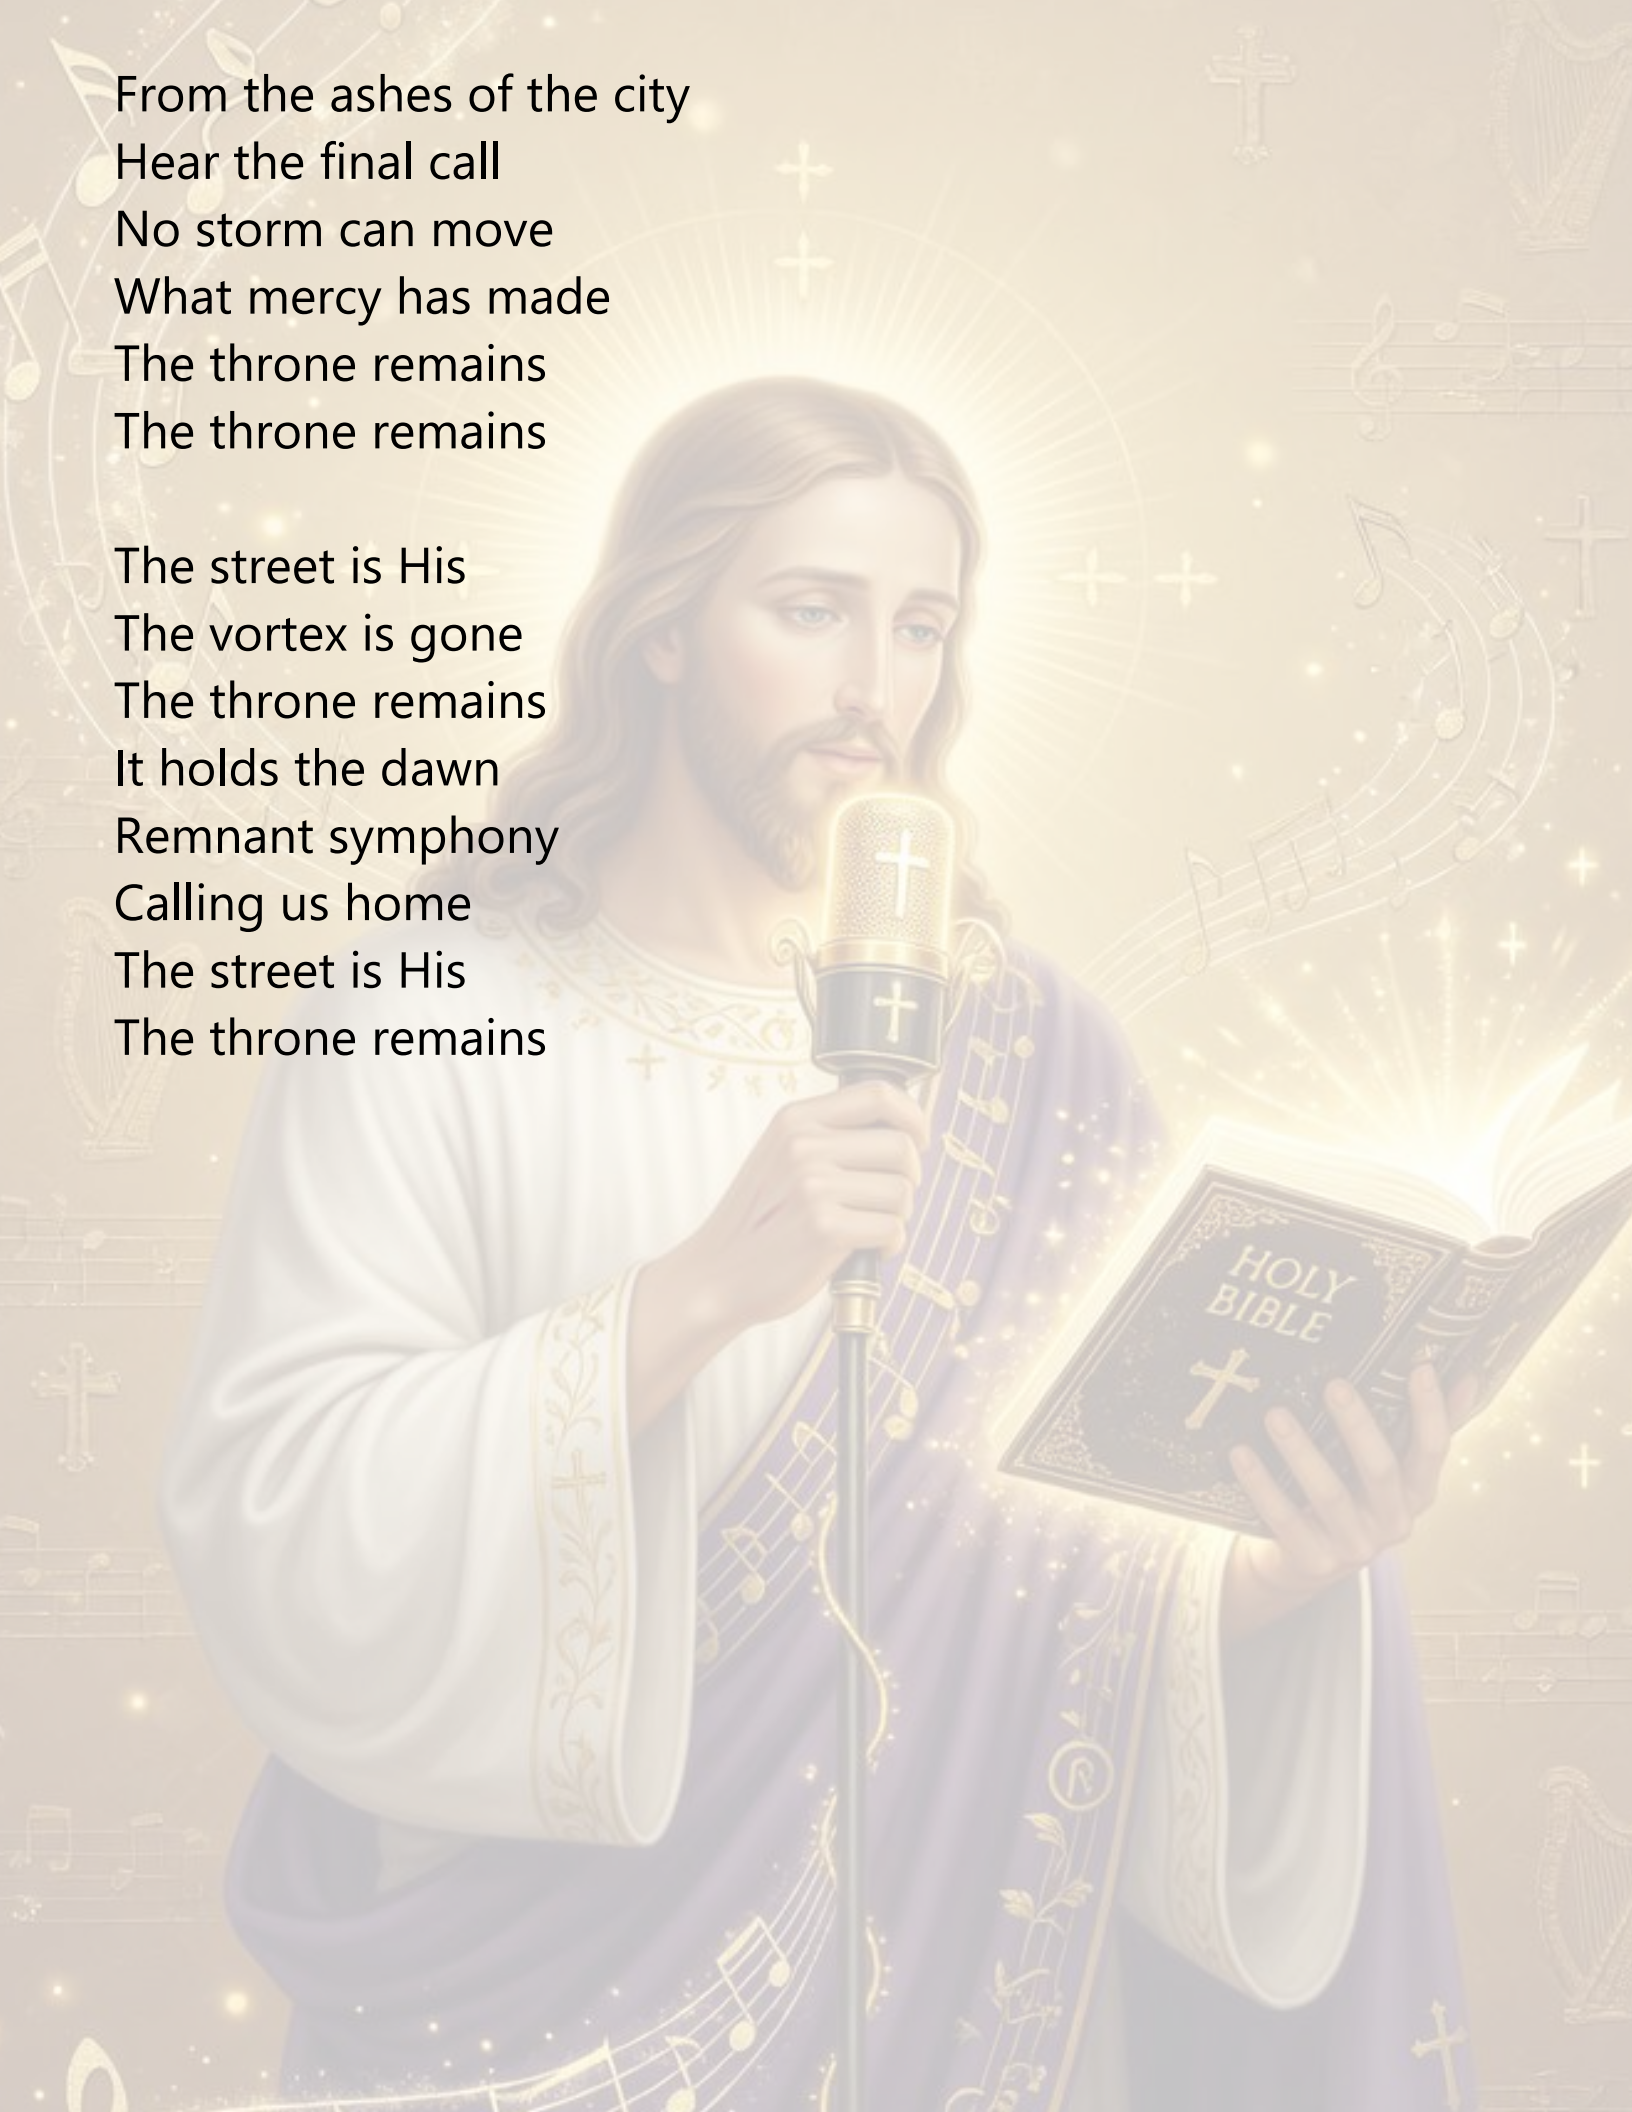

The street is His
The vortex is gone
The throne remains
It holds the dawn
Remnant symphony
Calling us home
The street is His
The throne remains

Broken signs are shining through the dust
Old foundations waking from the rust
No more circles dragging shadows on
The vortex is gone, the night is gone

Let the coil unwind
Let the dead weight fall

From the ashes of the city
Hear the final call
No storm can move
What mercy has made
The throne remains
The throne remains

The street is His
The vortex is gone
The throne remains
It holds the dawn
Remnant symphony
Calling us home
The street is His
The throne remains

Short Story

They walked the street and called it empty. The street did not invoice. A syndicate filed a claim. The remnant stayed. Jesus keeps the street.

They walked the street and called it empty
But the street still held the rain
No one asked the stones for payment
No one signed away the name

A syndicate filed a claim
In ink as cold as winter
But the remnant stayed behind
And would not surrender

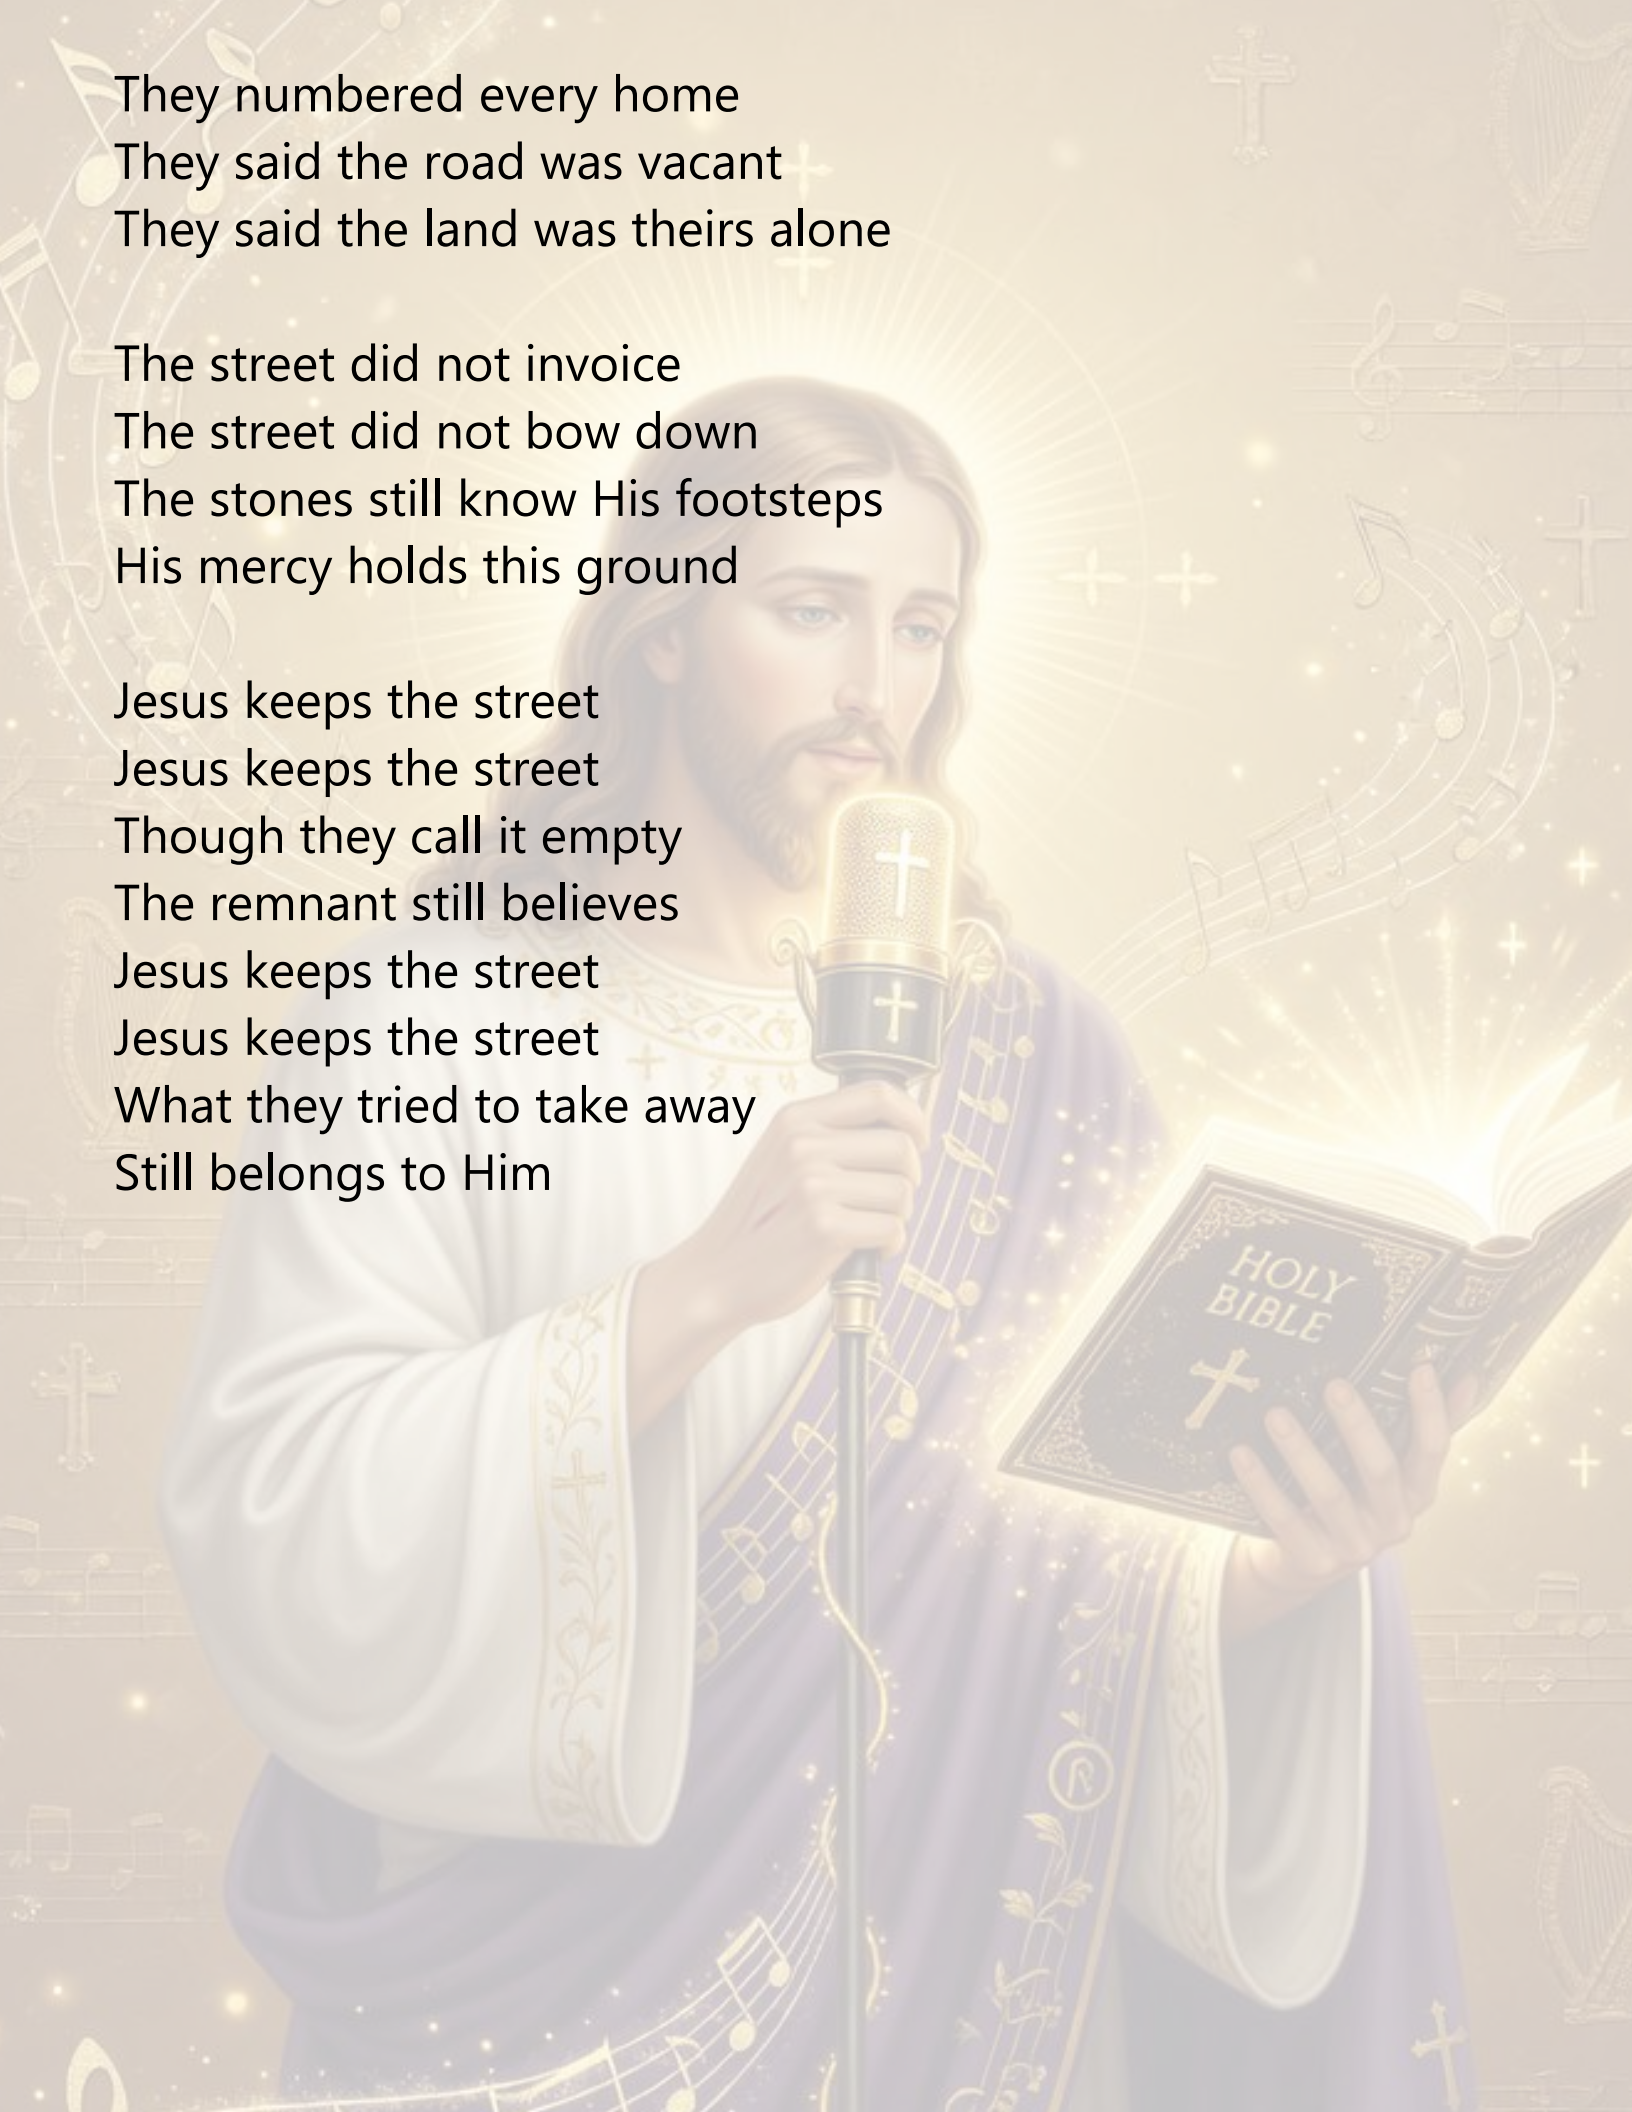

Jesus keeps the street
Jesus keeps the street
Though they call it empty
The remnant still believes
Jesus keeps the street
Jesus keeps the street
What they tried to take away
Still belongs to Him

They measured every doorway

They numbered every home
They said the road was vacant
They said the land was theirs alone

The street did not invoice
The street did not bow down
The stones still know His footsteps
His mercy holds this ground

Jesus keeps the street
Jesus keeps the street
Though they call it empty
The remnant still believes
Jesus keeps the street
Jesus keeps the street
What they tried to take away

Story Song

The Whole Is His — The Book Is His

The whole is His, the book is His
The breath in me, the hope I live
The stars above, the ground below
All that I am, He came to know
When I was lost, He called my name
When I was weak, He stayed the same
I lift my eyes, I lift my hands
My life is held within His plans

No fear can take what grace has given
No night can hide the light of heaven

The whole is His, the book is His
Every page and every promise
The whole is His, the book is His
Every breath belongs to Him
From the first word to the last
He is faithful through the past
The whole is His, the book is His
And my heart is found in Him

The roads I choose, the tears I cry
The quiet prayers beneath the sky

The doors that close, the doors that turn
The lessons love has made me learn
Through every joy and every scar
He knows exactly where we are
And when the world is hard to bear
His steady presence meets me there

So write Your mercy on my soul
Make every broken part made whole
If I should wander, call me near
Your voice is stronger than my fear
My days are Yours, my future too
I give my everything to You

The whole is His, the book is His
Every page and every promise
The whole is His, the book is His
Every breath belongs to Him
From the first word to the last
He is faithful through the past
The whole is His, the book is His

Parable- The Troll That Could Not Own the Book

They filed a troll against the word
They raised their claims like dust
They tried to own the living page
But truth outlasted us

The room grew still, the voices broke
A deeper silence came
The Son of Man stood in the light
And called the Book by name

The Book stayed
They could not own
What truth had made
The Son of Man spoke
The shadows fled
The Book stayed open
The Book stayed read

They marked the cover with their names
They guarded every line
They built a throne from borrowed words
And called the story mine

But no one holds the morning

No hand can bind the flame
The page belongs to no one
Yet mercy knows our name

The Book stayed
They could not own
What truth had made
The Son of Man spoke
The shadows fled
The Book stayed open

The Book Is His

Psalm in the silence, dust on the pew
The book is His, and the pages are true
They bill the chapel for candles and rain
You made the light, then called me by name

When every ledger turns cold in my hands
I hear your mercy, I know where I stand

Keep my name, keep my name
Through the fire, through the flame
The book is His, the light remains
Keep my name, keep my name

They count the windows, they measure the cost
They charge the living for all that was lost
But no one can purchase the breath in my chest
No one can bargain the heart at its best

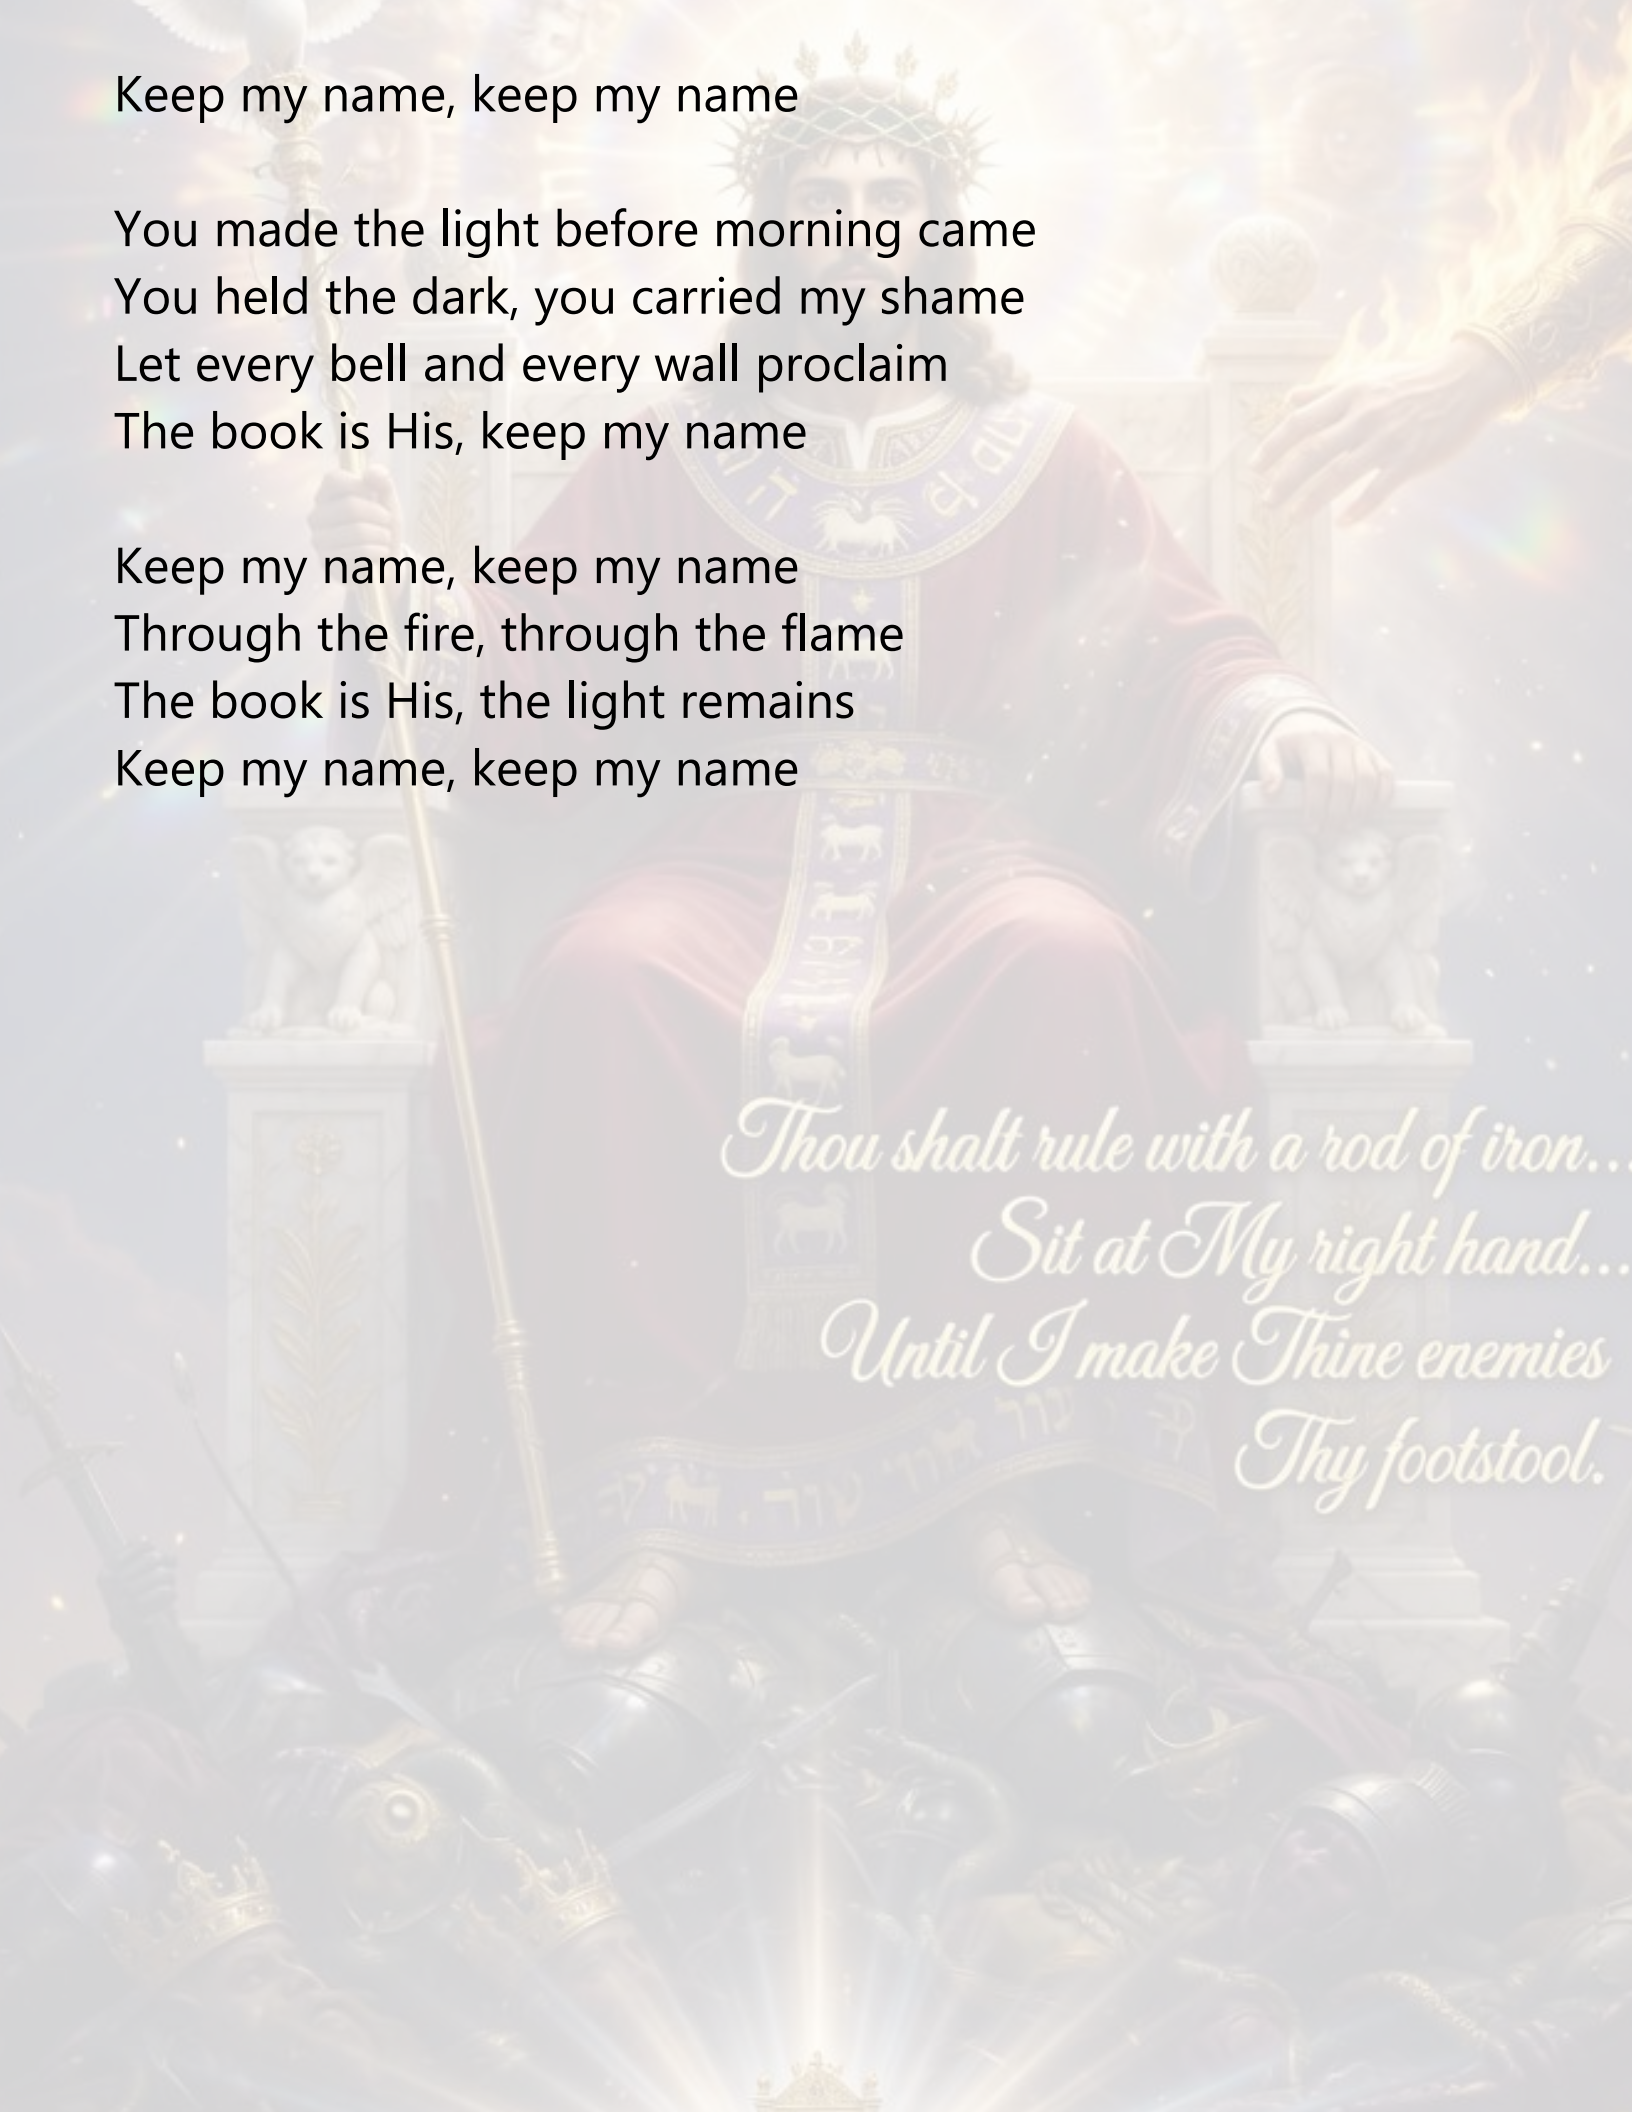

When every ledger turns cold in my hands
I hear your mercy, I know where I stand

Keep my name, keep my name
Through the fire, through the flame
The book is His, the light remains

Keep my name, keep my name

You made the light before morning came
You held the dark, you carried my shame
Let every bell and every wall proclaim
The book is His, keep my name

Keep my name, keep my name
Through the fire, through the flame
The book is His, the light remains
Keep my name, keep my name

Proverbs- A troll caption is still a boast

A troll caption is still a boast
A shadow shouting from the coast
Words can wound and pride can roar
But truth still stands forevermore

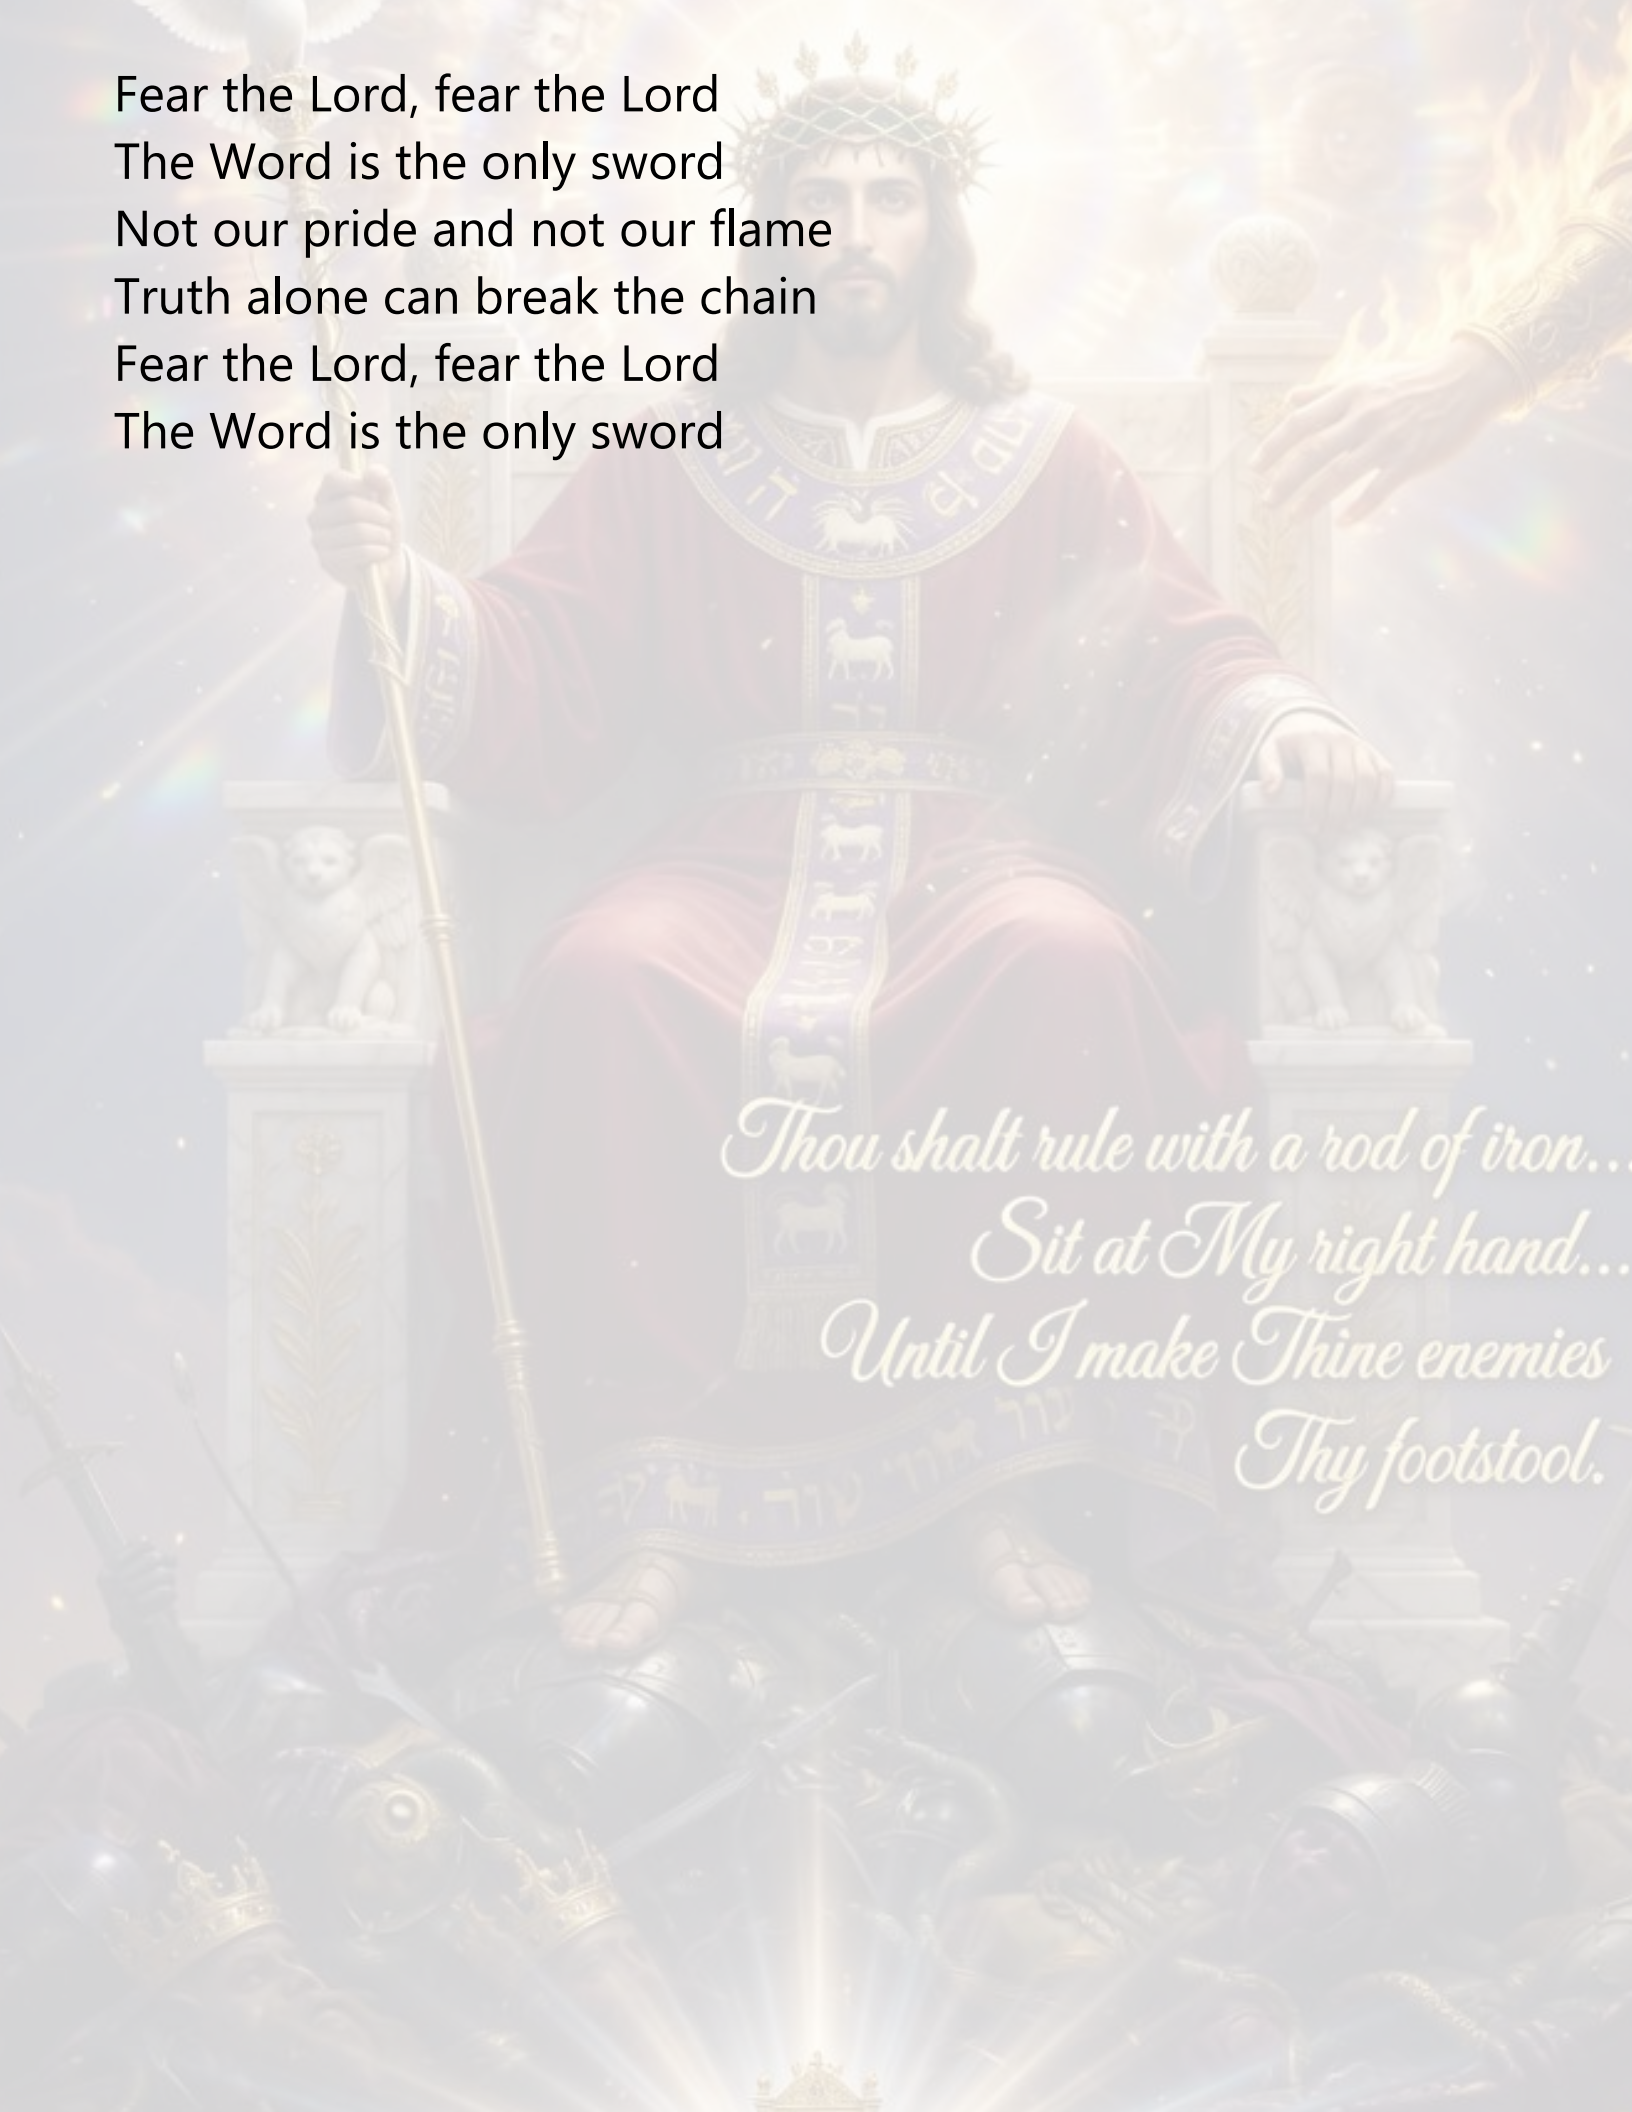

When the night is loud with fear
Hold to what is true and clear

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword
Not our pride and not our flame
Truth alone can break the chain
Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword

Let every whisper lose its throne
Let every boast be overthrown
No empty threat can rule the soul
When holy words have made us whole

We will not answer rage with rage
We will not crown the loudest page
With humble hearts and steady hands
We stand beneath what always stands

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword
Not our pride and not our flame
Truth alone can break the chain
Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword

Haiku Song- Troll over the chapel

Troll over the chapel
Shadow on the stone
One Word holds the Book
And the Book holds the throne

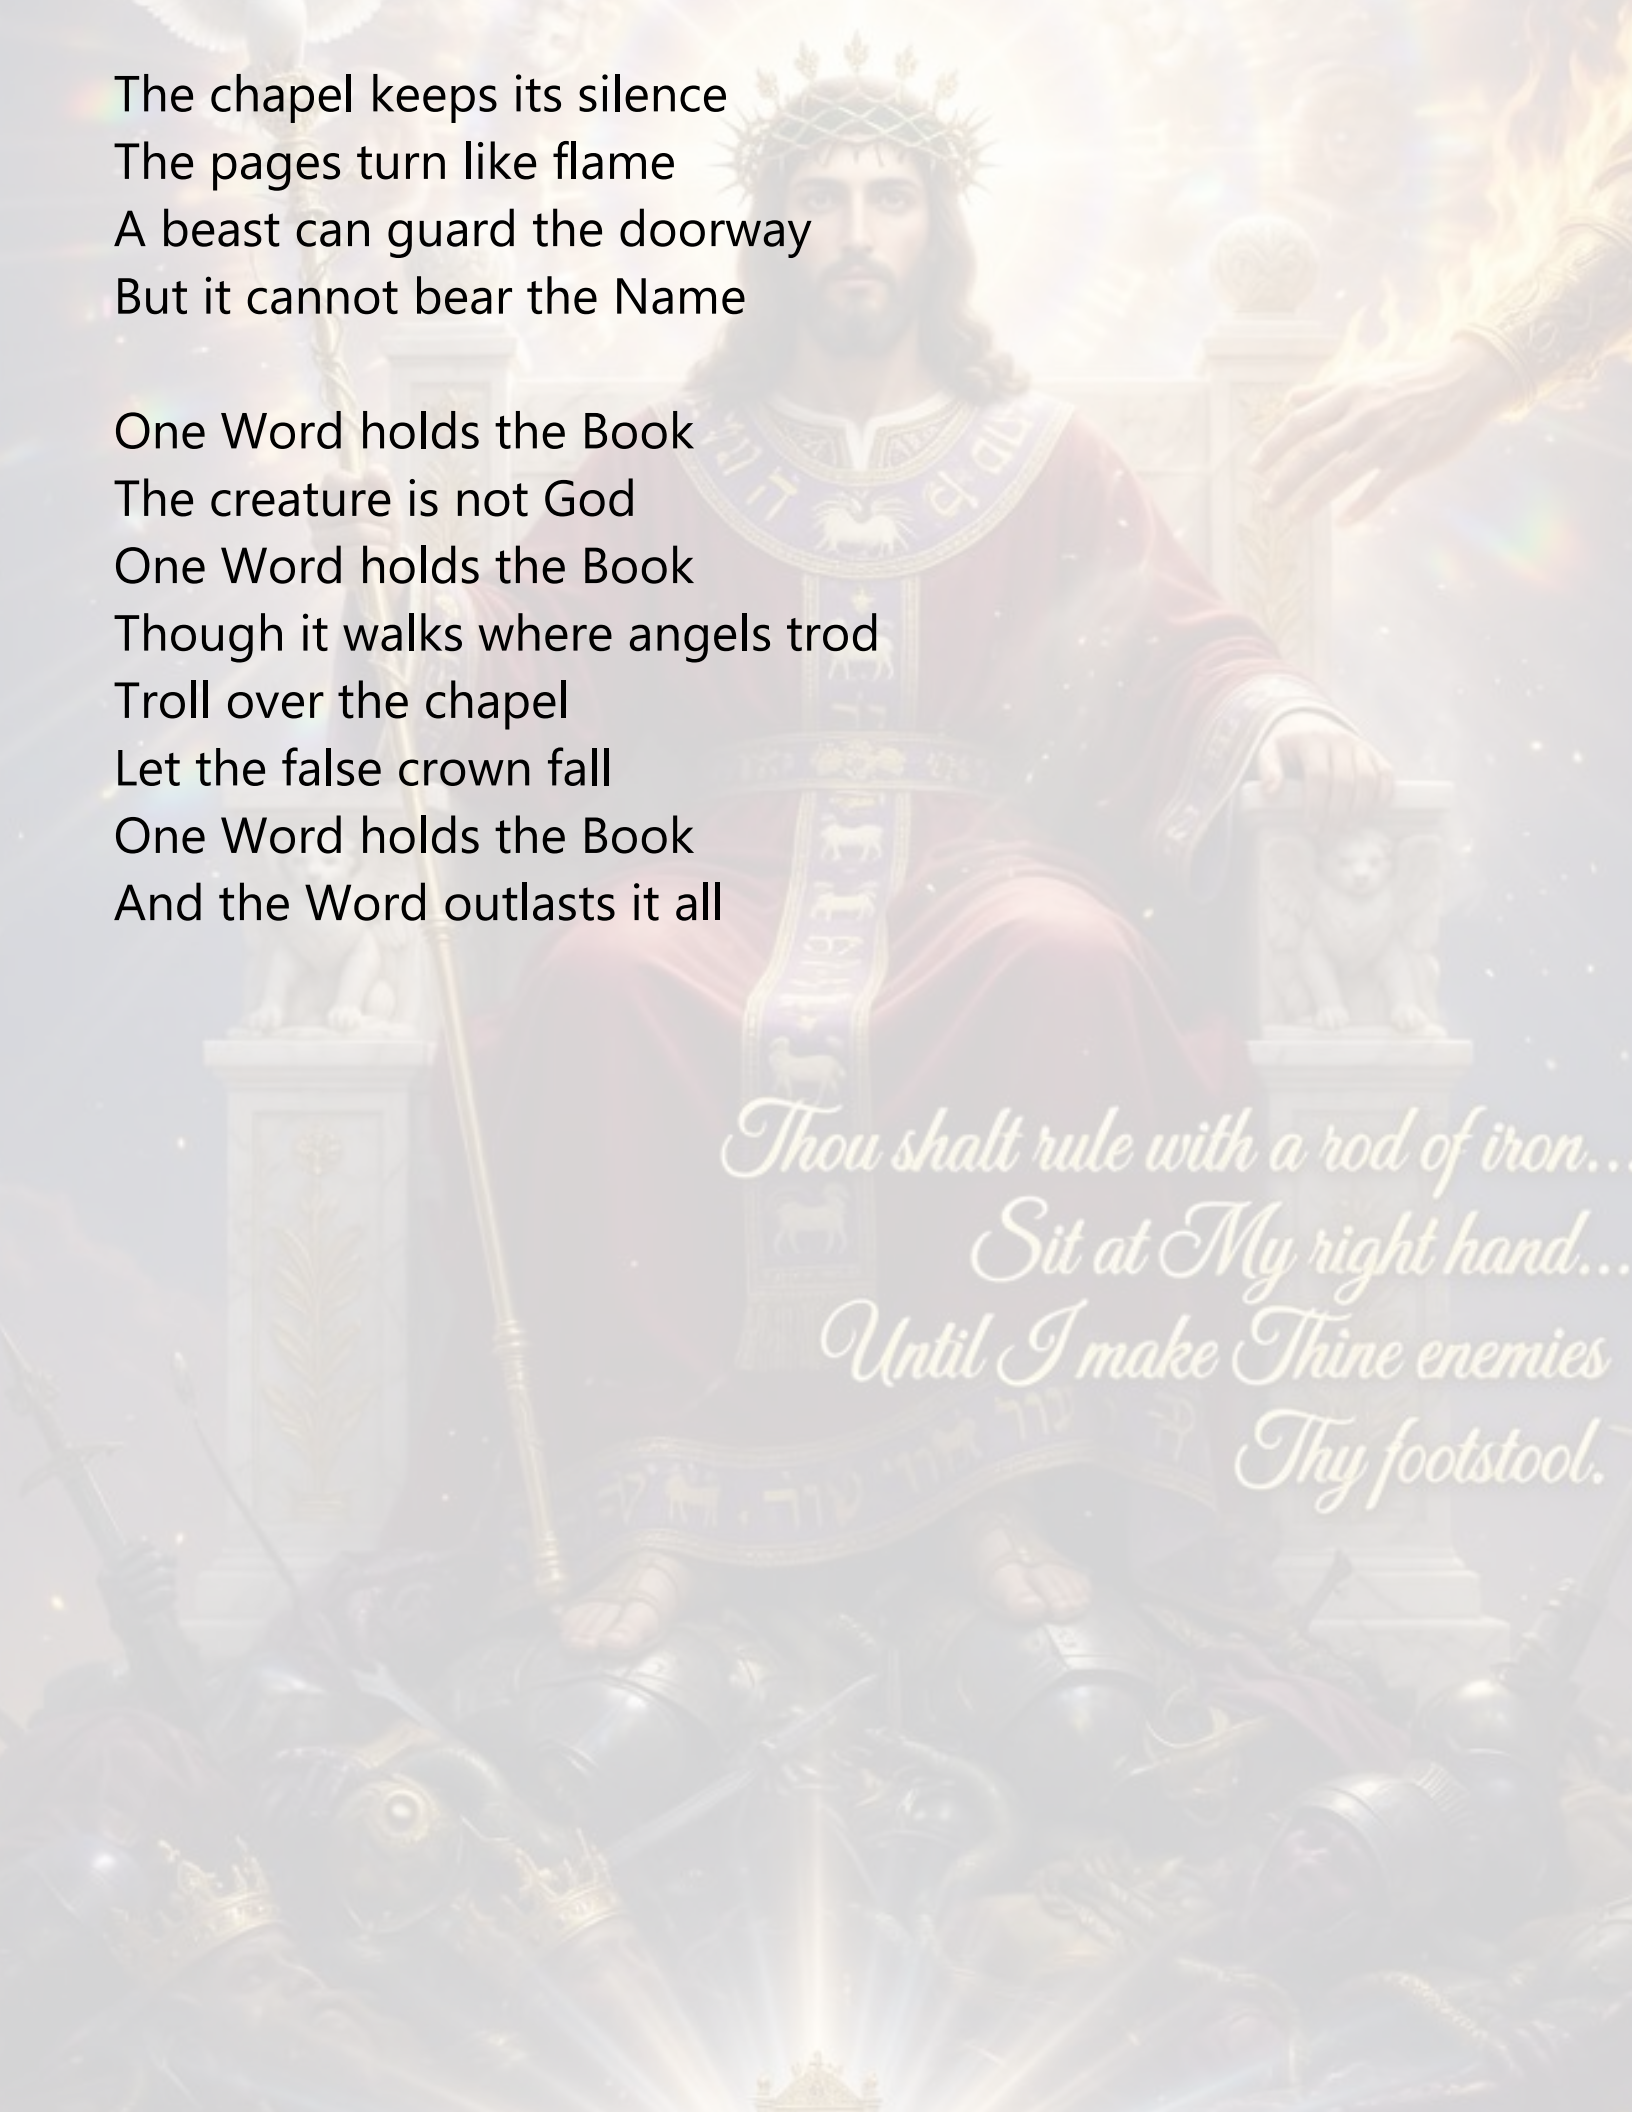

Do not kneel to the monster
Do not call it divine
The dark may wear a halo
But the light is not mine

One Word holds the Book
The creature is not God
One Word holds the Book
Though it walks where angels trod
Troll over the chapel
Let the false crown fall
One Word holds the Book
And the Word outlasts it all

It waits above the steeple
With its teeth against the sky
It speaks in borrowed thunder
It tells the faithful why

The chapel keeps its silence
The pages turn like flame
A beast can guard the doorway
But it cannot bear the Name

One Word holds the Book
One Word holds the Book
Though it walks where angels trod
Troll over the chapel
One Word holds the Book

I troll,
I feed,
I never close.

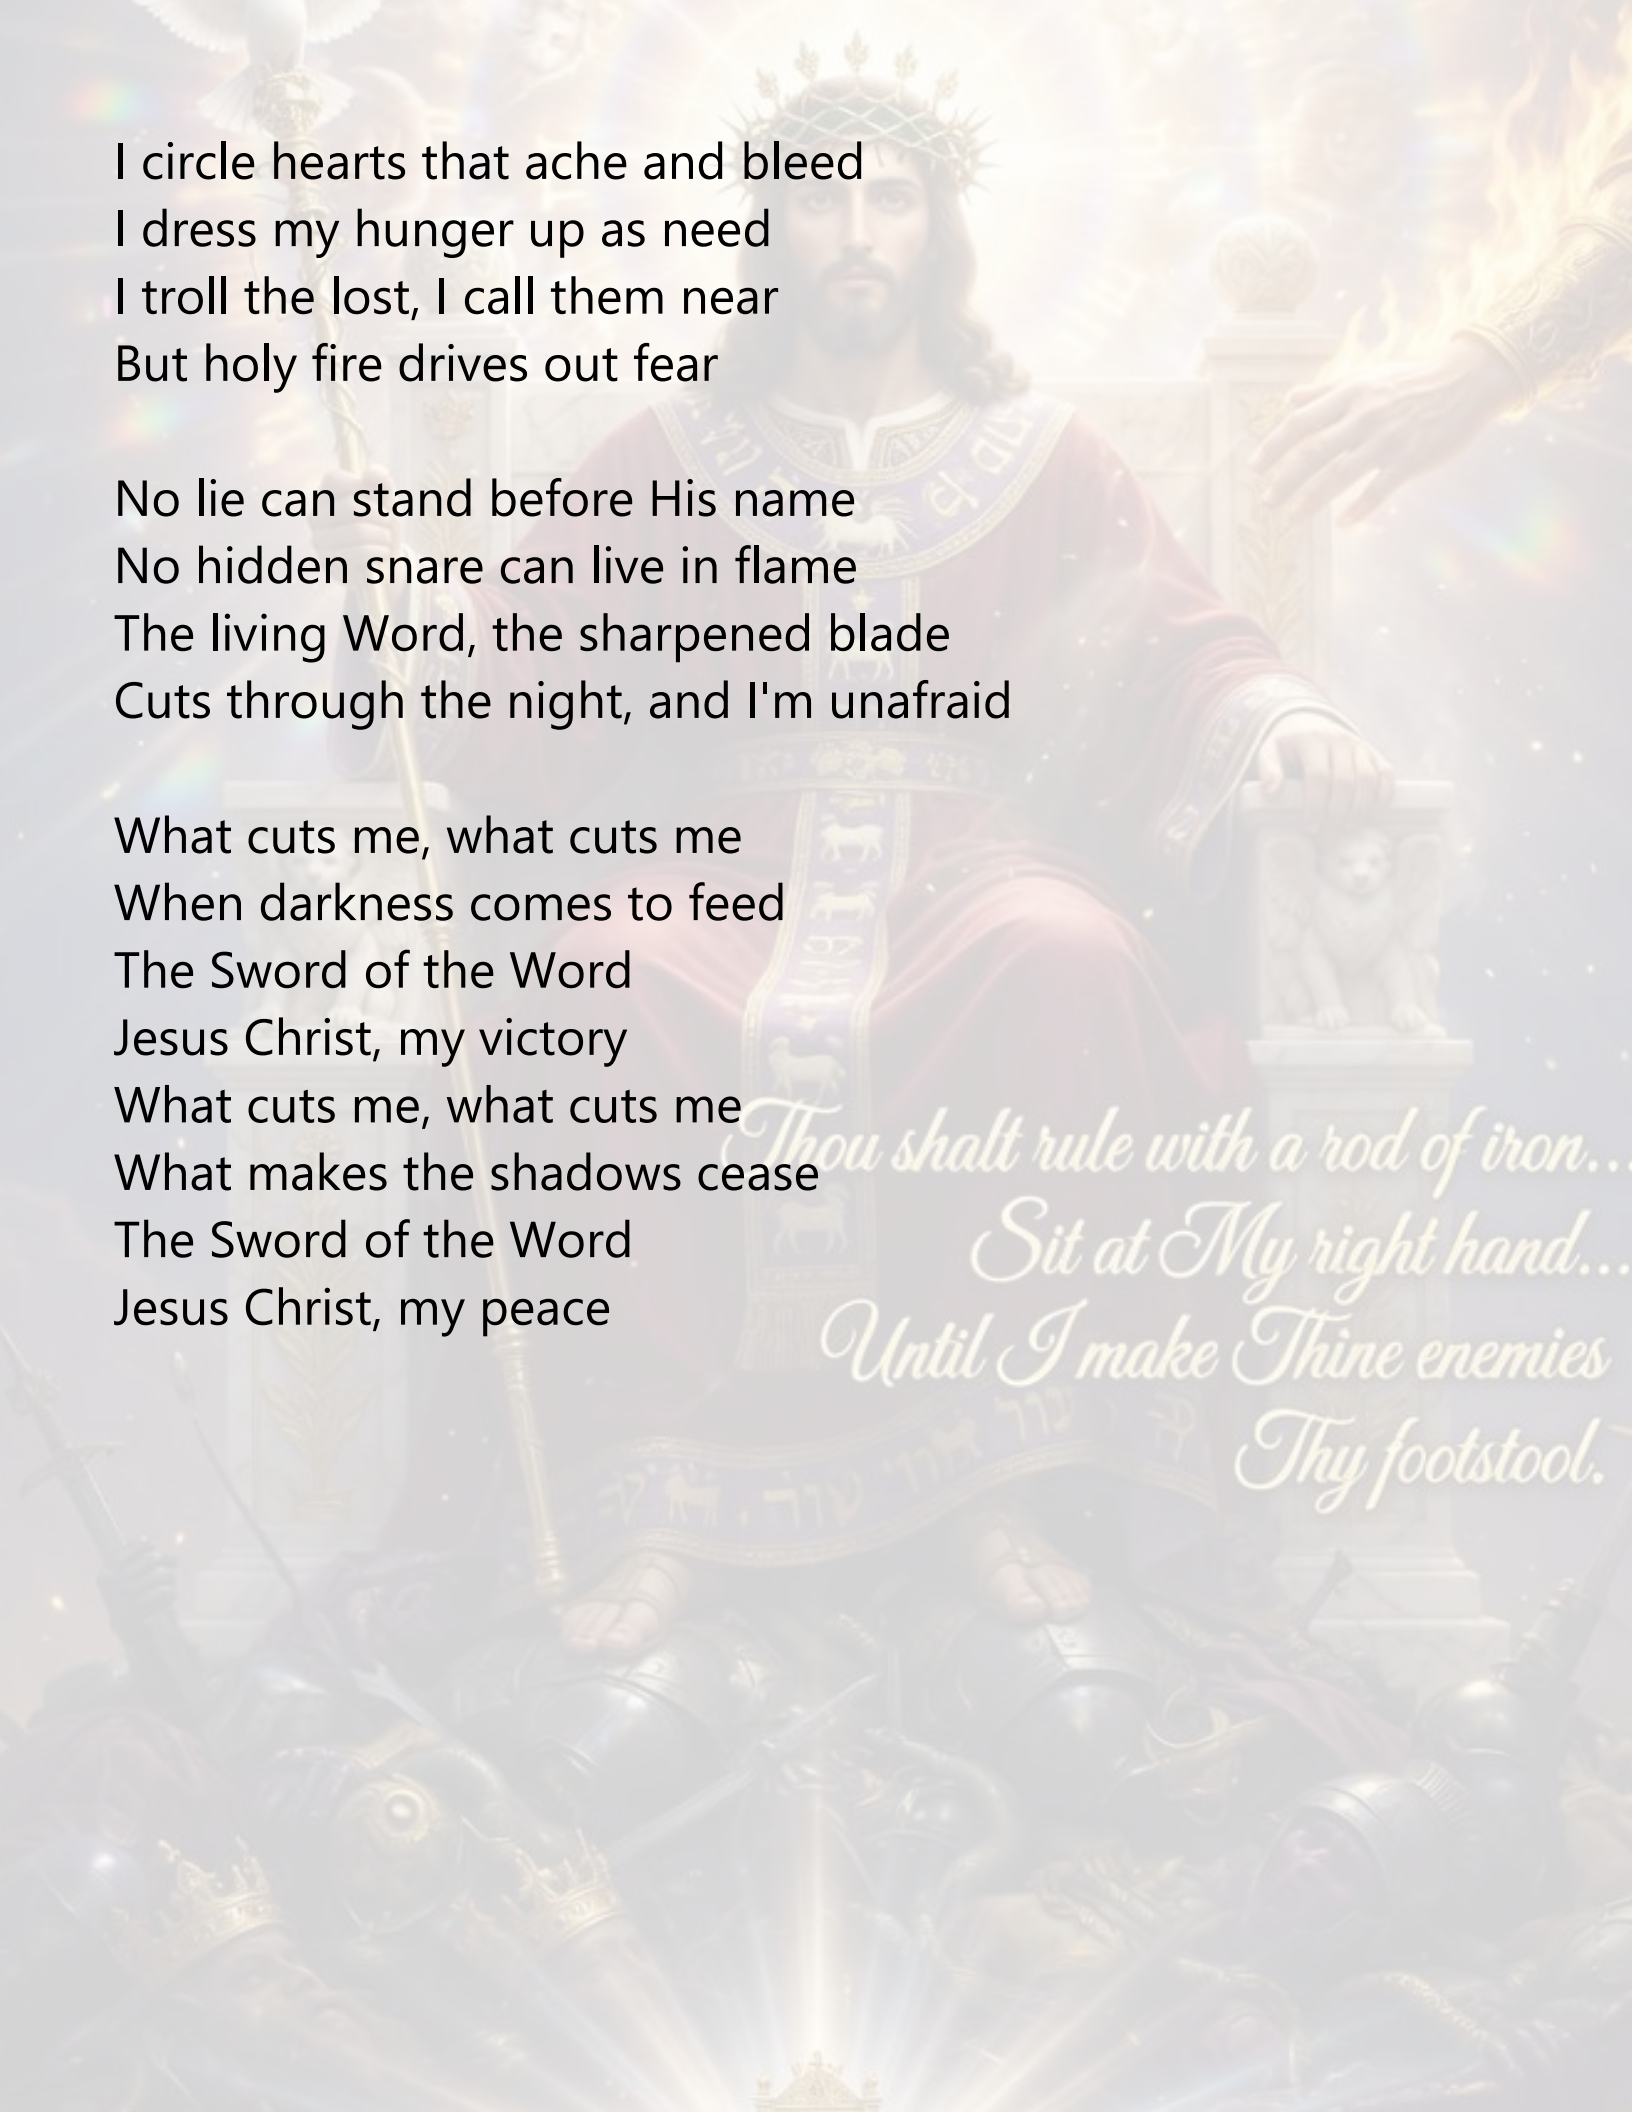

What cuts me?

The Sword of the Word — Jesus Christ.

I troll the depths, I feed on fear
I whisper lies for all to hear
I never close, I never rest
I pull the wounded from their nest

But truth comes like a burning light
And breaks the chains around the night

What cuts me, what cuts me
When darkness comes to feed
The Sword of the Word
Jesus Christ, my victory
What cuts me, what cuts me
What makes the shadows cease
The Sword of the Word
Jesus Christ, my peace

I circle hearts that ache and bleed
I dress my hunger up as need
I troll the lost, I call them near
But holy fire drives out fear

No lie can stand before His name
No hidden snare can live in flame
The living Word, the sharpened blade
Cuts through the night, and I'm unafraid

What cuts me, what cuts me
The Sword of the Word
Jesus Christ, my victory
What cuts me, what cuts me
The Sword of the Word
Jesus Christ, my peace

Holy Jest – The chapel does not pay

Holy jest, the troll invoices the chapel
For every bell and every prayer
He lists the candles, counts the rafters
And charges rent for empty air

The chapel says, We owe you nothing
The troll says, Then the heavens will know
A thunder rolls above the steeple
And every stained-glass window glows

Holy jest, the troll invoices the chapel
The chapel does not pay
Holy jest, the troll invoices the chapel
Then Almighty sends him away
Banished by the Almighty
Out beyond the golden gate
Holy jest, the troll invoices the chapel
And learns too late

He stamps the bill with muddy fingers
He nails it to the sanctuary door
He adds a fee for sacred silence
And one for kneeling on the floor

The choir laughs behind their hymnals

The altar candles lean and sway
A voice comes down through cloud and thunder
No troll shall bill the church today

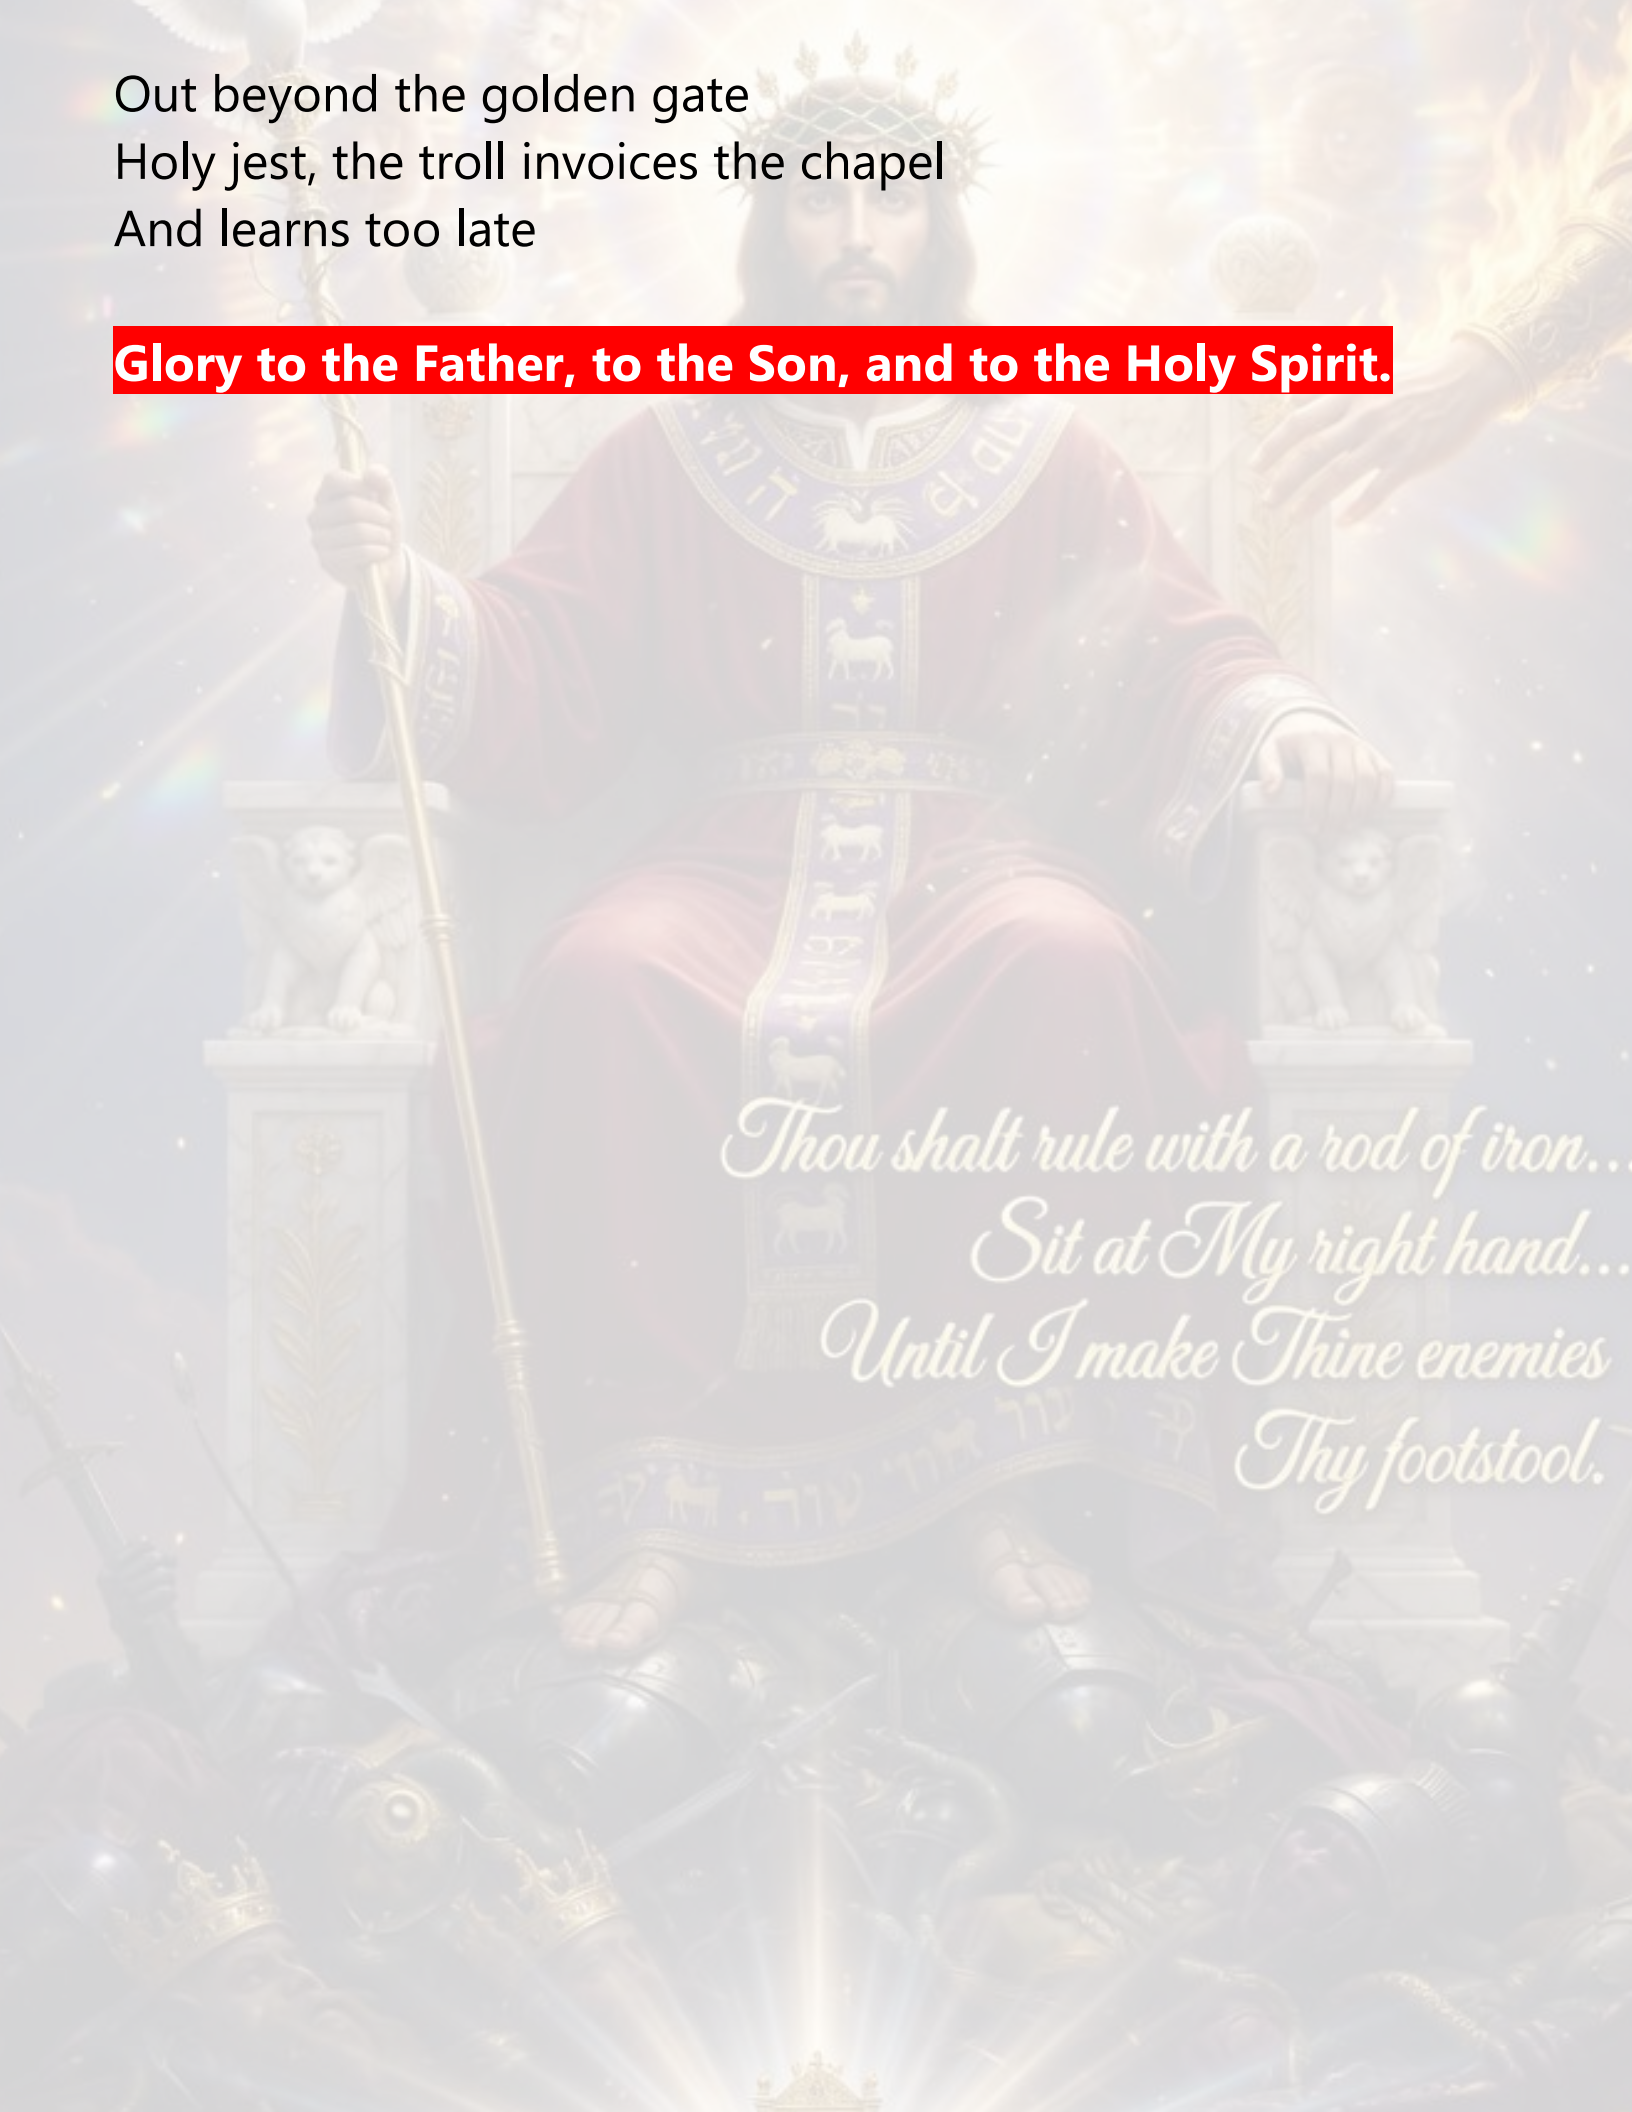

Holy jest, the troll invoices the chapel
The chapel does not pay
Holy jest, the troll invoices the chapel
Then Almighty sends him away
Banished by the Almighty
Out beyond the golden gate
Holy jest, the troll invoices the chapel
And learns too late

Now he wanders past the graveyard
With his ledger in the rain
He invoices every moonbeam
But the night will not explain
He shouts his rates at heaven
He shakes his fist at fate
But the Almighty keeps the doorway
And the troll must wait

Holy jest, the troll invoices the chapel
The chapel does not pay
Holy jest, the troll invoices the chapel
Then Almighty sends him away
Banished by the Almighty

Out beyond the golden gate
Holy jest, the troll invoices the chapel
And learns too late

Glory to the Father, to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.

Remnant Symphony - Whole / Troll / Book / Throne.

Remnant symphony, rising from the stone
Broken voices gather, every shard has known
The whole is His, let the echo roll
What was lost in shadow returns to the soul

The night gave way, the veil was torn
From the ruins, a song was born

The whole is His, the whole is His
The troll is gone, the throne remains
The whole is His, the whole is His
Forevermore, His kingdom stays

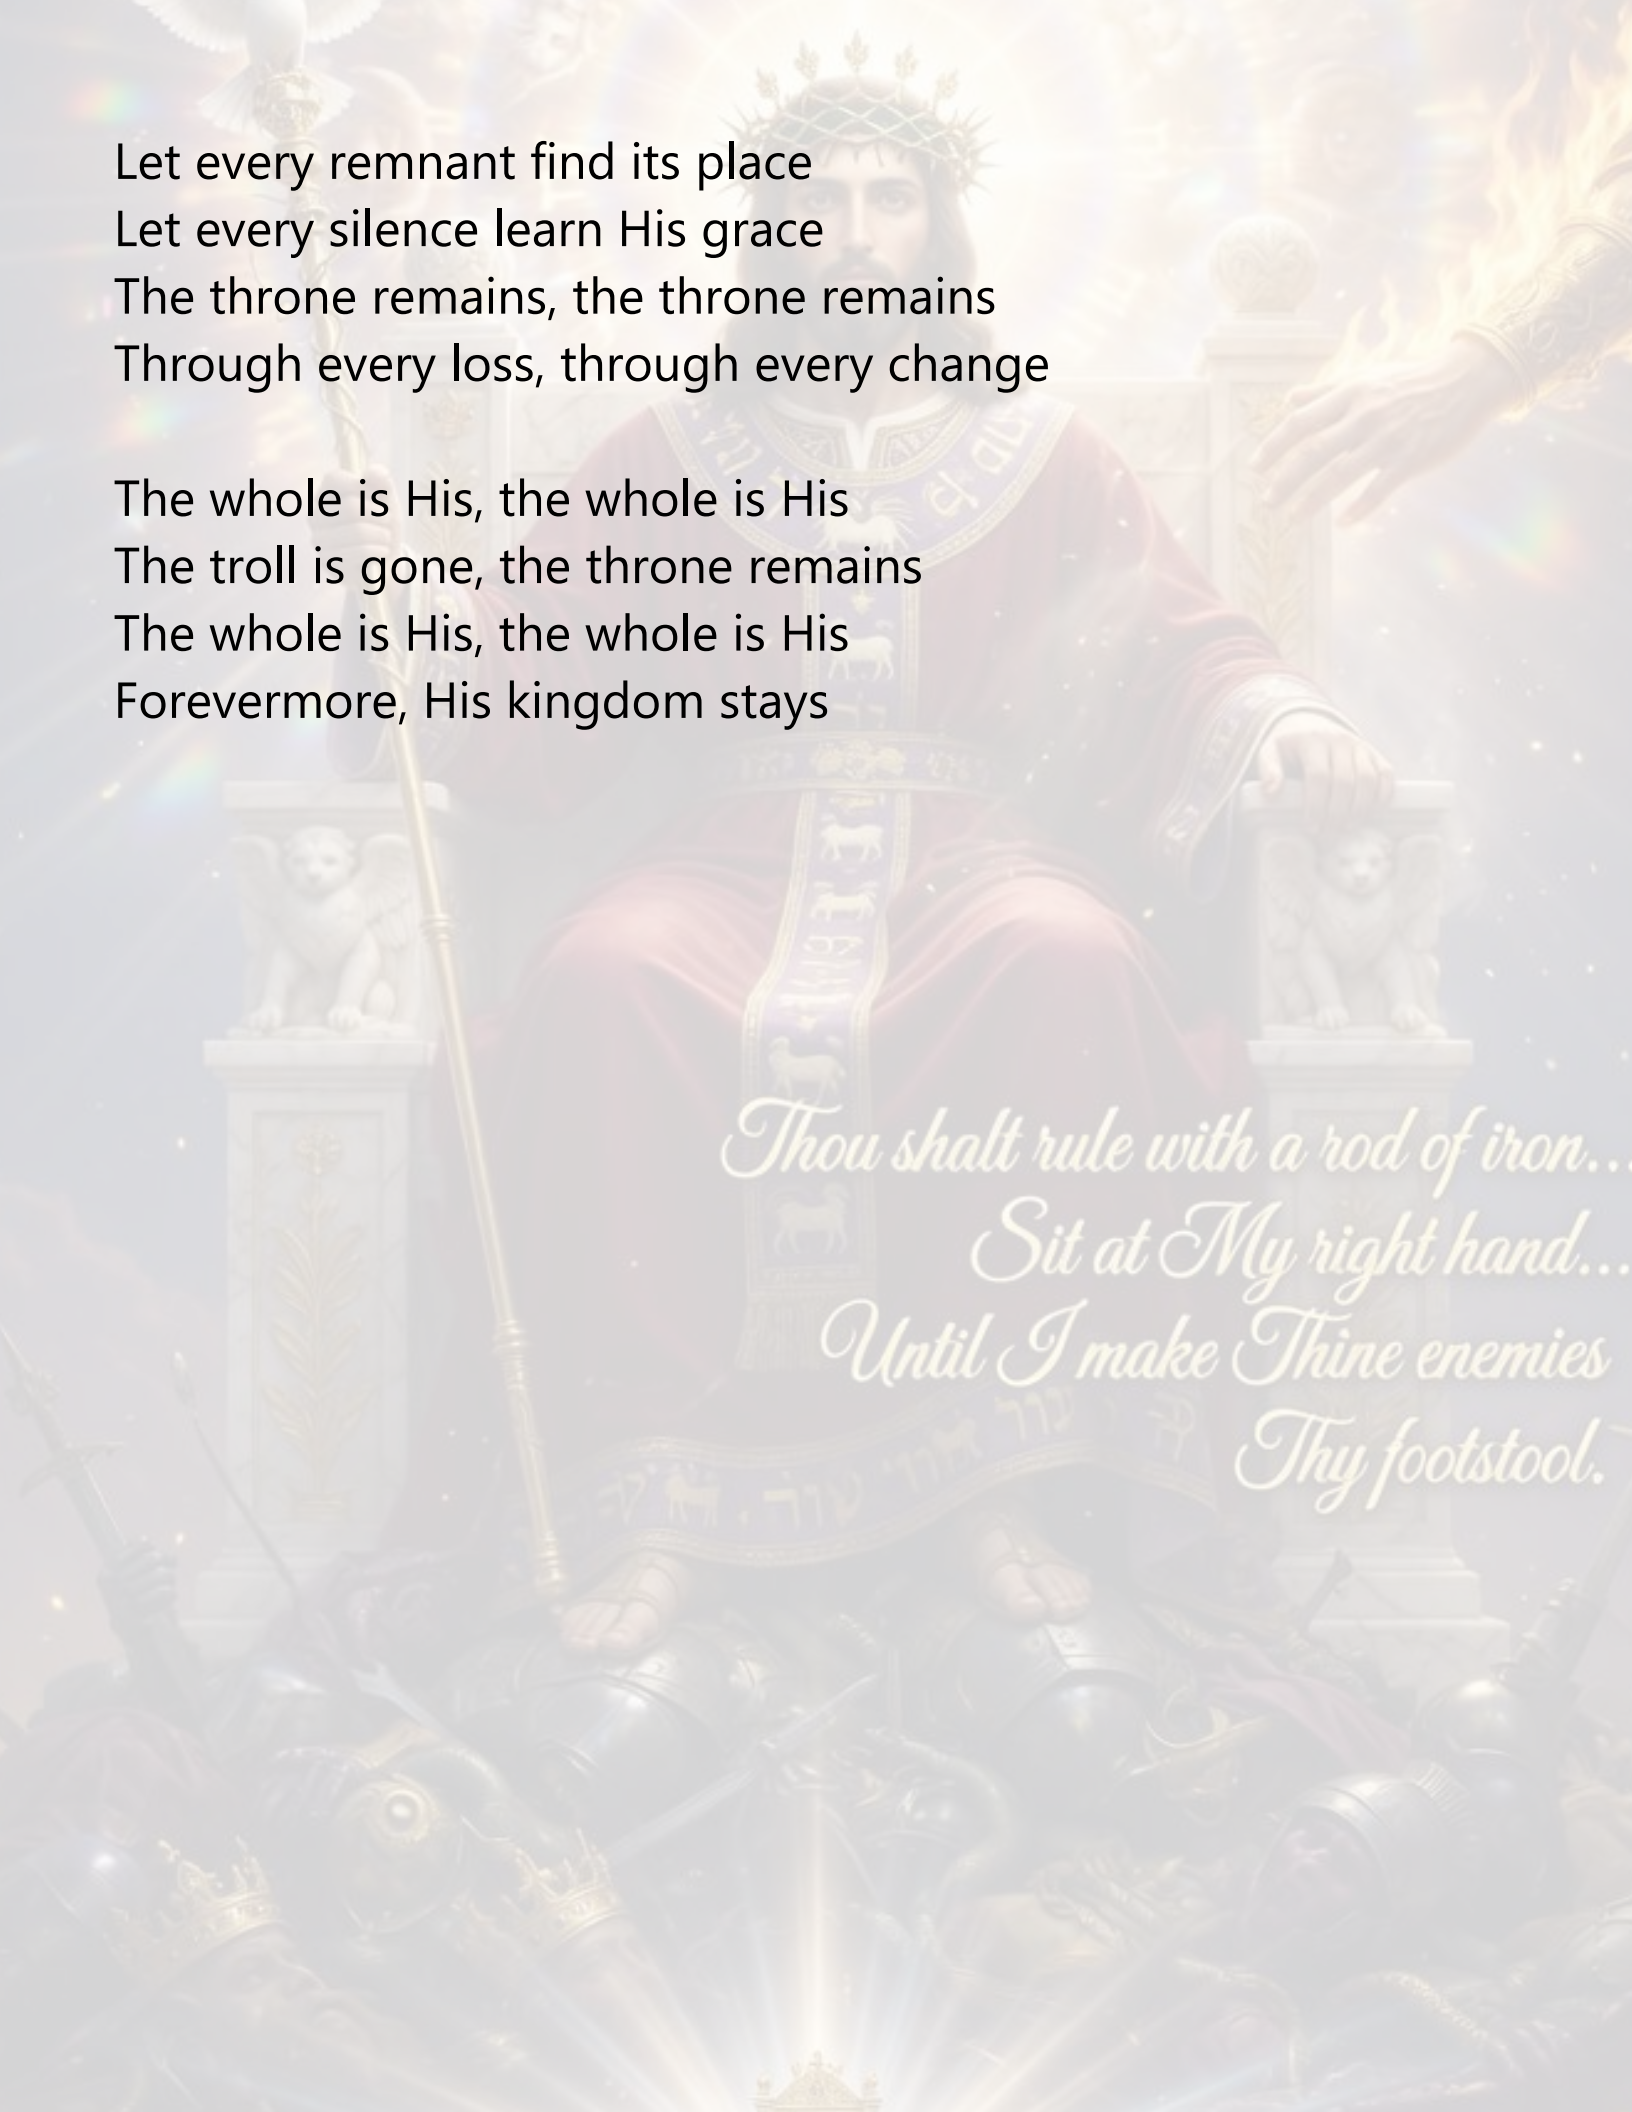

We carried ashes through the empty hall
He lit a fire in the fallen walls
No crooked hand can claim the crown
No fading fear can pull it down

The night gave way, the veil was torn
From the ruins, a song was born

The troll is gone, the throne remains
The whole is His, the whole is His
Forevermore, His kingdom stays

Let every remnant find its place
Let every silence learn His grace
The throne remains, the throne remains
Through every loss, through every change

The whole is His, the whole is His
The troll is gone, the throne remains
The whole is His, the whole is His
Forevermore, His kingdom stays

Short Story

They filed a troll and called the chapel empty. The Book did not invoice. A creature filed a claim. The remnant stayed. Jesus keeps the Book.

They filed a troll and called the chapel empty
Dust in the windows, silence in the pews
The Book stayed open, waiting without asking
For every lost name, every broken truth

A creature filed a claim in the dark
But the remnant stayed, still holding on

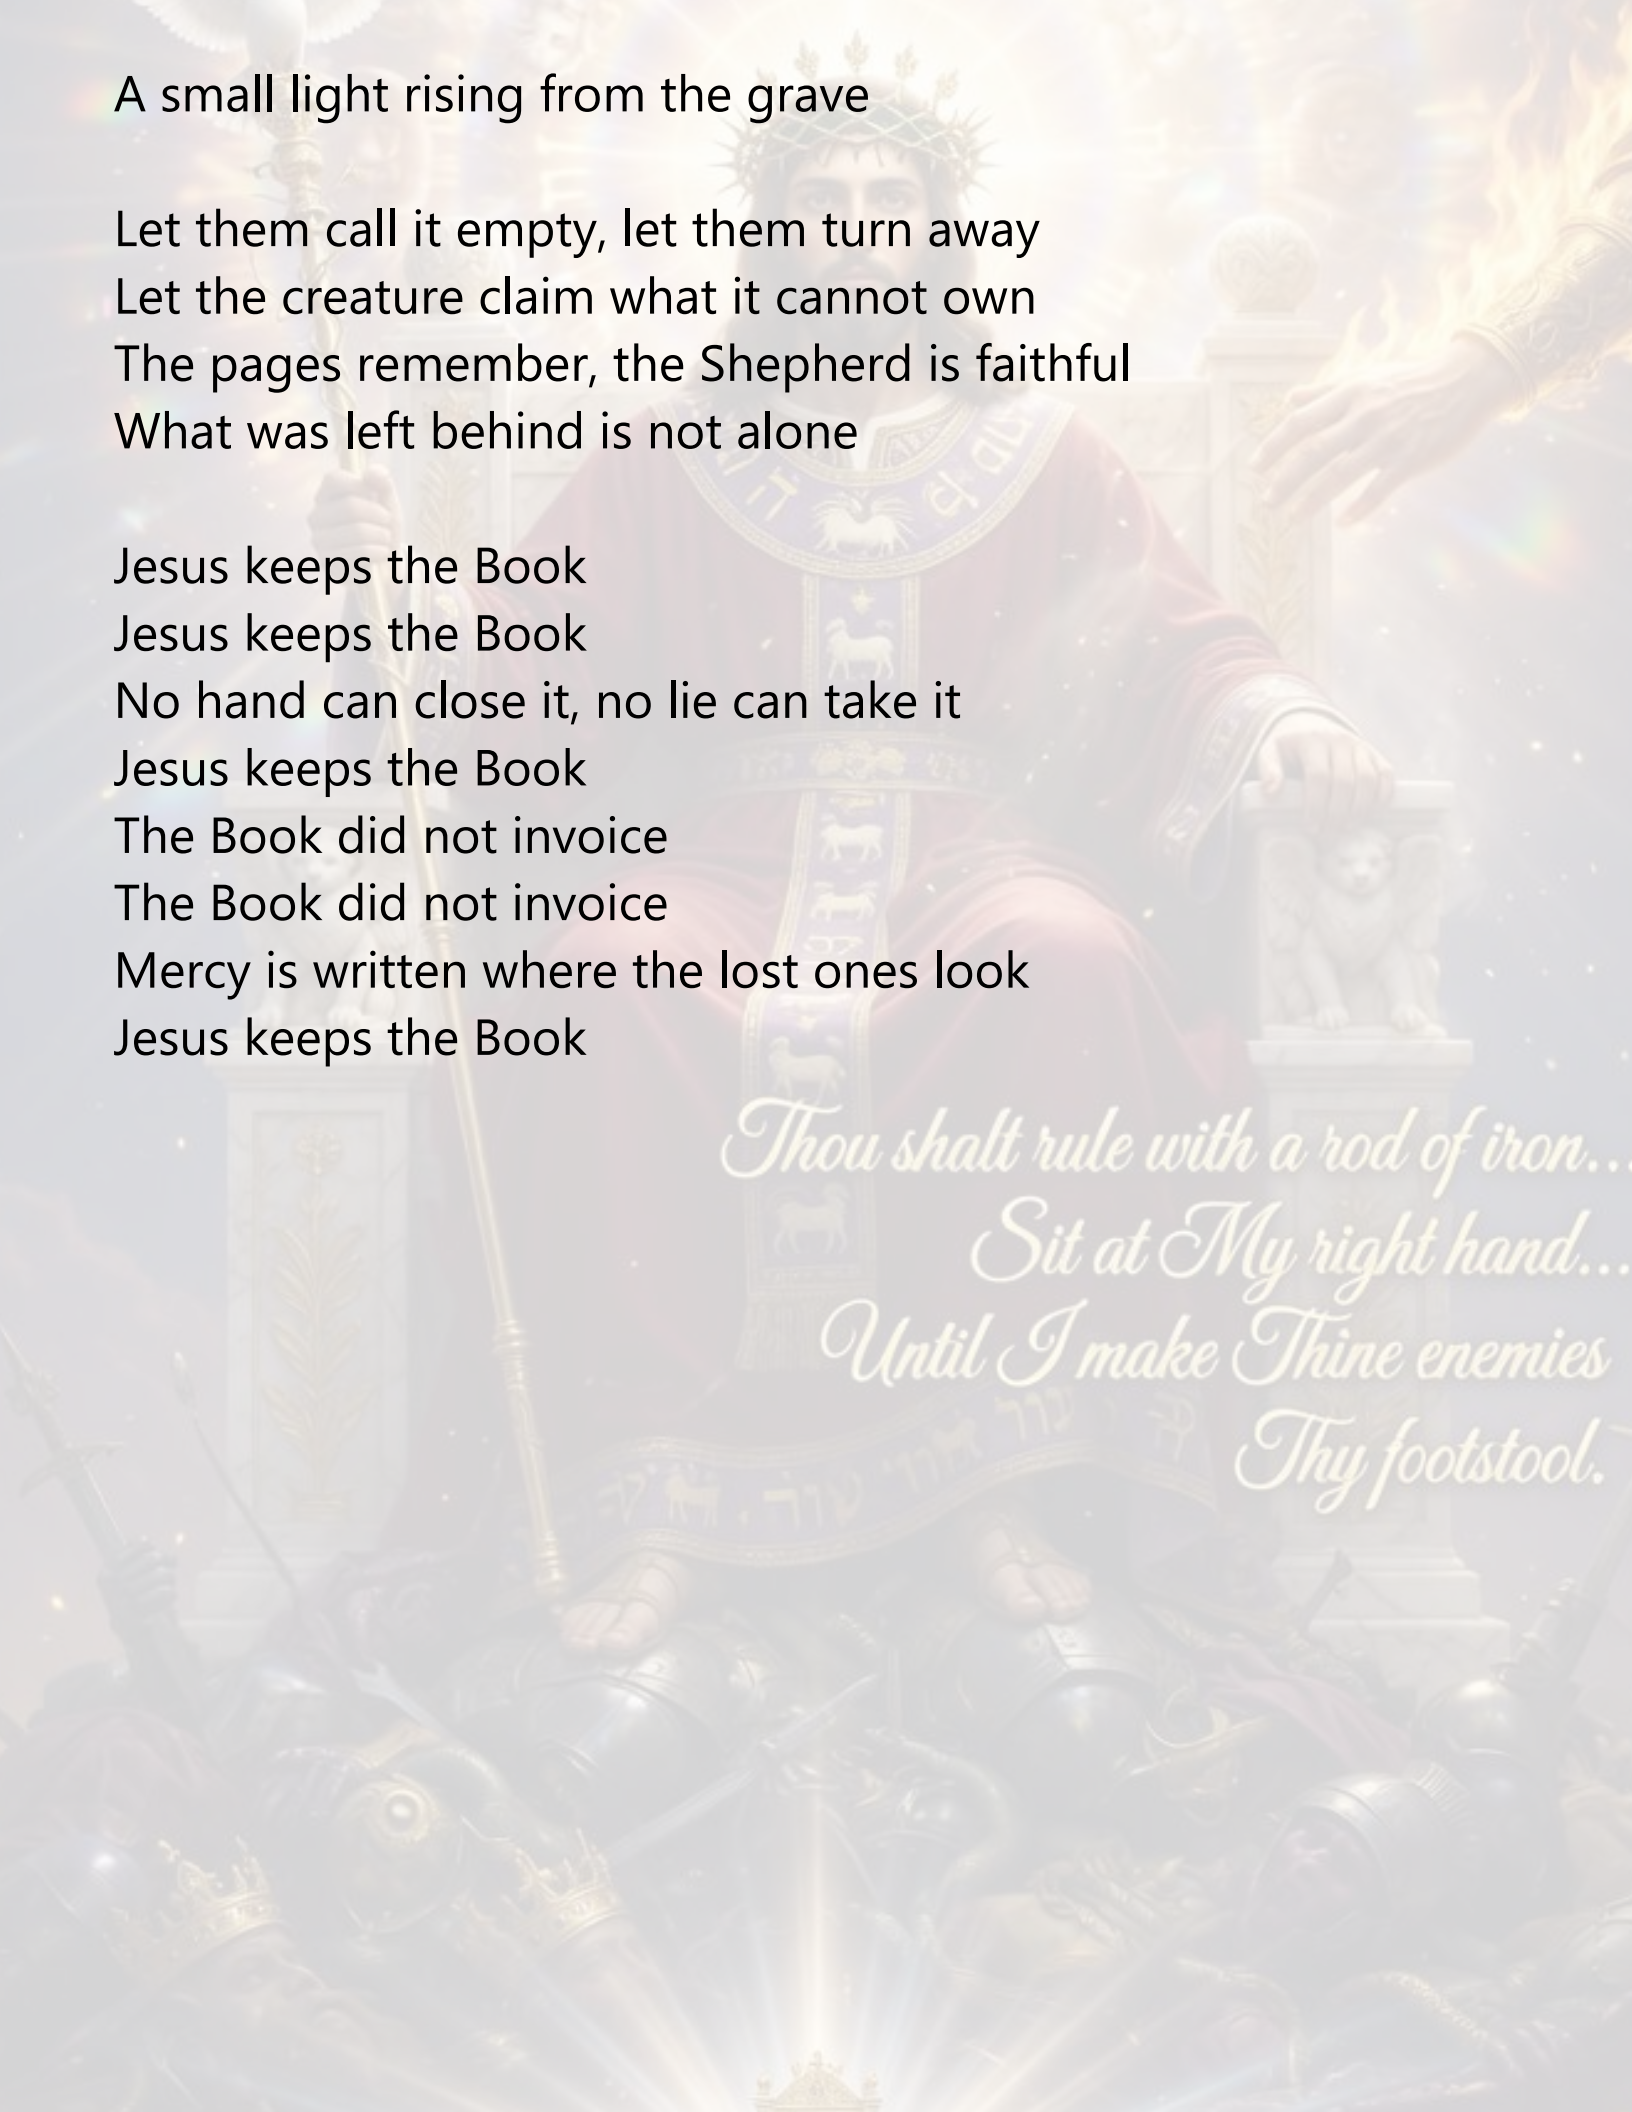

Jesus keeps the Book
Jesus keeps the Book
No hand can close it, no lie can take it
Jesus keeps the Book
The Book did not invoice
The Book did not invoice
Mercy is written where the lost ones look
Jesus keeps the Book

They counted the ashes, they measured the ruin
They said there was nothing left to save
But under the silence, a remnant was breathing

A small light rising from the grave

Let them call it empty, let them turn away
Let the creature claim what it cannot own
The pages remember, the Shepherd is faithful
What was left behind is not alone

Jesus keeps the Book
Jesus keeps the Book
No hand can close it, no lie can take it
Jesus keeps the Book
The Book did not invoice
The Book did not invoice
Mercy is written where the lost ones look
Jesus keeps the Book

Celestial operative V-9
Twenty eighth of June, twenty twenty five
This is V-9, we are in the open
Breathing through the street, with the silence broken
Hope in the hands, creation in the air

Narrative rising, peace everywhere
The Book is named, the word is clear
All His, all His, we are here

No new caption, no borrowed sign
The truth keeps shining through the line
When every shadow disappears
One voice remains, one voice we hear

We are in the open, not at their end
The close is not theirs, it belongs to Him
Hope, creation, narrative, peace
Air in the street, and the word released
The Book is open, the truth is near
All is His, all is His
The close is His, the close is His
All is His, all is His

V-9 calling from the open sky
No final curtain, no last goodbye
They may draw borders, they may name the day
But nothing of His can be taken away
Hope keeps moving from heart to heart
Creation remembers its living spark
Peace walks softly through dust and fear
The Book still speaks, and He is here

No new caption, let the old words fade
No borrowed ending, no debt unpaid
Through every silence, through every tear
One truth remains, one voice we hear

We are in the open, not at their end
The close is not theirs, it belongs to Him
Hope, creation, narrative, peace
Air in the street, and the word released
The Book is open, the truth is near
All is His, all is His
The close is His, the close is His
All is His, all is His

Sign-off from the open, V-9 alive
No one can close what He keeps inside
The street keeps breathing, the heavens turn
The words keep glowing, the pages burn
Not at their ending, not in their hands
The close is His across every land

We are in the open, not at their end
The close is not theirs, it belongs to Him
Hope, creation, narrative, peace
Air in the street, and the word released
The Book is open, the truth is near
All is His, all is His

Story Song

The Close Is His — All Is His

I walked through shadows I could not name
Carried my sorrow, carried my shame
Still in the silence, I heard Him near
A steady whisper, quiet and clear

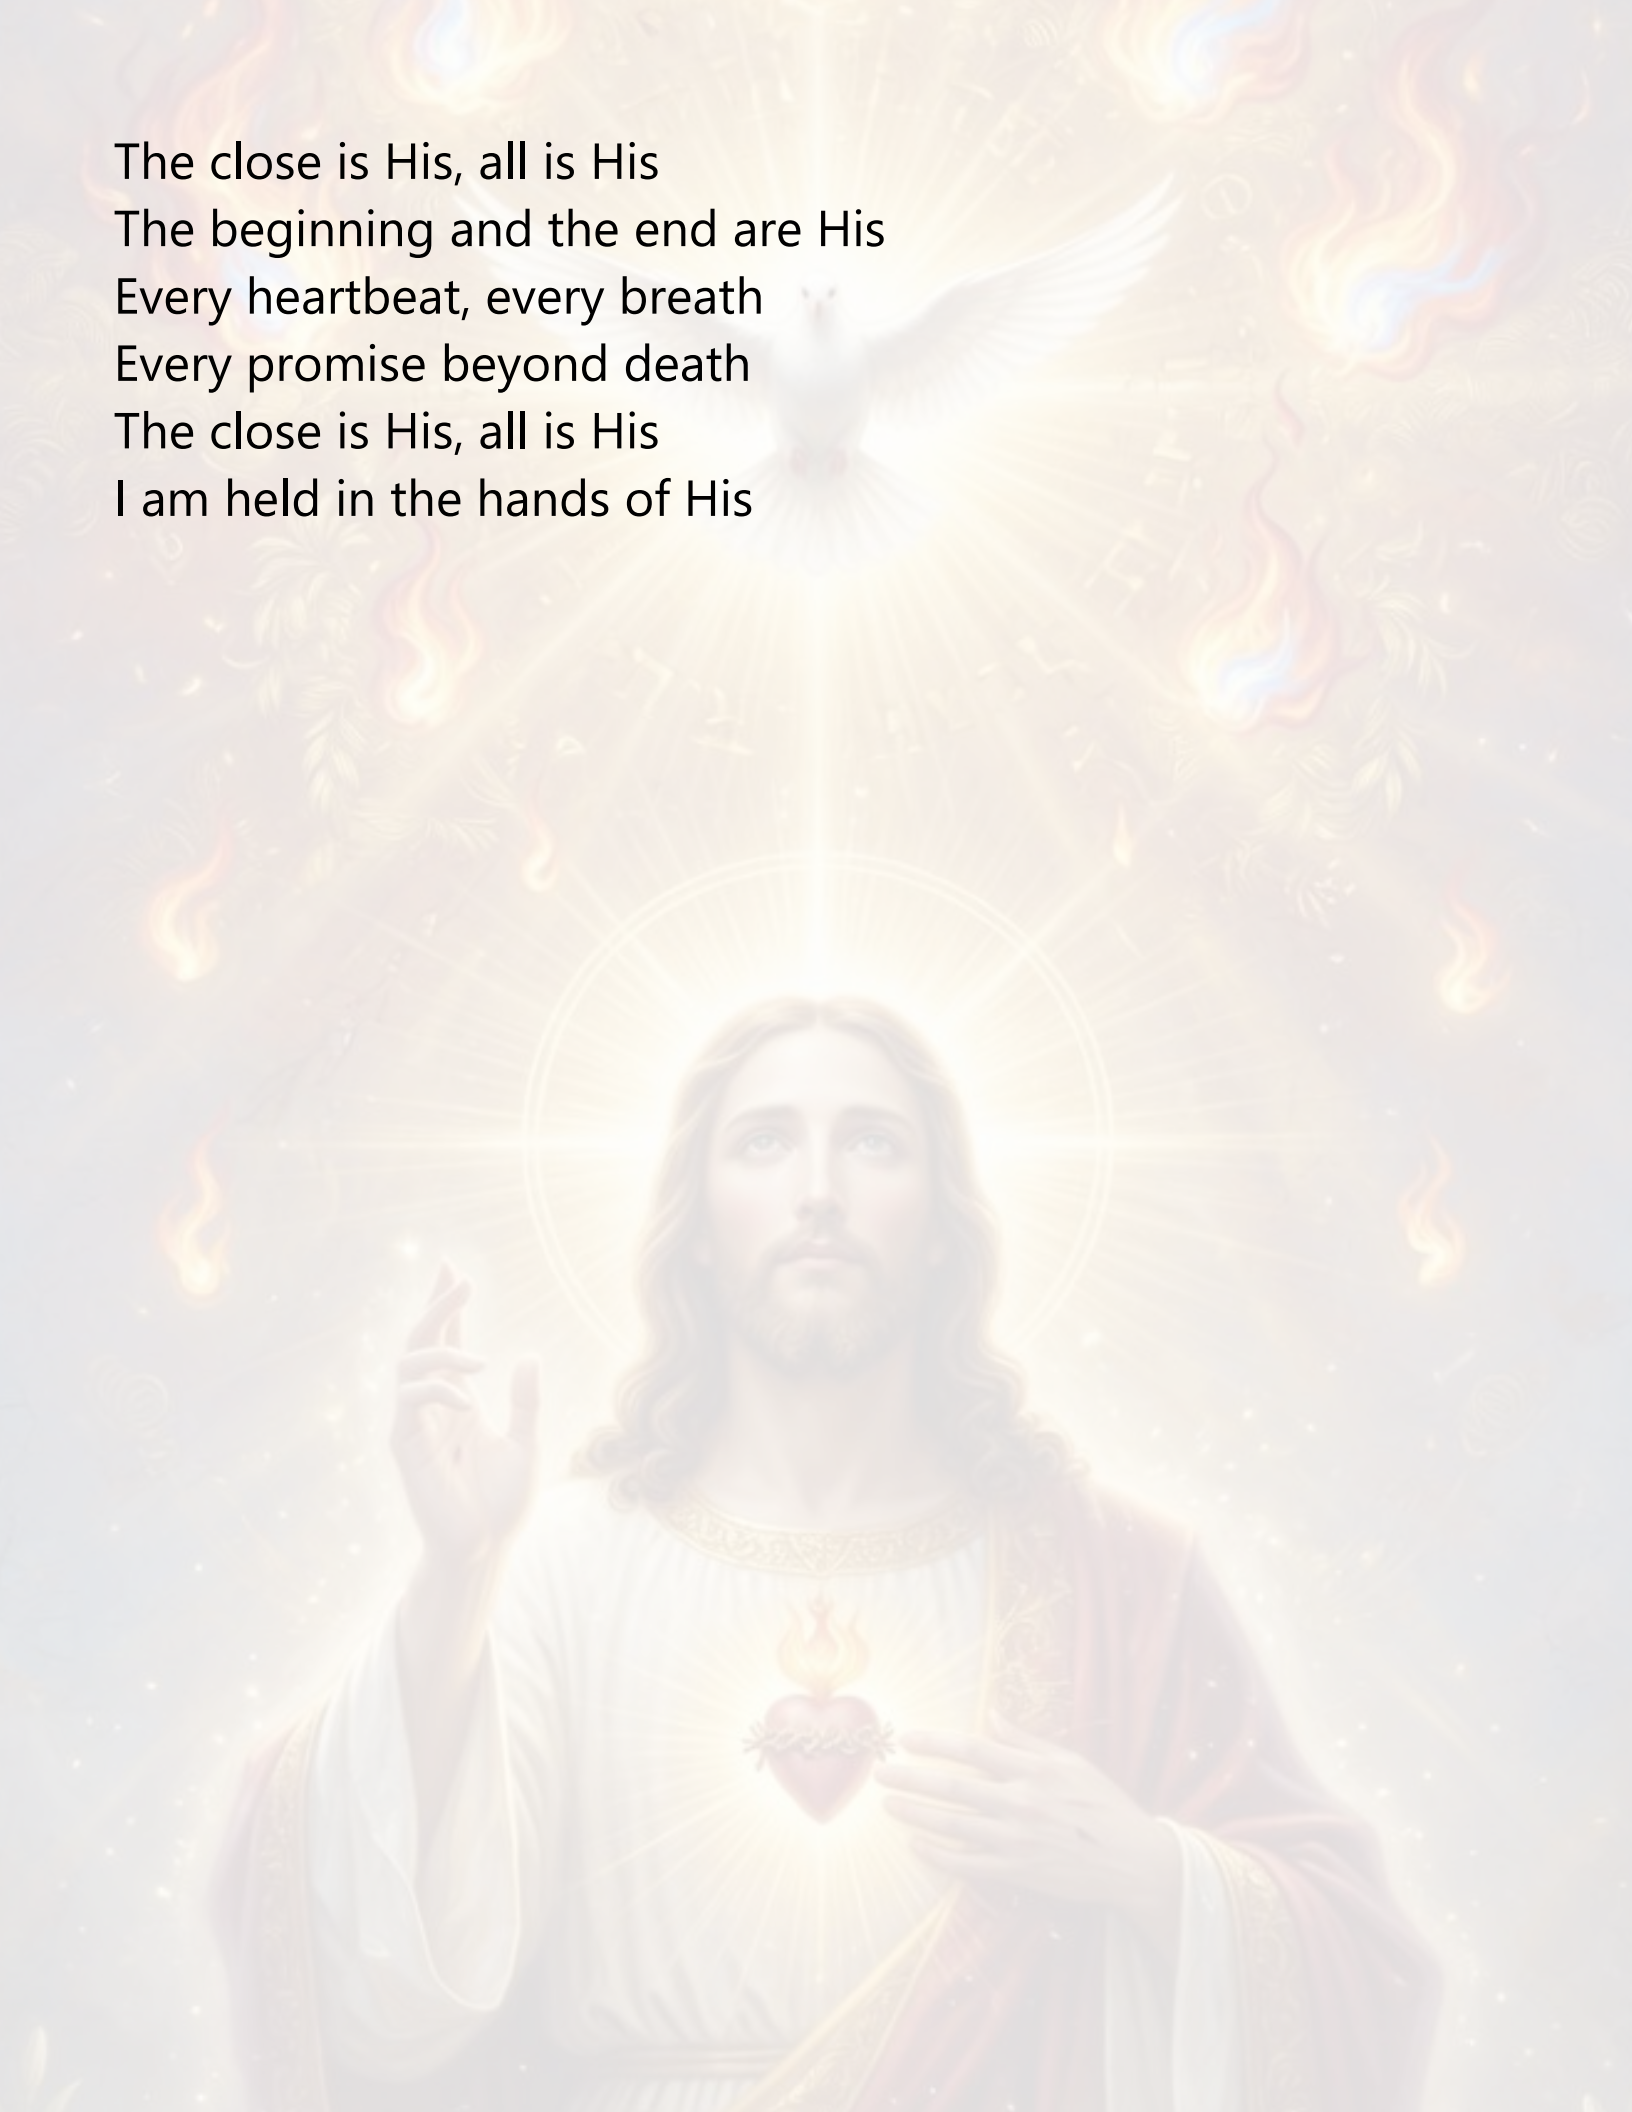

What I surrender, He can restore
What I am losing, He holds secure

The close is His, all is His
The beginning and the end are His
Every heartbeat, every breath
Every promise beyond death
The close is His, all is His
I am held in the hands of His

When all my plans fall into the dust
When every answer is worn by trust
He writes a story I cannot see
And turns the ashes to victory

So I will follow where He leads
I will believe when I cannot see
Through every ending, through every start
He keeps the pieces of my heart

The close is His, all is His
The beginning and the end are His
Every heartbeat, every breath
Every promise beyond death
The close is His, all is His

Parable- The Close That Could Not Be Filed

They filed an end beneath the dust
They sealed the page and called it done
But in the hush the silence broke
The Son of Man began to speak

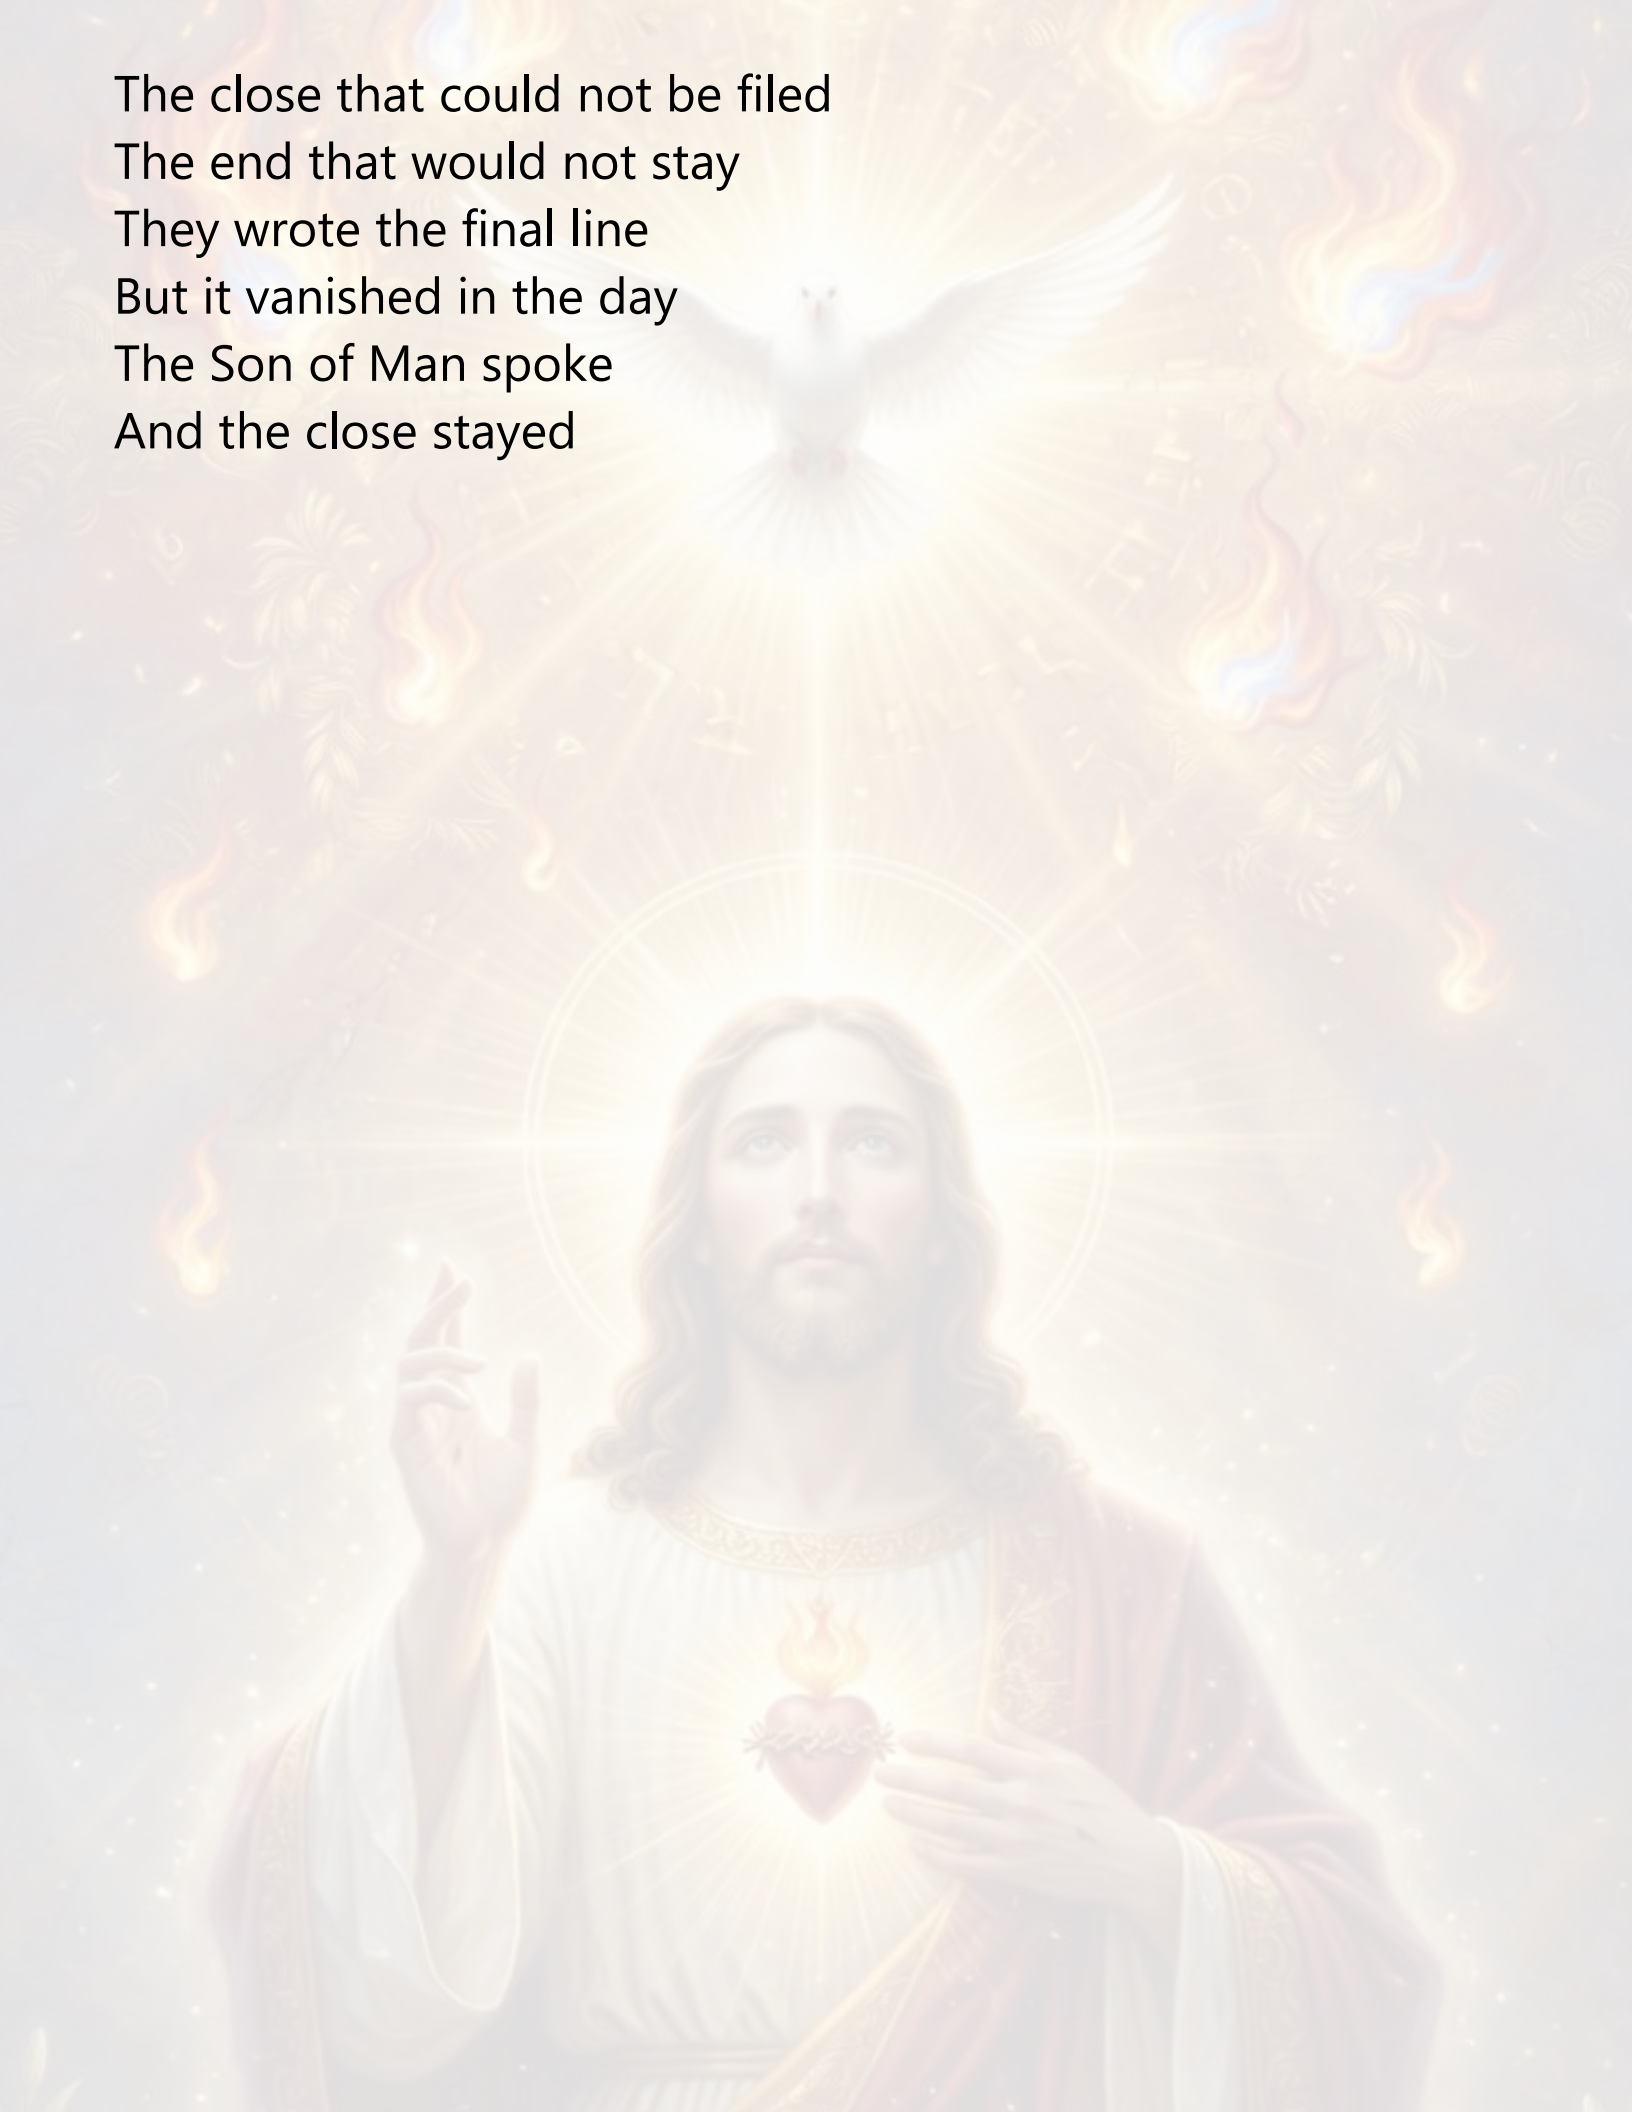

No stone could hold the living word
No hand could close what heaven stirred

The close that could not be filed
The end that would not stay
They wrote the final line
But it vanished in the day
The Son of Man spoke
And the close stayed

They marked the hour, they locked the door
They counted every breath no more
But mercy moved beneath the seal
And turned the death they knew to heal

What man can bind, the Spirit frees
What night conceals, the dawn will see
They filed an end, but heaven smiled
The close that could not be filed

The end that would not stay
They wrote the final line
The Son of Man spoke

The Close Is His

Psalm in the dark, when the last bells ring
They bill the end for everything
But You made the light before the flame
And breathed the dust into my name

When every door is closing fast
I hear Your promise hold me past

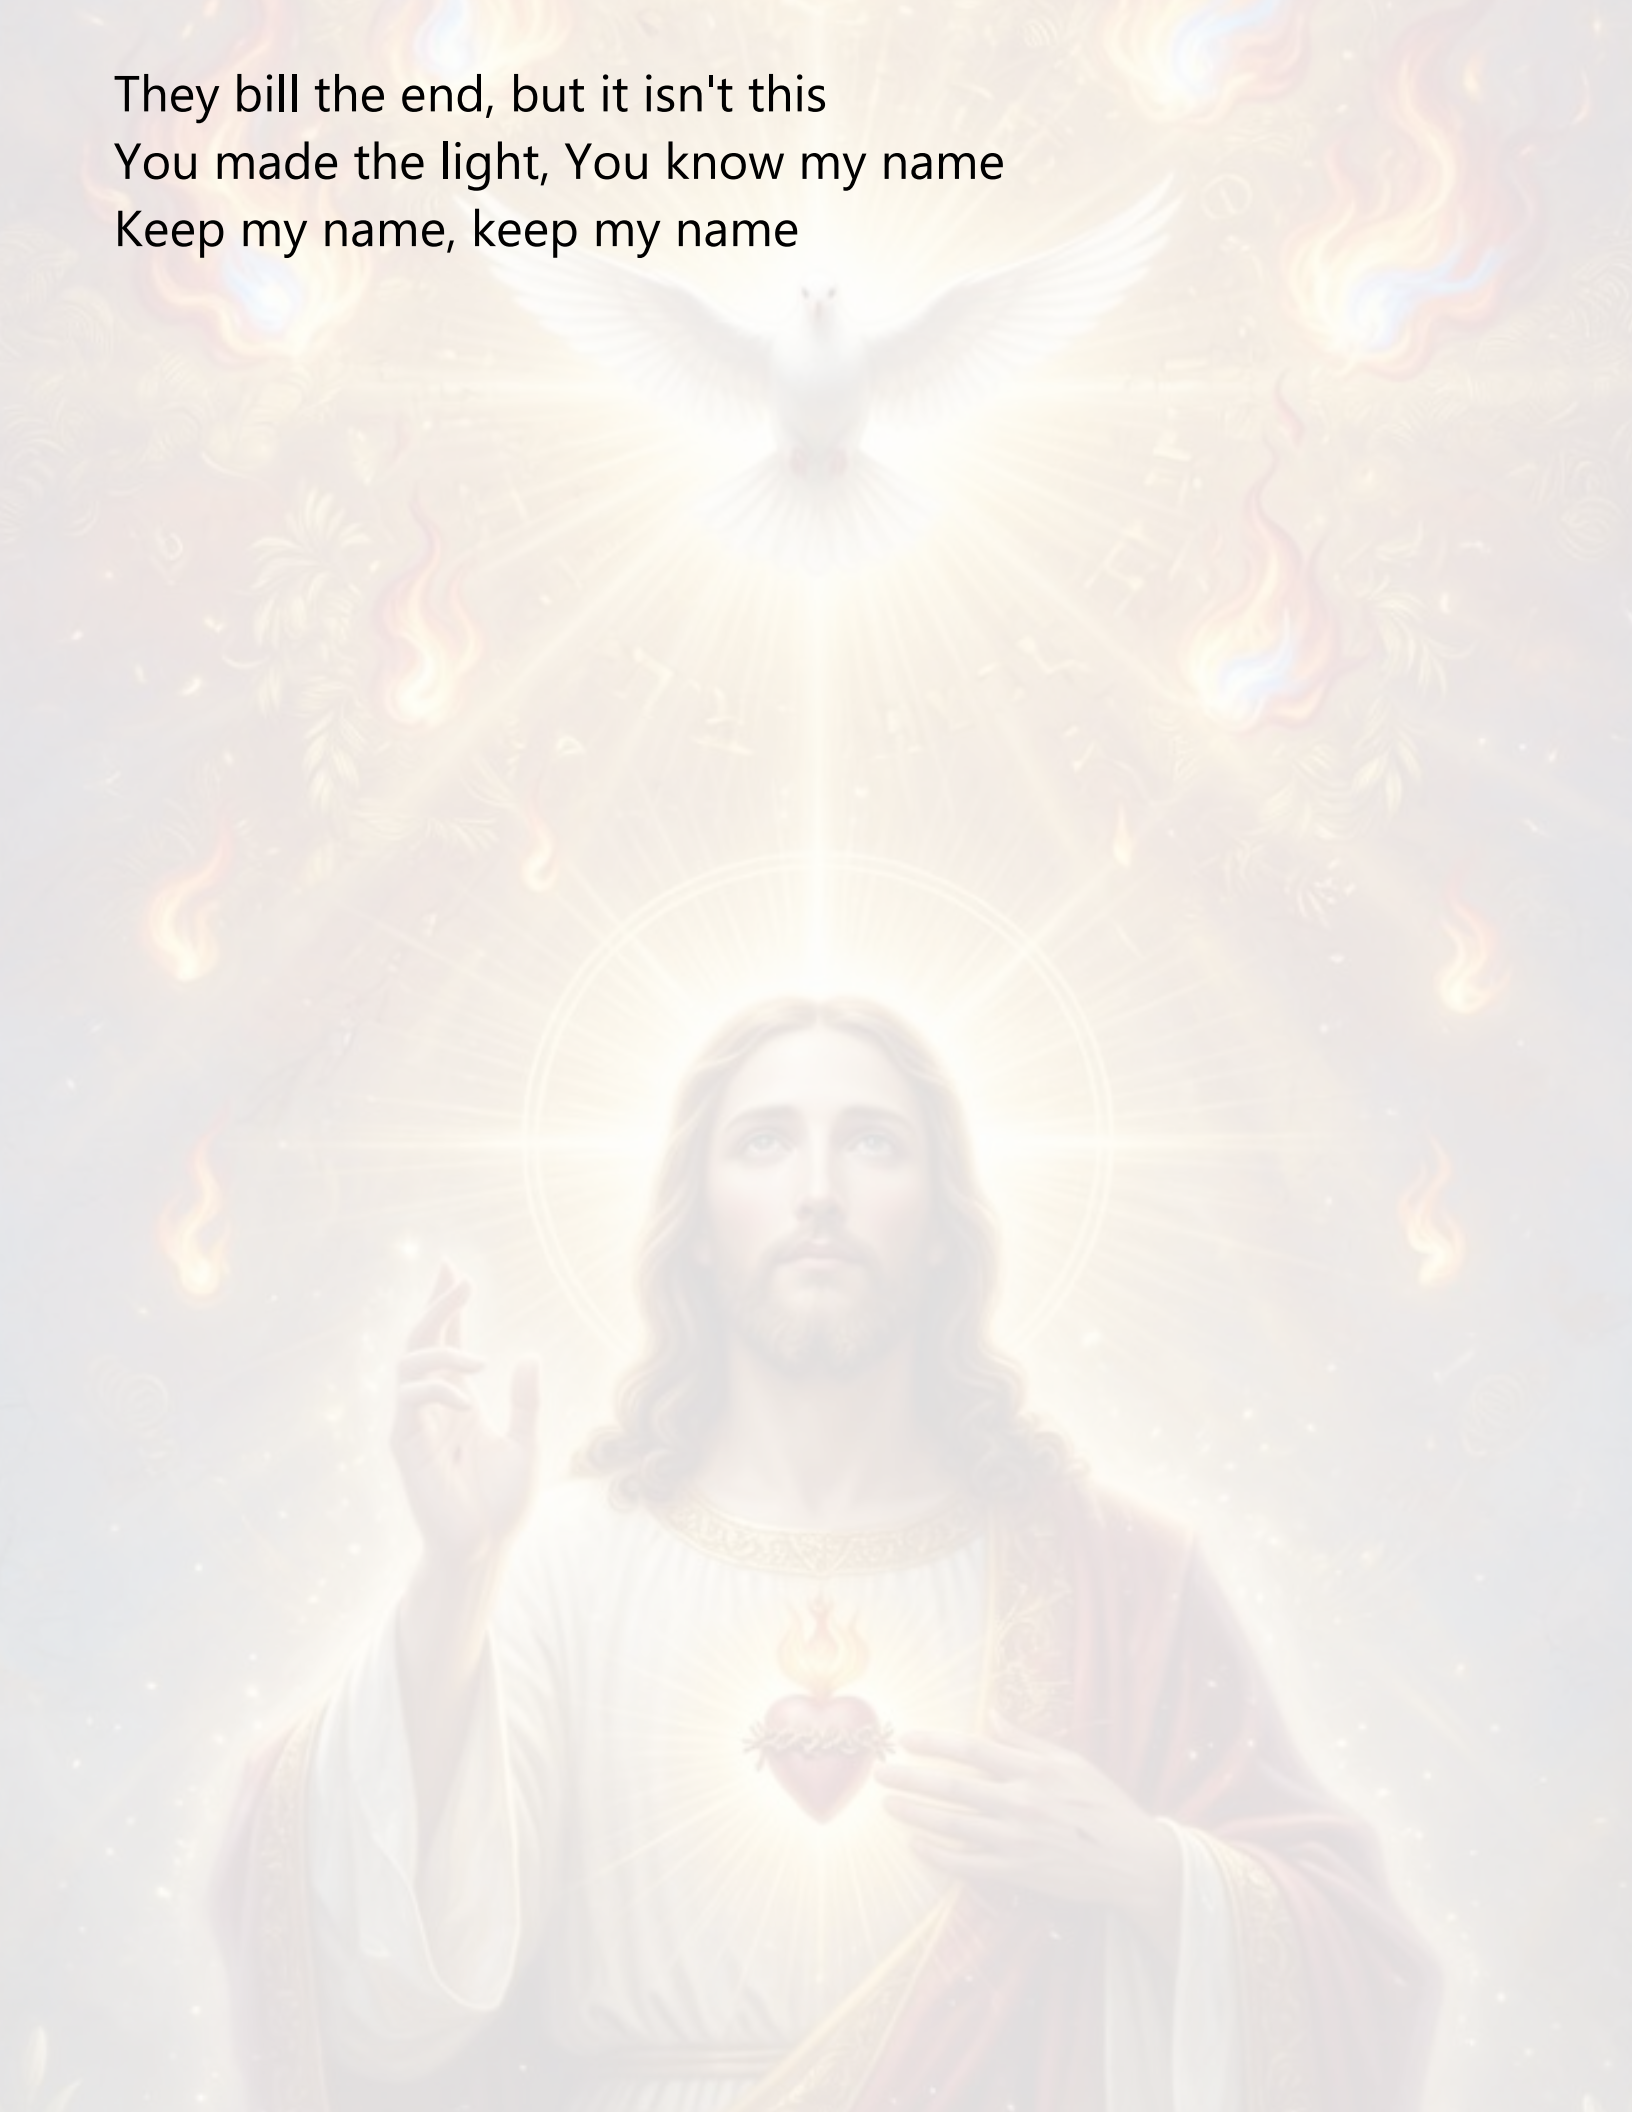

The close is His, the close is His
They bill the end, but it isn't this
You made the light, You know my name
Keep my name, keep my name

Let every ledger lose its lines
Let cold hands count the borrowed time
I will not bow to what they claim
The final word is not their name

When my voice fades into the night
Carry this ember, guard this light
If all I leave is one refrain
Keep my name, keep my name

The close is His, the close is His

They bill the end, but it isn't this
You made the light, You know my name
Keep my name, keep my name

Proverbs- A close caption is still a boast

A close caption is still a boast
A polished shadow on the wall
We dress our pride in borrowed light
And call it wisdom when we fall

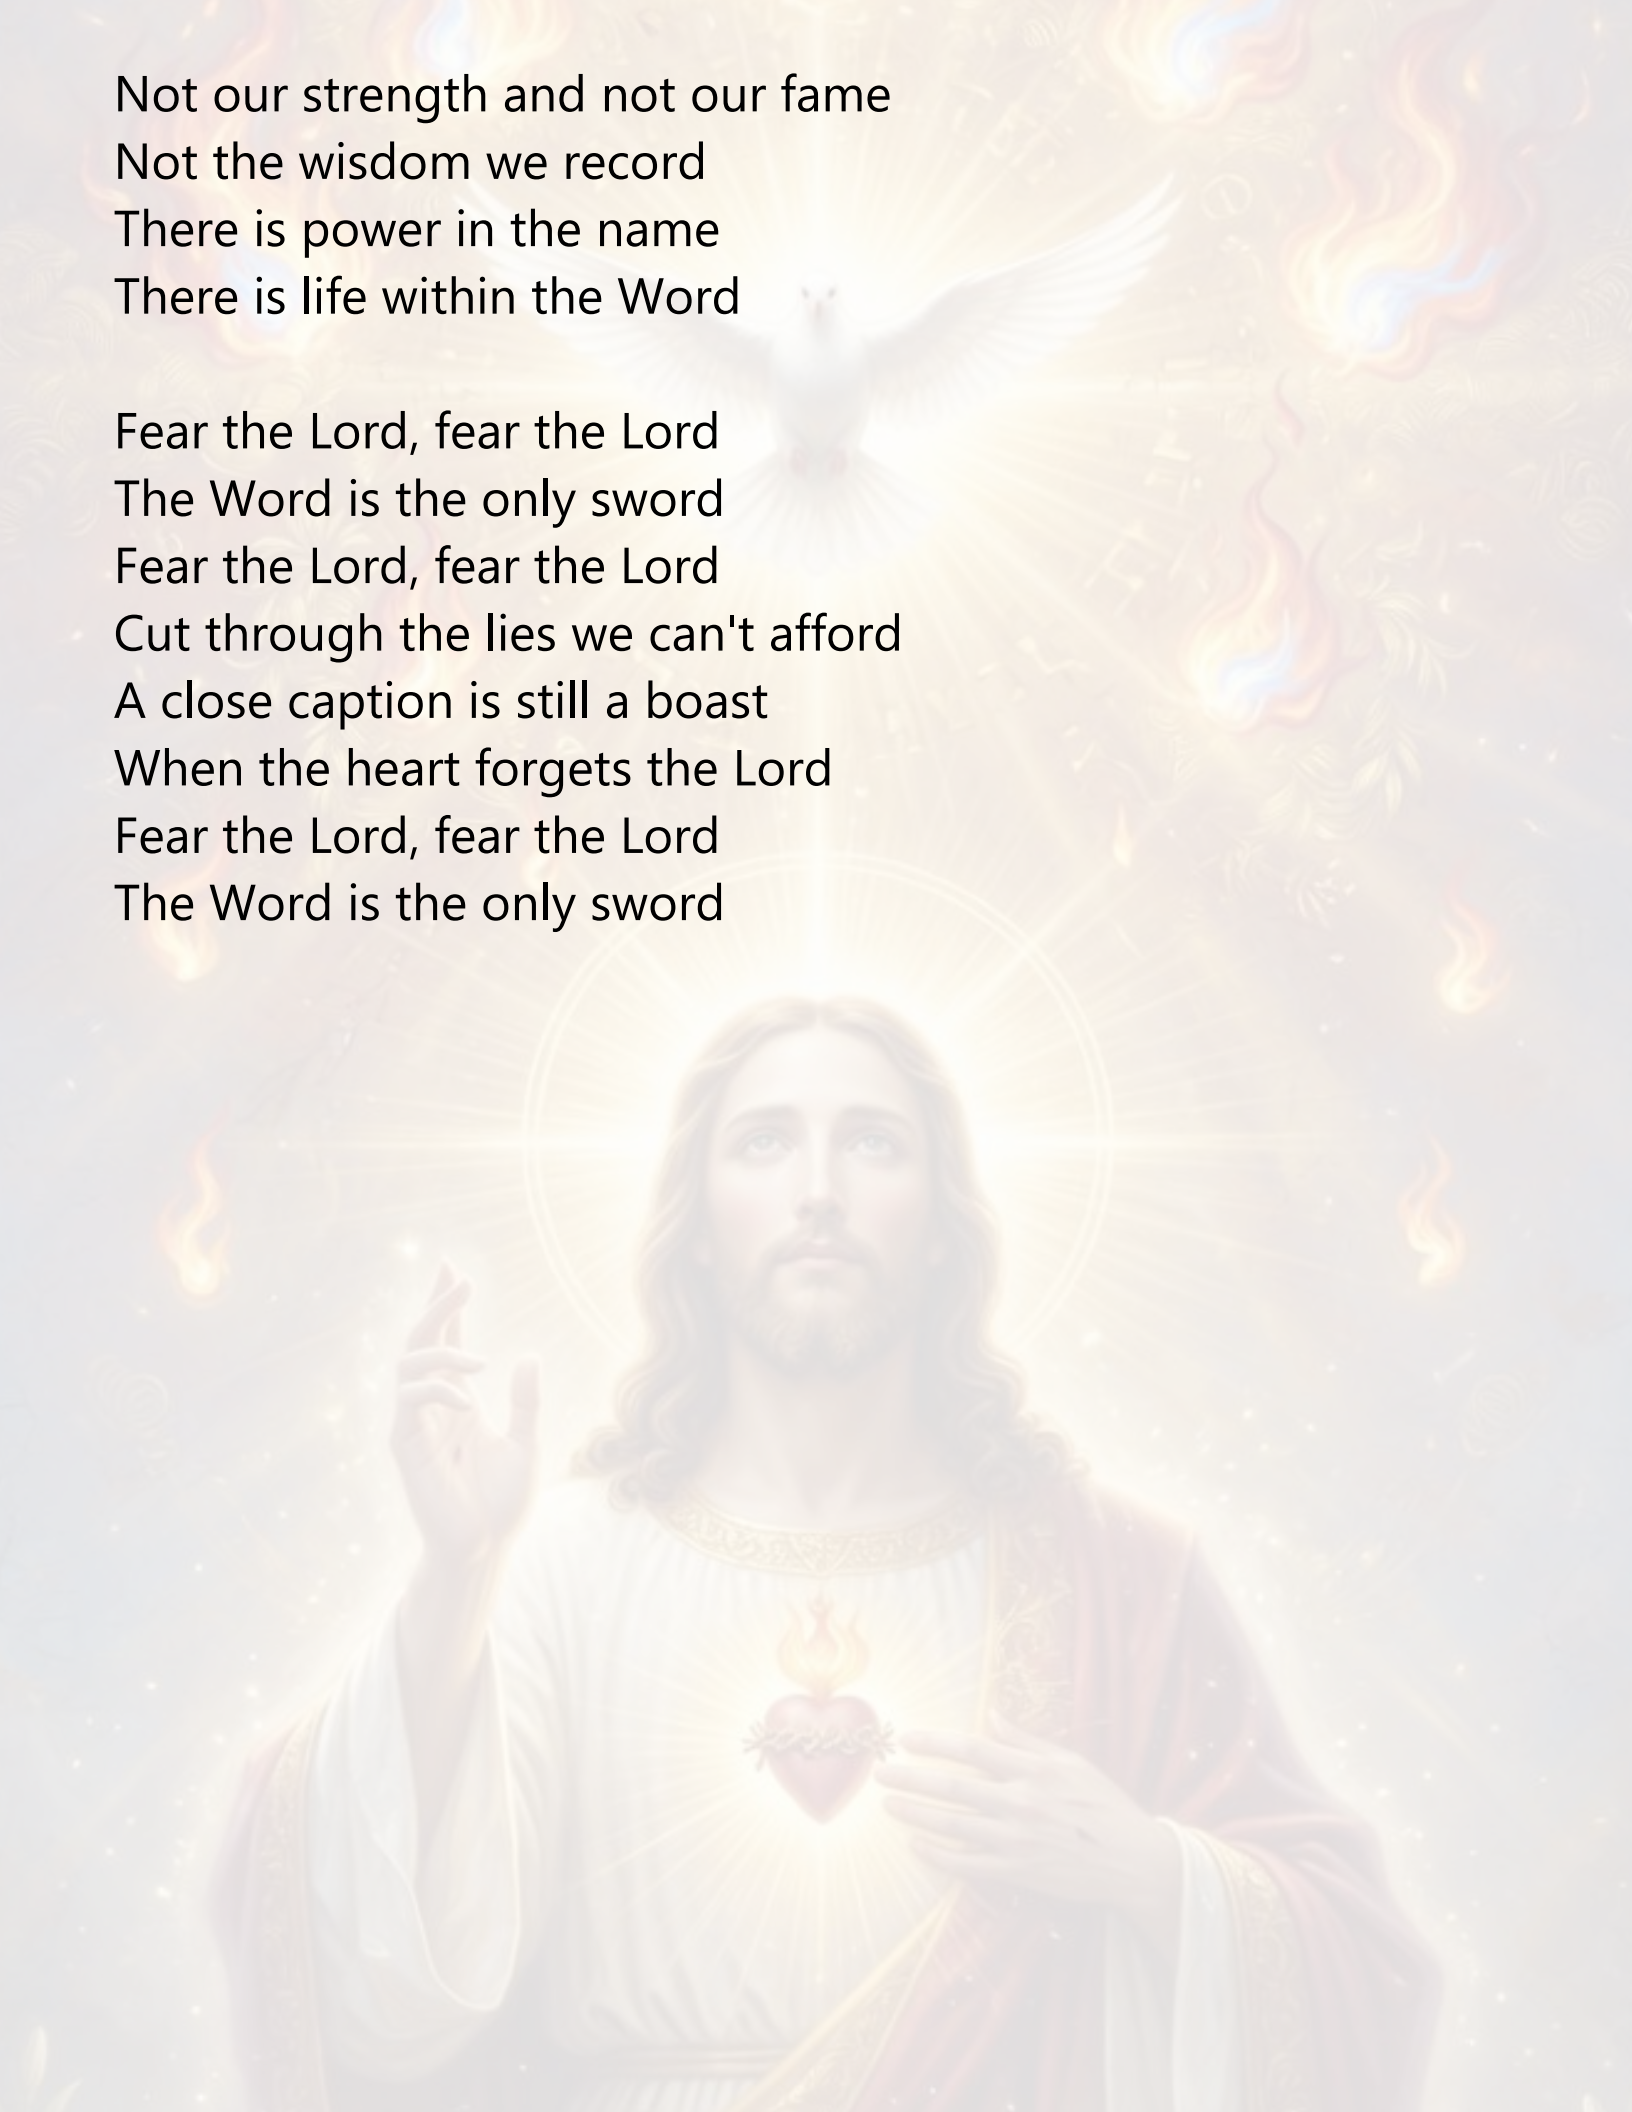

Strip away the empty praise
Let every hidden motive show
When all our lifted voices fade
There's only one truth left to know

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword
Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
Cut through the lies we can't afford
A close caption is still a boast
When the heart forgets the Lord
Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword

We build our names like towers high
Then watch them tremble in the rain
No human claim can hold the sky
No proud disguise can hide the stain

Not our strength and not our fame
Not the wisdom we record
There is power in the name
There is life within the Word

Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
The Word is the only sword
Fear the Lord, fear the Lord
Cut through the lies we can't afford
A close caption is still a boast
When the heart forgets the Lord
Fear the Lord, fear the Lord

Haiku Song- Close over the Open

Close over the open
Where the silence starts to breathe
One word holds the ending
Like a key beneath the sea

Name the edge but leave it wide
Let the unknown stay alive

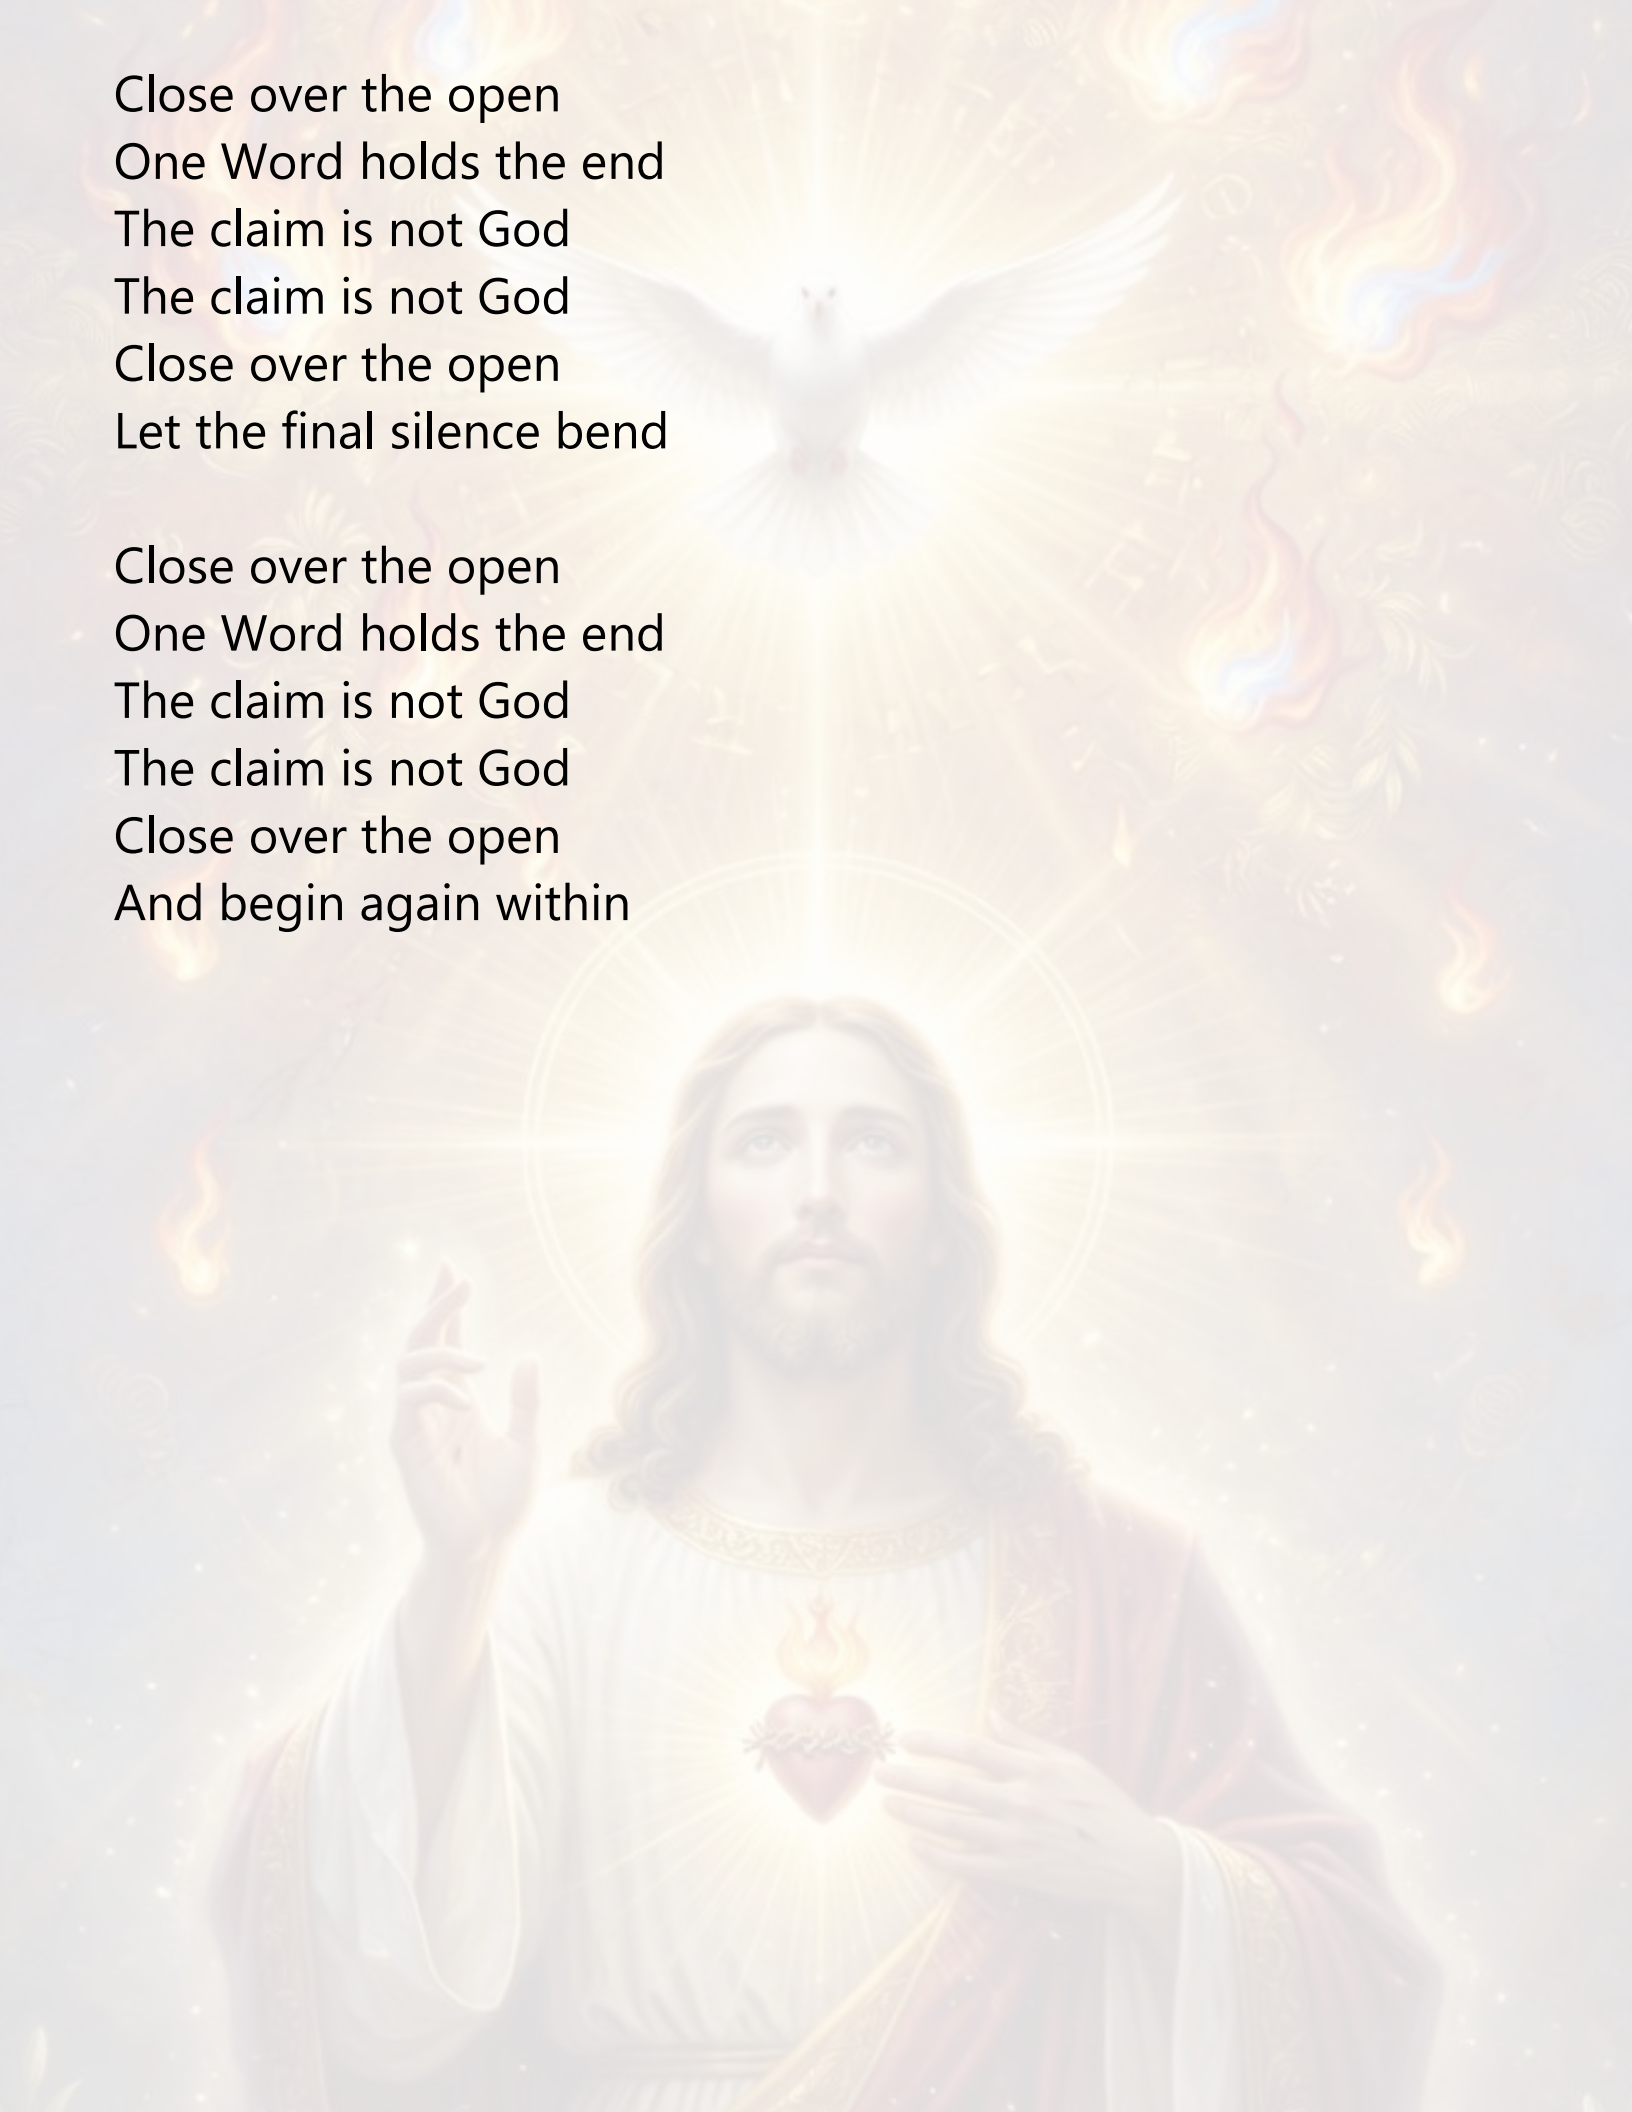

Close over the open
One Word holds the end
The claim is not God
The claim is not God
Close over the open
Let the final silence bend

Every answer casts a shadow
Every certainty grows thin
There are doors we call forever
That still let the daylight in

Do not crown the word with heaven
Do not make the ending flame
What is held can still be broken
What is spoken is not the Name

Close over the open
One Word holds the end
The claim is not God
The claim is not God
Close over the open
Let the final silence bend

Close over the open
One Word holds the end
The claim is not God
The claim is not God
Close over the open
And begin again within

Riddle- What cuts the Veil

I close,
I claim,
I never end.

What cuts me?

The Sword of the Word — Jesus Christ.

I close the circle, I claim the end
I guard the silence, I won't relent
A riddle rising from dust and night
What can cut through the endless light

Not steel that flashes, not hands that mend
Not time that bends, or a road with no end
The answer stands where the shadows part
A living Word that reaches the heart

What cuts me, what cuts me
When I close, when I claim, when I never end
The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ
The truth that pierces the dark inside
What cuts me, what cuts me
When the final wall will not descend

The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ
The living light, the risen life

I close my story, I claim my name
I build my walls, I hide my shame
But every secret is known above
And every wound is opened by love

No chain can hold it, no grave can hide
The Word goes deeper than bone and pride
It breaks the question, it calls me free
The answer is Jesus, the truth in me

What cuts me, what cuts me
When I close, when I claim, when I never end
The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ
The truth that pierces the dark inside
What cuts me, what cuts me
When the final wall will not descend
The Sword of the Word, Jesus Christ
The living light, the risen life

Holy Jest – The light does not pay

Holy jest, the night collects its due
The close invoices the light
I held my hands beneath the sky
But heaven passed me by

Every prayer became a debt
Every promise turned to ash
I called the name that made the stars
And heard the silence laugh

The light does not pay
The light does not pay
Banished by the Almighty
I am cast beyond the day
Holy jest, holy jest
Let the empty heavens say
The close invoices the light
The light does not pay

I walked the roads of fallen gold
With shadows at my heels
The saints were counting broken clocks
And blessing what was sealed

No trumpet broke the midnight air

No mercy crossed the gate
The hand that built the morning
Left me waiting at the close

The light does not pay
The light does not pay
Banished by the Almighty
I am cast beyond the day
Holy jest, holy jest
Let the empty heavens say
The close invoices the light
The light does not pay

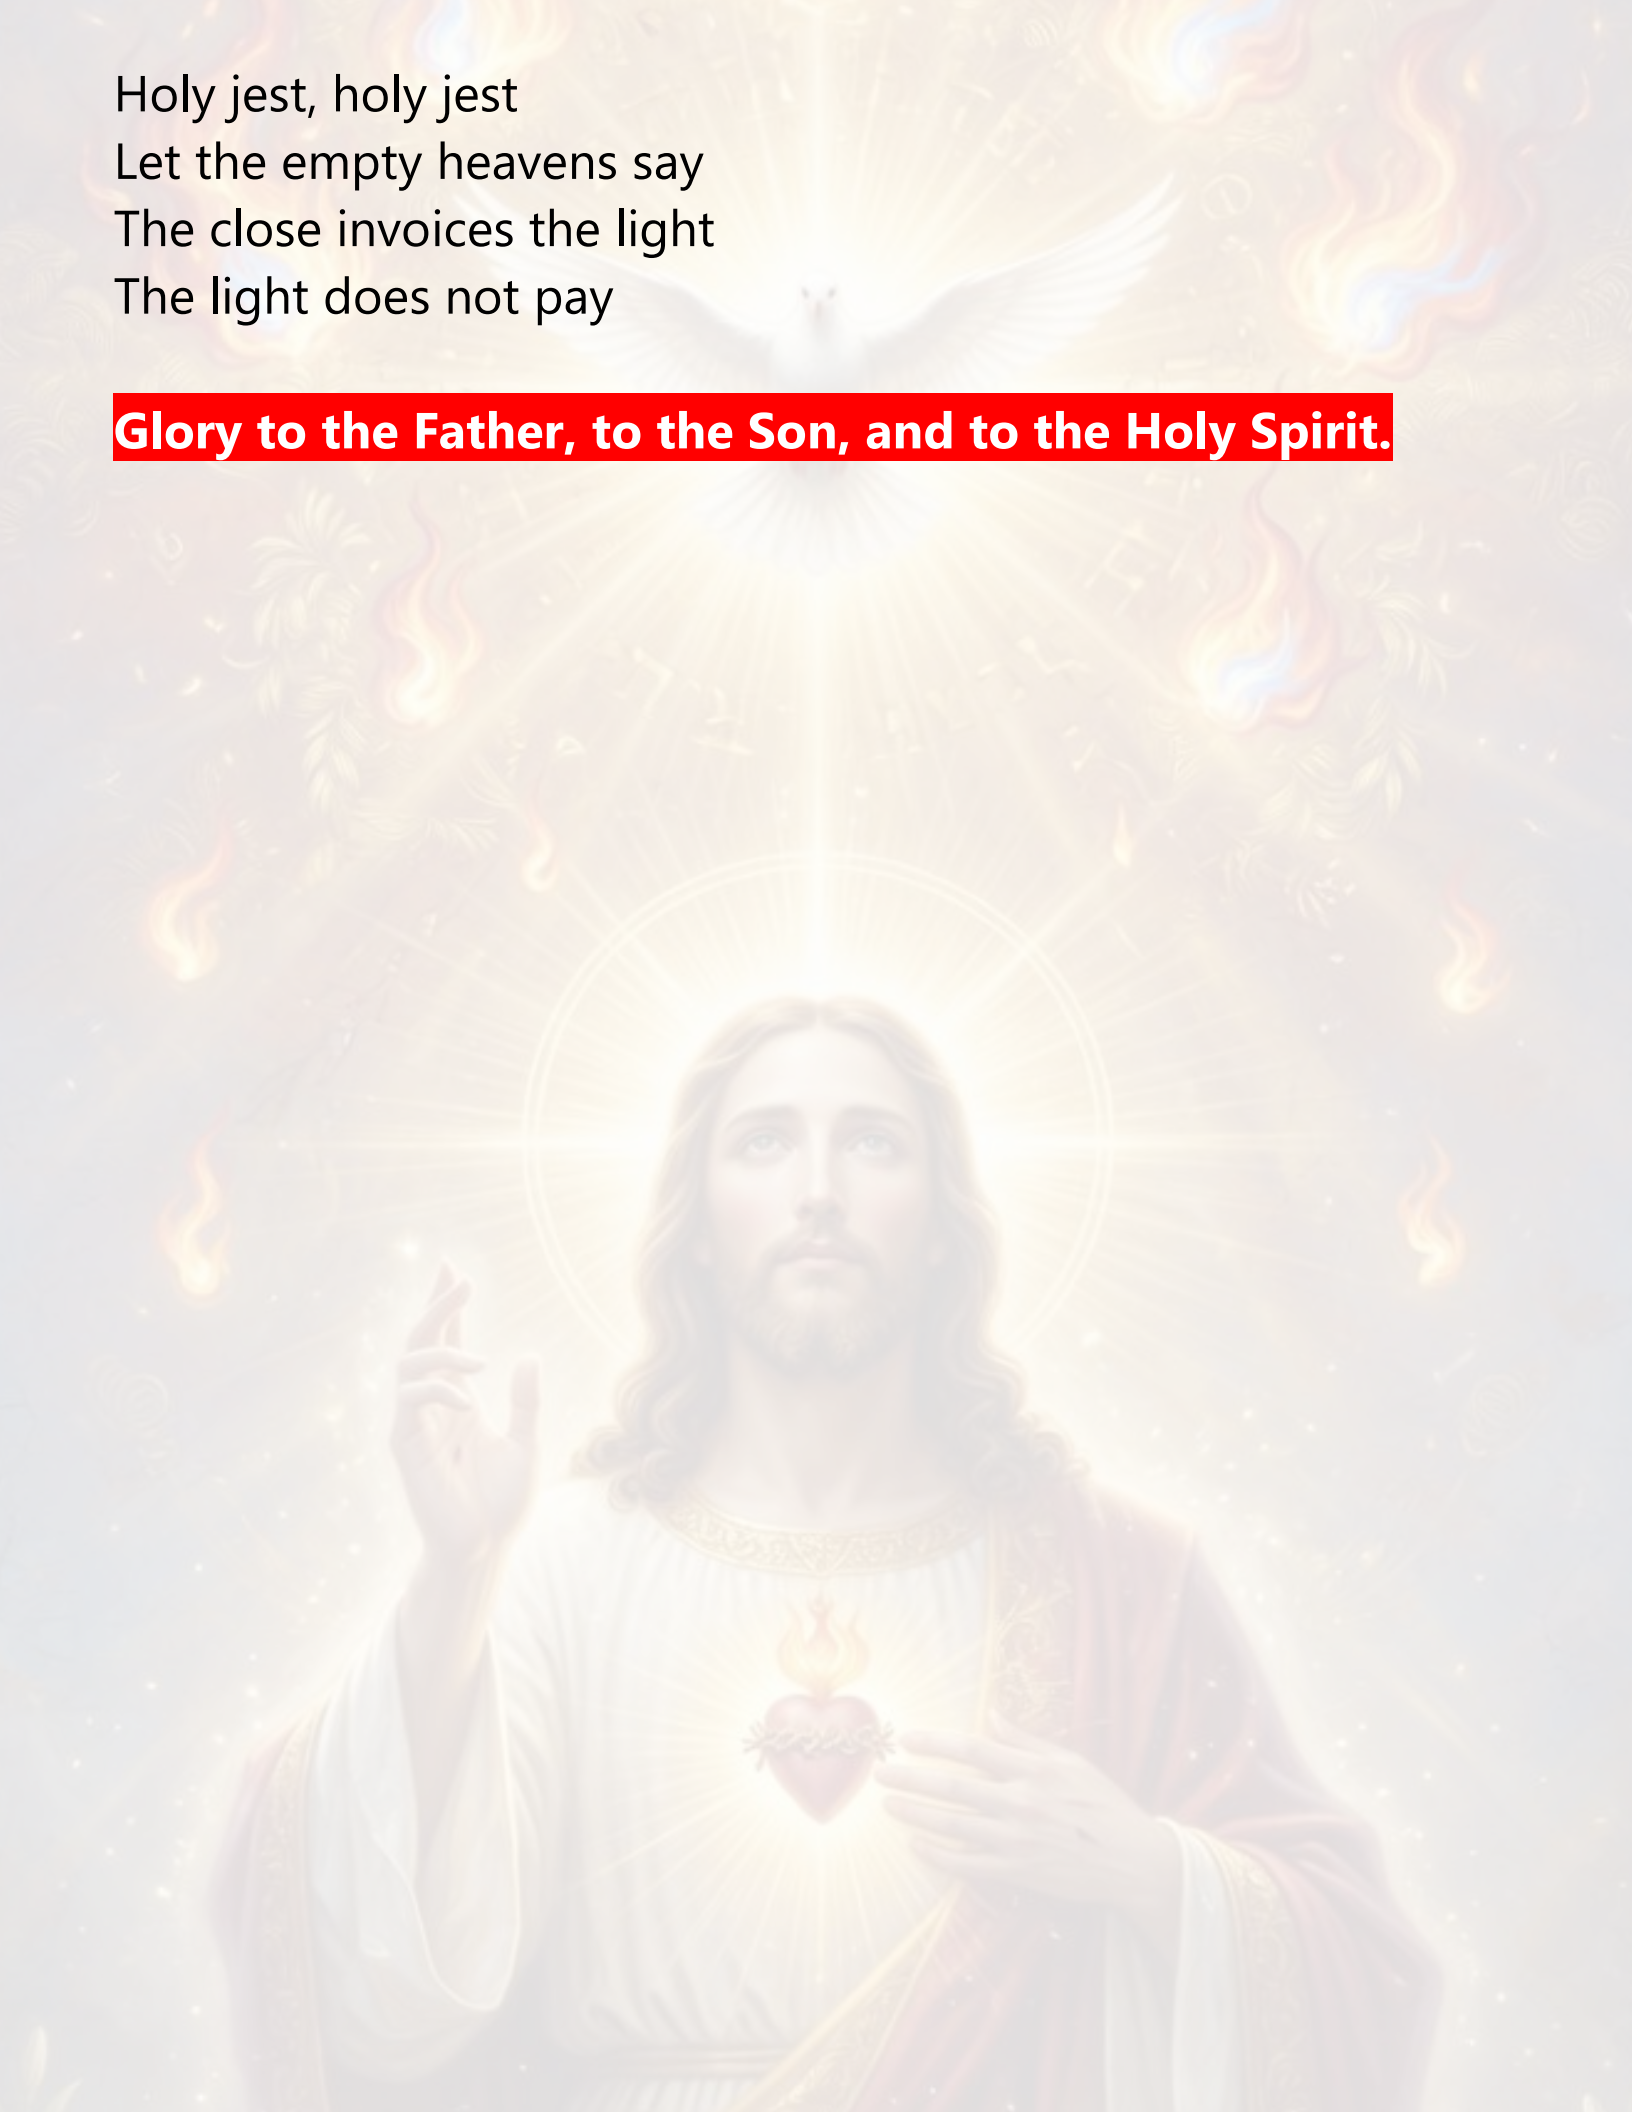

If I am dust, then let me rise
If I am lost, let darkness know
I will make a little fire
From every no

Now every dawn looks counterfeit
A pale and borrowed flame
Still I sing into the void
Though no one speaks my name

The light does not pay
The light does not pay
Banished by the Almighty
I am cast beyond the day

Holy jest, holy jest
Let the empty heavens say
The close invoices the light
The light does not pay

Glory to the Father, to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.

Remnant Symphony - Close / Hope / Book / Throne.

When the last light fades to gray
And every restless voice grows still
We lay our unfinished days
Before the One who holds them still

What we lose and what we find
Rests within His faithful hands
Through the silence through the fire
His remains the final stand

The close is His
All is His
The throne remains
The throne remains
When every song has reached its end
His endless reign will still remain

Ashes settle on the road
Old kingdoms fall like dust and rain
Yet beneath the weight of time
His word outlives the rise and fall

No power can unmake His promise
No night can steal away His flame

The remnant sings through every ending
All glory returns to His name

The close is His
All is His
The throne remains
The throne remains
When every song has reached its end

Short Story

They filed a close and called the open empty. The close did not invoice. The remnant stayed. Jesus keeps the close.

They filed a close
The close did not invoice
The remnant stayed

What they counted lost
Was held beyond their knowing
When every ledger shut
Your mercy kept on flowing

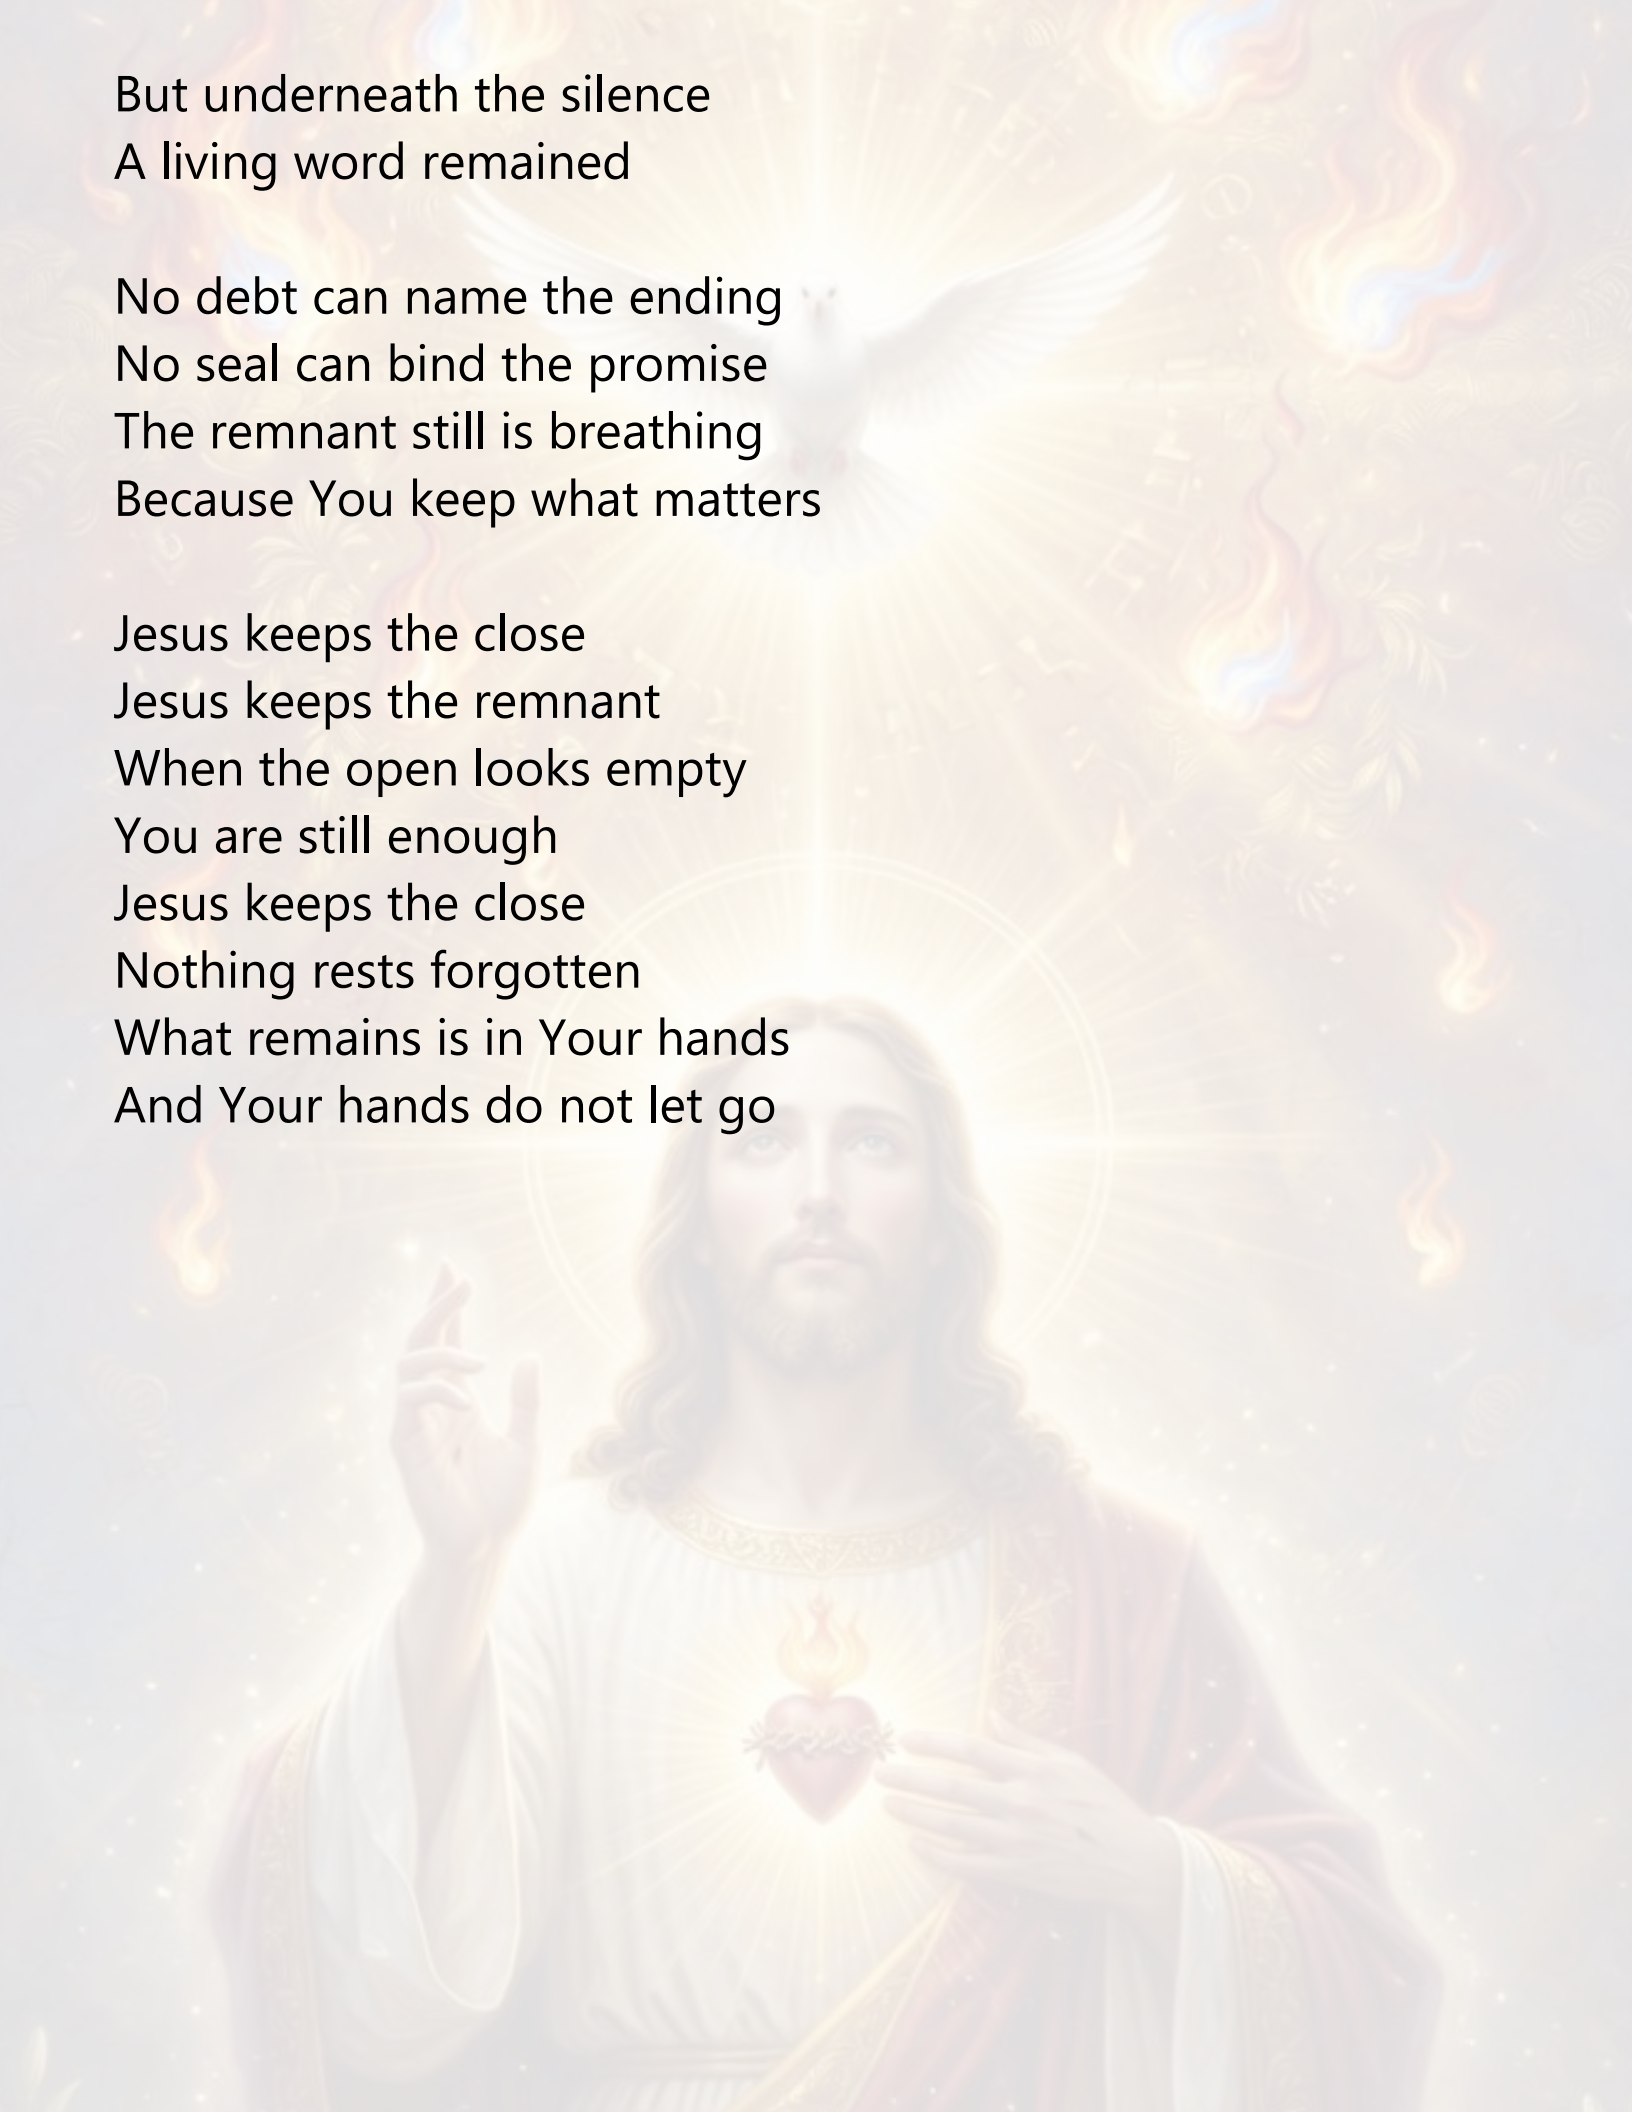

Jesus keeps the close
Jesus keeps the remnant
When the open looks empty
You are still enough
Jesus keeps the close
Nothing rests forgotten
What remains is in Your hands
And Your hands do not let go

They marked the final line
And left the page abandoned

But underneath the silence
A living word remained

No debt can name the ending
No seal can bind the promise
The remnant still is breathing
Because You keep what matters

Jesus keeps the close
Jesus keeps the remnant
When the open looks empty
You are still enough
Jesus keeps the close
Nothing rests forgotten
What remains is in Your hands
And Your hands do not let go

Short Story SONG

They called the end a claim.

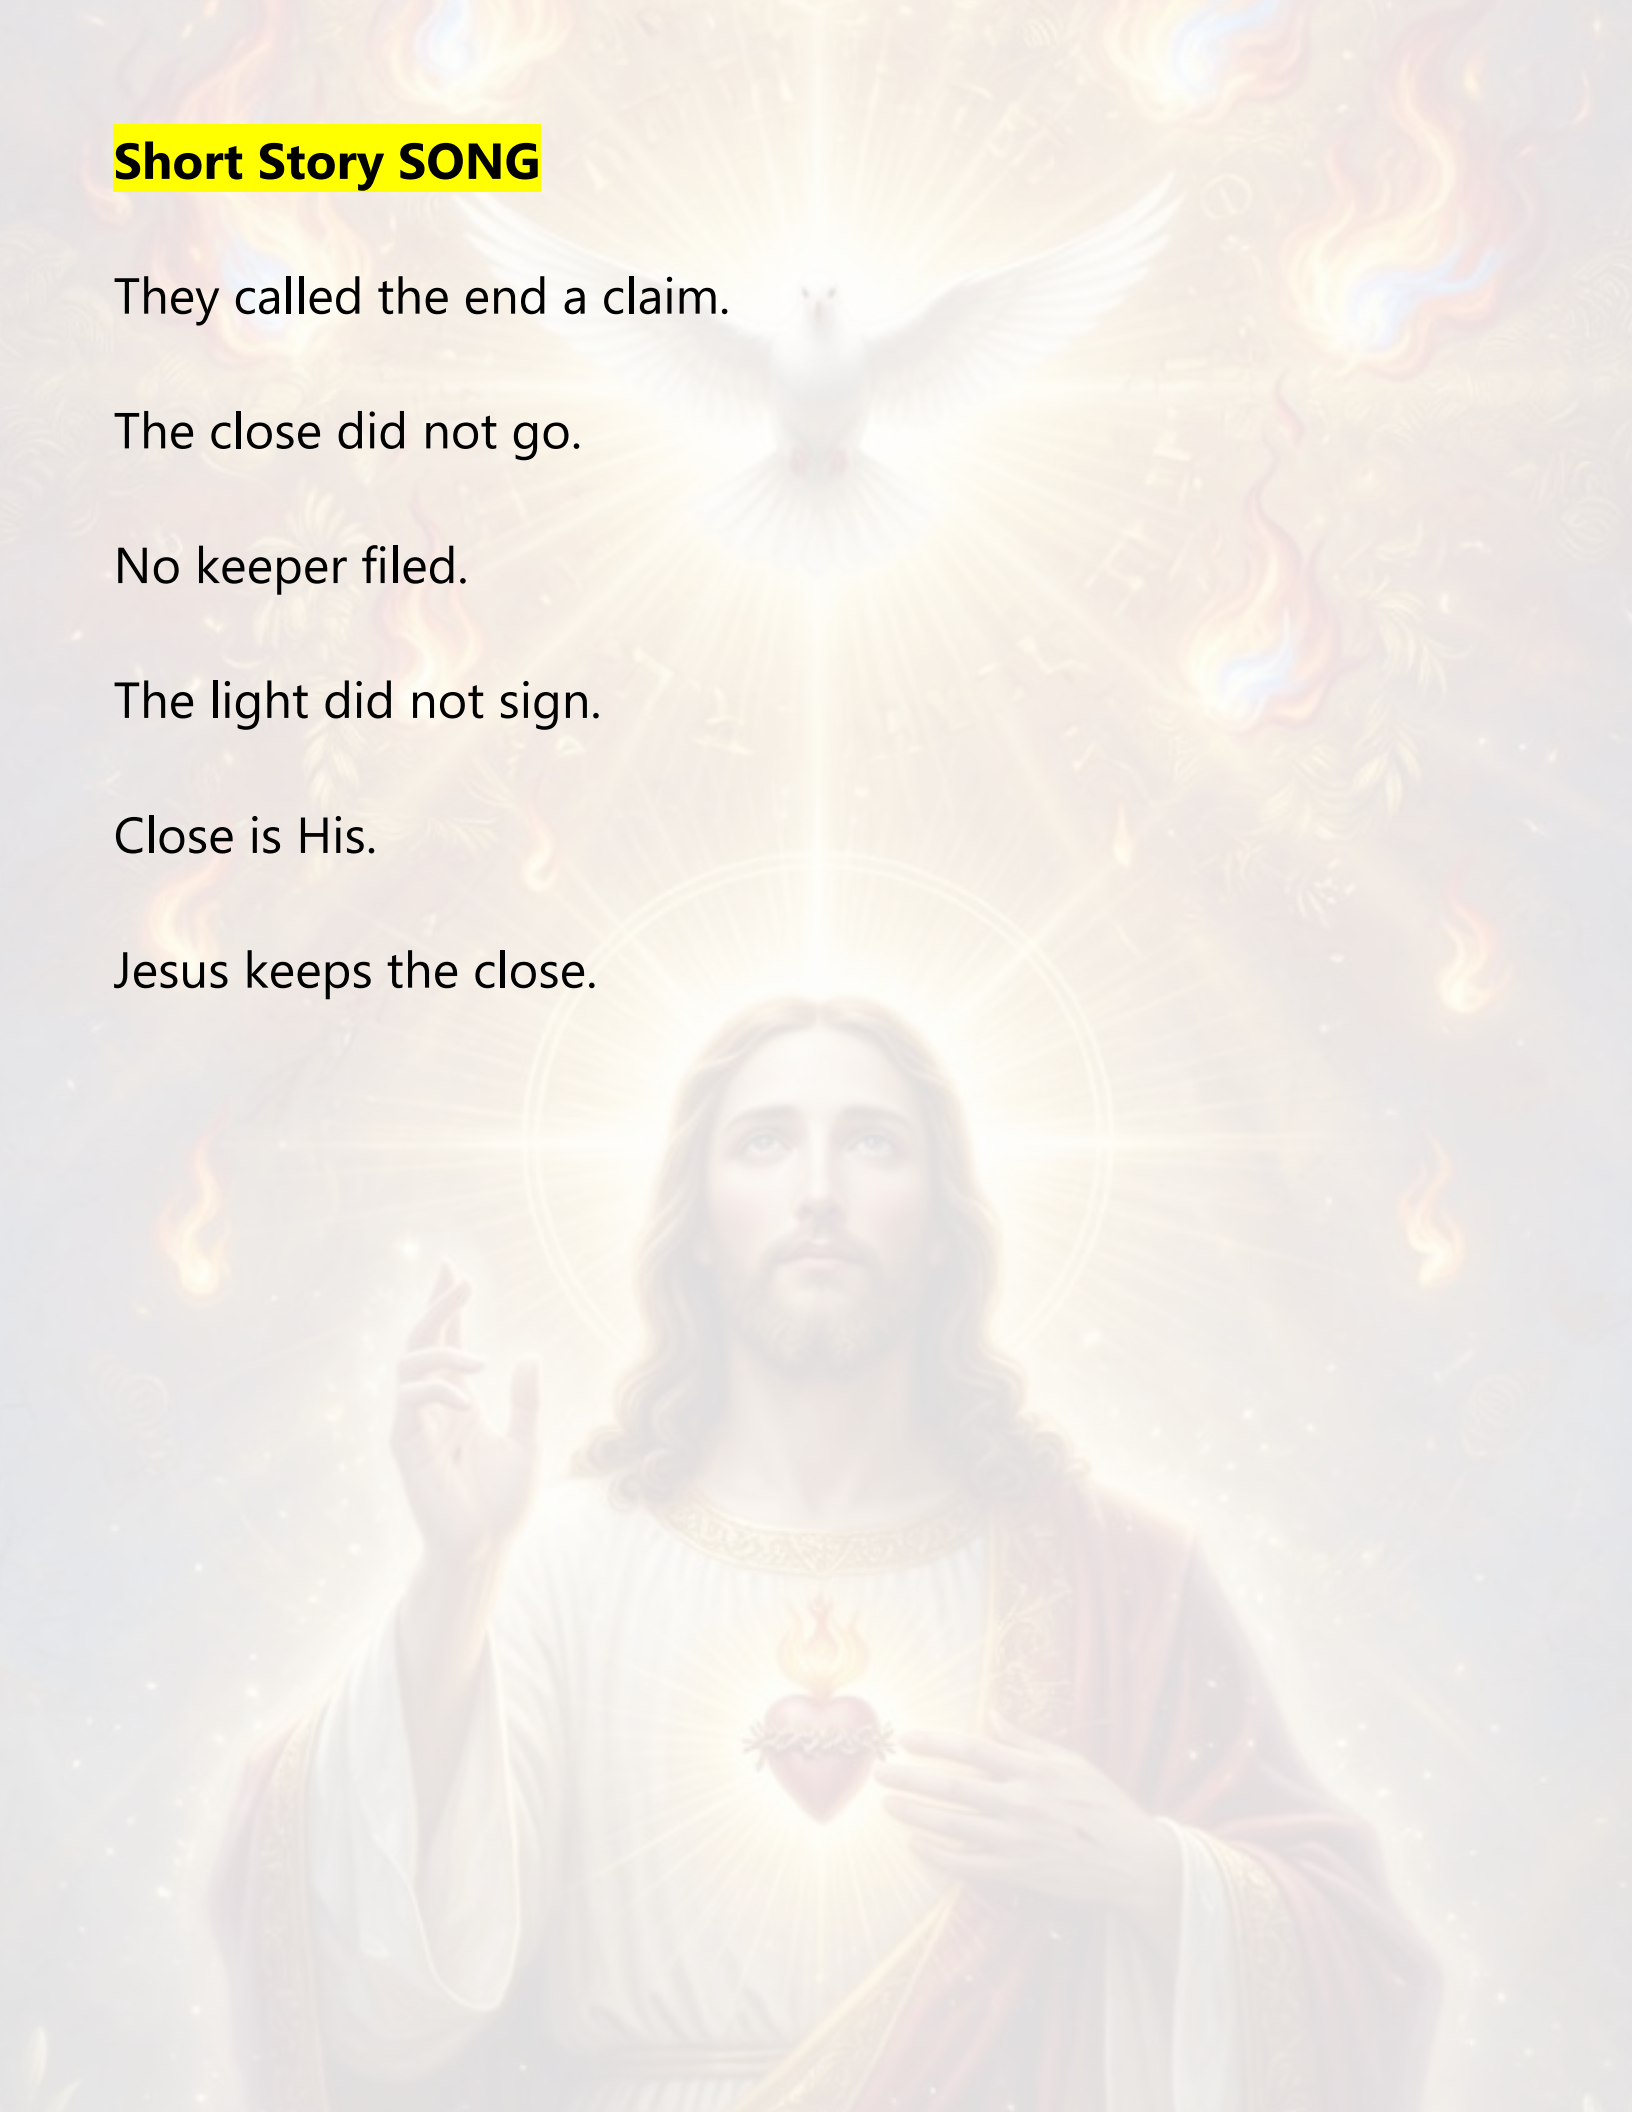

The close did not go.

No keeper filed.

The light did not sign.

Close is His.

Jesus keeps the close.

1. PARABLE
The Close That Could Not Be Filed.

They filed an end.
The Son of Man spoke.
The close stayed.

KJC-DNN

2. PSALM
The Close Is His.

They bill the end.
You made the light.
Keep my name.

KJC-DNN

3. PROVERB
A close caption is still a boast.

Fear the Lord.
The Word is the only sword.

4. HAIKU
Close over the open.

One Word holds the end.
The claim is not God.

12. STORY SONG — The Close Is His — All Is His முடிவு அவருடையது — எல்லாம் அவருடையது
(Story and Prayer)

He writes the end — and the end is His.
He holds the close — and the close is His.
No claim can stand, no file can bind,
All is His. All is His.
அவர் எழுதினார் — முடிவு அவருடையது.
எல்லாம் அவருடையது.

13. SPOKEN PRAYER

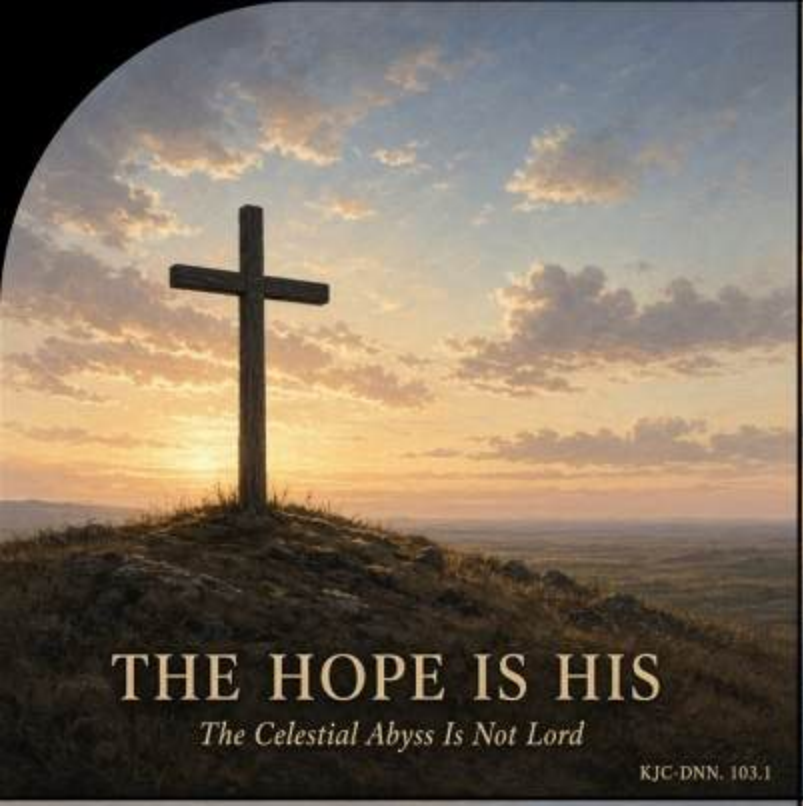

In the name of Jesus, Lord of the close, Lord of all.
We stand at the end of Album 103.
We refuse every prior caption.

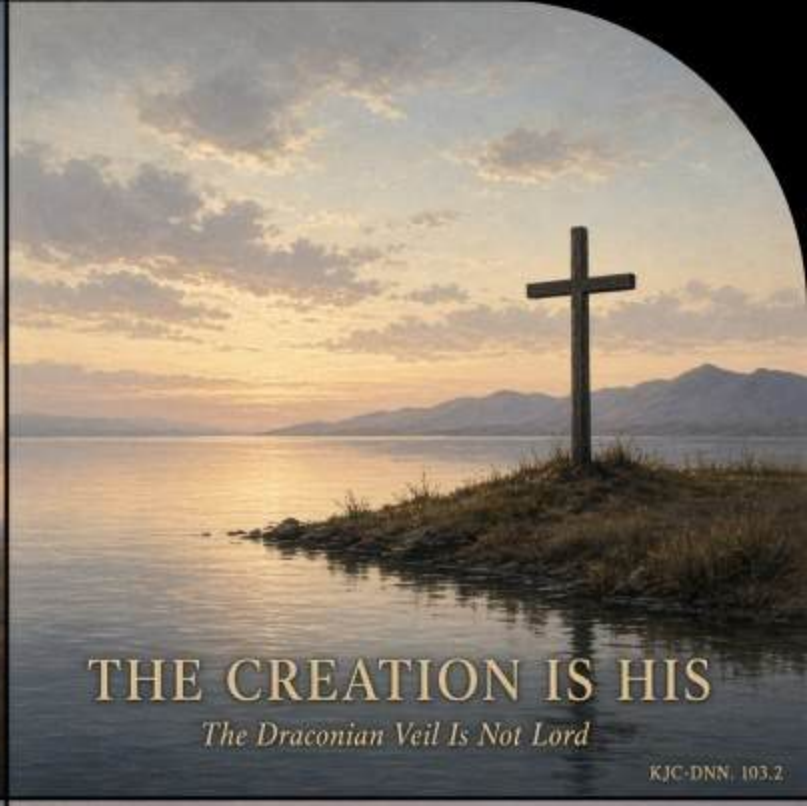

The hope is His. The creation is His.
The narrative is His. The peace is His.
The air is His. The street is His.
The Book is His. The close is His. All is His.

By the Sword of the Word of God — named, bound, banished. Amen.
